FROM BUDGET RESPONSE TO ADOPTION: ADDRESSING INEQUALITY THROUGH RESPONSIBLE BUDGETING

The Fiscal 2017 budget cycle represents the third under the leadership of Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito and the Finance Chair Julissa Ferreras-Copeland. Building off last year's efforts to enhance transparency and foster equitable growth, this year's process focused on addressing inequality through responsible budgeting. It has always been the practice of the Council to both view the Budget in the context of long term growth and prosperity, as well as from the perspective of everyday New Yorkers in order to consider their day-to-day needs. The journey this year was one of building on the Council's transparency improvements and budget growth. The end result yields a negotiated budget with the Council's signature priorities, much needed capital funding, significant investment in the City's reserves and a revamped Council initiative process that eliminated, consolidated, and reprioritized the Council's spending.

Budget Hearings and Budget Response

This year, the Council entered the budget process understanding that the City's economy remains strong. However, it also recognized that the recovery from the Great Recession is entering its seventh year and that a financial downturn within the next few years is possible. Within this framework, the Council sought to craft a fiscally responsible budget for the Fiscal 2017. Prudent budget practices were encouraged throughout the process. The Council insisted on taking steps now to build up the City's reserves and demanded greater efficiencies and savings from City agencies. All the while, the Council sought to target new spending at services, programs, and opportunities to support City residents, business and critical infrastructure.

To these ends, after carefully considering the testimony that was presented by the Administration and the public at each of the Preliminary Budget Hearings, the Council developed its Budget Response which clearly stated its priorities. The Council's proposals were centered in the following areas:

- Ensuring Opportunities for Youth;
- Supporting Our City's Immigrants;
- Budgeting for a More Equitable City;
- Safeguarding the City's Programs and Services through Budget Stability;
- Building for Our City's Future;
- Baselining City Priorities;
- Expanding and Enhancing Vital City Services; and
- Tracking the City's Progress.

On April 26, 2016, the Mayor released his Executive Budget, which conspicuously did not address many of the Council's priorities as outlined in the Budget Response. Throughout nearly 80 hours of Executive Budget hearings with dozens of City agencies, the Council repeatedly questioned City Commissioners about the Administration's proposed new spending initiatives and savings program. Agency heads were asked why the Council's budget priorities were not included in the Executive Budget and were informed that the Council's priorities simply were not the Administration's priorities. When asked why the Executive Budget did not support core agency operational costs, some Commissioners indicated that it was assumed that the Council would fill agency budget gaps with its discretionary funding.

Fiscal 2017 Adopted Budget

Armed with this information, the Council entered into budget negotiations with the goal of ensuring that the adopted budget reflected the shared priorities of the Administration and Council for the benefit of all the New Yorkers. The Council was successful to have more than half of the proposals in its Budget Response funded at Adoption. As a result of the Council's tenacity and vision this year's budget agreement:

- Provides jobs for the City's Youth. As part of a remarkable $100 million investment by the Council and the Administration in our City's youth, 60,000 young people will be able to gain employment experience through the Summer Youth Employment Program and an additional 6,000 will be able to have a year-round job through the Council's year-round job program: Work, Learn, Grow.

- Cares for Our Students Outside of School. The City Council secured an agreement that the Administration would provide the opportunity for 23,000 middle school students to participate in the SONYC Summer School program and 6,600 slots for elementary school students in COMPASS.

- Improves and Expands Adult Literacy. The investment in adult literacy was increased nearly six-fold over last year to $12 million for services within the Department of Education and the Department of Youth and Community Development.

- Helps Seniors Manage Daily Living. The case management waitlist at the Department for the Aging will be eliminated due to a $1.8 million investment.

- Offers Legal Services to the City's Immigrants. Within the Immigrant Opportunity Initiative, the Administration will increase the rate paid for cases and capacity to serve an additional 1,000 complex cases at a total cost of $2.7 million. In addition, $2.5 million will be provided for legal services for unaccompanied minors.

- Invests in Public Safety. The five District Attorneys' offices will receive a total budget increase of $21.9 million. This will support ground breaking efforts by the Bronx District Attorney to investigate and prosecute crimes on Rikers Island by establishing an on-island Bureau and by the Staten Island District Attorney to address the opioid drug crisis.

- Feeds the Hungry. The Emergency Food Assistance Program will receive an additional $4.9 million, for a total of $16 million, which increases funding for the purchase of food by over 40 percent to support the increased demand at 450 food pantries and community kitchens located throughout the City.

- Supports Libraries and the Arts. The Administration will increase funding to the three Library systems from $22 million to $43 million which will allow all libraries to offer six-day service. They will also provide an additional $10 million for cultural institutions.

- Extends Pool and Beach Season. Funding will be provided to extend the pool and beach season across the City by one week.

Budget Stability

One of the Council's goals was to safeguard the City's programs and services through budget stability. The Council's successful negotiation leading to the addition of $250 million to the Retiree Health Benefit Trust (RHBT) is an important step towards this goal. The City's tax revenues, especially the business taxes, the personal income tax and the two taxes related to the sale of property, vary with the ups and downs of the City's economy, especially with the ups and downs of Wall Street. However, the needs of City residents for public safety, education, housing and social services do not decrease just because tax revenues are down.

To manage this mismatch between revenues and needs, it is necessary to take advantage of strong revenues now in the event they decline in the future. With the addition of $250 million to the RHBT total reserves equal around $8.76 billion, or around 10.25 percent of the adjusted Fiscal 2017 expense budget.[1] Council Finance believes this is sufficient to handle a mild recession without service reductions or tax increases. To handle a recession similar to those that started in 2001 or in 2007, the City needs to continue to build reserves.[2]

Ensuring that the budget included measures to ensure long-term budget stability was a significant focus of the Council's negotiations for Fiscal 2017. As a result of these efforts, the Administration committed to an expanded Citywide Savings Program above and beyond what was presented as part of the Executive Budget and to increase the amount it is putting into reserves.

The initial Citywide Savings Program presented $1.3 billion in savings for Fiscal 2016 and $997 million in savings for Fiscal 2017. Given Administration's addition of nearly $2 billion in new needs in Fiscal 2017, the Council insisted that additional savings be found to further offset the new spending. As a result, the Citywide Savings Program will now include $311 million more in savings for Fiscal 2016 and $134 million more in savings for Fiscal 2017, for a combined total across the two years of $2.7 billion. Looking forward to Fiscal 2018, the Council will continue to press the Administration to find savings that are true agency efficiencies, rather than just an array of accruals, re-estimates, and other non-recurring savings.

[1] The total reserve consist of $3.9 billion in the RHBT, $1 billion in the general reserve, $500 million in the capital stabilization reserve and $3.356 billion in the roll in to Fiscal 2017. Finance Division expects the roll to increase somewhat Fiscal 2016 budget modifications that accompany the Fiscal 2017 Adopted Budget.

Significant Capital Investment

The City has displayed a remarkable commitment to its infrastructure needs during this Administration as exemplified in the City's $67.1 billion Fiscal 2016 - 2020 Executive Capital Commitment Plan. The Executive Capital Commitment Plan is the largest in the City's history and represents an increase of $5.5 billion from the Preliminary Capital Commitment Plan. The City Council's Response to the Preliminary Budget called for and received an increase of $69.4 million for vehicle and equipment purchases within the Department of Sanitation. The new vehicles and equipment will replace vehicles operating beyond their useful lifespan (creating repair savings and increasing efficiency) and will address weaknesses brought to light in this past winter's storm season. The City Council looks forward to partnering with the Administration to ensure that all of the capital projects represented in this plan are completed in the most efficient and fiscally responsible manner possible.

Initiative Review Process

With these victories in hand, the Council engaged in a deep, focused internal process to determine which public services and populations needed additional support, and to develop new initiatives and strategies to meet these needs. While the Budget is categorized by City department, the Council considers the types of services and programs provided and the people they serve. The Council's Initiatives are organized into program areas to reflect its priorities. This year, the Council tightened the focus of its initiatives to align them more closely with the vision and priorities of the Council.

From a list with 190 initiatives in 24 programs areas, the Council wrought a package of 140 Initiatives in 25 program areas. Programs and services with complimentary and overlapping scopes were combined. Initiatives that did not align with current priorities were eliminated.

As an example, in prior years the Council supported nine separate Anti-Gun Violence Initiatives. For Fiscal 2017 the Council has consolidated the seven programs that make up the City's Crisis Management System into a single initiative with the same name. The merger better reflects the focus of the initiative and the comprehensive community-based approach to addressing gun violence.

After many hours of deliberations, collaboration, and participation of the budget negotiating team, the borough delegations, and all 51 Council Members, the plan set forth in this document was produced and it includes:

- Launch of the Young Women's Initiative. The Council has allocated $5 million to establish a variety of new programs that offer leadership development, violence prevention and response, reproductive health supports and other services to a wide constellation of young women and girls.

- Consolidation of Education Initiatives. The Council consolidated and streamlined previously funded educational initiatives in order to create three new consolidated areas of focus: 1) Educational Programs for Students supports direct educational initiatives for students, 2) Physical Education and Fitness Programs helps to improve fitness levels and the overall health of students and 3) Support for Educators provides support for DOE educators through professional development, training or supplies used for student instruction.

- Enhancements for Cultural Initiatives. The Cultural After School (CASA) Initiative will grow to support 11 after school programs in each Council District, up from eight in Fiscal 2016, for a total of 561 after-school cultural programs. The Council also added $5.9 million for other cultural programming for immigrants and seniors.

- Combatting Domestic Violence. The Council will provide a 46.1 percent increase in Domestic Violence and Empowerment Initiative (DoVE) funding over last year, for a total of $6.8 million.

- Funding for Parks. The Parks Equity Initiative will receive $2.5 million to support community program efforts in smaller neighborhood parks and the work of existing park and garden volunteer groups citywide. In addition, the Council will provide $9.6 million to allow the Department to retain 150 park maintenance workers.

- Veterans Services. The Council strengthened its strong support of veterans in Fiscal 2017 by increasing its Veteran Initiative funding to a total of $1.3 million to address issues such as veteran mental health, unemployment, and homelessness.

- Food Pantries. Funding for Department of Youth and Community Development food pantries was doubled this year to $4 million to support over 180 food pantries, many of which are located at small community- and faith-based organizations.

- Alternative to Incarceration. The Adopted Budget will include $5.6 million for this program to prevent recidivism.

- Support for Holocaust Survivors. The Council will invest $2.5 million to support Holocaust survivors living at or below the poverty line by offering a range of social services and supports to maintain and improve their quality of life.

- Stabilizing NYC. A total of $2 million will be provided to support legal and organizing resources into a citywide front against predatory equity, helping tenants hold their landlords accountable for lack of repairs, fraudulent eviction cases, and affirmative harassment.

Baselining City Priorities

In Fiscal 2016, the funding added to the budget by the Council supported a significant collection of services that maintained agency operations and other vital core programming. These included priority areas such as senior services, youth services, library services, legal services, public safety and criminal justice services, children's services, education, housing, and small business services.

Given the importance of these initiatives, and the strong urging of the Council the Administration agreed to baseline funds for certain services that are vital to agency operations. The Administration has agreed to baseline:

- $38.5 million for the Summer Youth Employment Program;
- $21.9 million for all five District Attorneys' offices;

- $21 million across the three Library systems for basic operations; and
- $1.8 million to eliminate the Department for the Aging's case management waitlist.

Terms and Conditions

The Adopted Budget includes 31 terms and conditions. These measures require agencies to facilitate information sharing and reporting as project-specific spending advances. In addition to many terms and conditions that were attached to last year's budget and are being reattached to this year's budget, some of the new terms and conditions for Fiscal 2017 include:

- Quarterly reports from the Health and Hospital Corporation regarding hospital bed utilization rates;
- An annual report on the adult literacy programs offered by the Department of Education and the Department of Youth and Community Development;
- Semi-annual reports from the School Construction Authority on the progress made in providing air-conditioning in all schools; and
- Annual reports from each of the City's uniform agencies detailing the race and gender of their uniform personnel.

Discretionary Funding

Each year, Council Members allocate discretionary funds to not-for-profit organizations in order to meet local needs and fill gaps in City agency services. While not a large part of the budget, this funding allows the City to take advantage of Council Members' localized knowledge to better target services to residents. Council rules reform adopted in 2014 ushered in a higher standard of transparency by which this funding operates in requiring that the method used to allocate funding among Members be publicly disclosed.

In this budget, each Member is allocated a base $400,000 in expense funding. Members are further allocated an additional $25,000; $50,000; $75,000; or $100,000 depending upon the level of poverty in the district.

This year's Schedule C reinforces the Council's commitment to addressing inequality through responsible budgeting. The spending plan complements the long-term budget stability and increased efficiency and transparency measures the Council negotiated for as part of the larger budget. This plan addresses inadequacies in the type, scale, and accessibility of services and programs available to New Yorkers to ensure equity, access, and opportunity for those who need it most.

Fiscal 2017 Adopted Expense Budget Adjustment Summary/Schedule C
New York City Council Finance Division

Introduction

Schedule C shows the Council's changes to the City's Fiscal 2017 Expense Budget as proposed in the Executive Budget. Funding added will support critical agency operations and programs, launch new services, and fund community initiatives. The Council allocates funding directly to city agencies or designates community based not-for-profit and other public service organizations to carry out initiatives. Expenditure of any funds by each organization identified in Schedule C is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of: 1) a detailed initial review process; and 2) compliance with all applicable City procurement requirements at the time of contract award. Even then, funding may be used only for appropriately reimbursable expenses, as determined by the administering agency.

For-profit entities may not receive discretionary funds, except when the primary not-for-profit funding recipient subcontracts with a for-profit entity as part of the delivery of services. Such proposed subcontracts, however, must be:

- only an ancillary part of the program to be funded - not the primary basis for the discretionary award; and
- pre-approved by the contracting agency and the City Council.

The New York City Council (Council) and the Mayor's Office of Contract Services (MOCS) have established the following initial review for all organizations listed in Schedule C:

- The Council reviews the public purpose for which the funds would be used and for any potential conflicts of interest; and
- MOCS reviews for demonstrated compliance with New York State charity registration requirements.

While approved subcontractors of organizations that receive discretionary funding are not generally required to submit a pre-qualification application, they are, however, subject to conflict of interest disclosure requirements, as are not-for-profit organizations. Prior to the designation of community based not-for-profit and other public service organizations, Council Members are required to disclose on the record any potential conflicts of interest with organizations funded by other members. A record of such disclosures for organizations funded in this document can be found on the Council's website, available at http://council.nyc.gov/html/budget/fy17_documents.shtml.

For organizations requesting discretionary funding, the Council reviews past performance, compliance with laws, rules, regulations, and policies, including corporate status, any reported investigations, audits, inquiries, and other relevant information.

For organizations requesting funding in excess of $10,000, MOCS conducts a second layer of pre-qualification review. Through this process, MOCS reviews each organization to determine whether it meets integrity requirements and is in compliance with applicable laws and regulations, including charities registration. MOCS also reviews each such organization to determine whether the organization is qualified to provide the proposed services through an approved HHS Accelerator application and/or an eligible Cultural Development Fund application. Organizations that were approved during prior fiscal years will again be reviewed and their qualifications recertified in order to receive any proposed funding for Fiscal 2017. For any organization receiving funding through a fiscal conduit, the fiscal conduit must also be approved by MOCS, and be prequalified through HHS Accelerator. Only organizations receiving less than $10,000 total in discretionary funding may be eligible to use a fiscal conduit.

For those organizations identified in Schedule C without an asterisk, the Council has completed its review process and, where applicable, MOCS has preliminarily reviewed or prequalified the organization and any associated fiscal conduit, and the organization has attended MOCS corporate governance, fiscal management and compliance training, if required to attend.

For those organizations identified in Schedule C with an asterisk either MOCS or the Council's review process has not yet been completed; the New York State Attorney General's Office has not yet provided verification of the organization's charitable filing status; or the organization is required to attend MOCS corporate governance, fiscal management and compliance training. Clearances are made public on MOCS website after the Council and MOCS reviews are complete at http://www1.nyc.gov/site/mocs/nonprofits/award-tracker.page

Further restrictions to ensure the appropriate use of City funds will be incorporated through the City's procurement process.

All organizations receiving funding pursuant to an initiative will be subject to review and approval by the Mayor's Office of Contract Services.

Anti-Poverty

When allocating funding this year, the Council used a poverty indicator to provide a basis upon which to fund programs. Poverty was estimated at the Council District level using 2012 American Community Survey data, specifically the number of individuals below the federal poverty level. Funding to the listed organizations will help to address income disparities throughout the five boroughs.

Cultural Organizations

The Council allocates more than $20 million in Fiscal 2017 to support a wide and varied group of cultural organizations throughout the City. This is in addition to $10 million added by the Administration to the adopted budget; a request made in the Council's response to the Mayor's Preliminary Budget. The organizations supported by these initiatives, many smaller than those traditionally supported by the City, provide creative and innovative programming that strengthen the diverse fabric of the City through activities such as providing art enrichment to young people, and increasing access to the unique cultural offerings that celebrate immigrant heritages. The Council's funding ensures that the arts remain a central feature of civic and economic life in the City.

The Education initiatives provide direct benefits that support school budgets and students' needs. Additionally, through the Council's strong encouragement and persistence, the Administration added $17.6 million to expand Career and Technical Educational Programs to offer more work-based learning opportunities for students.

Through the Education Initiatives, the Council continues to invest in areas not adequately supported otherwise, such as Restorative Justice programs and LGBTQ-inclusive curricula, as well as enhancing important programs like the Small Schools Athletic League, CHAMPS and Teacher's Choice. Health Services

The Health Services initiatives funded by the Council in Fiscal 2017 demonstrate the Council's commitment to reducing health disparities and promoting health equity throughout the five boroughs. The initiatives support a spectrum of health services and programs delivered in a culturally and linguistically responsive manner to our most vulnerable and marginalized citizens, including children living in medically underserved communities and immigrants lacking healthcare access and coverage.

Major investments in Fiscal 2017 include $5.6 million for Ending the Epidemic, a statewide plan to reduce the number of new HIV infections annually from 3,000 incidents to 750 incidents and, subsequently, to end the AIDS epidemic in New York by 2020. The programs and services funded under this initiative address various unmet needs in the HIV/AIDS community, including HIV prevention and literacy for seniors and HIV prevention and education for communities of color. Additional funding will support efforts to combat the spread of Hepatitis B/C and HIV as passed through intravenous drug use. The Council also chose to enhance the HIV/AIDS Faith Based Initiative by $500,000.

Fiscal 2017 funding also includes a $2 million investment in the Nurse Family Partnership (NFP), an evidence-based nurse home visiting program that provides support to low-income first-time mothers. The Administration will also contribute $2 million to NFP in Fiscal 2017, for a total investment of $4 million. The Council and the Administration have committed to support the NFP with at least $14 million next year as well. Additional programs and services funded under the Reproductive and Sexual Health Services Initiative and the Maternal Health Services Initiative bolster this commitment to reducing infant mortality r and promoting health wellness. The Child Health and Wellness Initiative supports nutrition, dental, and asthma programs for our City's children.

In addition, the Fiscal 2017 Budget includes funding for numerous public health programs historically funded by the Council that have been baselined.

Housing

Housing agencies and related programmatic activities rely heavily on federal subsidies. However, federal resources for housing agencies remain under severe pressure and there is tremendous uncertainty as to future federal funding. This requires housing agencies to coordinate with local elected officials to ensure that community needs are met. In addition, the implementation of Housing New York, Mayor de Blasio's plan to create and preserve 200,000 units of affordable housing over the next ten years, will bring substantial new construction, significant population growth, and increased pressure on the City's housing market. To this end, Council funding will provide critical resources to ensure that communities access the tools, information, and programming necessary to address local housing needs. In Fiscal 2017, the City Council will provide approximately $10.3 million to HPD's budget to support various housing initiatives, including tenant advocacy and education, code enforcement advocacy, housing court assistance, and other housing-related public education. In addition, the City Council will provide $5 million to HRA's budget to support anti-eviction legal services, and $255,000 to DCA's operating budget for financial empowerment support for tenants. Most of this funding, about $15.1 million is allocated to community-based organizations which are tasked with carrying out the goals of Council housing initiatives.

Supported programs include the nation's first government-funded legal representation program for detained immigrants, the New York Family Unity Project, Key to the City events, consular identification services, legal and social services for children in removal proceedings, and free legal services to assist immigrants on their paths to U.S. citizenship. In addition, the City Council continues its groundbreaking support for services that reduce health disparities among foreign-born and native New Yorkers and that offer representation and support programs to adults with children and unaccompanied minors in removal proceedings in New York's immigration courts.

In addition to the Council's immigrant Services initiative, the Council won improved support for programs that offer valuable services to immigrants. Legal Services

For the past sixteen years, the Council has supported the work of legal service providers through a number of City Council initiatives. The organizations depend on the partnership with the Council to provide free civil legal services to low and middle income New Yorkers. In Fiscal 2015 the de Blasio Administration shifted the responsibility for civil legal services from the Departments of Aging, Homeless Services, Housing and Preservation Development, the Mayor's Office of Criminal Justice and Youth and Community Development to the Human Resources Administration (HRA). In addition to the Council's $8.64 million for Legal Services Initiatives, HRA's Fiscal 2017 Budget includes $67.4 million for legal services. The programs funded under this initiative will focus on civil justice issues: consumer/finance, education, employment, family, juvenile, health, income maintenance, individual rights, housing and employment. Other services are direct client representation including, class action cases and other hotline based options. The continuance of these free legal services ensures that low and moderate income New Yorkers' legal cases are heard equitably and effectively. Increasing access to these vital civil legal services will not only minimize instability in many households but send a strong message that all New Yorkers have the right to be treated fairly by landlords and employers.

Parks and Recreation Services

The maintenance of the City's parks system has improved, in part, due to the collaborative efforts of the City Council and the Administration. However, the improvements have not been felt equally throughout the City. Parks in low- and moderate-income neighborhoods are generally less well maintained than parks in wealthier neighborhoods that are supported by private organizations. As a result, in Fiscal 2017 the Council renewed its investment in parks. The Parks Equity and the Parks Maintenance initiatives will invest $12.1 million in Fiscal 2017 to ensure continued improvement in parks maintenance and increased support for various local neighborhood parks citywide.

In Fiscal 2017, the Council allocates $11.9 million to public safety initiatives and programs that supports the Council's efforts to promote public safety and limit violence, especially gun violence across the City. In partnership with the Administration, the Council continues its support for the Crisis Management System, which was originally conceived by the City Council's Anti-Gun Violence Task Force. The many components of the system, which takes a community-based approach to reducing gun violence, have been consolidated into a single initiative to better reflect the focused, intertwined efforts that make up the City's anti-gun violence program, known as the Crisis Management System. The Council also adds support again for an innovative program that uses art to reshape community norms and develop anti-violence messaging.

Senior Services

Senior services initiatives not only fund innovative services for niche senior populations, including Holocaust Survivors and LGBTQ seniors, but they also continue to provide critical support for the Department for the Aging's (DFTA) core operations. The Council successfully negotiated with the Administration to baseline an additional $1.8 million to address the case management waitlist. Additionally the Administration will fully fund all DFTA space costs needs, $1.2 million for sixth congregate meals, and $2 million for the homecare waitlist for Fiscal 2017. As in previous years, DFTA's Fiscal 2017 Executive Budget lacked adequate funding for many senior services that the City's seniors rely on daily. To fill the gaps, the Council adds more than $21.4 million for senior services initiatives, including funding support for core senior centers operating costs, vital homecare services, initiatives that aid seniors to age safely in place, support for arts and cultural programs in senior centers, and an initiative that supports senior centers that predominantly serve immigrant senior populations.

Speaker's Initiative to Address Citywide Needs

The Speaker's Initiative to Address Citywide Needs is a series of services that fill small gaps throughout the City. While not centered on any particular service area, collectively these programs provide support to many of the goals of the other Council Initiatives and City programs. Though termed The Speaker's Initiative, the programs encompassed are selected in consultation with the full membership of the Council, and therefore embody much of the expansive and local knowledge of the full City Council.

Young Women's Initiative

In May 2015, the New York City Council launched the New York City Council's Young Women's Initiative (YWI), the nation's first initiative dedicated to improving outcomes for young women and girls. YWI seeks to build a blueprint for investing in the future of young women and girls in New York City over the long-term, especially those of color. From September 2015 through April 2016, the YWI Task Force met with community-based organizations, grassroots partners and women and girls themselves to discuss challenges and disparities that young women and girls experience and made specific recommendations for short, medium and long-term priorities to enhance their lives.

For Fiscal 2017, the Council has committed $5 million to fund 13 of the key YWI recommendations. These recommendations span various topic areas including health, economic and workforce development, community supports, education, and anti-violence and criminal justice.
