Fiscal 2012 Adopted Expense Budget Adjustments Summary New York City Council Finance Division

INTRODUCTION

Schedule C designates funding for community based not-for-profit and other public service organizations. Expenditure of any funds for each organization identified in Schedule C is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of 1) a detailed initial review process, and 2) all applicable City procurement requirements at the time of contract award. The New York City Council and the Mayor's Office of Contract Services (MOCS) have established the following initial review for each organization:

For all organizations included in Schedule C, the City Council preliminarily reviewed the public purpose for which the funds would be used, and any potential conflicts of interest. In addition, MOCS reviewed the website of and consulted with the State Attorney General's Office to confirm that all groups – including those receiving $10,000 or less reviewed by the Council – demonstrated compliance with charity registration requirements.

For organizations receiving $10,000 or less, the City Council also reviewed past performance, compliance with tax laws, corporate status, any reported investigations, audits, inquiries and other relevant information.

In the case of organizations requesting funding in excess of $10,000, MOCS is overseeing an additional prequalification review process. Through this process, MOCS is reviewing each organization to determine whether it meets integrity requirements, and is in compliance with applicable laws and regulations, including charities registration. MOCS is also reviewing each organization to determine whether the organization is qualified to provide the proposed services, and is reviewing and recertifying the qualifications of organizations that were approved during prior fiscal years. Further, for any organization receiving funding through a fiscal conduit, the fiscal conduit must also be approved by MOCS.

For those organizations identified in Schedule C with an asterisk, either the MOCS or the Council's review process has not yet been completed, the State Attorney General's Office has not yet provided the Council with final verification of the organization's charitable filing status, or the organization is required to attend the MOCS corporate governance, fiscal management and compliance training.

For those organizations identified in Schedule C without an asterisk, the Council has completed its review process and, where applicable, MOCS has preliminarily reviewed or prequalified the organization and any associated fiscal conduit, and the organization has attended the MOCS corporate governance, fiscal management and compliance training, if required to attend.

Further restrictions to ensure the appropriate use of City funds will be incorporated through the City's procurement process.

TOTAL		$46,890,000

Initiative: Structural Deficit -- Child Care Classroom Restoration

Agency: Administration for Children's Services (068)

Program Area: Child Care Services

Unit of Appropriation: 004 – Other Than Personal Services

Amount: $12,024,000

Boroughs Served: Citywide

First Year Funded: 2012

Description/Scope of Services: This allocation restores funding to 72 classrooms slated for closure, as a result of the agency's structural deficit in its child care budget. City Council funding will be supplemented by funding from the Administration in the amount of $29.2 million for an additional 125 classrooms. Combined restorations between the City Council and the Administration avert the closure of a total of 197 classrooms slated for closure as a result of the structural deficit.

Designation Method: Funding is provided directly to the agency.

Initiative: Structural Deficit -- Child Care Voucher Restoration

Agency: Administration for Children's Services (068)

Program Area: Child Care Services

Unit of Appropriation: 004 – Other Than Personal Services

Amount: $13,581,000

Boroughs Served: Citywide

First Year Funded: 2012

Description/Scope of Services: This allocation restores funding for 4,942 child care vouchers for school-age children, who would have been displaced by the proposed reduction of Priority 5 and 6 child care vouchers. City Council funding will be supplemented by funding from the Administration in the amount of $10.9 million for an additional 2,802 child care vouchers for school-age children and 1,168 family day care slots. All school-age vouchers are at a rate of $2,748 per voucher.

Designation Method: Funding is provided directly to the agency.

CIVIL LEGAL SERVICES

Summary of Fiscal 2012 Council Initiatives: Civil Legal Services
Agency	Initiative	Funding
CJC	Citywide Civil Legal Services	$1,500,000
CJC	Unemployment/SSI Program	$1,000,000
CJC	Legal Services for the Working Poor	$1,050,000
CJC	Legal Information for Families (LIFT)	$485,000
TOTAL		$4,035,000

Initiative: Citywide Civil Legal Services

Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - CJC

Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services

Amount: $1,500,000

Boroughs Served: Citywide

First Fiscal Year Funded: 2001

Population Targeted: Indigent persons requiring legal assistance

Description/Scope of Services: This action provides a combined $1.5 million to the Legal Aid Society ($750,000) and Legal Services for New York City ($750,000). The appropriation is intended to serve as a replacement for lost Interest On Lawyer Accounts (IOLA) funds. It is the Council’s express intent that this appropriation will be utilized to augment overall citywide civil legal services programs in the same manner that State IOLA funding does.

These services may include, but are not limited to: direct client representation, including representation in class action cases; the provision of legal advice; community legal education presentations; pro-bono/volunteer lawyer programs; and hotline and other telephone-based legal services. Legal areas in which services may be provided include, but are not limited to: consumer/finance; education; employment; family; juvenile; health; housing; income maintenance; individual rights; and miscellaneous benefits.

No prohibitions may be imposed on the types of civil legal services these entities may perform on behalf of their clients, other individuals and/or community groups. This restoration will ensure the provision of civil legal services citywide to, among others, senior citizens, battered women, disabled persons and persons with AIDS.

Designation Method: The City Council has designated the organizations and the amount each will receive under this initiative.

Organization	Amount	Tax ID#
Legal Aid Society	$750,000	13-5562265
Legal Services NYC	$750,000	13-2600199

Initiative: Unemployment/SSI Program

Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - CJC

Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services

Amount: $1,000,000

Boroughs Served: Citywide

First Fiscal Year Funded: 2006

Population Targeted: Persons eligible for unemployment/SSI benefits

Description/Scope of Services: This action allocates a combined $1 million to Legal Services for New York City ($500,000) and the Legal Aid Society ($500,000) to expand legal advocacy through the Supplemental Security Income Advocacy Project. This funding will also support a new advocacy project of LSNY and LAS for unemployed individuals who have been wrongly denied Unemployment Insurance Benefits (UIB). This funding will support the costs of providing legal representation at hearings before Administrative Law Judges to help disabled individuals and the unemployed receive the Unemployment Insurance Benefits (UIB) and/or the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits they have been wrongly denied.

Designation Method: The City Council has designated the organizations and the amount each will receive under this initiative.

Organization	Amount	Tax ID#
Legal Aid Society	$500,000	13-5562265
Legal Services NYC	$500,000	13-2600199

Initiative: Legal Services for the Working Poor

Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - CJC

Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services

Amount: $1,050,000

Boroughs Served: Citywide

First Fiscal Year Funded: 2005

Population Targeted: Working poor persons requiring civil legal assistance

Description/Scope of Services: Among the types of services that will be provided to community members are: "assistance in preventing eviction and foreclosure; improvement of living conditions and removal of hazardous housing conditions in their homes; housing code enforcement actions; organization and representation of tenants groups; help in obtaining emergency grants and benefits to avoid homelessness; assistance for family members in getting appropriate disability benefits such as SSD or SSI; immigration assistance; protection from workplace abuses, such as harassment and violation of fair wage and hour laws; consumer protections from creditors; legal representation of domestic violence victims; assistance with recovering illegal rents and other improper rent charges."

Designation Method: The City Council has designated the organizations and the amount each will receive under this initiative.

Organization	Amount	Tax ID#

Initiative: Legal Information for Families Today (LIFT)

Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - CJC

Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services

Amount: $485,000

Boroughs Served: Citywide

First Fiscal Year Funded: 2005

Population Targeted: Persons requiring information in Family Court

Description/Scope of Services: This funding will provide LIFT with the necessary resources to operate its Family Court information services programs, including its Education and Information sites located in Family Court entranceways.

Designation Method: The City Council has designated LIFT as the provider for this initiative.

Tax ID#: 13-3910567

CRIMINAL JUSTICE SERVICES

Summary of Fiscal 2012 Council Initiatives: Criminal Justice Services
Agency	Initiative	Funding
CJC	Alternatives to Incarceration (ATIs)	$3,350,000
CJC	Center for Court Innovation	$400,000
CJC	Child Advocacy Centers (Safe Horizon)	$500,000
CJC	Sexual Assault Initiative	$150,000
	TOTAL	$4,400,000

Initiative: Alternatives to Incarceration (ATIs)

Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - Criminal Justice Coordinator (CJC)

Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services

Amount: $3,350,000

Boroughs Served: Citywide

First Fiscal Year Funded: 1997

Population Targeted: Defendants facing incarceration, including youth, women, and individuals with mental illness and/or substance abuse issues.

Description/Scope of Services: Alternative-to-Incarceration Programs (ATIs) permit New York judges to sanction defendants through means other than jail or prison. The use of intermediate sanctions, such as community service and substance abuse counseling, saves the City the cost of maintaining jail beds for those who otherwise would be incarcerated. In addition, ATIs provide a range of rehabilitative services for defendants and allow jail beds to be made available for more violent offenders who pose a threat to the community.

Designation Method: The City Council will designate the organizations and the amount of funding each will receive under this initiative post-Adoption.

Initiative: Center for Court Innovation (CCI)

Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - CJC

Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services

Amount: $400,000

Boroughs Served: Citywide

First Fiscal Year Funded: 2005

Population Targeted: Community members and court-involved individuals

Description/Scope of Services: CCI operates a variety of community courts, drug courts, mental health courts, domestic violence courts, and school justice centers and youth programs throughout the City. This funding will support CCI's overall operations, as well as its Family and Youth Initiative.

Designation Method: The City Council has designated CCI as the provider for this initiative.

Tax ID#: 13-2612524

Initiative: Child Advocacy Centers (Safe Horizon)

Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - CJC

Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services

Amount: $500,000

Boroughs Served: Citywide

First Fiscal Year Funded: 2005

Population Targeted: Abused children

Description/Scope of Services: The sum of $500,000 supports a portion of the operating costs at the three existing CACs (Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island). CACs “work hand-in-hand with law enforcement and child protective services to coordinate and expedite the investigation and prosecution of cases of child sexual abuse. Working with specially trained physicians, representatives from the Administration for Children’s Services, detectives from the NYPD, and members of the District Attorney’s Office, [the Centers] help sexually abused children and their families negotiate the criminal justice and social services systems. The Centers also provide short-term counseling, information and referrals for children and families not involved in current investigations.”

Designation Method: The City Council has designated Safe Horizon as the provider for this initiative.

Tax ID#: 13-2946970

Program: Initiative to Address Sexual Assault

Agency: Criminal Justice Coordinator

Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services

Amount: $150,000

Boroughs Served: Citywide

First Fiscal Year Funded: 2005

Population Targeted: Victims of Sexual Assault

Description/Scope of Services: This action would provide $50,000 each to three different community-based organizations to provide sexual assault related services and programs. These groups are: Kingsbridge Heights Community Center (Bronx), St. Luke’s-Roosevelt Crime Victims Treatment Center (Manhattan), and Mt. Sinai Sexual Assault & Violence Intervention Program (Queens).

Designation Method: The City Council has designated the organizations and the amount each will receive under this initiative.

Aging		Dromm	AARP Chapter #991 Jackson Heights	23-7247760	*	$3,750	DFTA	The Jackson Heights Chapter 991 of AARP provides social, educational and recreational services to seniors living in Jackson Heights, East Elmhurst, Elmhurst and parts of Corona. Meetings usually attract between 35-50 members and are held every other Wednesday. A 2 admission is charged and that covers coffee, cake and a stipend for the person who sets up before and cleans up after each meeting. While funding was sparse this past year we were able to bring in the chorus of PS 69 to provide musical entertainment; Dr Kevin Wong who spoke on balance and falls; Detective Adrienne Johnson who spoke on senior safety as well as discussions among ourselves about current events and community goings on. The meeting enables seniors, the majority of whom, live alone to experience community. It enables them to seek information and help for issues beyond their control. We have been able to help a recent widow to obtain a win-win decision from her coop board that allows her an exemption from house rules and grants her permission to keep a dog in her house; we have been able to provide information on food stamps and available food services in the community both for our members and their neighbors. The meeting is a safe place for seniors to relax, discuss and obtain needed services. A Chapter in Elmhurst is closing in June and we have been in contact with them and are hopeful of integrating some of their members who live near us. The average age is between 82-90 with at least 5 member in their mid 90s. This age demographic precludes us from trips and other events outside the center and is why we try to bring services to our members. Council Funding over the years has enabled us to provide a warm, caring and effective program for our seniors.

As a Glatt Kosher center, servicing all ethnicities, Moriah has had to contend with the higher cost of food to maintain its Kosher standard. In addition, the City's new requirements for increased fresh produce have also caused increases in our food costs. Funding assistance would help ease the strain on our food budget.
Aging		Comrie	Allen Community Senior Citizens Center, Inc.	11-2326244	*	$11,700	DFTA	Allen Community Senior Center is in need of additional upgrades to replace aging equipment. Aging		Oddo	Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York	13-5562185	*	$5,000	DFTA	Senior Guild Luncheon Program - meals and health programs
Aging		Rose	Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York	13-5562185	*	$6,000	DFTA	Under contract with the New York City Department for the Aging, Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York (CCCS) sponsors and administers three (3) Senior Centers in Staten Island which promote healthy living and offer a safe environment for the seniors of Staten Island. CCCS' Case Management staff interfaces with the Senior Center Staff to bring Social Services and Emergency Food to the members. CCCS' Senior Guild Luncheon Program at Anderson Avenue boasts the largest membership, consisting of a diverse community from the Port Richmond section of Staten Island, and currently serves an average of 1,125 lunches per month. The program also conducts intergenerational events and activities between the seniors and children within the building and from local schools and offers a wide variety of educational, recreational, and socialization activities offered daily by qualified program staff and consultants. The center is known throughout S.I. for its luncheon program administered by a retired chef who bakes his own bread, makes his own desserts, and offers 2-3 choices per day. The Program has its own bus, which allows seniors the convenience of receiving transportation services between their homes and the center. Since transportation is provided to this center, many seniors are able to attend who live outside of the area. The bus is also used for recreational purposes to ! provide seniors with trips to sporting events, museums, theatres, cultural centers, parks, etc. Funding for this program will allow us to enhance the transportation services offered at the center. It will enable us to hire a Per-Diem Bus Driver (3,500) and fund regular maintenance to the center vehicle (4,000). This will allow the program to use the center bus 250 days per year, even in the absence of the regular driver, and it will allow for the expansion of off-site trips and events. It will also supplement the underfunded budget for regular bus service and repairs.
Aging		Rose	Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York	13-5562185	*	$7,500	DFTA	Under contract with the New York City Department for the Aging, Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York (CCCS) sponsors and administers three (3) Senior Centers in Staten Island which promote healthy living and offer a safe environment for the seniors of Staten Island. CCCS' Case Management staff interfaces with the Senior Center Staff to bring Social Services and Emergency Food to the members. CCCS' Stapleton Senior Center, located in NYCHA Stapleton Houses, currently serves an average of 1,167 meals per month (breakfast and lunch). Members are residents of the housing development and surrounding neighborhood as well as a population of younger seniors who travel from other communities. All members share their diverse backgrounds and are united by their common interests in art, music, and fitness. A broad range of educational, recreational, and socialization activities are offered at this center, including music programs that showcase our talented singers and a ceramics program with a professional mixer, kiln, and molds. Since coming to the attention of local organizations as an area of high need, our spirited director has formed collaborative relationships with many local agencies, including the co-located Jewish Community Center, City Harvest (cooking classes and nutrition education), Markham Day Care Center (our seniors read to children at the adjacent child cl are center), Art Lab Inc. (in-house art classes; helps qualified seniors obtain scholarships to study art), and Visiting Nurse Service (blood pressure screenings; lectures on healthy eating). Funding for this program will assist us in purchasing costly low-sodium items (3,000) to meet strict sodium guidelines for which DFTA does not compensate us and allow us to purchase much needed supplies (4,500) for the highly valued exercise programs (weights, mats, videos), ceramics program (slip, paint, glazes, molds), and music programs (electric piano, karaoke machine, sheet music).

Aging	Rose	Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York	13-5562185	*	$9,500	DFTA	Under contract with the New York City Department for the Aging, Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York (CCCS) sponsors and administers three (3) Senior Centers in Staten Island which promote healthy living and offer a safe environment for the seniors of Staten Island. CCCS' Case Management staff interfaces with the Senior Center Staff to bring Social Services and Emergency Food to the members. Characterized by its well-maintained and colorfully decorated premises, CCCS' West Brighton Senior Center is located within the NYCHA West Brighton Houses. The center offers a wide array of educational, recreational, and socialization activities including grocery shopping, bowling and Atlantic City trips, scrap booking, ceramics, billiards, and card playing. This center has a unique niche in that it also welcomes and accepts those seniors who prefer to maintain their anonymity, sit quietly, and enjoy their meal. The center's status as a vital asset to this underserved and high-need community is what spared it from being closed last year. Since then, community leaders have taken an active interest in the center and it has experienced a sustained period of revitalization and increased participation as members have gained a renewed appreciation for the program and greater willingness to participate in the multitude of amenities offered. The center is currently serving an average of 1,625 meals per month (breakfast and lunch) which is double the average number of meals that it served last year. In addition, new member registration has surged with 42 new members joining over the last 8 months. Funding for this program will assist us in purchasing costly low-sodium items (3,000) to meet strict sodium guidelines for which DFTA does not compensate us and to purchase an additional freezer (7,000) to accommodate the larger quantity of food that must be ordered to meet the needs of the drastically increased participation in meals service at this site.

(CPI) requests 5,000 from Council Member Darlene Mealy's office for FY12 Expense Funding for "World Beat: A Study of Diverse Cultures in NYC Through Dance and Music." The "World Beat" series has experienced success, since 2005, in public schools, libraries, museums and senior centers, citywide. CPI will concentrate its resources in the 41st council district, by providing skill-based learning workshops and/or performances for local youths and senior citizens. These intergenerational programs result from an alliance forged among community partners, including the Brooklyn Public Library (BPL), PS40/the George Washington Carver School, and CPI. The primary goal is Arts Exposure. Towards this end theme-based presentations of interactive music and dance performances will be brought to audiences comprising all grades of the elementary school and senior participants from the local community. CPI's two-month project will reach an estimated 500 students and 100 adults and seniors. The proposed four 45-minute concerts will be performed at the following sites, including; Brownsville, Eastern Parkway, and Stone Avenue library branches, and PS40. These interactive performances will feature members of the Charles Moore Dance Theatre, including teaching artist and choreographer Jerbean Gilkes who has been affiliated with PS40's after school program for the past decade. In addition members of Something Positive – A Caribbean Experience will be performing. Lastly, members of the legendary Harlem Blues and Jazz Band whose original alumni actually "jumped" at the Woodside and "stomped" at the Savoy with the bands of Duke Ellington, Cab Calloway, Count Basie, and more. For background information on these live performances CPI will provide as necessary, pre-show and post-show study guides for teachers, students, seniors, and staff.

Aging		Dickens	Greater Harlem Nursing Home Company, Inc.	13-2739672	*	$5,500	DFTA	Many residents of Greater Harlem Nursing Home and Rehabilitation Center have a diagnosis of Alzheimers or related Dementia. As these diseases progress, the residents become more disoriented, anxious, and there is a noticeable decline in intellectual capacity which is often accompanied by behavioral disturbances, withdrawal, depression, aggression and agitation. In 2007, we introduced a music therapy/dancercise program. The combination of the two provides active exercise with the stimulus of music which has been successful in reaching those with diminished cognitive ability. The program enables us to reinforce social, communicative, and cognitive abilities as well as physical wellness of a growing population of residents otherwise difficult to reach. Participants in the program are grouped based on their abilities and encouraged to achieve goals specific to each. The program is also a clinical tool used to assess resident needs in order to develop effective individual care-plans and to accurately and timely identify status changes requiring modifications to those plans.
Aging		Jackson	Greater Harlem Nursing Home Company, Inc.	13-2739672	*	$3,500	DFTA	The funds will be used to offset the cost of renting wheelchair-accessible buses to transport groups of residents to local venues throughout the five boroughs of New York City. Residents in nursing homes, particularly those with physical ailments are often afflicted with chronic depression leading to deterioration of function and quality of life. GHNH takes pride in the ability to provide diversified leisure activities away from the facility to maintain our residents involvement in the community and thus provide opportunities for socialization and relaxation. The clinical benefits of these outings can be immediately observed in the improved state of mind exhibited by those returning from their outside adventures. Their sense of well being is enhanced and their quality of life is improved.
Aging		Halloran	Greater Whitestone Taxpayers Community Center, Inc.	11-2791048	*	$5,000	DFTA	The funds requested will be used to operate a community center for senior citizens. The activities available for the seniors consist of open recreation sessions, arts and crafts, recreational trips, aerobics, dancing, luncheons and exercise. Social gatherings/events are also held outside of our program facility.

Aging		Lander	Helen Keller Services for the Blind	11-1630807		$3,500	DFTA	Our Adaptive Living Program (ALP)annually provides rehabilitation services to 225-275 visually impaired clients 55 older in Brooklyn. The ALP goal is to help seniors achieve a greater level of safety, confidence personal independence in their daily lives. Clients' visual impairments range from some usable vision to total blindness. Most clients' vision loss is due to severe age-related eye disorders—macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy, cataracts, glaucoma—that cannot be further corrected. ALP provides an array of individualized services targeted to the specific needs of the clients, to help regain self-sufficiency, restore ability to function and enhance quality of life. Services include: orientation mobility teaching (instruction in safe travel, street crossings, and use of a long white cane); training in home personal management skills (preparing meals, cleaning laundry, grooming, managing money, label- ing medications); enhancement of communication skills (using readers, tape recorders, braille, or large print; providing adaptive equipment—large-button phones, large-face clocks, talking watches, signature guides, bold-line markers other labeling equipment); examinations by a low-vision specialist, providing adaptive devices—hand-held magnifiers, pocket-sized telescopes specialized lighting—to help clients use their residual vision more effectively; and social casework services, including supportive services around adjustment to blindness links to community resources services. All services are provided free of charge. Although we have an ALP contract with the Commission for the Blind Visually Handicapped for these services, only 70 of expenses are reimbursed due to a cap on funds available to support the elderly. Consequently, we face a budget deficit in FY2012 of nearly 95,000 for this program. Council Member funding will help reduce this deficit assist us in continuing to provide these services for Kings County seniors.

Aging		Foster	Highbridge Community Life Center	13-3015539	*	$6,000	DFTA	There are approximately 4,000 older adults (over age 60) living in Highbridge, a neighborhood of 40,000 residents (54 Hispanic and 43 Black), located in the poorest congressional district in the nation. The majority of these older adults are 'aging in place' with limited or no supports or alternatives. Many of these seniors are isolated from the community and sources of help due to fear, frailty, logistics, or ignorance. When they have caregivers, the neighbor or family member is, at best, also struggling with the many problems associated with poverty and, at worst, taking advantage of or mistreating the senior citizen. Many older adults have been moving into five new buildings of senior housing in the neighborhood, two of which have been built across the street from our Recreation Center. We will serve seniors through various activities that include community meals, trips, holiday celebrations, intergenerational activities and connection to services and resources.
Aging		Gennaro	Hillcrest Jewish Center	11-1639813	*	$7,250	DFTA	Senior activities (non-secretarian): weekly, weather permitting meetings including hot lunch, yoga exercises, cultural and educational lectures, various entertainment, and conversation. Group refers to itself as the Leisure Group.

Aging		Dickens	Hospital Audiences, Inc.	13-6277895		$3,500	DFTA	HAI's OmniBuses are specially adapted transit vehicles that accommodate wheelchairs, stretchers and ambulatory passengers. Each OmniBus can hold ten or more people in wheelchairs, 37 frail ambulatory people, people in HAI's special stretcher beds or combinations of all three. Nursing homes, Senior Centers, rehabilitation centers, and other human service facilities rent HAI's OmniBuses so that their patients can attend concerts, plays, museums and other cultural opportunities safely and comfortably. In FY10, The OmniBus made nearly 400 trips to destinations like the Horse Races in Belmont, the Bronx Zoo, Brighton Beach, the Staten Island Mall for shopping, the South Street Seaport for dining, City Island for dining, NY Philharmonic in Prospect Park, Empire City Casino, Green Acres Mall, Yankees baseball games, Brooklyn Cyclones games, and The Cloisters to name only a very few. OmniBuses truly allow New Yorkers with physical limitations to go about their lives as normally as possible. In FY10 over 150 NYC nursing homes and senior centers were served by OmniBus. This request is for funding that would allow HAI to offer OmniBus for FREE to senior centers so they may make trips to the supermarket throughout the City. The full price of one trip is 550, which pays for the driver, monitors who assist with boarding, maintenance, and administration. HAI seeks enough total funding Citywide to offer 182 trips spread over 6 months--during the low season (fall and winter).

Aging		Dromm	Jackson Heights-Elmhurst Kehillah, Inc.	11-2643410	*	$15,000	DFTA	FOOD--The Kehillah runs a program for older food- insecure residents of Jackson Heights and Elmhurst--a weekend Kosher meals delivery program. This program is very important especially in a neighborhood with almost no other food programs. The weekend Kosher meals program provides weekend meals for elderly home-bound residents. Program participants can choose from a variety of meals, ensuring that there are no allergy problems. Meals are delivered directly to the participant. While the participants are mainly Jewish, the program is open to everyone and we have made a point of informing all local electeds that this service is available to all in need. It is also important to note, that as far as we have been able to determine, this is the only Kosher meals program for the home-bound elderly in the area.

These funds help serve the seniors attending our senior center. We express gratitude for the consistent support you provided to the Health Promotion, Educational Recreational programs at our center in prior years. These are extraordinary times for nonprofit organizations and the clients we serve. Devastating service reductions are terrifying to the frail elderly clients whose health and welfare depend upon our assistance. Detailed Description and Project Public Purpose: One of the main purposes of senior center programs is to defer the need for institutionalization in nursing homes. Both physical and mental stimulation is needed on a regular basis in order to keep senior citizens minds and bodies able to cope with the daily stresses of life. Thus, the importance of Health Aging programs at senior centers. Samples of the very popular activities, in high-demand amongst seniors, that these funds have supported in the past and which are important to continue include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Music/Recreational Therapy • Arts and Crafts Instruction • Health Promotion sessions • Exercise/Tai Chi/Chair Yoga Instruction • Line and Social Dancing Instruction • ESL and Citizenship Instruction • Trips to Cultural Sites • Computer Instruction

Aging		Ignizio	Meals on Wheels of Staten Island, Inc.	13-2894978	*	$4,000	DFTA	Meals on Wheels of Staten Island, Inc. provides home delivered meals to frail and disabled elderly residents of Staten Island who are unable to cook or shop for food independently. Our census has grown rapidly to almost 800 people to whom we deliver two meals daily. We also deliver kosher meals prepared by our subcontractor. Never having had a waiting list, we are committed to serving all elderly who are in need. A very important part of our service is the daily contact clients have with our staff person or volunteer deliverer. Our registered nurses review dietary needs and visit meal recipients. Volunteer callers maintain phone contact to reduce isolation. Menus are approved by a registered nutritionist to ensure that all meals meet the 1/3 recommended dietary allowance. Often we are able to identify that a recipient is in distress and in need of an emergency intervention. We feel that we do not only deliver meals but that we! deliver stable nutrition and with it health, wellness, security and a sense of well being. Funding will support agency growth and our ability to serve all in need of meal services, including our supportive services provided by volunteers and our nurses.

Aging		Comrie	Queens Interagency Council on the Aging, Inc.	11-2744700	*	$5,000	DFTA	The Queens Interagency Council on Aging (QICA) is a non-profit, borough-wide organization that speaks with one voice on behalf of seniors and the agencies that serve them to improve the quality of life, health and arts and cultural enrichment of older adults. With a forty year legacy as the only interagency council in Queens County, QICA's unique role is to bring together seniors, service providers and elected officials to focus on issues relevant to the aging community. We dialogue about specific necessities like accessible transportation, food and shelter, but we also discuss and advocate for wide-ranging concerns like protecting senior services, and affordable healthcare. QICAs programs directly affect 5,000 people and 100,000 indirectly through our affiliated member organizations. QICA presents nine or more major programs throughout the year. Community participation averages one hundred to one hundred and fifty people monthly and one hundred and fifty to three hundred people for conferences. Programs are free and open to the public. The Program Committee of the Board of Directors selects topics for monthly programs and conferences with input from senior citizens, senior center directors, service professionals and agency members. We strive for balanced presentations from experts in the field. To foster greater community collaboration and the sharing of resources, QICA also invites other organizations that have a compelling interest in senior issues to help plan its programs and participate in conferences and other activities. Aging		Jackson	Riverstone Senior Life Services, Inc.	13-3355074		$9,625	DFTA	Riverstone provides the only programming in northern Manhattan that is dedicated to serving people with memory loss caused by Alzheimer's disease, stroke, or other conditions. Our two dual-language programs provide daily activities for people with memory loss significant enough to interfere with independent living and for people in the very early stage of memory loss. Together with supports for caregivers, our Memory Center helps prevent unnecessary nursing home placement, enabling families to stay together, in the community, where they want to be. The Memory Center provides therapeutic activities - music, art, writing, movement therapy, exercise - in a safe, nurturing environment; specialized memory enhancement techniques; support groups for caregivers in both Spanish and English; casework services for families to help them with benefits and provide emotional support; and educational forums regarding Alzheimer's disease for the community. Participants are less depressed and in better physical and mental health because they become involved with friends and enjoy stimulating, therapeutic activities. At the same time, families learn better ways of handling difficult behaviors - repetitive questioning, angry outbursts, wandering - which helps relieve their stress so they are able to keep their loved one at home longer. Most caregiving is done by families so caregiver support is an extremely important function of our program. Riverstone has always relied on public support in order to accept people into its memory programs for a much lower fee than the actual cost of 80/day. Without support from our elected officials, this policy and our ability to meet the growing needs in our community, will be put at risk. Demographic trends show that people over the age of 85 are the fastest growing segment of our population and the incidence of memory loss increases with age. Therefore our Memory Center programs are more important than ever.

Aging		Comrie	Roy Wilkins Senior Dolphins	13-1592005	*	$5,000	DFTA	We are an athletic organization to help maintain the quality of life for seniors. We provide trips, exercise, and information necessary for seniors to maintain a good quality of life.

Aging	Van Bramer	Samaritan Village, Inc.	11-2635374	*	$36,050	DFTA	The Woodside Senior Center will use the requested funds in three areas, Healthy Initiatives 24,000; Mothers Day and Holiday Celebrations 19,750, and Case Work Assistance 40,000. Healthy Initiatives encompasses three programs; 1. Yoga Training Consultant: 2,860. This program helps those seniors with limited mobility learn how to stretch and move and be more flexible. Physical Fitness Trainer: 3,120. Provides exercise classes geared to seniors and their needs. Senior Trips: 5,000. This money will be used to charter buses for various Day Trips during the year. The remainder of the funds 13,020 will be used to provide healthy and nutritious meals. Mothers Day/Holiday Celebrations: 19,750. This will fund our two annual celebrations, which are held for Center members. Holidays are at times difficult for seniors who are alone and these celebrations with their friends are a great help. Case Work Assistance: 40,000, this will provide funds for an On-site Social Worker who will also assist as a benefit/entitlement counselor.
Aging	Gennaro	Samuel Field YM & YWHA, Inc.	11-3071518	*	$15,000	DFTA	CAPE is the only regionalized, fully licensed and third party reimbursable Geriatric Mental Health Clinic in Queens. Last year, CAPE provided home-based and clinic-based mental health services to 530 clients over the age of fifty residing throughout Queens, who were experiencing the challenges and difficulties of living with a mental disorder. Approximately 70 of the clients served geographically clustered in the communities of Eastern Queens. In addition, the CAPE Program provides a myriad of related services which are critical to its extremely vulnerable population.
Aging	Halloran	Samuel Field YM & YWHA, Inc.	11-3071518	*	$20,000	DFTA	This program will provides seniors over the age of sixty who reside in the greater Clearview,Whitestone, Le Harve, Bay Terrace, and Flushing Communities with a dedicated transportation service (one full-size passenger van with 14 seats, easy access and in full compliance with prevailing regulations) to be transported from their homes to local shopping centers, physician appointments, banks, Senior centers, pharmacies and other important destinations within their communities. From Monday thru Friday the availability of consistent reliable and easily arranged transportation(arrangements can be made by phone and door to door pick-ups and drop-offs will be made) will assist these seniors in neighborhoods that historically have been underserved by city and private surface transportation systems to remain living comfortably in their community while maintaining their independence and dignity.

Aging	Crowley	Selfhelp Community Services, Inc.	13-1624178		$17,240	DFTA	The Selfhelp Maspeth Senior Center offers innovative programming for seniors in Council District 30. Our request for funding this year will be used to benefit the following programs The need for Evidence Based Health Promotion through the Art Program (3,180) We have seen extremely positive results with our Art program. Participants have taken fewer medications, made fewer doctors visits, and experience less depression. 3,180 will help cover current Art Instructor and supply costs. Increased availability of Yoga Sessions (8670) The "Young Old" who frequent our center often still work and therefore there is demand for Yoga sessions held at night and during non working hours which this grant will enable us to provide. Increased Tai Chi Sessions (4668)Our Tai Chi sessions have seen a very positive response and there is demand for addition classes. Currently we are also offering Tai Chi after hours from 7-8 pm on Thursday night after we found there was a desire for it within the surrounding community. This class also is popular with the often still employed "Young Old. Computer Education (722)The elderly have a need for computer education. Computer skills help with cognitive discipline, and within the community we have seen a desire for computer skills that stretch beyond just emailing or web surfing. We have a need for beginning and advanced instruction.
Aging	Dickens	Selfhelp Community Services, Inc.	13-1624178		$4,250	DFTA	Selfhelps Case Management Programs tailor services to specific needs for seniors, improving their quality of life and enabling them to live independently in their own homes. Our Selfhelp Project Pilot attends to the needs of seniors over 60 living Manhattans Community Districts 4 and 7. Among the services offered are: Screening for all entitlements and benefits such as Food Stamps, Medicaid and Senior Citizen Rent Increase Exemption (SCRIE) Application assistance Advocacy This year we are asking for a grant to help us to do Heavy Duty Cleaning for clients (5,000) As our senior clients become frailer, household chores become tremendously challenging and difficult to perform. For example, cleaning ovens, washing floors, dusting and cleaning closets can be very strenuous for the elderly. The health implications are significant, as cluttered spaces make dangerous falls more likely and cal lower seniors' immunity to life-threatening diseases. By providing heavy duty cleaning services, we seek to alleviate these difficulties and challenges, and make sure that our older clients have access to services that keep their homes, clean, uncluttered and safe.

Aging		Dromm	Selfhelp Community Services, Inc.	13-1624178		$7,500	DFTA	Selfhelp Community Services Northridge/Brulene/Southridge NORC provides case management, social work, transportation, wellness and other congregate services to Senior residents of the Northridge/Brulene/Southridge apt. buildings. Social work is the linchpin of Selfhelp's NORC model. The social worker assesses seniors' physical, social, and mental health needs, and manages their referral to both on-site and off-site services, including: home care, meals-on-wheels, housekeeping, health care, education, recreation, transportation, volunteer opportunities, health promotion activities, entitlements programs, and other special programs. These services are designed to provide elders with help that will allow them to live independently in their own homes and continue to participate in community activities. The Northridge/Brulene/Southridge social worker is well-known to NORC clients. Over time, she has developed strong relationships with them, which enhance her ability to manage their care. We request funding to maintain her time on campus at 5 days a week, as we did last year. The extra funding will enable her to provide daily home visits, daily falls prevention assessments, and daily information and referral services. The moments immediately following a fall or medical emergency are crucial, and if the victim is unable to get to a telephone, the consequences can be serious. Thus, for seniors who live alone, the ability to call for help in an emergency is essential to their safety. A Personal Emergency Response System is an electronic device designed to allow elderly and disabled people to more easily summon help in an emergency. Currently, Selfhelp subsidizes a percentage of the ongoing cost of this service to make it affordable for NORC residents. The renewal of funding to Northridge/Brulene/Southridge NORC will allow us to subsidize PERS services for more than 35 seniors. Due to the addition of new buildings to the NORC Program, this is very much needed.

Aging		Lander	Selfhelp Community Services, Inc.	13-1624178		$5,000	DFTA	Selfhelp's Kensington office has been a one-stop hub for vulnerable Brooklyn seniors for 30 years. The Kensington office currently provides a wide range of services to nearly 2,000 Brooklyn seniors. These include: • in-home or in office assessment of all potential needs; •screening for over 40 entitlements and benefits; • assistance in making applications; • short term counseling for information and referral; • case advocacy and follow-up calls; • mental health assessment and referral; and, • ongoing visits, in-home or in-office. The Kensington site also holds community health events, such as those for flu shots and memory clinics. In addition, the program provides access to legal services, cash assistance grants, financial management services, and transportation to and from medical appointments. We request funding to partially pay the salary of a chore worker. Every two weeks, the choreworker visits the client and cleans for two hours. Beyond cleaning, many clients enjoy her company; for those clients who are very isolated this is an important side benefit of services. In addition, the chore services provider has received explicit training for the position, and is bound by a detailed job description and set of guidelines. Her responsibilities include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (-) Changing bed linens, washing and ironing clients laundry, and cleaning clients apartments. (-) Participating in the scheduling of appointments and reporting all problems and issues to supervisor. (-) Performing other duties as assigned during non-scheduled appointment times. (-) Maintaining records of services provided and of apparent condition of client. (-) Reporting all problems encountered to professional staff. (-) Performing other duties as needed or requested. (-) Monitoring – The chore worker is trained to identify changes in behavior, mood, and general well-being. This funding would benefit these residents of the 22nd Council District in the following way: Personal Emergency Response System- 5,000 The moments immediately following a fall or medical emergency are crucial, and if the victim is unable to get to a telephone, the consequences can be serious. For frail seniors who live alone, the ability to call for help in an emergency is essential to their safety. A Personal Emergency Response System (PERS) is an electronic device designed to allow elderly and disabled people to more easily summon help in an emergency. The tenants receiving these services live alone and would not be able to afford advanced safety net technology like PERS on their own. In addition to installation costs, these systems require monthly monitoring fees that are not supported by Medicare or by most insurance providers. Your continued support will allow our tenants, as well as their family members and caregivers, to continue enjoying the additional safety and peace of mind that this service provides. Car Service- 6,000 Transportation is in great demand among our frail seniors at Selfhelp Queensview/North Queensview NORC, as it enables them to go about their daily lives with greater freedom and independence. Selfhelp contracts with a taxi company to provide car service that enables seniors to attend their doctor appointments, visit family and friends, make shopping trips, and attend memorial services. Many of our frail seniors have age-related physical limitations, such as poor vision and hearing, respiratory conditions, and/or cognitive impairments, which make it very difficult to utilize public transportation. The cab company provides rides to seniors at half-fare, and charges the remainder to the program.

Two-thirds of our clients are low income or poor, with annual incomes of 20,000 or less. Because SAGE offers most of our programs and services for free, we incur significant overhead in delivering these services, including rent, utilities, and other-than-personnel expenses. Member item support is particularly useful in helping us meet these expenses, many of which are not covered by private sources such as foundation grants. SAGE is the nation's oldest and largest non-profit organization providing direct services and advocacy for lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender older adults. Since 1978, SAGE has pioneered social services, congregate services, and community building programs that tangibly improve the quality of life for LGBT older people in New York City. Likewise, our education and advocacy programs have raised visibility and awareness of LGBT aging concerns among mainstream providers, thus making key services more accessible for an underserved population that has endured a lifetime of discrimination. SAGE offers the most comprehensive slate of direct services for LGBT older adults in New York City, and our constituents in every district in the city. We hope you will consider joining your fellow New York City Council members by generously supporting SAGE through member item funding in FY11-12. Your support is vital in helping us fulfill our mission of ensuring that the marginalized and disenfranchised older adults in New York City's LGBT community will age with dignity and respect. VISIONS fulfills its purpose by providing: Individualized rehabilitation training at home or in the community, Social Services Employment and Training, Job Development, Group and Community Education and Activities. VISIONS programs focus on individuals with low income in the Greater New York Area who are blind or visually impaired, including those with multiple disabilities, elders, limited-English speakers and culturally diverse consumers. Each year, VISIONS provides programs and services for over 5,000 individuals. No fees are charged for consumers who primarily reside in all the boroughs of New York City. VISIONS allocates eighty-seven cents of every dollar is spent on programs and meets all of the Better Business Bureaus (BBB) Wise Giving Standards and is an accredited charity and member of the BBB seal program. VISIONS was recently listed as "one of the best disability agencies" on the "Great Nonprofits website www.greatnonprofits.org.

Aging		Williams	VISIONS/Services for the Blind and Visually Impaired	13-1624210	*	$5,000	DFTA	VISIONS/Services for the Blind and Visually Impaired promotes the independence of people who are blind or visually impaired. VISIONS serves over 5000 primarily low income and minority individuals annually in all five boroughs of New York City. Currently there are over 260,000 blind or visually impaired seniors (over 55) residing in New York City. Many visually impaired seniors take advantage of the services provided through the Aging Network in the City for case management, case assistance, referrals and information, benefits assessment, health and nutrition information, telephone reassurance, friendly visits and language translation services. Sadly, we are aware of the pending cuts to senior services contemplated in the Mayor's and Governor's budgets. These cuts will be confusing and precarious for many seniors, but for blind or visually impaired elders they could be life-threatening. VISIONS already augments the assistance that visually impaired older adults obtain from their local senior centers and aging network providers, enjoying relationships with over 200 senior service providers. In 2010, VISIONS provided services to more than 2,000 clients above the age of 60 and who reside in every city council district. 50 were minorities. VISIONS currently employs 50 full time and 25 part time staff. Half of our staff is devoted to outreach and community services. VISIONS proposes to undertake additional responsibility for outreach, case assistance and information and referral that would be lost should the budget cuts to current senior service providers become a reality in the FY 2012 budget. VISIONS requests 100,000 for the purposes of providing enhanced outreach assistance to blind and visually impaired seniors. Outreach services would be provided to at least 1,000 blind or visually impaired seniors and their caregivers throughout NYC.

Aging		Jackson	Washington Heights-Inwood Preservation and Restoration Corporation	13-2944830	*	$7,000	DFTA	WHIPRC works on the front lines of hunger relief for seniors. We seek to fight hunger through our Anti-Poverty Food/Nutrition Program, which promotes the well-being of seniors and families and stabilizes the community. This food subsidy program includes a food pantry, the delivery of weekend meals to the homebound, a hot meal during our weekly program for seniors with dementia, assistance applying for and maintaining food stamps and WIC, and emergency food vouchers for families and individuals in need. The food pantry, for which we are applying for funding, distributes a variety of nonperishable goods, with occasional fresh produce. The nutritional value of each package is in accordance with New York City guidelines. Our Anti-Poverty Food/Nutrition Program strengthens the economic stability of the neighborhood by enabling clients to leverage money that they would have spent on food to pay their rent, medication, utility bills, and other vital expenses. Decreasing the number of seniors and other residents who go hungry also decreases the crime rate, enables children to study more effectively in school, and enables adults to work more effectively. The emergency food products and subsidies help individuals and families to maintain an adequate level of nutrition while they are unemployed, underemployed or in job retraining programs. Seniors benefit greatly from this program by providing them with vital sustenance. Each food pantry recipient is screened by WHIPRC case workers to determine whether they require, and are eligible for, assistance such as food stamps or WIC, and the clients are educated about various government assistance programs. We incur costs related to rent and utilities of the office and food pantry space, food pantry staff who spend time ordering, distributing, and logging, as well as staff time spent counseling the clients who need further assistance. As such, funding received through this application will be used for both program and operational expenses that in turn will be utilized to assist seniors.

Czechoslovak-American Marionette Theatre puppetry and literacy programs with public elementary schools in the Lower East Side. (supported in part by NYSCA and now in the 8th year). Schools involved include the Earth School and Neighborhood School. The project is centered on creating and performing puppet plays based on the themes from the current curriculum of the schools. (This serves about 300 children and up to 400 families with audiences who attend the final programs presented in the schools) 2. Free-to-audience performances of Czech puppetry and storytelling in libraries, schools, and parks that reach children and families afterschool in all five boroughs. 2,000 to support East Village Dance Project 3. To support East Village Dance Project, a dance education program that serves 80 children, age 4 to 18, in the underserved neighborhood of the Lower East Side/East Village area. Artistic Director and Founder Martha Tornay works under our community policy which insures that no child is turned away due to lack of funds. A program of financial support (Ruby Cantor Fund) was founded in the name of a child who tragically died at the age of 3, and was a student in the program. Ms. Tornay has inspired children, caregivers and parents, who are enthusiastic about the project. A group of teens from the East Village and Lower East Side who have been in the program for a few years now meet regularly and on weekends, as part of the EVDP Junior Company. They perform at La MaMa, in Forth Arts Block Fair and around NY. Funding from the Councilperson is used to support children's tuition costs for dance classes, costumes, and public events in the neighborhood. A decrepit storefront ! at 55 Avenue C was renovated and AVENUE C STUDIO opened in January 2011 to house the program, which takes place afterschool and on weekends. Councilperson Mendez attended the opening Jan. 3.

It offers a broad range of services, from pre-screening for government benefits, an after-school program, social service referrals to drug and alcohol counseling, emergency food and clothing support, ESL and GED training, job readiness training, and more. The Lighthouse Mission consists of three core programs, the Coney Island Lighthouse Pantry, Coney Island Community Kitchen and Lighthouse Say Yes After School Program. The Community Kitchen provides meals that are open to the public each Friday, as well as after-school hot snacks for our youth five days a week. The Lighthouse Pantry is open five days a week and distributes grocery bags on Tuesdays and Thursdays to 1400 families each month. In addition, our Farmer's Market delivers fresh produce every week, which is distributed free of charge to our community. Our After School Program operates 5 days a week from 3 PM to 5:30 PM where we feed 24 high-risk children with a nutritional meal and snack each day; assist each child with their homework and provide special tutoring for specific needs.

Local		Comrie	Advocates for Children of New York, Inc.	11-2247307		$3,500	DYCD	The citywide Jill Chafetz Education Helpline assists parents in all five boroughs who are trying to help their children succeed in school. Helpline staff guide callers in making important educational decisions by disseminating information and advice to parents, family members, and service providers about how to navigate the New York City public school system. The Helpline is the only independent, comprehensive source of instant, free consultation on almost any public school-related issue, including, for example, accommodations for a student who uses an asthma inhaler; what to do if your school is closing or moving; safety transfers to another school; special education; promotional standards; or options available in bilingual education/ESL. Our Education Helpline is staffed by both English-language and Spanish-language speakers, with additional capacity to serve callers of other languages as needed due to Advocates for Children's contract with a telephonic interpretation and translation service. With support from the City Council over the past five years, we have been able to hire dedicated Helpline staff and make the Helpline available four days a week from 10:00 am to 4:00 pm, greatly increasing the number of families we can serve. In calendar year 2010, the Helpline assisted 4,036 callers. All staff who work on Helpline undergo an intensive training program on the educational system and are provided with a manual on educational advocacy and services prepared by AFC's Deputy Director, Director of Legal Services, and the Helpline Supervisors. The Director of Legal Services regularly reviews calls with Helpline staff to ensure that the information provided is legally appropriate and that callers in need of an attorney may have their cases reviewed. AFC seeks City Council funding this year so we may continue to provide service to the thousands of people who reach out to us for help and all too often have nowhere else to go.

(Rights, Organizing, Social, Equality); The Nguemne HIV/AIDS Initiative; Kalifa Leadership Program; Mojo Sisterhood Support Conference call. African Hope Committees overarching goal in the transformation of institutions and policies that impact the low-income communities that we serve; Engage African immigrant and social network to continue to address low income and immigrant issues; mobilize stakeholders for collaborative action at grassroots and political level in a bottom-up approach. AHC will continue using the CAC(Community Action Cycle)- this innovative approach will empower AHCs target population and its constituencies to take charge of their health and have a unified voice for health care needs and necessary reform in the African immigrant community. African immigrants are increasingly distancing or isolating themselves from services because of mistreatment, misinterpretation, misguided, misdiagnosis, exploitation and complete disregard of the needs. Clients communicated that due to their fear of government, undocumented status and trauma issues they are reluctant to seek out any social or health services. AHC also understands that the community has pride and a sense of self-respect but has been disappointed, misled and misdiagnosed by service systems. There is a need to address the deeper cultural and environmental issues that African immigrants face such as war and rape trauma, lack of trust in government services, myths and taboos in a culturally and linguistically sound environment.

By providing a central location for their operations, we enable theatres that normally would not be able to afford an expensive long-term lease to run more professionally and efficiently. The educational programs and low-cost cultural events our members provide encourage residents to take an active role in their communities and broaden the education of underserved youth, as well as the neighborhood at large. Furthermore, from an economic perspective, successful arts institutions are an integral part of building strong neighborhoods. When theatres thrive, nearby businesses benefit from an influx of clients to their shops, bars, and restaurants. Funding from the City Council will enable us to maintain the quality, affordability, and accessibility of SOS and its programming by helping defray our maintenance and utility costs.

Our mission is to provide a quality education program to eligible families regardless of race, color, creed, sex or nationality. We provide educational services to approximately 161 children, ages six weeks to four years. The program is geared towards the social, emotional, cultural, physical and cognitive development of the children. Through this project, the Center will effectively enhance our programs mission of stimulating a sense of independence, responsibility and curiosity within the child.

The Moveable Museums are traveling, walk-in exhibition spaces that focus on science and social studies specific to grades K – 12, as well as being aligned to the New York City science and social studies scope and sequence. Currently, the Museum has four Moveable Museums that travel to schools, libraries, camps, and community events throughout the City. In FY10, there were 199 visits throughout all five boroughs reaching over 22,000 children and adults. We expect to serve similar numbers in FY12 as these vehicles are in high demand. All participating students and adults receive free Family Vouchers to visit the AMNH's permanent halls. Part of the programming also includes professional development workshops for teachers. In FY10, the Moveable Museum visited the following schools in Council District 47: PS 101-K, PS 216-K, PS 215 K, PS 329-K, PS 370K, Life Academy High School for Film and Music (M559), and Saint Mary Saint Frances. Several of these schools were visited twice in FY10 and over 700 residents from Council District 47 visited a Moveable Museum. Currently in FY11, the Moveable Museum visited the following schools in Council District 47: Saint Mary Saint Frances, PS 101, PS 721, and are scheduled to visit PS 101-K, PS 370K, PS 215 K, Rachel Carson High School for Coastal Studies, PS 329 - The Surfside School, and Jim Thorpe High School.
Local		Levin	American Museum of the Moving Image	11-2730714	*	$13,500	DCA	Museum of the Moving Image proposes to conduct a twelve-week after-school animation course for students at IS 318, from February 6 th May, 2012 through Cultural After-School Adventures (CASA). The Museum will use a combination of critical viewing, small and large group projects, and workshops related to visual storytelling and narrative structure to help students learn how to create their own animated movies, interactive animations, and video games. Students will be called upon to use their critical, analytical and creative skills, and to apply math and science skills to the completion of their artistic projects. They will have the opportunity to work with state-of-the-art computers, cameras, software, and equipment. The course will be limited to 15 students. Enrollment will take place in January 2012; sessions will commence in February 2012 and end in late May. Workshops will take place once a week for two hours at the school, and one session will be held at the Museum. Each week, the lead instructor will submit a lesson plan to the Deputy Director for Education for approval. Lesson plans will be based on a curriculum outline prepared by the Deputy Director for Education and Senior Educator in January 2012. In order to participate, students must have a signed permission slip from their parent or guardian, and a separate permission slip for the Museum visit. At the end of the program, a special screening and reception for students and their invited guests takes place at the Museum. Each participating student also receives a DVD of his or her work at the end of the program.

Two AAANY staff members and at least five high-achieving high school and college student volunteers will serve as tutors. The volunteers, Arab American students who went through the same schools, will be role models for the younger students. For older youth, we will increase college matriculation by teaching 40 students per year in two SAT preparation courses, and provide individual counseling, application review, and college visits to 50 students per year. Given the scarce resources of local high schools and the complex knowledge required to advise students on college choices, AAFEEI is the only college track assistance available to many of our students.

Local		Recchia	Art's House Schools, Inc.	87-0790139		$4,000	DCA	"Dance Off the Streets" is a program designed to keep teenagers age 7-17 of the streets and out of gangs. "Dance Off the Streets" empowers the youth of Coney Island to be creative, productive leaders, who will have the skills to work collectively, solve problems and maintain physical fitness. These children work with positive peers and role models: and to strengthen their respect for themselves, others and their environments. "Dance Off the Streets" improves children's communication proficiency, their focus levels, and their peer and adult interaction ability. With these new skill sets, each youngster becomes more receptive to academic success and social responsibility. Therefore, our greatest impact will be turning around a life that was headed in the wrong direction. Funding provided by Councilman Domenic Recchia afforded Art's House Schools the resources to provide services for over ten children this fiscal year.

The program will launch with a retreat of 8 full-day sessions focused on exploring identity, team-building, and learning about college readiness. The youth leaders will meet weekly after school for 30 weeks in the 2011-12 school year. They will collectively work on an action research project focused on improving college readiness in schools. They will learn to analyze a problem and identify recommendations to solve it. The Program Coordinator will facilitate these conversations and provide an analytical framework for the youth leaders. They will develop the following skills: critical thinking, public speaking, writing, responsibility, civic engagement, and team work. They will then be split up into groups of 5 students and will be responsible for conducting at least one workshop each for 20-30 students on college readiness, reaching at least 400 of their peers. CAFCF will implement our Parent Leadership Program by empowering 20 immigrant APA parents to promote equity and access for New York City's APA families. They will meet 1-2 times per month during 2011-12. The parent leaders will be educated on the rights of parents and children in the child welfare, education, and health systems, resources to support their families, and opportunities to become more civically engaged. They will receive training on how to facilitate workshops, outreach to community members, and build coalitions. Parents will then be split up into groups of 5 responsible for organizing at least one workshop each for 10-15 parents focused on the rights of parents and children, reaching at least 50 of their peers. Through these workshops, the parent leaders and their peers will learn about their rights and their children's rights, determine changes that need to take place in schools and neighborhoods to support their child's well-being, and take action to make changes.

Local		Recchia	Astella Development Corporation	11-2458675		$15,000	DDSB	Astella Development Corp.'s "Mermaid Ave. Makeover Clean Streets Campaign" will rid Mermaid Ave. sidewalks and street corners of litter and surface dirt and stains. Astella will collaborate with the NYC Department of Sanitation, the Coney Island Board of Trade, and Mermaid Ave. merchants to provide these services. Members of the Coney Island Board of Trade, in which Astella helped to revitalize and provides technical assistance, have noted that while most merchants keep the sidewalk area in front of their stores free of litter according to city law, additional litter and sidewalk dirt and stains accumulate throughout the remainder of the day. In addition, according to a survey of Mermaid Ave. merchants conducted by an Astella intern in 2010, cleanliness of Mermaid Ave. was cited as the number one concern among merchants on Mermaid Ave. A cleaner commercial corridor will inspire confidence and pride in the neighborhood, provide a welcoming environment for shoppers, a boost for Mermaid Ave. businesses, and sends the message that a clean neighborhood is important to the community and encourages residents and visitors to Mermaid Ave. not to litter and improve overall cleanliness. Astella will engage the services of a power-washing cleaning company to apply high pressure, hot-water power washers to remove tough dirt, stains, and gum on the sidewalk surfaces along Mermaid Ave. In addition, Astella will initiate a pilot program, hiring three Coney Island residents three times a week from May through November to sweep the sidewalks and street corners, and collect and bag refuse, including cans, bottles, food and food wrappers, newspapers, etc. One of those individuals will also serve as a crew supervisor. Once the pilot program proves successful, the program will continue, which will provide ongoing employment to a population that is disproportionately unemployed. Upon completion of the classes, students will receive certification cards. The OSHA and scaffolding cards are mandatory to work on construction sites. The flagging certification card is mandatory to obtain a job as a flagger, who directs motorist street traffic at a construction site. The certifications will be particularly beneficial to Coney Island residents seeking to work on construction sites in Coney Island as the area's redevelopment progresses. Students will be provided job placement services upon graduation. According to the U.S. Department of Labor, an effective program of safety and health training for workers can result in fewer injuries and illnesses, better morale, lower insurance premiums, and other benefits. Astella staff members are exploring various organizations to provide the training and have met with individuals from the Brooklyn-based organization P.P.E.E. to learn of its capabilities. Astella will also work with three community outreach individuals in Coney Island to sign up motivated Coney Island residents for the classes who are interested in entering the construction trades leading to sustaining careers. Our goal is to introduce ballet to young people who otherwise might not be exposed to classical dance, foster an appreciation for the performing arts, and develop and educate future audiences. As a leading arts educator, ABT looks particularly to serve the most underserved public schools in New York City, where slashed budgets have left students with no arts programming. ABT at School is designed to offer arts education initiatives in public school grades 2 to 5. Students in participating schools receive two visits from an ABT Teaching Artist, who leads them through warm-up exercises, movement studies to build coordination skills, balance- and strength-building exercises, across-the-floor sequences, allegro jumps, and partne! ring. Teaching Artists incorporate many of the Department of Educations Blueprint for Teaching and Learning in the Arts guidelines that empower and enable the students to practice creativity, responsibility, and independence through hands-on activities. To enhance their understanding of dance, students also receive complimentary tickets to an ABT program at Lincoln Center, where they have the opportunity to see a live ballet performance, often for the very first time. ABT prepares students for what they will see by providing historical background on the ballets being performed and on the Company as a whole, as well as instructing them in related movement structures and discussing the works' plots and themes. Additionally, ABT distributes study guides so that teachers can continue incorporating the arts into their classrooms. A legislative grant of 5,000 will enable ABT to offer ABT at School at two district schools of the Councilmembers choice.

Our goal is to introduce ballet to young people who otherwise might not be exposed to classical dance, foster an appreciation for the performing arts, and develop and educate future audiences. Councilmember Recchias dedicated leadership has enabled ABT to reach hundreds of New York City public school children each year through programs such as ABT at School, a workshop consisting of school visits by an ABT Teaching Artist and free tickets to an ABT performance, and Young People's Ballet Workshop (YPBW), which brings children to student-friendly performances held each spring at the Metropolitan Opera House and at the Frank Sinatra School of the Arts in the fall. ABT at School classes receive two visits from an ABT Teaching Artist, who leads them through warm-up exercises, movement studies to build coordination skills, balance- and strength-building exercises, across-the-floor sequences, allegro jumps, and partnering. Teaching Artists incorporate many of the Department of Educations Blueprint for Teaching and Learning in the Arts guidelines that empower and enable the students to practice creativity, responsibility, and independence through hands-on activities. To enhance their understanding of dance, students also receive complimentary tickets to a live ABT performance, now including the childrens favorite The Nutcracker performed during the Companys winter season at BAM in Brooklyn. ABT prepares students for what they will see by providing historical background on the ballets being performed and on the Company as a whole, as well as instructing them in related movement structures and discussing the works' plots and themes. Addit! onally, ABT distributes study guides so that teachers can continue incorporating the arts into their classrooms.

Local		Weprin	Big Apple Greeter, Inc.	13-373413		$5,000	DDSB	Since 1992, Big Apple Greeter has played a important role in the revitalization of New York City, by promoting the City as a friendly, inviting, and manageable place to over 100,000 travelers from every state and over 100 countries, in nearly 25 languages, bringing them to 114 neighborhoods and nearly 1,600 neighborhood locations throughout the five boroughs. B.A.G. works not only to enhance the visitor experience but we also help drive the local economy in a way no one else does – by providing visitors with a volunteer “friend” who embodies the warmth and friendliness of our great City and its neighborhoods. Our volunteer Greeters accompany one to six visitors on free two-to-four-hour informal walks through an average of three to four neighborhoods and five neighborhood locations. Since January 1998 (the start of our visitor destination recordkeeping), Greeters and visitors have reported over 130,000 location visits throughout the City to the following types of locations: 121,481 sightseeing locations; 5,667 shopping locations; 1,844 museum and gallery locations; and 2,323 eating and drinking locations. B.A.G. promotes tourism citywide and also encourages both visitors and native New Yorkers to explore some of the lesser-known but no less interesting neighborhoods of the City. During 2010, nearly 7,000 visitors from 45 countries and 43 states spent time with over 300 volunteers in 38 Council Districts, resulting in a direct positive economic impact on the City of 11,225,720. Based on our estimates, B.A.G’s exponential impact, which includes word-of-mouth, social media and repeat visits, could reach 145,934,360. Other B.A.G. programs include: Access for Travelers with Disabilities; Greeter for a Day which offers prominent New Yorkers the opportunity to experience B.A.G.; Neighborhood Information Profiles which raise awareness of the City’s diverse neighborhoods; and Greeter Outings that introduce neighborhoods and cultural sites to our volunteers.

Local		Ulrich	Bobbi and the Strays, Inc.	11-3444285		$5,000	DYCD	In an effort to educate the public about animal cruelty, and the responsibilities and benefits of having a pet, Roberta (Bobbi) Giordano, gives talks at citywide elementary and middle schools on a regular basis, after normal school hours. Some of the schools include PS63, PS60, PS97, PS105, PS100, PS206, PS47, PS96, IS285, PS112, IS68, 42Q, 155Q, 144Q, ISPS327, 122, 155Q, 114Q MS210Q, IS68, PS58, Aviation High and more each year. These talks are usually given in an informal classroom setting so that the children can ask questions. Pamphlets and booklets are handed out for the students to take home, concerning her talk. She also usually shows a video presentation. To the best of our knowledge we are the only rescue group doing this within the five boroughs of New York City. She discusses real life situations/stories of stray animals from our neighborhood and shelter that had a wonderful outcome because people cared about them. She explains the problem of overpopulation of unwanted animals, in addition to animal cruelty, such as illegal dog fighting. This behavior and its outcome can be greatly reduced by educating these impressionable young minds. These youngsters can better understand that animal cruelty is not in some far away place, but right here where they live and go to school. They will gain a sense that their actions of kindness, responsible pet care, I etc. can have a positive effect on the life of an animal; just like in the presentation. We feel this is a good way of educating, motivating and inspiring these youngsters. The availability for these presentations is on our Website, www.BobbilandtheStrays.org Aproximatley 2500-3000 students are reached by this program.

Local		Comrie	Broadway League, Inc., The	13-0951470		$5,000	DYCD	The Broadway League is the national trade association for the Broadway industry. The League's 700-plus members including theatre owners and operators, producers, presenters, and general managers help bring Broadway to more than 30 million people in New York each year. We respectfully request 5,000 for our "Family First Nights" program. This past year, over 200 families were served working with different community organizations in all five boroughs. The Broadway League created Family First Nights to introduce families from underserved communities to theatre and encourage children to develop a life-long appreciation for the art form, an opportunity many participants may not otherwise have. Working with Council Member Comrie, the Broadway League will partner with a neighborhood social service agency to identify families and coordinate program logistics. Families in the program commit to attend the theatre together three times over the course of a year and work with the social service agency to arrange transportation. Families will take part in post-performance discussions with the cast and production staff, and receive written material on the theatre and specific show. Sponsors of the program are invited to join the families at their designated location before departing for photos and an opportunity to meet the participants. Families have recently attended performances of MEMPHIS, IN THE HEIGHTS, THE COLOR PURPLE, BILLY ELLIOT, THE ADDAMS FAMILY, SHREK, THE PHANTOM OF THE OPERA, HAIRSPRAY and many other Broadway productions. By engaging families in repeated experiences through multiple productions, Family First Nights offers the opportunity to make live theatre part of their cultural heritage, as well as educate children on the many non-performing job opportunities available in our industry.

BRAC's interdisciplinary arts and environmental justice mission addresses local and global environmental issues through training and presentation in the visual arts and digital media. This year we moved from our home of 25 years so that our building could go under a complete renovation. To continue our programming while on hiatus from our building we created our "BRAC on the Block" initiative through which we built upon our partnerships with local schools and other CBOs so as to be able to offer our high quality arts programming off-site around the borough. Our education program's subjects include: drawing, painting, ceramics, "Build it Green" (3D design), graphic design, digital filmmaking and photography, and an intensive Teen Institute that meets twice a week and builds leadership skills and civic pride. Our teaching artists have BFA and MFA degrees and are trained in our Environmental Studies and Urban Planning curriculum. Our free exhibition program draws audiences from throughout the Bronx as well as from the greater metropolitan area. Our shows highlight contemporary art through the presentation of new work by emerging and established professional artists. We present five exhibitions a year, which feature receptions, artist/curator talks, and scholarly printed materials for the public to gain a deeper understanding of contemporary art. BRAC also presents five performances a year highlighting the talent that our borough and city have to offer. This series of contemporary music and interdisciplinary performances provide an eclectic mix of expressions to our culturally diverse audience. We offer low priced or free admission so as to meet our community's economic needs.

Local		Lander	Brooklyn College at the City University of New York	11-1904329		$3,500	CUNY	The Center for the Study of Brooklyn at Brooklyn College is the only research center devoted exclusively to the study of public affairs in the borough. Our mandate is twofold: to provide access to and produce relevant data and research about Brooklyn, and to facilitate strategic planning initiatives and community needs assessments in the borough. We provide these services to, and in partnership with, Brooklyn-based community groups and institutions, local government and businesses, researchers and the media. Our work informs and enhances policy, programmatic and funding decisions in the borough. We are a relatively new (5 years) and small organization (5 staff), and the requests for our services are quickly outpacing our resources- a good problem to have as we work in 2011 to position ourselves to meet this growing demand. Specific programs and services to be funded include: (1) Brooklyn Trends Report (first ever for the borough, the Center has convened over 100 community-based and academic advisors to prioritize the most important issues impacting the borough, which in the Report will be articulated by narrative and the Center's data analysis and mapping); (2) Brooklyn At a Glance and Neighborhood Data Reports for each of Brooklyn's 18 Community Districts; (3) Customized Data Analysis and Mapping Technical Assistance to Brooklyn-based Nonprofits, Researchers and Elected Officials (twenty previous reports supported funding proposals, advocacy initiatives, programming and marketing decisions, research and publications and targeted outreach to Brooklyn constituencies); (4) Community Needs Assessments and Strategic Planning Services (recent Brooklyn groups served include Lutheran Family Health Centers Promise Neighborhoods initiative, the Heart of Brooklyn's Building Strong Community Networks, the Hope and Healing Fund for Brooklyn Haitians, and Brooklyn Linkage to Care Coalition HIV/AIDS Strategic Plan. With this funding we can dramatically increase the number of Brooklyn residents we serve. We will apply funds toward civil attorneys who will: o Represent victims of human trafficking. We will assist clients who have been brought here by men who then force them to prostitute themselves. We will help these victims achieve legal status in this country; o Represent victims of Domestic Violence. We will assist noncitizen victims of domestic violence in their self-petitions for lawful status and in obtaining U-Visa protections; o Help with other forms of legal statusâ€like greencards, citizenship, and political asylum. As part of our Program we will also continue to represent and advise Haitian immigrants on how to maintain Temporary Protected Status and secure other immigration benefits, drawing from our community clinic model and our up-and-running Volunteer Lawyers Program; o Represent clients in immigration detention and deportation. We help our clients secure release from detention on bond and represent them at immigration proceedings; and o Assist clients when appropriate in accessing other civil legal services--such as housing and family law services--through referral and, where appropriate, direct representation.

Cohen, the Ratzler map “is perhaps the finest map of an American city and its environs produced in the 18th century.” Lieutenant Bernard Ratzler was a British engineer and surveyor who was commissioned by the British Army to make military maps; his work mostly involved surveying terrain and creating maps to be used by the British military during the French and Indian War and the Revolutionary War. In late 1767 Ratzler conducted extensive surveying of Manhattan and Kings County. Ratzler’s map was the first to provide a detailed view of the predevelopment topography of Manhattan as well as a detailed rendering of the then agrarian landscape of Brooklyn and Queens and a small portion of New Jersey. In addition to its topographical detail, the map also shows major roads and country lanes, as well as names of property owners. The map has many recognizable names: the Road to Flatbush, Red Hook, Bedfore and in Manhattan, Turtle Bay. Local		Nelson	Brooklyn Historical Society, The	11-1630813	*	$5,000	DCA	Brooklyn Historical Society respectfully requests a grant of 10,000 to support an exciting new program that will document the history of Jews in Brooklyn. The entire project is expected to cost 150,000, but a 10,000 contribution will allow BHS to create a template of the website for the project, and conduct some key oral history interviews. While most New Yorkers recognize the importance of Jews to the history of Brooklyn and the significance of that history to an understanding of New York, to date there has been little scholarship on Brooklyn Jews. BHS is seeking to address this issue with the Brooklyn Jewish History Initiative. The goal of the Brooklyn Jewish History Initiative is to establish a repository for family and institutional archives, books and exhibitions about the rich and complex history of Brooklyn Jews from the 19th through the 21st century. Components of the Initiative will include an oral history program, exhibitions and a website that will allow interested scholars and the general public to identify and locate information about the history of Jewish life in Brooklyn. The Brooklyn Jewish History Initiative’s first priority will be to establish a website. We have already identified elders to interview, determined a template of questions that our professional team of interviewers will use, and begun to conduct oral history interviews. With a 10,000 donation, BHS will be able to hire a web developer who will develop the website for the Brooklyn Jewish History Initiative. We have already begun to collect oral histories for the Brooklyn Jewish History Initiative and the website will be the public interface for these interviews.

Local		Fidler	Brooklyn Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, Inc.	11-1773636		$21,375	DCA	Brooklyn Philharmonic conducts substantial music education and community programming in Brooklyn's 46th district, thanks to generous funding from Councilman Lewis Fidler. Under the leadership of new Artistic Director Alan Pierson, the Philharmonic is on the cusp of a new era, and thus we now invite the Councilman to renew his partnership with the Brooklyn Phil by way of contributing 16,000 toward sustaining and expanding the Philharmonic's 46th district programming in FY12. Brooklyn Philharmonic serves the 46th district with an impressive suite of programming, including the Early Childhood Strings Fidler's Fans Program at PS 206, the highly-acclaimed Study with the Masters program at the Marine Park School, a SCORE residency at PS 222, and a Brooklyn Phil Senior Center Tour at the JASA at HES Senior Center. Fidler's Fans (Early Childhood Strings) offers more than 800 parents and students at PS 206 with opportunities to learn violin with Brooklyn Phil musicians. PS 206 students, parents, and teachers enthusiastically participate in this program. Brooklyn Phil respectfully requests the Councilman's renewed support of this initiative in FY12. Student Chamber Ensemble Festival Study with the Masters: In 2011, two ensembles from L.S. 287 participated in the Festival, wherein ensembles compete for prizes awarded to their school music programs. Study with the Masters prepares students for the Festival by providing ensembles with coachings from Philharmonic musicians and teaching artists. SCORE (PS 222) is a twelve week music composition residency bringing professional teaching artists and musicians directly into the classroom. Senior Center Tours by Brooklyn Phil musicians feature music ranging from Bach to Cole Porter. Percussionist William Trigg and vocalist Mary Trigg gave 11 senior center concerts throughout Brooklyn in November 2010.
Local		Levin	Brooklyn Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, Inc.	11-1773636		$3,500	DCA	Brooklyn Philharmonic, under the leadership of new Artistic Director Alan Pierson, conducts substantial music education and community programming in Brooklyn's 33rd district, and invites Councilmember Levin to partner with us by way of a 5,000 contribution toward sustaining and expanding these offerings in FY12. The Philharmonic serves more than 400 students and community members in the 33rd with programs including Study with the Masters (Brooklyn H.S. for the Arts); School Time Concerts (Brooklyn School for Global Studies); and the acclaimed Music Off the Shelves concert series, presented at the Brooklyn Public Library's Dweck Center. Student Chamber Ensemble Festival Study with the Masters: In 2011, nine groups from Brooklyn H.S. for the Arts and L.S. 318 participated in the Festival, wherein ensembles compete for prizes awarded to their school music programs. Study with the Masters provides student ensembles with coaching sessions from the Phil's musicians and teaching artists. The free Music Off the Shelves concert series pairs acclaimed local writers with Philharmonic chamber ensembles. FY11 concerts featured a partnership with the 33rd district's own _A Public Space_, one of Brooklyn's finest art and literature magazines, and certainly one of the 33rd district's most valuable cultural arbiter. School Time Concerts (STC) are orchestral performances to which students can innately relate. In advance of the concerts, teachers receive a study guide and are invited to participate in a free workshop to assist them in preparing their students for the concert. Brooklyn Philharmonic Arts Center: Brooklyn Phil will soon begin the renovation of a decommissioned firehouse at 299 Degraw Street in Cobble Hill. This, the Brooklyn Philharmonic Arts Center, will serve as an Arts Academy offering 33rd district's people (and those beyond) with classes, lessons, and workshops in music, visual art, dance, and many other disciplines.

Local		Recchia	Brooklyn Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, Inc.	11-1773636		$10,000	DCA	Thanks to generous funding from Councilman Domenic Recchia, the Brooklyn Phil currently serves the entire Borough with substantial music education and community programming. Now, under the new leadership of Artistic Director Alan Pierson, the Phil aims to establish deep, long-term connections with multiple Brooklyn neighborhoods, including Brighton Beach. We will do this by way of Junctions, a new flagship series of permanent, community-based music and arts residencies. We respectfully request Councilman Recchia continue his partnership with us by contributing 10,000 toward the Philharmonic's education and community programs in FY12. In November 2011, Junctions will launch in Brighton Beach with a full Brooklyn Phil performance at the Millennium Theatre, with a full orchestral performance of scores accompanying historical and contemporary Russian cartoons. The Philharmonic seeks the Councilmans support for education and community programs that will compliment Junctions, including Family Works and a relocated and re-focused Music Off the Shelves. In Brighton Beach, Family Works will focus on cartoon and music creation, while the Brighton Beach Music Off the Shelves concert will feature writers well-known to the Russian community. In addition to new Junctions programs, we seeks Councilman Recchia's renewed support of the Philharmonic's music and arts education programs serving the 47th district. Currently, we are able to present concerts to more than 160 residents at the JCH Bensonhurst and Shorefront Senior Centers. We are also able to present School Time Concerts to several schools in the 47th. We invite the Councilman to suggest further 47th district partnerships with schools, community groups, and organizations who are in need.

Our community garden already serves as open space along our commercial boulevard that is readily available but does not currently encourage community use and enjoyment. Our plan is to increase the potential of this space so that it can improve our environment and improve the quality of life within the Cambria Heights community. We will accomplish these goals by taking the following actions: -We will begin improving the physical appearance of the garden through cleaning and pruning efforts on a weekly basis during the upcoming months; enhance the garden's appearance by planting exotic flowers, plants, trees, and shrubbery and installing lights to highlight them. We have already begun a partnership with Cara Nurseries, Home Depot, and Martin Viette nurseries who agreed to make donations towards this project. Once the planting has been completed, we will work with our elected officials and the local development corporation to obtain funding to have seating (benches) installed so that residents of the community can enjoy the surroundings. -We will partner with the Brooklyn and Queens Botanical Gardens to obtain vegetable and fruit seedlings that will be planted in designated areas throughout the garden. We will distribute all harvested proceeds to families within our community who are in need of food and may sell some of the proceeds for fundraising purposes. Our purpose for planting fruits and vegetables is to promote healthy eating habits within our community. We have numerous fast food restaurants but no place to buy good quality produce; and we will host classes for community residents and visitors who are interested in learning: how to create their own compost, about the benefits of organic soil and fertilizer, about botany, and how to create their own gardens. Highlights include Septembers second Italian Car MotorBike Show along with the unveiling of a new sculpture by Arturo Di Modica, artist of the "Wall Street Bull," adding to his current exhibits. During Octobers Italian Heritage Month, we will recognize the 150th Anniversary of the Unification of Italy with a month of exhibits events planned to honor great Italian-Americans from the Metro area, including food tastings and a film/music festival. A public storytelling session in the Spring Fall will provide interactive opportunities created for school children to experience Italian-American heritage history like Columbus and Verrazzano. December will bring the story of La Belfana presented by a local expert in full costume; also a Presepio—an Italian nativity scene— will be showcased. Monthly cultural presentations featuring specific customs from the 23 Italian Regions, their people customs continue; presenting chefs will provide culinary experiences through cooking demonstrations, wine tastings and the artistry of Italian pastries. In addition, multi-media experiences will take participants on regional tours of Italy through music, photographs and films based on or in Italy, allowing people to experience Italian culture first hand. Our mission is to maintain the culture of Italy preserve its influences on America the Metro area. We seek to reach as much of the community as possible. Discounting or offering free tickets to children senior citizens to on-site programs and additional funding will permit more off-site programs to reach larger audiences, offer accessibility and facilitate culturally diverse experiences in schools, nursing homes, senior citizen centers, etc.

Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. Memorial Community Center. The program will offer after school activities for youth between the ages of 13 to 18, including athletics, team-building, sportsmanship, and social and community development. Teens will develop leadership skills and learn the values of teamwork and fair play as they compete in games and contests. Our youth programs provide adult supervision for all of our activities and adhere to strict rules on participant behavior to ensure the safety, security, and well-being of all. Our program provides a free safe-zone for students during after school hours. Our staff will guide children through safe and fun activities such as chorus, dance, step, karate, board games and team recreational sports played in our gymnasium. We have expanded our program to be open to students from ages 13-18. ! Because our program has been so successful, we are expanding the curriculum from one day a week to five days a week, Monday to Friday. Educational Development: With the assistance of our mentors, our program offers youth the opportunity to improve their reading and math skills through tutoring, GED and SAT assistance, Regents prep, and computer instruction. Participants also have the opportunity to learn from successful community leaders, as well as staff and alumni who are community residents and therefore have a direct understanding of the concerns facing youth in Harlem. Our mentors provide constructive feedback, ongoing encouragement and supportive guidance to our young participants in pursuing their educational and career goals. Cultural Appreciation: Participants will be able to attend a Broadway play, visit African American cultural institutions, and participate in activities to deepen their appreciation of their heritage and expand their cultural awareness.
Local		Jackson	Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York	13-5562185	*	$5,000	DYCD	The Washington Heights Ecumenical Food Pantry (WHEFP) is a directly administered program of Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York (CCCS). The WHEFP has served the Washington Heights and Inwood area since 1982, providing residents with some relief in their food expenses and enhancing their ability to practice healthy eating habits. In response to the widespread diet-related health problems in the community, we include a generous supply of fresh fruits and vegetables in every pantry bag. During the growing season, the program purchases vegetables directly from an Orange County farm, adding freshly-harvested items such as beets, carrots, potatoes, onions, tomatoes, and greens to each bag. In addition, CCCS' integrated network of services provides all pantry users with access to a case manager during the intake process who provides referrals to a wide range of CCCS services such as immigration, eviction prevention, and job readiness to address key factors that affect food security. In addition, representatives from the agency's Immigration Legal Services Department meet with community residents twice monthly. CCCS' WHEFP is operating at maximum capacity, serving 42,900 individuals (364,136 meals) during FY09-10. According to the Agency Directory of the Food Bank for New York City, there are relatively few food pantries in this densely populated area, which accounts for the high number of users at the WHEFP. In the face of impending NYS budget reductions, funding through your office will help CCCS maintain full and nutritious pantry bags for the needy residents of Washington Heights and Inwood who access our pantry. In addition, funds are requested to assist with space costs, specifically funds to rent a larger space which would make it possible to establish a client-choice pantry, now recognized as the most dignified and cost-effective way to connect clients to emergency food that meets their dietary needs.

Local		Rose	Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York	13-5562185	*	$5,000	DYCD	Through the Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) division, Catholic Charities Community Services (CCCS) offers recreational and after-school programs for youth of all ages in Manhattan, the Bronx, Staten Island and the lower Hudson Valley. Last year alone, over 20,000 youth participated in CYO programs. The Midnight Soccer League and Youth Soccer Free Play serve the Mexican population of the Port Richmond section of Staten Island. On Friday nights, the upstairs gym is used for an indoor soccer league for adults and teens of the Port Richmond community. This program was initiated to provide organized and structured activity during the winter months when outdoor facility space is limited due to winter weather conditions. The Midnight Soccer League has attracted a strong number of participants with the popularity of soccer among community residents. This program seeks to provide the community's local population a healthy means of exercise, accessibility to space to provide them with healthy recreational activity, and a means of building a sense of community, particularly in the wake of anti-immigrant violence that has targeted Mexican residents. The Youth Soccer Clinic takes place on Sunday mornings and was initiated due to the great interest in the sport of soccer in this community. Again, with limited available space and finances during the winter months, the Port Richmond community turned to the CYO Community Center for a place to provide their children with an activity that was low-cost and that their children had an interest in. The Youth Soccer Free Play provides children an opportunity to engage in physical activity in a safe space, and develop positive relationships in the Port Richmond community during the winter months when outdoor open space is not available. The proposed funding will allow CCCS to cover the cost of staff needed to cover evening and weekend hours for supervision and safety! . Funds would also allow the program to purchase equipment and supplies.

Parents As Arts Partners, a unique school-based family arts initiative that provides arts instruction and workshops for students and their families, seeks to increase parents' engagement in their children's schools while ensuring that all New York City public school students have quality arts learning as part of their K-12 education. In addition, PAAP educates parents about the value of the arts as part a well-rounded education and promotes integrated learning as PAAP arts activities are aligned with in-school curriculum. PAAP was created in part based on research that shows that students do better in school when parents are involved in their education and the school community, and that the arts provide one of the best means to engage and involve these parents. The success of PAAP is well-documented by the ongoing demand for the program in schools across the city. Since the program's inception in 1997, CAE has partnered with more than 545 schools to create, manage, and implement 1,260 PAAP programs, providing thousands of parents and caregivers with opportunities to share and participate in school arts programming with their children, while strengthening school communities across New York City. PAAP workshops are facilitated by professional CAE teaching artists in tandem with school-based arts or classroom teachers, and include visits to local arts and cultural institutions. Outreach is conducted through CHANGER's extensive community relationships with elected officials, churches and church associations, local community institutions, non-profit organizations, and housing agencies. After an initial phone or face to face intake, all homeowners participate in a group orientation where the education for both retention of and transition out of homeownership begins. In these orientations, homeowners also begin to share their experiences with other similarly situated struggling homeowners and become active participants and recipients of home retention services. After orientation homeowners are directed to the appropriate follow up services. This includes: 1) working one on one with a mortgage/financial counselor to cure mortgage defaults, obtain loan modifications, obtain grants and loans to settle 2nd lien mortgages; 2) working one on one with a foreclosure defense attorney for full legal representation, limited foreclosure settlement conference representation, or pro-se assistance; 3) continuing crisis education on loss mitigation topics (the foreclosure timeline, loan modifications, settlement conferences, short-sales, deed in lieu); and 4) referrals to debt management counseling.

Local		Comrie	Chashama, Inc.	13-3862422	*	$3,500	DCA	This request is to support our City Council District 27 programs that carry out our mission to provide local artists and youth with free and affordable space to create. Since 1995, we've temporarily transformed over 50 vacant spaces into presentation venues and artist studios, and are currently operating our Artist Studio and Gallery programs at a 500 sq ft venue at 147-16 Archer Avenue Queens, NY 11430, which was donated to us by the Greater Jamaica Development Corporation. At this location, artists receive subsidized studio workspace and Gallery awards, publicity, technical help, space for their installation, and organizational support. Any artist residing in NYC may apply and neighborhood artists get priority. The selection process is based on need and artistic merit. A panel of cultural professionals and members of the community determine the final choice of awards, and look to provide a mixture of aesthetics and vision ! appropriate to each space. Since July 2010, chashama has held 10 free events in District 27. Our services and activities foster cohesive communities through outreach and interaction with area youth, schools, local community boards, small businesses, property owners and economic development corporations. Because our locations are in a range of areas, from high volume traffic and commercial districts to under resourced and culturally underserved neighborhoods, and the majority of them are free open to all, each chashama venue brings with it unique iterations of "community."A generous 10,000 grant will help offset the costs of maintaining these spaces, and allow us to grow our programs in District 27. The GJDC has offered us additional locations in the neighborhood, which we do not currently have the operating budget to take onto our roster. This funding would allow us the capacity to transform these venues and infuse them with artists in the future. Since July 2010, projects in District 27 have drawn an estimated audience of over 200.

Local		Vann	Child Abuse Prevention Program, Inc.	11-2864750		$5,000	DYCD	CAPP's Child Safety Workshop is a primary prevention and crisis intervention program that provides children with abuse prevention education and offers an opportunity for children who have experienced abuse to get help and begin the intervention process immediately. Last year, 24,800 children throughout the five boroughs of New York City attended the Child Safety Workshop, 407 families were referred for intervention, including 147 abuse reports to Child Protective Services. A grant of 9,000 will educate an additional 600 children about physical and sexual abuse in the neighborhoods within your City Council District. Statistical data over the last few years indicates that prevention programs like CAPP's Child Safety Workshop are having an important impact on our community. Because of programs like ours, we are beginning to see evidence of a decline in the number of reported child sexual abuse cases in the United States. We are making incredible progress and all of us have a role to play in the efforts to end child abuse.

CMP requests 10,000 to offset the cost of one full-time Job Counselor in support of CMP's adult literacy, training and job placement services to NYC's immigrant population. CMP helps those who cannot readily access Workforce One Career Centers find job placements through our comprehensive workforce development services. In the current economic downturn, we have seen a decline in the number of available jobs and a steep increase in the number of job-seeking clients. Our intake for the target population who lack English skills and who seek employment continues to rise. Many more of our clients are returning multiple times to seek our help in finding jobs. The economic climate renders our employment and support services even more crucial to this disadvantaged population. Local		Lander	Church Avenue Merchants Block Association (CAMBA)	11-2480339		$5,000	DYCD	The Adult Literacy program provides English language and civics education to immigrant adults, parents and older youth. The purpose of this program is to improve the reading, writing, and spoken English skills of these individuals so that they can (1) participate more in the daily affairs of their community and (2) achieve life goals that are related to advanced education, better legal status and jobs. At the completion of their training, participants will be more able to read materials and express their opinions in English in various family, employment and educational contexts. They will be better able to communicate with their child's school personnel and read to their children. They will be better able to express their needs in English to healthcare providers, job supervisors, and in daily interactions with other adults. In each class the instructors use a curriculum that is based on the New York State learning standards and students' stated goals. Program staff include the Director and the Supervisor of Adult Literacy Services, each of whom have over 10 years experience in adult literacy instruction and ESOL; and P/T experienced ESOL instructors who will teach classes. In FY11, CAMBA received 5,000, which supported CAMBA's Adult Literacy Center evening program for ESOL students. The center serves approximately 100 ESOL students in the evening, for each of four cycles each year--summer, fall, winter and spring. The funds supported the position of an evening receptionist and provided program supplies. The evening receptionist operates the front desk, greets students, takes walk-in inquiries from community adults seeking classes for upcoming class cycles and makes phone calls to schedule potential students for testing.

Local		Reyna	Churches United for Fair Housing, Inc.	26-4698161	*	$9,000	DYCD	CUFFH's program "North Brooklyn 311" (NB 311) is a referral service that directs residents to various resources and services in and near north Brooklyn. The program connects residents to their community by identifying available resources that they may not know about and by then providing direct access to these local outlets. Due to an influx in the number of residents seeking affordable housing and other services that will improve living conditions, community representation and guidance is not readily available to residents. NB 311 offers them guidance, information, and support in their search for better living conditions. We identify local groups and agencies that provide services such as job training, affordable housing information and guidance, legal advice, and adult education. Whatever their need, CUFFH will properly listen to their concerns and point them in the right direction. In addition, the program will evaluate how efficiently these outlets aid north Brooklyn residents. We feel it is our responsibility to extensively follow-up with each resident in order to ensure that they are being helped and are taken care of. We will meet with each resident on a weekly basis until they finally find what they need or what they are looking for. This program plans to work with 10-12 people daily, which amounts to about 1560 residents per calendar year.

Our sports department offers peewee, beginner, intermediate, and advanced tennis, golf, and track field instruction to youth – all equipment is provided free of charge – and a fitness program for adults over 60, Seniors Fitness. CityParks Education programs turn local parks and community gardens into classrooms making learning and teaching fun. Our education department offers Seeds to Trees, Coastal Classroom, CityParks Productions, and Learning Gardens. The outdoor experiences reinforce science lessons taught in the classroom by CPF educators and give students a hands-on, real-world context. CityParks Productions, CPF's technology after-school program, based in recreation centers, combines video and sound production, media literacy, and creative writing activities with academic support and life skills for middle and high school students. Learning Gardens rehabilitates abandoned lots and turns them into vibrant community gardens.
Local		Comrie	City Parks Foundation	13-3561657	*	$3,500	DPR	City Parks Foundation will offer two free programs, CityParks Seniors Fitness and Learning Gardens. CityParks Seniors Fitness presents two sessions of classes (fall and spring) that introduce seniors to athletic activities in a supportive and social environment. In addition to promoting fitness and well-being, the program also encourages seniors to enjoy and utilize the community resource of their local park. Seniors Fitness consists of tennis, yoga, or fitness walking. Learning Gardens rehabilitates abandoned lots and turns them into vibrant community gardens, where we offer structured educational lessons to school children and community groups. CPF educators provide structured lessons during the academic year, a six-week summer program, a growing number of high-school internships, and workshops, festivals and family days that are open to all community members. For elementary and middle school classes, the program offers a ! continuous series of interdisciplinary lessons in the classroom in the winter, and in the garden in the warmer months. In addition, Learning Gardens also provides the teachers of participating classes with high-quality professional development workshops and sustained technical support, enabling them to effectively integrate garden lessons into their everyday teaching practice, thereby impacting students and classes for years to come.

Local		Lander	Committee to Improve Carroll Park	11-2592742	*	$2,000	DCA	The Carroll Park Kids' Concert Series is a collaborative musical experience involving local artists and the greater Bococa community, offering family-orientated programming. The project will offer young children early exposure to music, and allow local artists to perform in their neighborhood park. It will provide local food and service establishments an opportunity to support the park and the community at large. Finally, it will be an opportunity to reach out to the community. Such programming will have a positive impact on the community's perception of the park, and will improve the overall support and sponsorship. Many of our performers will go beyond the stage music to provide an educational experience. Our concerts provide an opportunity for music-related crafts, and also a chance for the audience to sing and dance on near the stage. We will provide opportunity for local vendors to get involved by offering food or services, such as face painting or crafts projects, to the community. Clearly, the project benefits everyone, Carroll Park, the neighbors, the artists, and the community at large. Since inception, the Carroll Park Concerts has reached over 2,000 people. In 2010, we decided to designate our Finale as a benefit for the Arts for an area public school. The school/park benefit was a tremendous success and in 2012, we hope to expand the program to offer a benefit to more than one neighborhood school each season. Funds received from the Council will help support this effort. While the Concert Series is part Committee to Improve Carroll Park, it is financially a separate project and do not receive Carroll Park funding. The grant proposal is intended to partially cover costs of running this family-oriented programming. All funding will help pay concert expenses, all volunteers are unpaid.

Through the work of a professional landscaping company, along with active volunteer support, Bayside Cemetery underwent a significant clean-up. As part of the clean-up efforts, the following actions have been taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Removal of all invasive vegetation through chopping and cutting, including mass-spraying of invasive vegetation (e.g. ivy, bamboo), to prevent re-growth. •Cut vegetation was "chipped" and later spread as mulch to create walk-ways within several sections of the cemetery. The clean-up has restored visitor access to the majority of the cemetery. Thanks to generous financial support from UJA-Federation of New York, CAJAC was able to fund a large portion of phase 1 (landscaping clean-up) of the restoration. Additional funding is needed to complete this critical phase of the cemeterys restoration. Moreover, funding is needed to remount and repair the scores of overturned headstones. Finally, funding is needed to repair the cemeterys perimeter security fence, in order to deter criminal trespass and most importantly, protect the dignity and sanctity of the deceased. CAJAC has also cultivated a strategic partnership with the 106th Precinct of the NYPD. In addition to the increased awareness and sensitivity towards the cemetery, the NYPD has offered several recommendations to enhance the cemeterys security. In addition to making necessary repairs to the security fence, the NYPD has recommended the installation of security lighting and cameras. CLRN brings together lawyers who are ready, willing and able to provide advice and counseling to create a level playing field for all New Yorkers by first identifying and then providing common-sense approaches to legal problems. CLRN had a strong track record of working with members of the New York State Assembly and Senate, and with an ever-growing number of City Council Members. With the financial support we received for FY 2011, CLRN has deployed over a dozen justice initiatives in all five boroughs. Among our numerous FY-11 community legal service programs, our competent, compassionate, multi-lingual attorneys provide legal services to low-income New Yorkers in multiple areas including foreclosure, elder care issues, immigration, tenant issues, family law, consumer and debt issues, wills, etc. Our attorneys are regularly scheduled at sites chosen by our funders, including community-based organizations, City Councilmember offices, schools and libraries.

(d/b/a AIDS Community Research Initiative of America)	13-3632234	*	$5,000	DOHMH	ACRIA requests 5,000 to support in part the production of Achieve, an educational quarterly dealing with HIV treatment, prevention, and policy, and its distribution within New York City. In 1992, ACRIA began publishing ACRIA Update, an educational quarterly dedicated to bringing up-to-date and accurate HIV treatment information to people with HIV and AIDS, along with their doctors, other healthcare professionals, social services providers, and caregivers. Each issue featured articles on a variety of topics around a central theme—e.g., women, HIV in prison, hepatitis coinfection—written by acknowledged experts in easy-to-understand, nonscientific language. Topics central to the theme were illustrated by first-person "Personal Perspectives," written by people living with the virus. The publication was distributed free to individuals and in bulk, by request, to AIDS service and other health and human services organizations. During 2007, discussions began between ACRIA and the Gay Men's Health Crisis (GMHC) leading to collaboration on a new HIV/AIDS publication, and in early 2008 Achieve was born. The joint publication combines, expands upon, and supersedes each organization's earlier publication—ACRIA Update and GMHC's Treatment Issues. Achieve combines the most important features of each of its parents. Like ACRIA Update, each issue contains several articles on a single theme, written by experts and accessible to laypeople, along with "Personal Perspectives" that bring the issues to life. Like Treatment Issues, Achieve gives special attention to prevention, and features discussions of the policy implications of relevant medical and social issues. Themes for Achieve over the past year were "HIV and Faith" (Winter 2010), "What's New?" (Spring 2010), "Sexuality and HIV" (Summer 2010), and "Global Update" (Fall 2010). The current issue (Winter 2011) is on "HIV Prevention."

This program serves the community by helping students develop critical thinking, leadership, and literacy skills through a sustained experience in the arts, helping teachers to develop new creative teaching tools, and allowing parents to share in their children's artistic growth. This year at PS 132 CWP is providing eight classroom arts residencies, from 35-12 weeks in length, in first through fifth grades, serving 240 students; we are also offering three hands-on Parent Art Workshops in photography and poetry. The students we work with in our classroom arts residencies learn to express themselves with power and self-confidence, and acquire the leadership, literacy and critical thinking skills that will enable them to become active, engaged citizens of New York and proud members of their communities. CWP encourages parental involvement. In our Parent Arts Workshops at PS 132, parents write a collaborative poem, based on photographs they take of their Washington Heights community, and create a display for the school auditorium. This creative process mirrors what their children experience in their own residency, and fosters a dialogue between parents and students about their neighborhood. To encourage participation in our Family Art Workshops, we distribute bilingual (English/Spanish) flyers to parents. Funds received from City Council District 10 will help us continue to integrate the arts into the entire PS 132 school. Funds to continue our Take IT Home program outreach by serving 9,000 low-income families in 72 NYC middle schools.

Local		Jackson	Coro New York Leadership Center	13-3571610	*	$3,500	DYCD	Exploring Leadership is Coro's leadership program for low income, high school students ("Youth Ambassadors") enrolled in the city's public schools. Our goal is to build the leadership communities of schools in which we work. The impact Exploring Leadership has is greater than that on just the Youth Ambassadors – the program is about bring meaningful, lasting change to the communities in which these youth learn and live. Each year, a corps of up to 25 Youth Ambassadors from our partner schools is competitively selected to serve as a conduit by which Exploring Leadership brings about civic leadership and change. The program is divided into distinct phases each with a particular set of strategies and activities. During the summer, youth are introduced to the world of education policy and reform through interviews with city leaders such as Council Member Robert Jackson and Deputy Mayor Dennis Walcott. The Youth Ambassadors also work during the summer months in stipended internships at education organizations to deepen their understanding of the stakeholders that influence education policy and to develop job preparedness skills. What makes Exploring Leadership particularly unique as it enters the school year is its vast impact on the leadership culture of the schools through the actions of the Youth Ambassadors and the example they set. The lasting impact Exploring Leadership has on its partner schools is realized through the Community Action Projects (CAPs). CAPs represent a pivotal and exciting time in the program year because they draw on the intense learning and skills development that the Youth Ambassadors have absorbed throughout their participation in the program to bring real change to our partner schools. In this way, Exploring Leadership realizes its mission by impacting the lives of 1,300 youth annually through partnership with the city's public high schools.

Local		Ignizio	Cross-Road Foundation, Inc.	13-3634741		$3,500	DYCD	The program for which we are seeking funding is our "Earn-While-You-Learn" Parenting program. In this program we use an incentive system that gives expectant and new mothers credit in the form of "Mommy Money" for attending pre-natal and parenting classes as well as for workshops on topics such as First Aid in the Home and Better Money Management. The mothers then use their "Mommy Money" in our "Mommy Store" to get needed items for their infants such as disposable diapers, formula, infant clothing, cribs, car seats, strollers, etc. We accept no money in this store, the only way the mothers can get the needed items is either by attending the classes or in a case of emergency need. All classes are offered in both English and Spanish.

Local		Vallone	Cypreco of America, Inc.	11-2644226		$3,500	DOITT	We are a very well established and recognized Greek Cypriot American cultural organization with a vibrant presence and important contributions spanning over 30 years. Funds are requested for the continuation of our weekly commercial-free bilingual cultural radio programs on New Yorks public station WNYE 91.5FM, as well as for the production of three live folk arts and cultural performances all of which are part of our ongoing mission of promoting and preserving the rich heritage, folklore, music and culture of Cyprus and Greece for the benefit of Greek and Cypriot Americans and of the general audience of all ages. It is of great importance to keep alive in the memory of Greek and Cypriot immigrants and especially those from the new generations their ethnic identity and culture, while it is also of great importance for the sake of establishing good community relations in our multi-ethnic society to continue educating our wide and diverse audience about the history and culture of Cyprus and Greece. People who understand each others ethnic background and culture can tolerate one another better and this contributes to a healthier society. Our radio programs broadcasting in a unique bilingual format reach over 500,000 listeners in the Metropolitan area of New York comprised by Greek and Cypriot Americans and by all other ethnic groups of all ages. The 3 proposed live folk arts programs are part of our ongoing series The Traditional Folklore of Greece and Cyprus and Its Survival Through Time. Each year the series features at least 8 programs which reach and service over 5,000 people from all boroughs despite the fact that they are presented in Astoria, Queens. We owe this success to the fact that we always hold very successful promotional and outreach campaigns but more importantly to the fact that we have a very powerful media outlet (our radio show) which reaches a very wide and diverse audience throughout the Metropolitan area of New York.

Local		Van Bramer	Dance Entropy, Inc.	20-4388158		$3,500	DCA	Dance Presenting Series: Our three tiered presenting program addresses the critical need of emerging choreographers who are developing a significant body of work by providing the resources needed to produce work. Dance Entropy nurtures dance creation, empowers artists and builds a community for dancers and audiences in Queens. Our various presenting programs at Green Space provide a vital service by offering choreographers and the public a venue dedicated to presenting contemporary dance. Green Spaces monthly new work series, Fertile Ground, began in 2006. It provides a professional performance and facilitated discussion for both emerging and established choreographers, experimenting with new work. To date, Fertile Ground has provided exposure for 283 choreographers in a supportive environment within which to perform their work and receive information designed to help them take their artistry to its next level. 2012 will mark the 6th year of Green Space Blooms, a Queens based annual spring festival that responds to the growing number of dance artists living and working in Queens. Green Space Blooms, Queens only dance festival, has emerged as an important cultural resource by providing a much-needed local venue for Queens-based choreographers to present their work and meet local audiences. The performances features five different choreographers each show, and concludes with a reception featuring different live musical guests, honoring the diverse ethnic communities of Queens. To date the festival has produced 105 different choreographers. The monthly series Take Root, launched in 2009 was created in response to the economic challenges of presenting original work. Take Root participants, present a full evening evening of work, are provided with marketing support; discounted rehearsal space; full technical assistance; a performance venue; and professional video documentation. To date this new series has presented 29 artists of diverse aesthetics.

Local		Levin	Department of Education Diocese of Brooklyn	23-7319473	*	$3,500	DCA	PDHP(Dept. of Education, Diocese of Brooklyn) is seeking City Council discretionary funds in the amount of 12,000 from City Council Districts 45,33,19 (4,000 from each district). PDHP program provides drug, alcohol and gambling prevention to the students in the 105 elementary and 20 high school in the Diocese of Brooklyn and Queens. The program has been funded by NYS OASAS for over 30 years. The program that we are requesting funds for is the Re-Connecting Youth Program (RY). This is an evidence based program that is geared to prevent school drop out. Its primary goals are to increase school performance, decrease drug and alcohol involvement, decrease suicide risk and improve life skills. The program in three high schools: Catherine McAuley (council dist. 45), St. Joseph H.S.(c.d. 33) Holy Cross (c.d. 19), is delivered by specifically RY trained teachers. The teachers receive a stipend of 4,000 per semester. The goal of classroom sessions is to reduce risk factors and increase protective factors. Research shows this to be an effective program. The small group environment allows them to bond with one another, provide mutual support and to practice some of the life skills presented. Once the semester is completed the teacher-facilitators are available to meet periodically to monitor progress. Risk factors include: poor peer relationships, conflicted family relationships, alcohol, drug experimentation and use, poor school attendance. The Protective factors address peer support, school bonding, life skills enhancement and practice of new coping skills. While the 3 schools are Catholic schools, about 25 of the students are not Catholic. The services of the RY program are available to them regardless of the religion they profess and no religious doctrines are promulgated. This criteria also applies to all services offered to all the schools by PDHP. We are requesting funding for 1 semester! . The 2nd semester will be paid from our existing OASAS funds
Local		Ulrich	Department of Education Diocese of Brooklyn	23-7319473	*	$5,000	DOHMH	PDHP is a program that is funded by NYS OASAS to provide drug, alcohol and gambling prevention services to 35,000 elementary school and 13,000 high school students in the Catholic schools of Brooklyn and Queens. The program is requesting city council funds to support the after-school discussion groups that are run in council district 32. These groups are facilitated by teachers who have been trained in group facilitation skills who meet with the students once per week for 10 weeks over the course of a semester and receive a stipend for those services. The groups provide the students with an opportunity to gain mutual support from peers as well as from a compassionate adult who can help them deal with the various life issues that arise for adolescents. PDHP is also requesting funding for a counselor for one day per week to be based in a school in council district 32. This counselor will provide assessment, referral and prevention counseling to the students. While the schools we service are Catholic schools, approximately 25 of the students attending are non-Catholic. The services are open to all the students regardless of the religion they profess and there is no religious instruction provided to them by the teachers or counselors in the course of delivering PDHP services.

Local		Jackson	Designed Environment for Experiential Learning Inc	31-1650503	*	$3,500	DYCD	31-165050382 DEEL was founded over 15 years ago by Dr. Vicky Gholson with the goal of developing and maintaining green spaces in New York City, to be used for free by neighborhood residents, especially as safe, secure and accessible environments for seniors and youth. Its focus is the oversight of a community garden located over the Croton Aqueduct that stretches from 152nd to 153rd Streets, between St. Nicholas and Amsterdam Avenues in the historic Sugar Hill neighborhood of West Harlem. The New York City Department of Environmental Protection owns the land and leases it to DEEL. In 1993, it was a vacant lot filled with 4 feet of garbage; Dr. Gholson organized a team of local volunteers and help from the Borough President's office and the Department of Sanitation to clean it out and begin the work of making it a usable green space. In the years since, the garden has become a vital and well-used community resource, a veritable backyard for the local seniors, a fun and learning space for kids and a venue for neighborhood cultural events. Over its entire history the garden has been a sweat equity project, maintained by volunteers, donated materials and small local contributions; DEEL has never received a technical assistance grant of any kind. Significant infrastructural improvements are needed to make it completely safe and accessible for children and seniors, and to make it the attractive and practical, usable program venue for the community that it has the potential to be. The garden includes shade trees, flower beds and working agriculture that provides fresh produce and herbs. Seasonal programs in the garden have ranged from movie screenings to jazz concerts, art workshops for children and expansion space for local schools' programs from science classes to musical recitals, and local residents use the garden for family events, graduation celebrations and more. The needed improvements to the space will increase its capacity.

HAEP office provides a welcoming space allowing Haitian clients to access services in a comfortable space with staff and volunteers proficient and knowledgeable in Creole/French and apparent, anecdotal and intuitive aspects of Haitian culture. Clients have access to dedicated space for group and individual meetings, computer use and recreation. Services provided: case management; entitlement/benefits assistance; immigration assistance (Temporary Protected Status, Deferred Action support); extended visa for victims of the earth quake; English as a Second Language (ESL) classes; culturally competent mental health counseling; domestic violence services and access to an extensive referral network of organizations to supplement services.
Local		Vacca	Directions For Our Youth, Inc.	06-1308851	*	$3,500	DYCD	We have successfully operated the after school program at PS 307 for the last three years, servicing over 200 kids annually. The program provides academic enrichment activities as well as a nurturing and safe environment to the students while their parents are at work. Furthermore, the program provides opportunities for the community to get together, to celebrate not only the academic successes and afterschool performances of their children, but also, to celebrate family events, such as mother's day or thanksgiving dinner with their larger family, their community. Unfortunately, the recent budget cuts have forced us to reduce the number of family events we usually host in order to be able to continue providing quality services to the youth we work with. We would like to seek funding to continue to strengthen the family ties and provide more family time and event opportunities to the community; at least one per month (i.e. Father-daughter and mother-son dances; jeopardy nights, etc.). The activities are all informal, and intended to bring the family together and allow for the individual members to spend quality time in a safe, fun and nurturing environment.

Local		Levin	Downtown Brooklyn Partnership	20-5323707	*	$5,000	DYCD	This application is for funding to study the feasibility of increasing waterborne access to Brooklyn Bridge Park. The analysis will focus on Fulton Ferry landing, adjacent to the Dumbo neighborhood of Brooklyn but will also consider Pier 6 as an alternative. Exploring ways to enhance the infrastructure at either Fulton Ferry landing or Pier Six will allow people to access the Brooklyn Bridge Park more easily and will add greater utility to the water ferry service. Currently, the infrastructure at Fulton Ferry landing only allows for landing of bow loading boats, which generally have a capacity of less than 150 people. This situation prevents larger excursion ships such as The Circle Line or Harbor Cruises from having access to the landing and this section of Brooklyn Bridge Park, which is poised to become one of the City's premiere waterfront destinations. During the summer, rising seniors participate in leadership development and academic programming focused on completing college applications, while ERDA staff support rising college freshman as they transition to college. All I students in this program are low-income and nearly all students in this program become the first in their families to attend college. Currently fewer than 1 in 10 public housing residents in Western Queens have a college degree and the majority of minority boys do not graduate high school on time. In the Queens neighborhoods we serve, college is simply not an option or on the radar of most families and their children. Through ERDA's College Access Program, ERDA is changing the culture of public housing neighborhoods so college becomes a viable option and, eventually, an expectation. ERDA's College Access Program is a key component of ERDA's comprehensive, integrated model which empowers public housing residents and other low-income New Yorkers with the tools and resources they need to achieve self-sufficiency and economic security.

How do we prepare our children to meet the demands of this ever changing world? It is clear that they need to become connoisseurs of information. They must develop the skills to acquire and assess the quality of information that exists in ever increasing amounts. Technology has become an essential asset for this purpose. However, technology is expensive to acquire and maintain. ESMS is committed to providing its students with the requisite skillsets by maintaining and expanding the student access to technology. Currently, the school has over 200 laptops in 6 carts. Each classroom has 2 iMacs, a printer, an HDTV and document camera. Each teacher has their own laptop, which can be also be used to display information on the TVs. The teachers use a lot of digital content in their lessons, and student each have their own Google account. Schoolwork is done using Google docs, which allows collaboration and paperless submission of student work to the teachers. We have also purchased 59 ipads this year to address the increased demand for access to technology and the internet. Last year, the council generously allocated 14,000 unrestricted funds to ESMS for maintaining the technology at the school. These funds were extremely useful to creating the abundance of technology access in the school. We used these funds to purchase batteries and power adapters for the older laptops in the school. We also used the funds to purchase toner, ink and paper to meet the printing demand in the school. The poster printer we have has been particularly useful in ETM ensures that every child at the school receives weekly music instruction throughout the year. We will use the funds for our comprehensive music program that incorporates the following: 1)In-school music instruction that follows a sequential, skills-based, comprehensive curriculum that meets National and New York State standards. For each grade level, ETM incorporates the use of appropriate instruments to enliven lessons and provide hands-on experiences for children to make music and play together. In addition to teaching children artistic skills, music teachers use music to support learning in all areas, by focusing on transferable cognitive skills and integrating music lessons with other academic classes. 2)Electives and enrichment activities to enhance music instruction. ETM provides enrichment experiences such as summer camp scholarships, after-school programming, and visits by guest artists, such as violinist and ETM Advisory Committee Member Joshua Bell. 3)Customized professional development services, including training and mentoring for music teachers, professional development for classroom teachers, and management guidance and leadership training for principals. 4)Outreach to parents and the community. ETM program staff members speak to meetings of parents and school leadership teams, encouraging these stakeholders to participate in the school's development activities. Parents and community members are invited to student performances, giving them opportunities for increased awareness and involvement. Funds will support direct music instruction to students.

These combined funds will help annually 10,000 school-based staff, students, and family members in New York City's under served schools to build vital social and emotional skills. ENACT's Bullying Prevention Programs employ a research-based approach, which received the American Group Psychotherapy Association's prestigious Aaron Stein Memorial Award in 2005 and the National Association of Drama Therapy's Research Award in October, 2010. Through a comprehensive program evaluation finished in January of 2011 and led by Dr. Robert Horowitz from the Center for Arts Education Research at Columbia University's Teachers College, the ENACT program has been proven to effect vital student growth in the areas of: 1) social and emotional learning, 2) school engagement, and 3) artistic development. ENACT team members – which include trained actors (teaching artists), licensed social workers, and educators– combine proven drama therapy and social/emotional learning techniques to “tap into” each student's innate creative side and teach bullying prevention. With discretionary funding, ENACT will be able to provide a Bullying Prevention Campaign at three under served schools in District 33 during the 2012 “Respect for All” week. Local		Rivera	Epilepsy Institute, The	13-2608325	*	$5,000	DOHMH	The Epilepsy Institute is New York City's only specialized social service agency serving people who suffer from epilepsy. Persons seeking service from the Institute in general suffer not only from epilepsy, but from co-morbidities ranging from developmental disabilities, mental health challenges and/or access to neurological care and other critical supports. This is a request for a restoration of 5,000 for our Vocational Employment Program in Fiscal Year 2012. This one-of-kind program is keeping many New Yorker's suffering with seizure related disorders employed while ensuring they have the services needed to manage their condition. The program, which serves all five boroughs, includes services such as vocational rehabilitation, work skill assessments, and advocacy in the community. In addition, funding also supports clients who require counseling to maintain or regain employment. Continuing funding is critical this year as the Institute has seen an increase in demand for services as many programs are cut-back due to government funding reductions. Currently no one who seeks services is denied due to their inability to pay. Last year over 4,500 direct service hours were provided in the Vocational Employment Program and this would not have been met without Council funding. A recently published study in the journal Neurology concluded that one in 26 Americans will develop epilepsy in their lifetimes. Epilepsy is not a disease- it is a condition similar to a brain injury. Many adults manifest their first seizure later in life as a result of an accident or other serious brain trauma which is increasingly being seen in veterans returning from Iraq and Afghanistan. A majority of our clients are from low-income communities, are disabled and/or members of the working poor.

Local		Dickens	Exodus Transitional Community, Inc.	31-1731465	*	$15,000	DYCD	For 11 years, Exodus Transitional Community has provided reentry services and a sense of real hope to almost 4,000 New Yorkers who are formerly incarcerated. Our data shows that, from 2005 to 2010, over 41 of our participants live in Manhattan. Exodus has a unique understanding of the barriers to reentry that our participants face and the methods needed to overcome these barriers; our staff members themselves have made a successful transition from incarceration. They are positive role models for participants who are taking on the difficult work necessary for success. Exodus helps our participants prepare for the broad span of activities critical to finding employment. Each participant develops a resume, learns interview skills, and undergoes mock interviews that are videotaped and critiqued by staff members. With assistance from Exodus, they obtain necessary identification, learn about workplace culture and ethics, conflict avoidance and resolution, and receive training in word processing and performing an online job search. Resume and interview assistance are especially important as participants justify gaps in their resume from incarceration or manage interview questions about a criminal conviction. We help participants focus on the positive aspects of these challenges; for instance, time spent in a correctional facility usually includes experience in maintenance, food service, welding, or even bookkeeping that shows the development of skills useful in the workplace. When participants have completed the initial orientation and subsequent job and life skills training, they begin an ongoing relationship with one of our Job Developers and other employment readiness staff. We have developed an extensive network of employer partners who understand the background of those we refer for jobs, and our participants do not risk rejection solely for having a criminal record.

Local		Rodriguez	FAJUBY Foundation	75-3229978	*	$7,000	DYCD	Non-Profit Program Summary The FAJUBY Foundation and Our Lady Queen of Martyrs church have united efforts to offer a Preparatory Educational Program, which includes General Education Development (GED) exam's preparation and English as Second Language (ESL) for residents in the economic and social distressed neighborhood of Washington Heights and other areas of New York City. The program will provide preparatory classes for the General Educational Development (GED) exam and ESL for beginners, intermediate and advanced participants. The classes will be supplemented with tutoring, mentoring, test-taking practice, audible pronunciations, college counseling, and assistance with job search activities. This proposal requests 17,500 for four (4) part-time teaching personnel and educational materials per cycle. Your partial/total economic cooperation will be highly appreciated. The FAJUBY Foundation will provide administrative services and supervision, while Our Lady Queen of Martyrs church will provide classrooms space and assistance with recruitment efforts. Local merchants have pledged economic sponsoring of students and a team of community volunteers will serve as tutors/mentors. This program will be located in a neighborhood that has an extreme need for educational services as indicated by the extremely low educational attainment of its residents (only 55.7-57.5 are HS graduates). This educational need is match by the residents' tremendous desired to better their education in order to obtain a better level of communication and therefore, to gain economic and social advancement (waiting list for GED and ESL classes in the community is typically 7 to 10 months).
Local		Levin	Families United for Racial and Economic Equality (FUREE)	20-0092728	*	$3,000	DYCD	FUREE respectfully requests funding to support housing advocacy support for the families of Albee Square West, increase the participation of low income and working class families in the design of Willoughby Square Park and to bring attention to the increased need for mixed-income housing in Downtown Brooklyn following massive market-rate development in the area. In 2007 FUREE won a settlement with HPD to provide relocation assistance to families living in Albee Square West. To date, nearly half of the families have yet to be provided city-assisted relocation which has increased the amount of housing advocacy work to existing staff. We are working with the families and legal teams to ensure these families are not forced into the city shelter systems unnecessarily. We are also organizing community stakeholders from low income and working class backgrounds to increase their participation in decision-making connected to the incoming Willoughby Square Park, the primary reason for the dislocation of the Albee Square West Families. Members will be provided with relevant training on the city planning process, civic participation and understanding NYC government to help to fully participate in this process. Additionally, we seek to increase the debate for housing that is affordable for low income and working families in Downtown Brooklyn as! we are all working with an increased affordable housing crisis coupled with rapid development that has not yielded the number of affordable housing proposed in the 2004 Downtown Brooklyn Rezoning Plan. Funding will be applied directly to support program staffing and leadership development for FUREEs members.

Local		Ignizio	FDNY Foundation Inc	11-2632404	*	$4,000	FDNY	The FDNY CPR To Go Unit has brought lifesaving CPR training to the community for the past 9 years. The program was created in 2005 to address high death rates from cardiac arrest in New York City—only 2 of those who suffer an incident of cardiac arrest survive. Through nationwide comparisons the department discovered the missing link in the chain of survival was citizen participation. By equipping more New York City residents with the skills to help save a life the department believes it can improve cardiac arrest survival rates. As a result the CPR To Go Unit serves all five boroughs, providing American Heart Association (AHA) instruction to community groups and community members at no cost. Each CPR course is taught by state certified FDNY Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT), who are also certified AHA CPR trainers. Classes can be taught in English and Spanish, Monday through Friday 9am-8pm. The course lasts about an hour: 40! minutes allotted for teaching (following along with a 22 minute video created by AHA with additional commentary from the EMTs). The last 20 minutes of the course is reserved for questions and answers. After the course students are asked to take their kit home and practice CPR at least once every 6 months in addition to sharing their newly acquired skills with family members and friends.

Local		Vallone	Federation of Hellenic Societies of Greater New York	11-2931965	*	$3,500	DYCD	The Hellenic Immersion Program will be providing English, civics, and ESL courses to our community in order to facilitate and enrich the process of acquiring acquisition of English skills and the fundamentals of civics required for passing the immigration and naturalization tests for becoming a U.S. citizen. Many individuals from our community, such as Greek, Bengali, Italian, Hispanic, and Russian immigrants, some of whom are living in this country for as many as 20 years, are often hesitant to learn the English language in the fear they will fail. And yet, they come to the Federation in a relaxed, not-pressured environment to learn English. Classes are also given to prepare individuals who are interested in becoming citizens. The doors are open to all. The warm and friendly environment makes everyone feel comfortable at the Federation. Our language lab center will help our students in writing, reading, social studies, and listening skills, which will develop their literacy skills and help them learn to communicate effectively in everyday life situations. Students will study to become U.S. citizens and improve in greater proficiency in the English language. The Hellenic Immersion Program, in addition to its very successful English Language and Citizenship Program, wishes to expand the Dancing Program. Along with the instruction of the dances, we shall provide the cultural and historical highlights of the dances and informational significance. In its interests to serve the community at large, the new Dancing Program will teach elementary and advanced dances, representative of several cultures, e.g. Greek, Italian, Hispanic, Russian, Bengali, and Chinese. The instruction will be free and will give opportunity for students, as well as the community at large, to participate in a relaxed, sociable, and pleasant learning environment. Because of the demand for ballroom, Latin, and international dancing! , we will be advertising in various media in the community in order to

Since 2005, Flushing Town Hall has engaged and inspired students through the CASA program. Involving kids in the arts has a real benefit for their schoolwork. National studies show that kids that have the benefit of cultural programs are far more likely to stay in school and score much higher on standardized tests. The arts are one of the keys to success in life. Many NYC students excel in creative pursuits and our CASA program provides a place for these talents to be recognized and celebrated.

Flux is the only NYC-based organization to place collaboration and experimentation at the core of its curatorial approach by challenging artists to create new work with each other, the public, new materials, or within formal constraints during their residency program. The new commissions serve as an opportunity for artists to share ideas, expand networks, and approach their practices in novel ways. An open, community-based nonprofit comprised of a sprawling network of local and international contributors, Flux Factory serves as a hub for bringing artists together in its multi-use facility visited by over 35,000 annually. Scheduled exhibitions for 2011/12 include: 1) 72 HOUR URBAN ACTION, a three-day long, intense, citywide architectural race during which groups will compete to create environmentally sustainable, temporary urban shelters. This event will offer an innovative platform for encouraging rapid change through human initiative and creativity. 2) CONFLUX will take place in October 2011 with a new format featuring 12 events over 24-hours in all 5 boroughs. Flux will be the official sponsor and hub of this annual festival focusing on psychogeography and the investigation of urban life through emerging artistic, technological, and social practices. 3) CONGRESS OF THE COLLECTIVES will be a series of events intended to unite art collectives to discuss, connect, and collaborate with each other and present the process of collaboration in its myriad forms to the public. The Congress will be both a venue for addressing key concepts, frameworks, and problems of collective work, and an exciting exhibition of living units open to the public. 4) Flux will celebrate its long-standing t

EDUCATION: Fortune offers an array of educational services to address the literacy needs of individuals with criminal records. Classes are offered in a small-group model of instruction that allows for individualized, hands-on attention for each student; lessons are contextualized, allowing students to practice learned concepts in real-life situations. Services include: Adult Basic Education; GED Preparation; English as a Second Language; College Admissions Counseling; and Financial Literacy. EMPLOYMENT SERVICES: Our services center on a two-week Job Readiness Workshop that outfits clients with the necessary skills and attitude to obtain and retain employment, and includes resume development, skills assessment, and mock interviews, including answering difficult questions about gaps in work history and past criminal justice involvement. Clients work with Job Counselors to connect to training and employment opportunities. Our Job Developers have built a network of businesses who hire qualified applicants with criminal records. Fortune also has a job resource room equipped with computers, telephones, and a fax machine to assist clients with job searches. Retention Specialists provide ongoing support and followup after program completion. Our Education and Employment Services units work together to yield the greatest benefit for each client and maximize their likelihood of achieving success in the workplace.

Local		Levin	Foundation for Contemporary Arts Inc	13-1978163	*	$3,000	DCA	A discretionary grant to FCA would support Emergency Grants to visual and performing artists living in CD33. For 18 years, Emergency Grants has offered immediate needs assistance to emerging artists who have urgent situations or unexpected opportunities related to their work. The program is distinctive in its ability to provide quick, grassroots support directly to working artists. Emergency Grants enable artists to seize opportunities, present work more fully and leverage additional funding. The program operates year-round and awards are made on a monthly basis; thus Emergency Grants are essential when last-minute financial support is necessary. In 2010, FCA awarded a total of 29,649 to 33 NYC artists out of a total 50,000 in national program disbursements. Emergency Grants funding for CD33 artists has been substantive within the context of the program for the past four years, and demand from your constituents continues to grow. In 2010, FCA awarded seven Emergency Grants totaling nearly 6,000 to CD33 artists. This represents a 30 increase in funds going to CD33 vs. 2009. CD33-based artists continue to receive a disproportionately large share of Emergency Grants: last year, 15 of the NYC-based applicants and 21 of the NYC grantees hailed from CD33. Applications from your district are plentiful relative to other districts; FCA received 38 in 2010. Requests from CD33 artists more than doubled between 2009 and 2010 – yet due to limited funds, FCA must decline support to many worthy applicants. Emergency Grants to NYC artists are supported in part by a 3-year grant from the Dept. of Cultural Affairs. For FY11, DCA committed 14,760 in support. If awarded, funding from CD33 would provide incremental support rather than replace DCA funding already going to CD33 artists. With our limited resources, we have been unable to fund many worthy requests from your constituents. Discretionary funds from CD33 would enable FCA to focus more support on CD33 artists.

Local		Rose	Friends of Alice Austen House, Inc. (Alice Austen House Museum)	13-3248928	*	$5,000	DCA	Over the past five years, the Austen House, in collaboration with teachers, parents, and students, have developed a number of successful education programs. The programs are built on three pillars: learning how to use the camera, learning to look, and learning to express. The strength of these pillars depend on the program: seniors need more help learning how to use the camera, and school children need more help expressing themselves. No matter how much time has been spent developing a program, unless the teacher can implement it, it will fail. Fortunately, the Austen House has three experienced teaching artists who all have worked with the Austen House for a minimum of three years. We offer three basic school programs: Alice Austen, Photographer, Meet Alice Austen, and Through Alices Eyes At Your School, or at the Austen House grades 3-5 75 minutes photography workshop with digital cameras conducted by an experienced teaching artist. We have discovered that schools and teachers often ask us to develop classroom specific programs, which we are always happy to do. So though the content varies somewhat, most programs consist of two on-site visits and one Austen House visit. They all include a few basic components: short history of Alice Austen, looking at and discussing her photos, and learning how to use a digital camera. The most time, however, is spent on taking photos. We recently introduced "The best part of me," where students are asked to photograph the part of themselves that they like the most. They are also asked to write a paragraph explaining what it is about that part that they like. Since digital cameras make it easy to capture dozens and dozens of images—especially compared to Austen's glass plate technique—great emphasis is placed on reviewing, editing, and selecting.

Local		Lander	Friends of Firefighters, Inc.	01-0611469	*	$3,500	DOHMH	Friends of Firefighters, Inc. is dedicated to addressing the physical, mental health, and wellness needs of New York City's firefighters. Our ongoing mission is to provide long-term support and services through confidential counseling, wellness services, and other assistance required by firefighters and their families. Firefighters face danger and disaster everyday on the job and represent a unique community exposed to peri-traumatic conditions and are in need of unique services. According to the National Commission on Fire Prevention and Control, firefighting is the single most hazardous occupation in the United States. The scope of work for which we request funding includes all activities related to our mental health and counseling program, and peer support program. Our mental health and counseling program provides confidential and professional mental health services for FDNY members and their families. Services are provided by New York State Licensed Clinical Social Workers with advanced training in trauma and PTSD. The counseling program administers quantitative assessment tools to measure anxiety, depression, trauma, relationship difficulties and substance abuse to help focus on the needs at hand and measure progress. Our peer support program facilitates monthly breakfasts and other events and are a natural introduction to all of our services and are an integral component in providing a comfortable environment in which to seek help. Local		Lander	Friends of the New York Transit Museum	11-3299408	*	$3,500	DCA	Funds to the NY Transit Museum will support two types of education programs serving NYC youth; guided school programs for students and free weekend workshops for visiting families. Both programs are free with Museum admission (4/child). Needy groups that cannot afford even this price are encouraged to apply to the Transit Museums fee waiver program, One for All, in which corporate supporters underwrite a group visit. Museum admission covers only a small portion of the costs associated with these guided education programs, all of which have an interactive or hands-on component. The costs include salary and training for 11 part-time Museum educators (including 2 special needs educators), art supplies and materials for hands-on workshops and take-home projects, fees for visiting artists and guest performers, costumes and props for performers. During the school year a growing and loyal base of teachers from across NYC repeatedly bring their classes for guided programs that tie into curricular units for different grades. Each summer the Museum develops a fun tour and activity for NYCs camps, with group bookings regularly at capacity. On weekends these educational programs are adapted and augmented to serve families who regularly return. Thanks in part to FY11 NYCC discretionary funds, the Transit Museum launched a new youth education program of costumed story-telling in vintage cars, where actors dressed in garb of the decade bring to life the history of NYC mass transit. This new program serves 2nd grade school groups, summer camp groups and weekend family visitors. New characters are being developed for FY 12. In addition, the Museum will open a science exhibit in Fall 2011 about how electricity powers NY&E's subways. New school programs that teach this science to 4th and 8th graders, for whom it is part of NYS standards, will also be supported by discretionary funds.

NYCFF was founded in 1997 to promote intelligent, passionate, provocative cinematic works for ages 3-18 and to help define a more compelling film for kids. Since its launch, the event has grown to become the largest festival for children and teens in North America, with a paid audience of over 20,000 attending the most recent event. Since 2000, all screenings have sold out in advance. Each year the festival presents 100 animated, live action and experimental shorts and features from around the world plus gala premieres, retrospectives, filmmaker QAs, workshops, audience voting, and the NYCFF Awards Ceremony. But the festival has become much more than just an annual event; NYCFF now offers year-round film programming, a touring festival, an online festival, and film production workshops for children ages 6-16. NYCFF offers one-week filmmaking intensives in clay-animation, stop-motion, pixelation and more, with several different classes available for elementary to middle-school aged children. Students will conceive, storyboard, write, shoot, draw, model, create sets, and perform on camera to create a completed short film, in collaboration with award-winning filmmakers.

This allocation will support the salaries of a bilingual community educator, social worker and attorney in your district. With your support, Day One will conduct co-educational workshops for 500 young people and professionals who work with youth, and will respond to calls from your constituents for legal assistance and counseling. Day One is a highly cost effective organization, and our unique services will help New York City's young people build safe and healthy relationships throughout their lives. The Community Education Program brings Day One's interactive workshops to 5,000 youth and 500 adults each year in New York City schools and social service agencies. We highlight the warning signs of abuse, and ways to seek assistance or to help a friend. Day One staff also trains caregivers, teachers and social service providers to offer supportive guidance to youth who might disclose an abusive relationship. Adult trainings also discuss mandated reporting, identify local resources, and incorporate skill-building related to communicating successfully with young victims. Last year, Day One educated 1100 youth in Manhattan. Day One's preventive programs link directly to our Direct Services program, which provides bilingual crisis counseling, case management, information and legal representation in Family Courts. Individual and group counseling for young survivors help build the strength and stability for young people seeking legal protection in the justice system. Day One accompanies clients to file police reports and advocates with police and district attorneys on behalf of victims seeking protective orders. Day One's advocacy in the criminal system ensures prosecutors are aware of a victim's needs, prioritize young victims as they would adults, and have the information they need to prosecute each case.

The Mediation Center seeks innovative ways to promote community cohesion, encourage positive youth development, and increase communication and understanding in our neighborhood. Services include linking residents to services on issues such as education, parenting, housing, and immigration and galvanizing local stakeholders in order to improve the quality of life and safety for all residents. The Mediation Center runs youth and adult programs including a Leadership Training Institute, a youth empowerment program, and the Save Our Streets (S.O.S.) program which uses a public health approach to reduce gun violence in Central Brooklyn. All of our programs involve community participation and are designed to be strength-based, holistic and culturally relevant. The Center provides customized trainings for schools, community-based organizations, religious groups and others, offering workshops in conflict resolution, mediation, diversity and more. To assist community members with immigration issues, the Mediation Center runs a monthly immigration law clinic in partnership with the Legal Aid Society. The Mediation Center also updates and distributes two Resource Directories: a general guide to community services, and a Reentry Resource Guide, which focuses on the needs of people returning to the community after incarceration. Last year, Mediation Center staff served 1,900 community members seeking help with housing issues, family disputes, community concerns, unemployment, immigration, and more. Funding from the City Council will support operating costs of the Mediation Center, specifically program supplies for trainings, and printing and distribution of the Reentry Resource Guide.

Local		Vann	Fund for the City of New York, Inc.	13-2612524	*	$5,000	DDSB	Destination Nostrand (DN) is a multi-venue district marketing campaign designed to enhance, enrich, promote and transform the Nostrand Avenue commercial corridor in Crown Heights. The specific goals are to (1) make Nostrand more attractive and welcoming to residents and visitors (2) provide spaces where area residents can convene and interact (3) spotlight successful small businesses in the area and (4) lower the number of vacant commercial properties along the avenue. To achieve this we will activate a number of vacant retail spaces along Nostrand with temporary installations and infill projects. These are intended to provide a temporary vision of "what could be", and to draw attention to the value of the empty retail spaces along the street, both for landlords and their potential tenants. The events/interventions will occur in four different types of locations: sidewalk, roll-down gates, shop windows, and interior spaces. In addition, drawing on the unique Caribbean heritage of the district, we will also host a restaurant tasting tour of various restaurants along the strip. Nostrand Park has already received funding support from NYC Dept. of Small Business Services (SBS) to launch this program. Working in conjunction with SBS we have enlisted support of area stakeholders, identified vacant commercial properties, and pro-bono design support from noted Brooklyn architectural firm Vamos Architects. To that end, the services to be funded include the erection of the pop-up installations along Nostrand that will serve as a welcome center for prospective commercial tents, house art installations and other cultural programming, and a venue for food-tastings featuring local restaurants. Funding will also be used to beautification services along Nostrand, including but not limited to trash and debris removal from tree beds, horticulture, and related items.

We provide Bronx youths with healthy avenues through which they can achieve personal growth and learn how to become responsible members of the community. G.Y.O. is seeking Council Discretionary Funding for our soccer program. The program aims to expand our youth development agenda by giving Bronx youths a chance to advance themselves through soccer while also making organized soccer more accessible in the Bronx to keep pace with the growing national interest in soccer. Additionally, the program aims to play a positive role in the lives of Bronx youths and young adults. We are aware that each time a person is kept on the field-player or spectator-we have given that person a positive outlet. Since 2003, we have more than tripled the number of program participants from ten to thirty-eight all of whom participate in two annual local tournaments and atleast one out-of-state tournament. So far, we have won three championships and gained seven runner-up positions. An important goal for participating in these tournaments is to expose players to professional and college recruiters. Our program has already helped many of our players prepare and participate in semi-professional soccer leagues. Currently, six of our players play college soccer with four of them benefiting from athletic scholarships. Our soccer program also includes a three-weeks summer soccer camp where Bronx kids ages 8-13 are taught the fundamentals of soccer. This is one of the ways we encourage our team members to give back to the community. The estimated budget for the program is 10,220 of which we have raised 2,000 from our local fundraising initiatives. To make up for the difference, we are seeking an additional 8,200. We believe that our soccer program benefits The Bronx as a whole; and as such, we also believe that it brings us in partnership with the City of New York in aiding Bronx youths.

The program offers on-site comprehensive GED and College Preparation services for clients who have no formal work experience and limited educational backgrounds. As of 2010, over 235 clients, ranging in age from 17 to 63, graduated from the Institute. The GED Program staff is composed of 26 teachers, 2 guidance counselors, a social worker, a program director, an assistant director and one faculty advisor from the Learning Institute Board. Once our clients have earned a diploma, our Moving Ahead Toward Career Horizons (MATCH) Workforce Development Program offers them a comprehensive array of life skills and hard skills, including educational, job readiness, training, job placement, and supportive retention services. During the past year, MATCH employees screened 756 clients. Of these individuals, 722 received assessment services and 348 enrolled in training sessions. We have successfully placed 225 individuals in employment positions with an average salary of 10.95 per hour. Another 136 have taken advantage of internships or other volunteer opportunities designed to give them practical experience in their field of choice. For many of our clients, these outcomes have been life-changing in their journey toward economic independence and self-sufficiency. During fiscal year 2010, we saw a 20 increase in clients placed in employment compared to last year. For clients who are new to the workforce, finding employment is just the first step to success. To help clients succeed, GMHC currently offers two initiatives dedicated to this challenge: 1) the Focused Learning in New Technology (FLINT) Academy, which offers training and certification in advanced information technology, thereby enabling program graduates to attain higher-paying professional employment, and 2) the Excelling at Work Program, which p

Local		Weprin	Glen Oaks Volunteer Ambulance Corps, Inc.	23-7336330	*	$6,000	FDNY	The Glen Oaks Volunteer Ambulance Corps will utilize funds from this award toward the purchase of two-way radio communications equipment. By 2013, all equipment owned or operated must be in compliance with a FCC mandate regarding narrow banding of radio frequencies. The main transmitter equipment for our dispatch operations was manufactured over 25 years ago and will not support this new application platform. As such, we need to replace this transmitter and our ambulance mobile devices that fall into this category as well. The transmitter will cost 20,500 to replace and our ambulances mobile devices at 4,500.00. Unfortunately, we do not have any option, but to replace these items to remain compliant with our FCC operating license. It is also of importance to note that our radio system is also used as a redundant back up for the seven other Volunteer EMS agencies that operate in the communities of East Queens (Jamaica Estates, Bayside, Little Neck Douglaston, Bay Community, Whitestone, Flushing and College Point). Although we are able to maintain our day to day operations with self-generated funding, we are not capable of absorbing this larger expense. Therefore, we are requesting funds for this important life-saving project.

We connect residents across social, economic, and other barriers that usually divide people, and mobilize them around important social issues. Goddard Riverside's philosophy embraces the potential and worth of each individual and acknowledges the importance of a strong community. Our 27 programs are located in 21 sites between West 59th Street and the northern reaches of West Harlem. The SRO Law Project is a program of Goddard Riverside Community Center. Over the past almost 30 years, we have helped thousands of tenants. We provide individual legal representation to tenants in non-payment, holdover, illegal lockout and housing part actions. We also provide assistance with individual and building-wide advocacy and organizing, conduct know-your-rights trainings with tenants and other community members, assist in establishing tenant associations in buildings, and improve conditions in buildings that have fallen into disrepair. The staff attorneys provide legal representation to tenants in various courts and administrative agencies in non-payment, holdover, illegal lockout and HP actions. The staff attorneys also work with tenants in opposing unjustified Certificates of No Harassment (CONH) applications to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) before the Office of Administrative Trials and Hearings (OATH) when harassment has occurred. Owners of Single Room Occupancy (SRO) buildings must apply for a CONH before they can change the use or configuration of the building. The organizing staff provides direct assistance to tenants, including individual advocacy regarding housing concerns, building-wide organizing, including assistance with organizing tenant associations, and conducting know-your-rights trainings. Local		Levin	Gowanus Canal Conservancy, Inc.	26-0681729	*	$5,000	DYCD	Our most significant strategic tool for transforming the Canal to a healthy ecosystem is the Gowanus Canal SpongePark, which comprises a conceptual masterplan for the Gowanus basin. The document depicts a regional open space network for public access and recreation, which will also capture and divert much of the basin's stormwater runoff, reducing the volume and frequency of Combined Sewer Overflows (CSOs) into the Gowanus Canal. The scope of the proposal is limited to a conceptual framework and does not explore specific recommendations or establish priorities for accomplishing the end goal of a clean Canal and continuous public esplanade along its banks. The next step is to take this conceptual vision and develop a strategic masterplan that identifies the best opportunities and methods for achieving the end goals. We will enlist the services of professional engineers and planners to focus on three issues: 1) Prioritize and ! phase capital investment for the most effective green infrastructure projects, 2) identify new methods for achieving a cohesive waterfront esplanade and 3) Propose policy initiatives and structural incentives which will help steer investments in public space and private property. With a vision for the final product in hand, we are ready to identify the specific tools and realistically phased projects that will lead to the elimination of CSOs and the establishment of a healthy Canal in 40 years. The funds requested for this project will be utilized for the professional services of planners and engineers to produce a strategic masterplan under the Conservancy's leadership. Once complete, the Conservancy will make the documents publicly accessible on its website and promote the results through public meetings, press releases, and education workshops. The document will inform our capital programs, City investment proposals and private opportunities for action.

BSCAH is now the largest pantry in Brooklyn and feeding more people using the pantry model than any other in the city of New York. We have been instrumental in assisting other organization in changing to client choice such as St John Bread of Life, Upper Room and others. BSCAH has developed programs such as Emergency Hunger Relief/Nutrition, Benefit Counseling/Advocacy and an Urban Farm. Our party is flagship program where each participant has the ability to choose healthy food from the food group sufficient to make nine meals each month. BSCAHs Super Pantry provided 1,112,571 meals last year while our social services department had 5,811 gains in services offered to participants. Our SuperPantry is the only emergency food program in Brooklyn with a 2,000sq ft warehouse allowing us to receive large quantities of food to meet the needs of our community. In line with the vision of the organization, we have successfully increased our food distribution and in January 2011 started offering EITC through our partnership with the Food Bank For New York City. BSCAH has also made stride in our urban farming as we have doubled our yield to 2,500 pounds, this year compared to last year. We started our urban farm a few years ago, resulting in our health program piloted last year. A large concentration of produce is readily available to all clients and special attention is given to clients suffering with diabetes, hypertension and other chronic illness. This resulted in BSCAH's decision to develop and introduce an urban farm to supplement our fresh fruit and vegetable, educate youth and seniors on growing their own fresh fruit and vegetables. Local		Levin	Greenpoint Manufacturing and Design Center Local Development Corporation	11-3132562	*	$4,000	DDSBS	GMDC is the City's premiere nonprofit developer of industrial property. By purchasing and renovating dilapidated industrial buildings, GMDC has helped preserve and create hundreds of jobs for low-income New Yorkers and has provided a strong anchor for future outside investment. GMDC is requesting 25,000 to help defray the pre-development costs of our next project, the 1050 Atlantic Avenue Food Center. GMDC plans to redevelop 1050 Atlantic Avenue into a food processing center in Brooklyn. The project will be based on the organizations last successful food processing building, 132 Harrison Place. GMDC is prepared to fit out 1050 Atlantic Avenue for both traditional food companies and the latest generation of specialty food makers, those starting new businesses bringing new jobs, revenue, and vitality to Brooklyn. The project will address NYC's growing emphasis on locally produced food as well as GMDC's mission of continuing to provide blue collar employment to New Yorkers and to preserve industry, a sector that has seen significant job loss in the past 40 years.
Local		Levin	Greenpoint Reformed Church	11-2100335		$5,000	DYCD	Greenpoint Reformed Church Hunger Program distributes bags of groceries every Thursday. It is the primary emergency food provider in the 11222 zip code. Along with food, we also provide related services such as Food Stamps outreach, tenant advocacy (through a partnership with NAG), Homeless outreach (in partnership with Street to Home), and various referral services, especially regarding substance abuse and mental health services and job training. We have seen a rapid increase in the number of people utilizing our services. In Dec. 2009, we served 1080 people, and in Dec. 2010 that number had climbed to 6213. We are asking for operational funding for this program. Part of the funding requested will pay the salary of our part-time executive director. The remainder will pay for space rental, utilities and a part-time pantry assistant. At this point, we cannot keep up with the demand for emergency food. In order to accommodate the increase in people, we have gone from being open 2 hours on Thursdays to being open the entire day. Receiving this funding will allow us to open additional hours and days, so that we can serve more people. It will also allow us to give a higher level of care to the people we do serve. This will allow us to make better referrals to people in need.

Local		Reyna	Grover Cleveland High School	11-6039058	*	$3,500	DOE	I would like to fund Science Programs at Grover Cleveland High School, specifically Bridge Building, Science Olympiad, and Science Research. These programs teach engineering, problem solving, community involvement, teamwork, leadership and tenacity. We need more funding, approximately 3300 per program, in order to properly run these programs at a level similar to specialized high schools. In Bridge Building, students engineer a bridge out of basswood to be light yet take as much weight as possible. Students who win the regional competition go to the internationals, in which GCHS came in the top 25 nationally the last two years. Last year, we finished ahead of Bronx Science, Hunter College High Schools. Funding is needed to purchase and replace materials including basswood, glue, sanding machines, dremels, engineer's rulers, testing apparatus, and trip expenses for the internationals, which take place in Chicago. In Science Olympiad, our students compete in up to 25 science events, including Anatomy and Physiology, Chem Lab, Experimental Design, Forensics, Mousetrap Vehicle, Protein Modeling, Tower Building, and Wind Energy. GCHS currently hosts the citywide event for middle and high schools. We must purchase and replace equipment such as lumber, metal, drill parts, batteries, and parts for robots, turbines, and magnetic levitation. Other materials include books, binders, display boards, and food/beverages for event volunteers. GCHS has a rigorous Science Research program. Students do yearlong college level research in topics like the Newtown Creek/Greenpoint Oil Spill, dating violence, and sports injuries. Students from our school have been WISE semi-finalists for the last two straight years. In 2007, four students won 1000 grants to implement their proposals. A number of students have won scholarships. Funding is needed for the annual WISE entry fee of 2000, testing kits totaling over 1000 to study

Nearly 2/3 of the 900 individuals in our care are over 40 years of age and a very high percentage are over 60. The oldest individual in our care is 86 years of age. Due to genetic syndromes and the lifetime effect of certain medications, many individuals show the effects of aging at an earlier age. The Guild is developing a Wellness Center to improve balance and cardio-vascular health and prevent falls and hospitalizations which are devastating to the people in our care and expensive for taxpayers. This is a win-win proposition that will help our senior citizens live fuller and more productive lives while preventing falls and unnecessary hospitalizations. The funding we seek will help pay for the equipment we need and will be used to help offset salary costs of staff; provide training to staff and provide ongoing availability of supports and services to the individuals with developmental disabilities in our care.

Local		Lander	Heights Hill Mental Health Service, SBPC, Community Advisory Board, Inc.	11-2785605		$5,000	DOHMH	One of the CAB's main projects is the Rainbow Heights Club Program (RHC), which provides culturally competent and sensitive support and advocacy services to over 500 low to no income Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender (LGBT) persons living throughout NYC with severe and persistent mental illness. This is the only program in the State that provides services specifically for this population. Rainbow Heights Club programming is extremely effective in its objective of improving the mental and medical health outcomes of participants. Program evaluation data indicate that over 90 of RHC members are able to remain free of inpatient psychiatric hospitalization, some after decades of repeated inpatient hospitalizations. Additionally, over 80 of active members report that they no longer use hospital emergency rooms as their source of primary medical care. 91 of members reported that visited their medical doctor within the past year, and 83 reported that they had a therapist; with 94 of those persons purporting they had seen that therapist within the past month. 87 of our members are prescribed psychiatric medications, with 87 reporting they take their meds "Always" and another 10 reporting "Often". Of those expressing an opinion, 87 felt that participating in the Rainbow Heights Club program helped them remain treatment compliant and to be hospitalized less, 1 or for a shorter time. Funding is requested to pay for a portion of the salary and fringe costs for a part time outreach worker who will compile and publish our quarterly newsletter as well as maintain the agency website and Facebook profile. The outreach worker will also maintain and expand our active collaborations with other mental health providers as well as provide outreach visits to other programs to educate providers about the services offered at Rainbow Heights Club

Local		Foster	Highbridge Community Life Center	13-3015539	*	$8,500	DYCD	Your support would enable us to continue and to expand the the Highbridge Historical Project. In addition to the ongoing program we will develop a high school training program for the summer to develop 5 teacher-mentors for the program next year. Every year, parents and community leaders take teachers on a tour of Highbridge to learn about the neighborhood in which they teach. Principals and parents alike have challenged us that youth should be able to take what they have learned in the classroom and become "historians, journalists, film makers and tour guides" of the neighborhood. Students learn about local neighborhood history, geology, ecology as well as learn about the history of New York City and its water supply system. Students take field trips and meet with local historians and experts in the field. Students will also become videographers, learning how to use video equipment to record their experiences and become historians by documenting and interviewing Highbridge Residents and Experts about the neighborhood history. Youth participants and their HYHP Teachers will also provide workshops and presentations to participating neighborhood schools about local history in the form of class tours around the neighborhood and presentations We have developed a weekly internship for Highbridge Youth, grade 3-5th, where students can, through their after-school programs, learn about Highbridge history and become "Highbridge Guides". Youth use video equipment so that they can be a part of recording their own perspectives and interviews on Highbridge history. This project will link directly into this year's Highbridge School Coalition annual contest which will be both an art contest and a writing contest.

Local		Levin	HOPE Program, Inc., The	13-3268539	*	$3,500	CJC	The HOPE Program provides very poor Brooklyn residents with the skills and support services they need to secure, maintain and grow in jobs. Through 400 hours of intensive classroom instruction, students build critical job skills such as literacy, math, computer use, customer service, conflict resolution, resume-writing, interviewing, and presenting themselves professionally. Students hone these skills through 200 hours of on-the-job experiences. To minimize barriers to success, HOPE provides on-site mental health services, daily nutritious meals, Metrocards, and access to professional clothing. All HOPE graduates work with a dedicated Employment Specialist to secure employment and receive a lifetime of support services, including vocational counseling and evening GED and computer classes. Our approach yields significant results, notably 70 job placement and a 90 90-day retention rate. As 80 of ex-offenders without jobs return to lives of crime, one of HOPEs focuses is on this critical population. Through partnerships which provide legal education and assistance, workshops to help clean up rap sheets, work opportunity tax credits and a wide range of additional supports, we enable ex-offenders to secure jobs and avoid re-imprisonment. The New York City Council's investment in training HOPE's ex-offender population yields a significant return on investment. For the cost of imprisoning one person in a New York City prison, we can help eight formerly incarcerated individuals secure work and avoid re-imprisonment. As our students secure jobs and achieve economic self-sufficiency, they move off of public assistance and contribute up to 500 in city income taxes each year.

Local		Comrie	Hospital Audiences, Inc.	13-6277895		$3,500	DCA	The Community Performing Arts Series (CPAS) is a schedule of performing arts events, arranged and produced by HAI, that take place throughout the year, primarily in the daytime, at wheelchair-accessible venues that can accommodate large audiences in neighborhoods throughout New York City. Venues include Symphony Space, Flushing Town Hall, Whitman Hall at Brooklyn College, The Klitgord Auditorium at LIU, The Center for Arts and Culture at Hostos Community College, and the Center for the Arts at the College of Staten Island. The audiences are drawn from health and mental health facilities, programs for seniors, K-12 schools, the general public, as well as frail elderly and physically disabled individuals who may rarely have opportunities to experience the thrill of live performance. Performers at these events in previous years have included Marilyn Maye, Tito Puente, Karen Mason, Petula Clark, Ben Vereen, Bette Midler, Leslie Uggams, Karen Akers, Tom Wopat, Ann Hampton Callaway, Bo Diddley, and Ronnie Spector. Dance Companies include Deeply Rooted Dance Theatre, Alley II, Urban Bush Women, Ballet Hispanico, Taylor 2, JAZZ DANCE by Danny Buraczeski, American Ballroom Theatre, Limon Dance Company, and Dance Theatre of Harlem.

We do this through our workforce development program, Project Launch and our small food business incubation program, HBK Incubates. Launched in 2007, Hot Bread Kitchen has provided job training to 21 women and small business support to 10 businesses. Funding from the New York City Council will support Hot Bread Kitchen in deepening our impact in Harlem and ensuring that residents receive the maximum benefit from our programs. In 2011, Project Launch will provide job training to 16 new women and help 10 food entrepreneurs grow their businesses, creating a total of 26 new jobs in Harlem. By supporting Hot Bread Kitchen's community outreach initiative, the New York City Council will guarantee that our programs are targeted to interested and qualified members of the Harlem community.

Local		Van Bramer	Hour Children	13-3647412		$3,500	DYCD	Hour Children requests funding for Hour Early Learning Program, a daycare/nursery school for "at risk" children, most of whom were born on a prison nursery. Our daycare/nursery school leaves formerly incarcerated mothers free to pursue employment and education. It has been shown that access to a high-quality preschool setting can dramatically affect the intellectual, social and economic outcome for children of low-income families. In addition to providing the children with materials that foster cognitive skills, motor skills and social skills, they spend their days in a setting that promotes understanding, cooperation and tolerance. Our children leave HELP with a life-desire for learning. HELP is designed to mitigate the factors that place the children, who are at-risk of poor outcomes. Support for parents and their success is the underlying philosophy of all we do. HELP provides children ages 0-3 with a strong foundation of cognitive, language and social skills - activities that enhance reading readiness and formal education. The children are with loving caregivers and a licensed teacher in each room. Unique to our program is that each child is taken care of by one single caregiver, i.e., he/she is fed, dressed and generally tended to by one person so that the child can be consoled by that individual with whom he has developed trust. A crucial part of the program is the parent education program which focuses on human development. Mothers learn about their baby's development but and human development in general, which helps them after they leave HELP and if they have other older children. Parents are advised as to appropriate activities to help the child. In addition, the HELP director also networks with local early childhood assessment services and when necessary, arranges for early intervention to develop speech and language or any other deficit.

The first will take place on the Brooklyn Preparatory School Campus in Williamsburg where a selected ISCP artist-in-residence will work with ten graduating seniors in determining the content and execution of a temporary sculpture. A second public art project is currently being developed at Moore St. Market in Bushwick. ISCP will commission and publicize a series of temporary installations and participatory artworks by ISCP residents and Brooklyn based alumni. This programming will bring new patrons to the site while engaging vendors and community members in the development of new art works. A City Council grant will cover 4,000 in materials, implementation and publicity for two public art projects contributing to neighborhood revitalization and promoting cultural exchange. INTO THE STUDIOS In collaboration with the Joan Mitchell Foundation and St. Nicks Alliance, 50 high school juniors and seniors attend free art classes annually. Each term includes a minimum of five visits to ISCP artists' studios. In addition, over 300 District 34 high school students visit ISCP Open Studios and exhibitions annually. A City Council grant will support 1,000 in program expenses toward materials and teaching artist honoraria. STUDIO ASSISTANT PROGRAM The Studio Assistant Program provides young New York based artists with professional development by working alongside established international artists. Participating ISCP residents offer Assistants skill-building opportunities, an insider's view into diverse studio practices, and a mentoring relationship. ISCP also invites the Assistants to attend Field Trips and Salons, enabling them to become active members of ISCP's community. A City Council grant will cover 5,000 in stipends for the 20 undergraduate and graduate students served by this project.

Local		Dickens	Jazz at Lincoln Center, Inc.	13-3888641		$5,000	DCA	Jazz at Lincoln Center (JALC) produces educational and community programs designed to provide a broad public with inspiring arts experiences while increasing appreciation for jazz music and history. Each year, JALC invests more than 2 million in education programs that impact 20,000 students, teachers, families and adults in New York City. Jazz for Young People concerts reach students and families with performances in schools and at JALC. Through targeted mailing lists, JALC makes a concerted effort to reach NYC public schools – currently 64 of schools participating in the program are NYC public schools and, of these students, 72 qualify for the free/reduced lunch program. Tickets to Student Concerts are heavily subsidized with all student tickets priced at a low 8. Tickets for the Family Concerts are also subsidized and priced at a low cost of 12, 20 or 28 per ticket. Each spring, Jazz for Young People On Tour introduces students to jazz through visits to 16 public elementary, middle, and high schools in NYC. In the past JALC has worked with such schools as PS 194 and PS 180 from Harlem and PS 75 and PS 334 from the Upper West Side. Through its WeBop program, JALC provides an early jazz music experience for children between 8 months and five years of age. Eight-week classes take place in the fall, winter and spring and reach children and families throughout New York City. Free WeBop classes are also offered through a Head Start school in Washington Heights. To make jazz financially accessible to audiences, JALC offers Hot Seats, a program through which 83 prime orchestra seats normally priced at 75 are available for 10 for every concert in Rose Theater. JALC also offers 10-15 tickets to students for performances in Dizzy's Club Coca-Cola and 10 rush tickets to students and seniors to all concerts, when available. With your support, JALC will continue to play a lead role in making music accessible to the community.

Local		Fidler	Jewish Community Council of Greater Coney Island, Inc.	11-2665181		$4,000	DFTA	As you know, in addition to improving the quality of life of our clients, this service reduces the exposure and vulnerability of the elderly to crime, enables them to continue living at home in their own communities, prevents or delays the need for unnecessary, costly institutionalization and fosters neighborhood stabilization. Many elderly people are physically unable to use subways and buses, and certainly cannot afford the cost of private car service. Moreover, because mobility is often one of the first functions to become impaired with advancing age, availability of transportation is essential to an elderly individuals ability to continue living independently. This problem is particularly exacerbated in areas, where, due to the high incidence of crime against the elderly, seniors are afraid to travel. Resulting, they often stay at home alone, loose contact with friends and often become depressed. Over the years, this highly acclaimed Senior Citizen Transportation Program expanded to become one of the largest such programs in the City. Last year alone, 45,858 transportation units of service were provided to 4,457 frail elderly clients (including 1,373 Holocaust survivors) residing throughout Brooklyn. The objectives of the program supported by this grant are thus to provide Transportation for At-Risk Elderly in the following specific categories: ‡ Transportation for FUNCTIONALLY-IMPAIRED seniors, to facilitate their access to essential medical and non-medical appointments and services, including senior center sites. ‡ Transportation to facilitate BLIND / VISION-IMPAIRED and DEAF / HEARING-IMPAIRED seniors to participate in specialized senior center programs, as well as other medical and non-medical services. ‡ Escort/Transportation for CRIME VICTIMIZED seniors residing in the high-crime areas to facilitate access to shopping and other crucial sites.

Local		Vacca	Jewish Community Council of Pelham Parkway, Inc.	13-3099520		$11,000	DYCD	The requested funding will be used for two purposes: 1. Our Agency's Food Pantry and Food Voucher Program. Our agency operates the third largest Food Pantry in the Bronx. The Food Pantry served an average of 1792 people per month this past year. The wholesale value of the food we distributed was an estimated 197,430. Food donations arrive from government sources as well as food drives conducted at Civic Organizations and Houses of Worship. Our Agency also provides Food Vouchers that clients can use to purchase fresh food at a local supermarket. Food Vouchers are provided to people who are referred by a medical provider or can otherwise describe a specific need for food unavailable from the Pantry. Our Agency provided an average of 54 Food Voucher per month. Vouchers are usually valued at 25.00. 2. Our Agency's Community Music and Information Festival. Our Council's Annual Community Music and Information Festival features well known ethnic music entertainers who would not ordinarily appear in a Bronx venue. The high caliber musicians, and attendant children's programming, help attract a large audience to the event and make it an ideal location for Social Service agencies, Senior Centers, Youth Programs, Health Care Providers and others to set up exhibits to better inform area residents about the programs and services they offer. The Festival is much more than a day of music and celebration. The multi-ethnic participation and presence of so many exhibitors make it a day of cultural growth, community pride and common ground.

Local		Mealy	J'Ouvert City International, Inc.	11-3362754	*	$5,000	DYCD	J'Ouvert (Joovay) is a cultural celebration which is held annually on Labor Day Dawn from 4:00a.m. to 10:00a.m. Its route starts from Flatbush Avenue and Empire to Bedford, Rogers and then to Nostrand ending at Nostrand-Rutland Road. The idea to maintain our culture abroad, in the United States, coming from the island of Trinidad Tobago, was a means of relating as well as educating the public regarding the historical facts of Joovay which goes back to the late 1700s and during the emancipation period, to the present. Our purpose in maintaining the Joovay is to preserve, maintain and celebrate our culture in a diverse city as New York. We have approximately 50 participants consisting of steelbands and mas groups. J'Ouvert is a competition among these groups vying for Best Costumed Band and Best Music Band. This cultural heritage is highly appreciated not only by the participants, but by the public who comes from various U.S. states nationwide as well as abroad from the Caribbean, South America and Europe to witness and enjoy Joovay. In addition, in the last couple years we have been inviting top corporate executives and elected officials who are police-escorted to the starting point of our event where we have estimated half-million spectators and visitors are anxiously waiting to witness the Joovay. We work closely with the 67th Precinct, Patrol Borough Brooklyn South where we meet during the season from June right up to the week of Labor Day to make sure we are both on the same page as well as to iron out any problems we may foresee and where the officer in charge of handling the smooth process of the Joovay works closely with the participants.

We have a strong reputation for working with students with many diverse learning styles and challenges, and as a result our education programs are oversubscribed every year. 150-165 school groups take part in 2-3 hour, interactive, subsidized (5-7pp) history and archaeology education programs. Students explore the cultural and political history of Jamaica, NY State and the nation through the life of this distinguished family; collection objects allow them to envision life in the 19th century. Programs meet NYC/NYS learning standards and integrate within and expand the scope of the class curriculum. Pre- and post-visit materials (now available on our website) reinforce learning in the classroom and offer teachers lesson plans and relevant resources. 15-20 pre-school/day care/camp groups visit for 2-3/pp literacy-focused hiStory Time wor! kshops year-round; these programs build pre-literacy skills, introduce historical concepts and the museum setting, and reinforce learning. 2) Public and community programs which invite the entire neighborhood to delve into history with us. Families attend 10-12 year-round free weekend workshops and seasonal celebrations; adults attend 4-5 events, lectures or concerts (5-15/pp). Many of our neighbors may not think to visit a museum, but will come with their children to our monthly Hands-on History Workshops, our fall Harvest Festival celebration or our Craftsmen Days, where they explore historic stories, crafts, music and games together. These free or modestly-priced programs provide a multi-age learning experience, engage family members in dialogue, supplement student learning, and draw adults into exploring the past.

Local		Levin	La Nueva Esperanza, Inc.	20-4393724		$9,000	DOHMH	La Nueva Esperanza, Inc., is funded by both New York City and New York State, Departments of Health. We provide Comprehensive food and nutrition services to HIV positive Latino and African American clients who are/or are at risk of malnutrition, hunger, and in need of food and nutrition counseling services, residing. These services are provided with funding from our New York City Contract through Public Health Solutions through NYCDOHMH. The Agency provided for over 100-clients in a congregate dining environment (La Cocina)lunch and dinner, with a Pantry Bag for weekend use, since the Agency is closed. This Pantry Bag contains two(2) meals a day for Saturday and Sunday. For clients whose illness prohibits them from traveling; we provide Homebound delivery of the same meals prepared and served at our Kitchen, including week-end Pantry Bags. Proper nutritional intake is an important factor for all citizens of New York City, but it becomes life saving to those with compromised immune systems, such as our clients. Individuals with HIV/AIDS experience a myriad of opportunistic infections above and beyond their core HIV infection. With these various infections comes a whole host of medications with their own debilitating side effects. To this end, La Nueva Esperanza strives to reduce the anxiety associated with the fear of not having adequate food. It is well documented that anxiety and stress have a negative impact on even a healthy individuals immune system. It is obvious then that anxiety and stress would have a greater negative impact on our clients whose immune system is already compromised. As you are well aware, the cost of food has skyrocketed, funding by the Federal Government (HRSA)to the DOHMH has been reduced, reducing La Nueva Esperanzas budget. Your help, will help our clients live a little longer.

Local		Comrie	Lady Doves Self Enrichment Organization, Inc.	80-0224662	*	$3,500	DYCD	Mentoring Mentoring (LEO "Rising Phoenix Program") through services to be provided locally or to remote locations, INCREASED GEOGRAPHIC MOBILITY, the lack of organized youth activities in poor neighborhoods, and the rise of single-parent families and families with two working parents have all reduced the number of adult role models. Today, twenty-five percent of children live with a single parent, and over one-half of children will live with only one parent before they are eighteen years old. The Ladydoves Self Enrichment Organization's Rising Phoenix Program, exists to provide these role models and help a child develop socially and emotionally. Mentors help kids learn to understand and communicate their feelings, to relate to their peers, and to develop relationships with other adults. The Ladydoves Self Enrichment Organization knows more about strategies that make youth mentoring programs work from the research we have done. Ineffective mentoring programs can do more harm than good to our children. In our Rising Phoenix Program we follow strategies that are associated with successful mentoring: Youth mentoring works best when goals focus on developing trusting relationships with peers and adults. Programs with solely behavioral goals such as achieving better grades or resisting drug use are less successful. Parental involvement is also a beneficial goal. If possible, mentoring programs should try to get parents involved in a way that does not threaten the youth-parent relationship. Tutoring, ("After-School Program") LEO does more than improve grades. We improve lives. Our goal is to give your child the kind of one-on-one attention he or she needs to catch up quickly and stay ahead in the future. With personalized learning programs, children will get precisely the help they need at our facility. Our certified, highly trained tutors will do more than fill children with knowledge, they teach them how to think, learn and, ultimately, how to succeed on their own.

Today, we are pleased to request Member Item Funding in the amount of 5,000 to support the production of LIFT's one-of-a-kind Legal Resource Guides. Which empower your constituents with the information they need to successfully navigate the City's complex Family Courts. All of our programs offer low-income New Yorkers the tools they need to successfully self-advocate in Family Court. A key component to that work is the production of LIFT's 36 original multilingual Legal Resource Guides. All of the Guides – as well as our activity book for children, Pat the Pigeon Goes to Family Court – provide legal information to hundreds of your constituents facing the complex Family Courts each year. The Guides cover a broad range of legal topics, are translated into eight different languages, and are made available at our heavily trafficked Family Court-based Education Information Sites and Help Centers, inside our Family Legal Center Resource Library, and on our website. Last year, we distributed nearly 200,000 Guides. Your support will ensure that LIFT has the resources necessary to keep up with the demand for this one-of-a-kind resource.

As they mature into their senior years various scenarios become more difficult. Group discussions, playing cards, watching a movie, television, speaking on the phone, etc. They often "fake" participation and emotional isolation develops. We find that taking the first step to get a hearing screening is the hardest part. Lexington Hearing and Speech Center owns and operates a hearing testing mobile van. This van is available to go to these senior centers where each and every participant/member can get a free hearing screening. Everyone participates. No one is singled out. There is no shame and it's a full group activity. For those individuals where a hearing loss is suspected, follow up appointments may be made and a hearing aid may be called for. It is in this positive group setting where we find individuals' hearing loss needs are met, and they report a tremendous improvement in the quality of their lives.

We believe that all children deserve to learn to read, and that every community already has the resources to support early literacy. LINC works with school, family, business and community partners in New York City's low-income neighborhoods to produce reading programs that promote emerging literacy skills. LINC's four program areas are: 1. Reading Partner Programs pair young readers with older children, community members, and senior citizens, giving children more reading time through a positive, supportive experience 2. Parent Programs train parents to support reading development in their own homes and in their communities 3. Community-Based Literacy Celebrations are high-energy themed reading events for children and families 4. Partnerships and Collaborations with cultural organizations that share our goal to improve the literacy development of children. Funding from Council Member Rivera will support LINC's menu of literacy programs in South Fordham and Belmont. At PS 9, we will facilitate a weekly Young Readers Club (a reading partner program between first and fifth graders), as well as provide parent workshops and the annual TIGER (Together In Getting Everyone Reading) Collaboration with the Bronx Zoo. We will continue our Great Grand Readers intergenerational reading partner program between the St. Barnabas Senior Center and PS 159. We also intend to begin full programming at PS 85, which would include a reading partner program, parent workshops, and TIGER. Local		Van Bramer	Long Island City Business Development Corporation (LICBDC)	11-2651377		$7,500	DDSBS	Description of the program to be funded During FY 2010-2011, with funding from Council Member Van Bramer and the NYC Dept. of Small Business Services, LICBDC hired a consultant to undertake an economic development study of Queens Plaza to determine assets and liabilities with a focus on the area's desirability for retail and office expansion. The consultant determined that the NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene arrival in Gotham Center, combined with other new real estate developments, would encourage further office expansion, and recommended that we concentrate on retail development. Based on the study, we would like to proceed with outreach to prospective retail tenants. The consultant determined that the trade area – the place from which 75 or more of the district's shoppers derive – was a one mile radius from Queens Plaza. There are 58,195 residents within the trade area, living in 21,879 households with annual demand of 20,048 per household for retail goods and services. This represents 438,000,000 in annual retail demand. However, more importantly, this population is augmented by a substantial daytime population of employees, students, and visitors. Daily visitors have an income level well above that of the average residential population, so that potential demand averages over 40,000 per employee. Local economic development around Queens Plaza should address this vast amount of unmet demand to reach the area's full potential. There are only 55 businesses now present in the district, and they represent only 20 categories of retail. What is currently in place are largely discount retail goods and fast foods. There is little to attract business and office employees, tourists or college students. There are no opportunities to browse for more varied consumer goods. Recommendations from the consultant suggest that short term merchandising goals should focus on recruiting retail goods and services such as a full service restaura

Council funding will be used to support this free event, held in Inwood Hill Park, the only remaining old-growth forest and natural salt marsh in the borough. The main goal of this project is to educate as many children and adults as possible about Native American and other world cultures through the performing arts, as well as to spread awareness of and appreciation for the diversity of New York City and the environment. Drums presents and preserves artistic works and cultural traditions of all periods and origins, enables us to expand and diversify our audiences, and uses arts as a way to strengthen communities. By presenting these traditions, educating our audience, and providing a special performance opportunity to the artists, we are helping to ensure that these arts will live on and continue for the next generation. Drums Along the Hudson® is the a unique event which unites a traditional Native American Pow Wow with an extensive range of world performing arts, centered around the use of the drum. We hope it serves as a model to be duplicated as a way to educate and spread appreciation for the diverse cultures that make up our communities, as well as to preserve world cultural traditions on a national scale. By presenting a variety of traditional performing arts forms free of charge, Lotus is able to carry out its mission of keeping alive and accessible the music and dance traditions of all world cultures. The event broadens access to diverse, quality programming and expands the audience for arts amongst persons who would ordinarily not have the opportunity to participate. Drums Along the Hudson® benefits the Inwood Hill area by bringing people from all over the region to the neighborhood, boosting interest in local businesses and activities.

Local		Recchia	Lower East Side Tenement Museum, The	13-3475390	*	$4,000	DCA	Each year, the Tenement Museum provides unique opportunities for tens of thousands of students from across the City to explore American immigration history. The Museum brings the Lower East Side's historic immigrants to life through its interpretation of 97 Orchard Street, an 1863 landmark tenement that housed more than 7,000 people before it was condemned as unfit for human occupancy in 1935. The Museum has thus far restored the rear yard and six upper floor apartments to represent different historical moments in order to interpret the lives of families who once lived there. Through educator-led tours of 97 Orchard Street and the surrounding neighborhood, students learn about important historical events through the personal stories of the tenement's past residents, and gain perspectives on the struggles immigrants confronted as they became Americans. All of the Museum's Education Programs are provided at significantly subsidized rates and/or free of charge to New York City public schools. Education Programs include: specially adapted tours and group educational activities that meet New York State Learning Standards; Professional Development Workshops that show school teachers how to integrate artifacts, primary source documents, and personal narratives into history lessons; "Shared Journeys," a free workshop series that helps immigrant students improve their English language skills and contextualize their own experiences in the larger history of American immigration; and "Tenement Inspectors," a living history program in which students learn about housing laws. City Council support would enable the Museum to maintain a subsidized student ticket rate of 7 for New York City public schools, a more than 50 discount from its regular student ticket price of 15. City Council support would allow the Museum to continue welcoming thousands of students from across the City at significantly reduced rates.

Boro		Van Bramer	Make the Road New York	11-3344389		$5,000	DYCD	Make the Road New York (MRNY) seeks City Council support of 25,000 from City Council Member Jimmy Van Bramer for our LGBTQ Justice Project. MRNY combats institutional homophobia and transphobia, employment discrimination and hate crimes, and the harassment, isolation and invisibility of lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender people in low-income communities of color. MRNY's LGBTQ Justice Project is one of the few New York City groups founded, led and constituted by low-income LGBTQ people of color who are organizing around public policy issues that have an impact at the city, state and national levels. Its workshops and trainings reach more than 500 community members and thousands of teachers and students each year. In 2010, MRNY published a study on gender identity employment discrimination, which was used by the New York State Attorney General's Office to take legal action against two major retail chains, and we won a ! campaign to require more than 60 American Eagle Outfitters stores to revise their personnel policies to ensure equal employment opportunities and respectful treatment for transgender employees. With renewed support, MRNY will continue to build momentum for broad policy changes that result from its findings, and pressure other retail employers to adopt changes in their hiring and training policies in regard to discrimination based on gender identity. Your support of 25,000 will also allow MRNY to do the following in CD26: 1) Engage 15 additional LGBTQ individuals in leadership development programming; 2) Expand the reach of Spanish language homophobia and transphobia workshops to 50 more Latino community members; 3) Bring diverse constituencies together to respond to hate crimes and collect hundreds of surveys on LGBTQ safety in community spaces and places of employment, and; 4) Continue our Safe Schools Campaign at two Queens High Schools.

Local		Dromm	Make the Road New York	11-3344389		$19,000	DYCD	Make the Road New York (MRNY) seeks City Council support of 20,000 from Council Member Daniel Dromm to continue work on the Immigration Out of Rikers Campaign to put an end to U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement's (ICE) illegal and abusive enforcement operations in New York City Department of Corrections facilities. Federal immigration agents have established a permanent presence on Rikers Island and in other NYC DOC facilities. Without any oversight, U.S. ICE agents have engaged interrogations of pre-trial detainees, effectively denying detainees their constitutional rights to be presumed innocent, to remain silent and to retain an attorney. ICE's presence in DOC facilities has led to the deportation of thousands of New Yorkers every year – many with no criminal record – leaving the deportees' families abandoned and dependent on our City's strained social service system. Last year with your support, we were able to improve the conditions for immigrants in DOC custody by ensuring that ICE properly identifies itself in DOC facilities, to ensure that detainees have better understanding of the possible ramifications of ICE interviews, as well as better opportunity to consent to or deny the interview. With renewed support, MRNY will continue to advocate that NYC exercise its discretion regarding detainers to protect New Yorkers and stop collaborating with ICE. MRNY will develop policies and programs in cooperation with DOC and move forward with the Immigration Out of Rikers Coalition's citywide campaign calling on the City to: 1) Stop using New York City resources to participate in immigration enforcement; 2) Refrain from participating in immigration investigations by providing ICE special access to information about its pre-trial detainees; 3) Limit the behavior of ICE agents in Rikers, and; 4) Opt out of participating in "Secure Communities," a computer system that would indiscriminately issue detainers on foreign-born detainees.

Now in its 15th year, it is the only theatre company dedicated to combining literacy with the performing arts by creating professional theatre works based on contemporary childrens books from diverse cultures. To date, our productions have reached over 80,000 children, parents and teachers. In 2012, following our latest work Sky Boys, which received rave reviews (see supplemental), we will be reviving our original full-scale musical A Band of Angels, previously produced in 2005. A Band of Angels is based on the award-winning illustrated book by Deborah Hopkinson about the formation of the Fisk Jubilee Singers in post-Civil War America. The production utilizes conventions from musical theatre, African folklore traditions and African-American spirituals. Our original production received excellent reviews, with The New York Times calling it "an uplifting musical." The story is told through the eyes of Ella, a contemporary middle school student. Her great-great grandmother, Ella Sheppard, was Fisk University's first instructor of color and a member of its choir, the early formation of today's famous Jubilee Singers. Modern-day Ella's indifference towards education compels her ancestors to send her on a Sankofa, or journey to the past, to take the place of her namesake. Ella learns firsthand about Fisk University's history as a school for freed slaves, and the choir's historic concert tour. Only then does she understand the true value of her education.

Local	Dickens	Mama Foundation for the Arts, Inc.	31-1614732		$8,500	DYCD	Mama Foundation for the Arts (MFA) is a nationally-recognized arts-education program which provides comprehensive training in the vocal techniques of gospel, jazz, and rhythm and blues music. Classes for children, teens and adults, as well as acclaimed public performances, serve to promote and preserve these art forms. MFA is located in Central Harlem, the spiritual home to gospel, jazz, and rhythm and blues traditions, which are essential elements of Americas musical heritage. MFAs mission is to present, preserve, and promote gospel, jazz and the rhythm and blues arts for the current and future generations, and in so doing help rebuild Central Harlem as an artistic cultural corridor. MFA is committed to identifying, training and employing the next generation of artists in producing original and revival theatre and musical productions. As a result, MFAs best-known program is Gospel for Teens, which annually serves 300 young peopl ple. MFA has trained over 1100 young and maturing burgeoning artists and provides the platform for them to work in the field and interact and receive direct feedback from more established professionals. Each year students take part in more than 20 concerts at venues such as the Apollo Theater, Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture, and the American Museum of Natural History. Performances provide valuable experience for students who plan to become professional artists, but they also mirror a real-life job experience for all participants. Gospel for Teens has received extensive recognition in the media, television, and on the internet. They are an award-winning choir winning Verizon and Pathmarks gospel competitions.

A large number of our children have fractured or unstable home lives, and our social services program provides 1) Play Therapy to help them navigate their lives (on an as needed basis); 2) Mental Health Consulting for families (on an as needed basis); 3) Monthly Parent Workshops; and 4) Weekly Teaching Tolerance Unit that teaches all children the value of self-respect and respect for others. Our program enables children to receive services they need in a familiar environment rather than an unfamiliar mental-health clinic. Our program is free and available whenever needed. It also offers parents the support and guidance to enable them to deal with their own emotional needs while providing for the needs of their children. This program is one of the mainstays in our schools philosophy that a child's well-being! and education depends on a cooperative partnership between home and school. Our social services program provides at risk children with a safe place to ask questions and understand their place in the world. It validates them in a way they may not be getting elsewhere. And the weekly Teaching Tolerance unit teaches all the children the necessity for caring for and respecting each other. Fortunately, Marble Hill Nursery School is a truly diverse population, and the social services program helps to harness that diversity and give all the children an appreciation for differences--an appreciation that we believe stays with them far beyond their years at Marble Hill.

In addition to the Marcus Garvey Park Alliance, the other members include the Jackie Robinson Park Conservancy, Friends of St. Nicholas Park Conservancy, and the Friends of Morningside Park. The film festival is held annually in July, at which time films about the African, and African Diaspora experience are screened to an audience of over 5,000 during the series, every Wednesday and Thursday at each park that is a member of the coalition and at other Harlem parks. We partner with other not-for-profit film organizations. This year the partners include Maysies Cinema, ImageN! ation Cinema Foundation, and the National Black Programming Consortium, and they provide the films that are screened. In addition, prior to the film screenings, local cultural organizations perform. We created this festival to bring new audiences into our parks that have been revitalized with the assistance of the Department of Parks and Recreation. This year, we have added the West Harlem Piers Park as an additional site that films will be screened. Also, Morningside Park will not be a site for film screening this year. Local		Dromm	Metropolitan Community Church of New York	51-0152961		$3,500	DYCD	These funds will continue the ongoing work of the Sylvia Rivera Food Pantry. Last year, the Sylvia Rivera Food Pantry served over 170,000 pounds of food and offered thousands of referrals to a growing population of low-income New Yorkers, including people living with HIV/AIDS and LGBTQI runaway and homeless youth. The food pantry opened its doors in 1985, as City residents battled rising unemployment and the darkest days of the AIDS crisis. The pantry offered snack bags of ready-to-eat food to needy New Yorkers, regardless of family size, income or immigration status. In 1990, the pantry responded to the needs of the HIV community by opening one of the only emergency food programs in New York City designed to meet the unique nutritional requirements of people living with HIV/AIDS. In mid-1990, we began a weekly grocery distribution, open to all. Guided by the values of Sylvia Rivera, former director of the food pantry and an outspoken transgender activist who believed that all people should be encouraged to thrive in an environment of mutual respect, the Sylvia Rivera Food Pantry has always been committed to serving those who may not be welcomed at other emergency food programs. This dedication has helped thousands of LGBTQI and HIV people stay fed and healthy, and today the Sylvia Rivera Food Pantry is proud to welcome a growing immigrant population. In fiscal year 2012, The Sylvia Rivera Food Pantry will: •Offer services in Spanish, Mandarin and English to over 10,000 pantry guests; •Refer hundreds of HIV pantry guests to appropriate medical and housing services while providing them with high-protein, nutrient-rich groceries; •Provide over 80 meals a day, 365 days a year, to MCCNY Homeless Youth Services: Sylvia's Place, MCCNY Charities' crisis shelter for LGBTQI runaway and homeless youth.

It is more cost effective than full-blown case management, which many clients are not eligible for and is not readily available at the point of crisis. Case workers connect clients to benefits/entitlements, financial assistance, emergency food vouchers and packages, clothing, legal assistance, employment assistance, etc. Last year we provided 49,705 units of crisis intervention and case services, 235,324 units of information and referral, 19,537 people enrolled Child Health Plus/Family Health Plus and 9,231 people enrolled in Food Stamps. This grant will pay for staff that will help 200 individuals directly and leverage additional private and philanthropic funds that will go directly to the clients. Without this staff we cannot get the clients this leveraged funding. Due to the economic crisis, a new population of individuals has surfaced that are accessing government benefits and entitlements for the first time. Having never needed to utilize these services before, this population does not know how to navigate the system and are often unaware that they may be eligible for such benefits. For those individuals who have difficulty navigating the system due to language barriers, our culturally sensitive staff will assist them with the application in their native language. Our ability to keep workers trained and current on benefits is essential to the success of our program and our clients. In order to both educate and enroll potentially eligible individuals in benefits and entitlements programs, Met Council needs additional staff members to perform community outreach and education as well as enrollment.

Local		Recchia	Metropolitan New York Coordinating Council on Jewish Poverty, Inc.	13-2738818	*	$20,000	DYCD	Met Council's Career Services Department provides critical services that meet community needs that sharply rose as a result of the recession. In addition to the traditionally low-income population that this program has always served, Met Council has had an influx of previously middle-class individuals who were laid-off and are unable to find work in their chosen professions. This new population, combined with increasing numbers of low-income individuals requesting services, has put a burden on Met Council's Career Services Department. The culturally sensitive Career Services staff offers help with resume and interview preparation, career counseling, testing, job search strategies, vocational training, short and long-term career planning and job placement to clients including new immigrants, older workers, dislocated workers, and women with a history of domestic violence. We have an outstanding placement and retention record. Due to the special needs of these groups and their reliance on Met Council's wide range of culturally competent, community-based services, these individuals would be unlikely to access and benefit from such services elsewhere. Career counselors provide both practical and emotional support. Serving as case managers to address each client's unique career-related needs, counselors bridge the gap between social work, and the worlds of work and education, helping individuals and families in crisis become self-sufficient and improve their quality of life. With increased funding for staff and training, we would be able to meet the growing demand for these services. Last year we served 1,050 individuals.

Local		Recchia	Metropolitan New York Coordinating Council on Jewish Poverty, Inc.	13-2738818	*	$25,000	DYCD	Met Council along with service sites under our network of 25 local Jewish Community Councils provide case assistance services and information and referral (also knows as the Extended Services Program) to individuals and families in need throughout New York City. It is more cost effective than full-blown case management, which many clients are not eligible for and is not readily available at the point of crisis. Case workers connect clients to benefits/entitlements, financial assistance, emergency food vouchers and packages, clothing, legal assistance, employment assistance, etc. Last year we provided 49,705 units of crisis intervention and case services, 235,324 units of information and referral, 19,537 people enrolled Child Health Plus/Family Health Plus and 9,231 people enrolled in Food Stamps. This grant will pay for staff that will help 400 individuals directly and leverage additional private and philanthropic funds that will go directly to the clients. Without this staff we cannot get the clients this leveraged funding. Due to the economic crisis, a new population of individuals has surfaced that are accessing government benefits and entitlements for the first time. Having never needed to utilize these services before, this population does not know how to navigate the system and are often unaware that they may be eligible for such benefits. For those individuals who have difficulty navigating the system due to language barriers, our culturally sensitive staff will assist them with the application in their native language. Our ability to keep workers trained and current on benefits is essential to the success of our program and our clients. In order to both educate and enroll potentially eligible individuals in benefits and entitlements programs, Met Council needs additional staff members to perform community outreach and education as well as enrollment.

First, we are requesting 3000 to use to support our basketball team, broken down as follows: 1000 for 20 warm-ups; 1000 for uniforms (jerseys and shorts); 500 for travel to offsite games, victory celebrations for student-athletes whose participation in sports translates into greater success in the classroom and the end-of-year All Star Ceremony; and, 500 for equipment, including: basketballs, practice jerseys and pads. Secondly, we are requesting an additional 3000 to fund the purchase of additional bilingual and Spanish-language classroom library books to support our large newcomer English Language Learner (ELL) population. Our school is currently 40 ELL and we have over 95 newcomer ELLs (currently in their 1st-3rd year of service). Finally, we are requesting 6000 for the purchase of instructional supplies to support classroom instruction across the curriculum. In Science particularly, we are seeking materials to enable us to offer richer hands-on lab experiences to our students, including: graduated cylinders, beakers, test tubes, 1-inch grid chart paper, composition notebooks (line and grid). For our newcomer ELLs in particular, we would like to use a portion of this funding toward the purchase of Toobaloo, also known as phonics phones, which are small plastic devices which allow students to hear themselves as they read and greatly accelerate students development of reading fluency and comprehension. More generally, we also would like to use a portion of this funding toward supplies to maintain our technology infrastructure, including: replacement lightbulbs for our SmartBoards and markers (thin and thick-point) and extension cords.

Local		Dickens	Museum for African Art	13-3137461	*	$10,000	DCA	The Museum for African Art is dedicated to increasing public understanding and appreciation of the arts, cultures, and people of Africa and its Diaspora. Since its founding in 1984, the Museum has organized and toured over 60 major exhibitions, researched and published numerous exhibition catalogues, and presented public and educational programs for all age groups. The Museum's exhibitions have toured to over 130 major museums around the world; and are widely recognized for presenting new perspectives on familiar areas of African art, as well as for introducing subjects and artists that are less well-known. The Museum has been organizing education and public programs for its entire 26 year history. Its main program places teaching artists in residencies in high schools and community groups in Harlem, where they organize and lead after-school programs focusing on African dance, music and crafts. Every summer the Museum also organizes African music, dance and crafts workshops for the general public at parks and festivals like the Bronx Zoo, Central Park and the Harlem Children's Festival. In the 2009-2010 school year nearly 42,000 children, youth and adults participated in the Museum for African Art's education and public programs in schools and parks throughout New York City and the Museum's temporary site in Queens. In 2011, the Museum for African Art will open its new expanded and permanent facilities, including a 245-seat theater that will feature African and Diasporic music, film, theater, dance, and lectures. Designed by the celebrated architect Robert A.M. Stern, the Museum for African Art's new home will be located at the corner of Fifth Avenue and East 110th Street, in New York City. It will be the first addition to Manhattans legendary Museum Mile since the 1959 opening of the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, and will extend this cultural attraction well into historical Harlem.

Local		Recchia	Museum of Contemporary African Diasporian Arts	11-3526774		$3,000	DCA	The Museum of Contemporary African Diasporian Arts (MoCADA) is Brooklyn, New York's first and only museum with a focus on the art, culture and history of African Americans and the African Diaspora at large. From its inception in December 1999, MoCADA has remained committed to fostering a greater awareness of the art and culture of the African Diaspora as it relates to contemporary social, political and economic issues through innovative exhibitions, public programs, community outreach initiatives and educational interactive tours. MoCADA is requesting funding to support its African Diaspora Educational Arts Project. This project is a critical part of the museum's programming and encompasses a wide sphere of activities that foster participation and interest in the arts among the youth of Brooklyn. The Artists-In-Schools program sends professional practicing artists of African Descent into elementary, middle and high schools in Bedford Stuyvesant, Clinton Hill, East New York, and Fort Greene. These teaching artists work directly in the classrooms, placing art materials in the hands of students and helping them understand how art can be used as a vehicle for transformation. The artists, many of whom have exhibited at MoCADA, are experienced arts educators who use their own skills in teaching and art-making to collaboratively create lesson plans and programming that will suit classroom curricula and provide a creative and innovative approach to learning. This year, MoCADA is working with six schools in Brooklyn to arrange artist residencies focused on the arts and cultures of the African Diaspora. Students at the schools will learn art-making and art history from these professional artists, visit studios, and finally curate their own exhibition, to be shown at MoCADA.

Local		Comrie	Neighborhood Housing Services of Jamaica, Inc.	23-7398279	*	$20,000	HPD	The purpose of the program for which funding is requested: Neighborhood Housing Services of Jamaica is requesting funding for its Financial Coaching Program to strengthen and support NHSI's Homeownership Services. In today's economic environment, the request for our financial education programs and services has increased. Renters, homeowners and potential homebuyers face many challenges and NHSJ has shaped its programs and services to address the current economic conditions. NHSJ takes a holistic approach to assisting residents of the communities we serve. These include the low-to-moderate income families in need of services to address issues with their credit report, homeownership and home retention. After NHSI's initial assessment of our customers, it was quickly realized that most do not qualify for a mortgage, grant, or other programs due to unfortunate financial circumstances within their households. These same residents expressed their heightened anxiety when dealing with financial issues. Many residents lack financial knowledge on basic budgeting and personal financial management, which cripple an individual's financial standing. Financial Coaching endeavors to help a client improve his or her behavior in order to achieve self-defined goals. Key elements of coaching include: (1) a focus on long-term outcomes; (2) an ongoing, systematic, collaborative process for assisting clients to change behaviors; (3) Support to practice new behaviors; and (4) building skills and teaching content based on the client's unique needs and goals. Through financial coaching, NHSI can facilitate the financial empowerment of our customers, provide financial stability, and make tools available to our clients that will enable them to plan for immediate and future circumstances. Overall, this program aims to provide a nurturing one-on-one environment that is resource-rich which will support those seeking sound financial guidance.
Local		Gennaro	Neighborhood Housing Services of Jamaica, Inc.	23-7398279	*	$7,500	HPD	Neighborhood Housing Services of Jamaica is requesting funding for its Tenant Counseling Program. Neighborhood Housing Services of Jamaica provides tenant counseling services in an attempt to stem the tide of homelessness and assist displaced clients with transition to stable housing. One of the resources available to clients is the NY Times Neediest Funds. The Fund provides grants to clients for security deposits, initial rental payments and moving expenses. NHSJ also partners with Queens Community House to assist clients with finding rental housing. NHSJ is trying to expand Tenant Counseling because of the increased need for rental housing due to the large numbers of foreclosures in the county of Queens.

Local		Wills	Neighborhood Housing Services of Jamaica, Inc.	23-7398279	*	$10,000	HPD	Neighborhood Housing Services of Jamaica is requesting funding for the administration of its Senior Rehab Program. NHSJ provides emergency home repair grants to owner occupants sixty years of age and over in the borough of Queens. The goal is to preserve decent homes and a suitable living environment. The NHSJ Senior Rehab Program helps more seniors in southeast Queens remain in the homes and communities they love. Senior homeowners in southeast Queens face three major threats to their status as homeowners. The first is the issue of cost burden. Seniors on fixed incomes have little disposable income for emergency repairs. The second issue is the age of the housing stock in Queens. The age of the housing stock can create dangerous conditions for many seniors. Many homes have serious housing code violations. As senior incomes remain fixed, the value of their homes may decline with age, and the need for emergency repairs increase. A third challenge facing senior homeowners in Queens is the prevalence of predatory lending. Predatory lending often strikes seniors in need of financing for emergency repairs. Recipients of the emergency home repair grants will avoid the need for financing and will have access to trustworthy contractors. Emergency home repairs include: repairs to major systems such as electrical and plumbing; replacement of windows/doors; and repair to hand railings and steps. More complex emergency repairs involving boilers, roofs, and water mains also will be considered, but most homeowners require supplemental financing for this type of work. NHSJ assists the clients with seeking supplemental financing. The removal of hazardous substances is also an eligible emergency repair. NHSJ currently provides hazardous substance inspections and remediation. The homes are tested for lead, mold, asbestos, and other hazardous substances. NHSJ also assess weatherization needs and recommends modifications that will lower the cost of heating and cooling.

Local		Levin	Neighbors Allied for Good Growth	11-3470943		$4,000	DYCD	Neighbors Allied for Good Growth (NAG) has set a broad organizing agenda through a participatory Town Hall process resulting in projects promoting 1) affordable housing and community character, 2) more parks, 3) better transportation options and 4) improved quality-of-life. On the 1st Tuesday of each month NAG holds a public action meeting that brings together activists, local leaders, business owners and residents to learn more about the neighborhood, share experiences, and address NAG's organizing agenda together. Last year issues included modifying the Domino Sugar rezoning, and initiating a shop local campaign. Each year, NAG sponsors an all-day affordable housing forum that provides residents with information on a broad range of tenant's rights issues such as how to form a tenant association and stabilized housing rental overcharges. The forum also creates a dialogue with elected officials, gives voice to tenants facing eviction, and inspires people to get involved. NAG also sponsors Williamsburg Walks 2011, which is an experimental and temporary pedestrian street closure of a central commercial strip creating a unique public space that promotes local merchants and arts organizations. The event is done in partnership with the DOT Sustainable Streets program. NAG also is advocating for the creation of a new 4-acre waterfront park on a City-owned site located on the East River and extending under the Williamsburg Bridge because the predominately Latino neighborhood has limited access to its waterfront. This effort will include working with elected officials and advocating for the project at City agencies. The Brooklyn Loft Laws recent passage has provided NAG the opportunity to create safe and stabilized live/work spaces for 100's of long time residents in the District. NAG will also continue to provide educational and direct assistance to low and-moderate income families threatened with displacement.

As NYC's first and only professional theater dedicated to young people and families, The New Victory is positioned to engage youth throughout all stages of development with varying levels of exposure to the performing arts. Since 1995, the Education Program has partnered with over 425 schools and after-schools and served 335,000 young people by presenting the very best in international theater, dance, music, puppetry, new vaudeville and circus arts. In FY 2012, the New Victory Education Program expects to partner with approx. 160 schools and after-school programs to serve a projected 33,000 students and teachers at practically no cost to the schools. This School Partnership enrollment will reflect a minimum of 95 NYC public schools; After-Schools will include 15-20 NYC public schools and after-schools. The Education Program will provide: 84 weekday School Time and 7 After-School Performances of 12 productions for only 2 per student; 850 FREE pre/post-show In-Classroom Workshops taught by over 40 professional Teaching Artists; NEW VICTORY® SCHOOL TOOL™ resource guides for classroom learning, now easily accessible online; sign-interpreted education shows for the deaf and hearing-impaired; and professional training for educators. This comprehensive program aligns with the NYCDOE's Blueprint for Teaching and Learning in the Arts. Through our newest initiative, Bring Your Family to the New Vic, over 120 families with children in Title I Partner Schools will be invited to attend public performances for only 5 (the host child attends for free). Pre-show receptions and workshops enrich the experience, which is a first-time event for many participants. Promotional materials are available in English, Arabic, Chinese, Spanish, Russian and Urdu to reduce language barriers.

Local		Comrie	New Chapter Academy f/k/a Holy Trinity Community School	11-1770092	*	$3,500	DYCD	There is a tremendous need for private schools and smaller academic settings to ensure that children in under-served and low-income communities are receiving a quality education and will be able to compete with other academic institutions. There are a great number of children who are forced to attend private schools because they reside in substandard school districts that have many second-rate elementary schools designated as "Schools In Need Of Improvement". These school districts also have a disproportionately high rate of teen pregnancy, drop-outs, drug and alcohol involvement, sexually transmitted diseases and crime related violence. New Chapter Academy (NCA) is an elementary and junior high school that strives to fill this need. NCA offers an intensive educational initiative using effective techniques and strategies to educate children in smaller classroom settings with positive alternatives and high-yield, constructive learning opportunities. NCA utilizes various educational instruments such as Reading First to enhance reading, math and science skills. These techniques, along with non-traditional techniques such as athletics and the arts are carried into our afterschool/summer program. NCA strives to address the emotional, physical and educational needs of the youth and families within the community. NCA strives to educate and nurture the whole child, using remedial instruction, homework help, challenging work for gifted students, tutoring, test preparation, athletics (basketball and track), dance, drama, music, and visual arts, as well as a teen initiative and a safe place for latch-key children to enrich themselves. NCA afterschool/summer program participants are tested to determine their dominate area of "giftedness" and then they are guided toward an appropriate "major" program. The participants also rotate through each of the other areas to obtain a well-rounded experience.

Local		Dromm	New Life Community Development Corporation	11-3204890	*	$3,500	DYCD	The funds will support our expanding youth development programming, which is a great need in CB4. The lack of youth programming and youth facilities was confirmed in a recent listening campaign launched by NLDC. Our youth development programming has started 3 new initiatives in addition to our current programs- Mentoring, Storytime, and Young Governors. These are the programs we hope to support through this funding. Our mentoring program pairs volunteer mentors with local youth to provide a supportive adult relationship outside the home. This has shown to positively impact youth development. Mentors work with children ages 8-13, assisting the youth through tutoring and relationship building. We have partnered with the Sunnyside Community Services Beacon program at IS.5 to run this program. Our literacy program is called Storytime. This was started as a way to engage the children that come with their parents for our Food and Clothing pantry. The goal is to cultivate a love for learning and a love for books from a very young age. Storytime reaches children from age 3-10. We have volunteers who will be reading books with these children every Saturday. We are also starting a new program, called Young Governors. Young Governors is a youth organizing program that hires and trains community teens to address issues in their community. The program will work with teens to increase their awareness of local and global issues and develop their skills to turn knowledge into action. In turn, these Community Organizers will help their peers develop awareness and promote activism around identified issues.

To this end, we founded the yearly Celebrate Diversity Celebrate You Festival in 2010. This festival brings out all Asian, African, European, North and South American immigrants from their respective cultural enclaves for the purpose of showcasing and educating people about their respective culture. This we do in order to break down the negative stereotypes that fuels hate crimes. In addition, immigrants will receive information from many other social agencies that can save their life, and/or make it easier to understand and make positive contributions to the society. We will also showcase recorded interviews of children who have been bullied in school because they speak, or dress differently in order to raise awareness of the effects of racial discrimination and violence on our children. Each community will display different ethnic products from their country of origin, musicians and dancers will display the dances and music of different countries, while different government and community leaders will deliver messages about peace and unity, and also give vital immigration information to all. Information about preventing or reporting crimes are delivered by such organizations as the NYPD; USCIS delivers information about avoiding scammers who promise to deliver visas, nonprofit organizations who deliver services to immigrants can more easily reach their target audience at this festival.

The workshop entails the Stewards of Children Prevention Training, the only third party evaluated training in the United States that has been proven to work (won the McGruff Crime Prevention Award in 2007). This three hour training teaches adults 7 Steps to protect children from sex offenders and potential perpetrators. It also teaches them how to choose child services that meet safety standards. This program uniquely empowers parents and reduces fears about the dangers in the community. Research and evaluation of the training has shown that for every adult trained, upwards of 10 children in the surrounding community are safer. By training 100 adults in your community, a minimum 1000 children will be safer. With nearly 7000 registered sex offenders living in the five boroughs, we must take every step possible to empowering responsible adults because child protection is our job.

Local		Williams	New York City ACT-SO, Inc.	20-2538102	*	$3,500	DYCD	ACT-SO is an after-school enrichment program designed to engage underserved minority African American and Latino high school students in the rewards of academic pursuits in the Arts, Humanities and Sciences. Through a variety of activities, incentives and rewards, students are supported by coaches and mentors in the development of projects for competition in any of 26 categories. In 1977, award winning journalist, historian and civil rights activist Vernon Jarrett (1918-2004), conceptualized an "Olympics of the Mind" competition with much of the same fanfare as an athletic or beauty contest. The program of workshops, coaching and competition was adopted by the NAACP as a national program. Today, there are approximately 350 local programs across the country with 1,200 students competing each year. The New York City ACT-SO began in 1987. The Mission of New York City ACT-SO is to end the vicious cycle of low expectations and low scholastic achievement that plagues minority communities throughout the city. Our goal is to encourage earnest effort so students gain the confidence and skills they will need to thrive as adults. The New York City ACT-SO is the most ambitious program in the country. It offers a year long, after school program that includes weekly coaching workshops. Every coach is accomplished in her/his field and works to nurture and support students to enhance their knowledge and skills in the selected category. The year culminates in a local competition - "Olympics of the Mind" and an awards ceremony. In addition to the weekly coaching workshops, students are invited to go on bus trips to sites of interest outside of New York City and within the City to museums, stage performances and specialized libraries. We have also invited professionals to conduct workshops in job preparation and opportunities for scholarship for travel overseas and college. This is the only enrichment program in New York City which offers workshops in 26 academic subjects.

NYCCAH is already pre-qualified to receive Council funding. This funding will support NYCCAH – one of the City's leading anti-hunger nonprofit organizations – in our innovative Beyond the Soup Kitchen Initiative which addresses the root causes of hunger and poverty by providing technical assistance, benefits outreach, advocacy and communications assistance, and leadership development to the over 1,100 soup kitchens and food pantries in our City –including a large number in your District – to benefit the over 1.4 million New Yorkers who depend on them for food. We need this help because other sources of funding are decreasing precisely as need for our services is increasing. In NYCCAH's 2010 Annual Hunger Survey entitled Hungry New Yorkers: Barely Hanging On, emergency food providers reported serving nearly 28 percent more people in 2010, a 7 percent increase from 2009. As a result of the influx of people needing emergency food, 51 percent of emergency food agencies reported that they did not have enough food to fulfill demand. We are certain you support our belief that it is totally unacceptable for more than half of the city's pantries and kitchens to lack enough food to meet the growing demand. In response to these challenges, NYCCAH is requesting that you: Provide 5000 of member item funding for technical assistance for pantry and kitchen staff in your District. NYLPI's Pro Bono Clearinghouse connects New York City's best legal talent with its most effective non-profits working on behalf of underserved communities across the City. NYLPI's member law firms and corporate legal departments volunteer countless hours to pro bono projects that assist organizations, strengthen communities, and tackle systemic problems. NYLPI's Health Justice Program works in partnership with communities of color and immigrant communities to overcome systemic barriers to quality health care through community organizing, litigation, and legislative and administrative advocacy. Current campaigns include ensuring language assistance in pharmacy and health care settings, ensuring that New Yorkers with public health insurance are not segregated into inferior health care clinics, and providing educational workshops on patients' rights. The Disability Law Center (DLC) protects and promotes the civil rights of individuals with disabilities, helping to ensure that all individuals with disabilities are given the opportunity to live in the most integrated community settings possible with equal access to education, health care, housing, employment, public transportation, voting, and police protection. The DLC engages in know-your-rights trainings, community organizing, litigation, and policy advocacy. The Environmental Justice Program's work is based on the premise that the right to live in a clean and healthy environment is a most basic civil right. It works in partnership with low-income communities of color to reduce their disproportionate exposure to environmental harms and promote health and sustainability. Current campaigns address the siting of schools on contaminated property, the overconcentration of waste transfer stations in communities of color, and the presence of toxic PCBs in New York City schools.

Tenants Neighbors is fighting back by building a strong grassroots movement of tenants who are educated, empowered, and actively working to preserve our affordable housing. Our core program is organizing tenants who live in at-risk project-based Section 8, Mitchell-Lama, and rent regulated housing, helping them develop and implement campaigns to preserve their building as quality affordable housing for the long term. We also help tenants organize campaigns around problems in their buildings, such as deteriorating conditions, harassment by the landlord, or fraudulent rent increases. In the buildings we work with, we help tenants build tenant associations, develop bylaws, and elect tenant association leaders. We also provide ongoing leadership development and technical assistance to tenant association leaders, and we involve them in broader neighborhood-wide and city-wide campaigns to address the underlying causes of loss of affordability. In the last several years, a primary focus has been on assisting tenants in overleveraged “predatory equity” buildings where there is a high risk of landlords trying to displace low and moderate income tenants and raise rents to unaffordable levels, and/or allowing conditions to deteriorate. We currently coordinate a city-wide Predatory Equity Working Group of tenant leaders from overleveraged buildings and organizers from the community based organizations with which they are working, as well as several coalitions of tenants who share the same predatory equity landlord. We are working with these coalitions on campaigns to make sure the buildings are not lost as affordable housing. We also mobilize tenants to testify at the annual Rent Guidelines Board hearings.

We provide the tools that help communities build better parks for better neighborhoods. New Yorkers for Parks (NY4P) achieves its purpose through an integrated framework of advocacy, research and a coalition of parks, open space, recreation, advocacy and civic organizations. NY4P's advocacy promotes transparency and public participation in parks policy decisions. We advocate for equitable resources for New York City's neighborhood parks, testify frequently at public hearings related to parks and open space, and meet regularly with the members of the City Council Parks Committee. In addition, NY4P opposes parkland alienation, the taking of public municipal parks for private uses. Supported by a volunteer legal team, NY4P pushes for legislation at the state level that will protect communities from the negative impact of alienation and for mitigation when alienation does occur. NY4P conducts research and issues reports and recommendations on critical issues related to parks development, management and sustainability. Our signature projects include the City Council District Profiles, which document parks and open space in all 51 City Council districts, and the Report Card on Parks project, an independent assessment of park and open space conditions. In addition, because the City has no master plan for the improvement and expansion of parks, NY4P created the Open Space Index, a set of 15 "targets" for open space, based on extensive research and best practices. NY4P maintains constructive relationships with a coalition of nearly 300 neighborhood parks groups and conservancies. We organize an annual Parks Advocacy Day for this coalition to meet with elected officials, network with each other, and attend seminars on timely parks issues. Local		Rose	Noble Maritime Collection, The	13-3351673		$5,000	DCA	The Noble Maritime Collection seeks funds to develop and present the exhibition, Treasures From the Sailors Snug Harbor Collection, a presentation of oil paintings, antique ship models, original furnishings, and marine artifacts from the original Sailors' Snug Harbor retirement home, established by Captain Robert Richard Randall in 1801. They have never been exhibited publicly before, and the items are of significant historical value. In December, 2009 the Trustees of Sailors Snug Harbor designated the Noble Maritime Collection as the stewards of its prestigious collection. All of the items were part of the furnishings of Sailors' Snug Harbor, and many were gifts to the retirement home by prominent members of the community. Sailors' Snug Harbor is the first charitable institution of its kind established in this country, and the collection reflects what life was like for residents while the home flourished from 1831, when the first building opened, until 2009, when the home closed. The return of the collection to Staten Island is of signal importance to the Staten Island community, which remembers Sailors Snug Harbor with respect, admiration, and affection.

Local		Vann	Noel Pointer Foundation, Inc., The	11-3271472		$5,000	DCA	The Noel Pointer Foundation was established in 1995 as a not-for-profit corporation to create, manage, and grow string music programs throughout the New York Metropolitan area. Our mission is to enrich our childrens musical, cultural, academic and personal experience, giving them a positive sense of who they are and what they can become. The Noel Pointer Foundations In-School Strings Music Program provide quality music education using violin, viola, cello and classical guitar for NYC public school students. Since the inception of our string programs in 1995, we have served over 10,000 school children from 5-18 years of age. We are currently in 26 NYC public schools. Over 75 of NPFs string students have used their skills to enter specialized schools and higher education (many with music scholarships to attend school). NPFs In-Foundation String Programs: Saturday Strings and Summer Strings enable students (age 5-18) to take music classes and hone their skills in our foundation located in Bed-Stuy. Students learn string technique, music history and theory, site reading, solfège, ear-training, and we assist students in preparation for audition into Juilliard, Manhattan School of Music, LaGuardia, and college music programs such as Johns Hopkins Peabody Institute, Harvard, Brandeis and etc. Over 80 of our students attend college. NPF also has Pre-Orchestral and Orchestral programs where students perform all over New York City. NPFs other initiatives include workshops for parents to help their children succeed in the string program and other academic endeavors; assisting families in navigating the often difficult educational system; and free college advisory assistance, and act as intermediary between the college and student. Past Councilmember sponsored programs have been incredibly successful! NPFs In-Foundation strings NPF has a great relationship between the schools, students, parents and community.

The overall goal of the Uptown Arts Stroll is to stimulate cultural tourism, and encourage local residents as well as visitors from other parts of the city to view, appreciate and support the arts in Washington Heights and Inwood. The Uptown Arts Stroll will showcase the arts, artists and rich cultural venues within Washington Heights and Inwood in Upper Manhattan through a series of cultural activities to be carried out between June 1st and June 25th, 2012. NoMAA will coordinate and promote all of the events taking place during the month and will also organize specific activities such as art exhibitions, arts panels and lectures, film presentations, and literary events. An emphasis of the Arts Stroll will be producing and promoting events and performances in parks and other public and private spaces that are totally free and open to the public. The Stroll will incorporate artists; venues and history to present cultural pieces that reflect and celebrate the landscape of Northern Manhattan. We have engaged the participation of numerous organizations that will partner with NoMAA and community artists to produce and present exciting events such as the Hispanic Society, MooseHall Theatre Company and many others. We will once again partner with the Parks Department Arts, Culture and Fun Series and other local institutions to present the works of our local artists and arts organizations. Grant funds will be used to create and disseminate outreach materials to inform the public citywide about the 2012 Uptown Arts Stroll and the events that will be taking place including 25,000 copies of program with calendar of events to be included as a newspaper insert and for distribution; 5,000 posters, 5,000 postcards and a digital version of program and postcard to distribute online.

The objective of the program is to motivate participants to learn English, obtain their citizenship (if they don't have it already), and enhance their computer skills, while providing the training and support needed to enter the job market, specifically the Childcare Provider Training. NMCEd's Job Readiness program consists of ESL, computer, GED and Civic course. The ESL, GED, and Civic courses average 30 students while computers will average 12 (per lab computer availability-only 14 in the lab). All students who complete the course will be given a certificate of achievement and will move along to the next level and onto the training programs available at NMCEd or at a referred agency. NMCEd's will offer the Childcare Provider training where the first 15 hour of training will be health and safety. This license allows them to open their daycare in their home or work full time as a licensed provider. With this funding we will extend the program to include the next 15 hours (development) required of training to the providers. With this funding, two classes will be offered for the development training along with the job readiness courses already provided (ESL, GED, and Civic). NMCEd's goal is to certify at least 24 participants for the health and safety and development courses. These students will be part of the ESL, Civic, and childcare courses, graduating from all three.

The Mobile Mental Health Team is valuable in helping elderly, fragile clients remain in their homes, not be placed in a nursing home thus reducing Medicaid and Medicare outlays. Although the vast majority of our clients are senior citizens, we have a significant amount of adult psychiatrically disabled clients with varied diagnoses. Our therapists provide individual weekly psychotherapy and if necessary case management. We also have two part-time home visiting psychiatrists who see clients for psychiatric assessments and medication management. These patients are seen on a monthly basis. The neighborhoods we currently serve include Sheepshead Bay, Canarsie, Georgetown, Mill Basin, Madison, Marine Park and Manhattan Beach. Our program receives referrals from a variety of sources, as a result of continuous outreach. Patients are self referred or referred by a friend or by family members, various community based agencies, including homecare agencies, visiting nurses, discharge planners and senior centers.

Families will be selected based on their having a child with an ASD, their need for at-home training, and their willingness to actively participate in the program. Professionals in the field will be hired to be the hands-on trainers. The program will be coordinated by a professional with extensive experience in the field of Autism. Armed with visual materials, recreational activities, and relevant information about the families, the trainers will enter the homes. The behavior trainers will provide sessions at home, instructing children, parents, res hab workers and siblings in the implementation of structured schedules, as well as well-planned and executed recreational activities. Looking at the family unit as a whole trainers will work within the families natural! environments, adapting activities to meet the needs of the entire family. Siblings will be included in the implementation of the program, allowing their participation as well as empowering them with tools to successfully interact with their sibling with an ASD. The goal of the program is to provide parents, siblings and caregivers with tools to effectively interact, communicate with as well as assist the individual with an ASD to function effectively within their family unit. Educating those who work and live with the child with ASD assists them in developing and maintaining successful relationships which include meaningful interactions. Feedback from parents and families who have participated in the program in the past has been overwhelmingly positive, with parents and caregivers carrying the programs they've been taught beyond the duration of the program. Ohel's intensive work with families with an Autistic child has been an extremely well regarded and much requested service.

Since January 2011, we have not been able to offer this since the pool heater broke down and must be replaced. The unavailability of this Program Component has had a severe negative effect on our families as they cannot receive the respite services they so desperately need and on our consumers as their fitness needs are not being met. In addition, this has affected the Staten Island community as a few organizations have been renting pool time at the ICC. Our funding request is for a replacement pool heater for which we have received an estimate of 9,780.

Local		Williams	Open Space Institute doing business for Brooklyn Food Coalition	52-1053406	*	$3,500	DYCD	Brooklyn Food Coalition (BFC) is a grassroots organizing vehicle aiming to get healthy food to all our people. We work to change the food system through neighborhood and borough-wide action. Food is a powerful issue personally and as a community organizer. We offer community development through educational and volunteer participation programs:1) educational and organizing support for public school parents advocating for improved school food, school gardens, and food in the curriculum; 2) information and volunteer coordination for farmers markets, community gardens and urban farmers, food coops and community supported agriculture; 3) educational programs on healthy food access, nutrition, and environmental improvements created by better food production and distribution methods. BFC offers accessible educational experiences for residents to learn about how the present food system harms the health of our families and our planet and how we can create change. We connect neighborhood residents to healthy, fresh access and nutritional information. BFC has created a dynamic Brooklyn School Food Network with over 300 participants in 20 Brooklyn schools. We work with parents, teachers, administrators, students and residents through parent empowerment workshops, sharing information about how school food decisions are made, what innovations parents are creating at various schools in Brooklyn, and helping parents learn from each other. We seek results for kids right now, e.g., more salad bars, fruits and veggies, school gardens, water jets, while we build a network of parents the push for system changes, e.g., more local procurement of city-prepared meals, FoodWorks, Child Nutrition Re-Authorization, US Farm Bill. We connect parents with the NYC DOE Office of SchoolFood both to encourage their best practices and to help parents navigate the system.

Local		Jackson	Outstanding Renewal Enterprises, Inc.	13-3320984		$2,600	DSNY	The Lower East Side Ecology Center will be able to bring electronic waste ('e-waste') recycling events to the five boroughs and will work with the Council Members to bring events specifically to their districts. Funding from City Council Members will allow the Ecology Center to work with communities in their districts and educate their constituents about the issue of e-waste, which will build awareness about the events and upcoming changes to the way that e-waste is handled in New York City. The Ecology Center offers the most prominent e-waste recycling program in New York City and over the last eight years, the program has kept almost two million pounds of e-waste out of landfills and has served tens of thousands of New Yorkers. One of the challenges of the program is finding the resources to be able to reach out to diverse communities in NYC and educate the public about electronics waste recycling. As new legislation takes effect that will make e-waste recycling easier and eventually mandatory, it is important that we reach out now to ensure that these programs are maximally beneficial to the environment and local communities.
Local		Lander	Outstanding Renewal Enterprises, Inc.	13-3320984		$3,434	DSNY	The Lower East Side Ecology Center is in the process of developing a drop-off facility for electronic waste ('e-waste') that will function as a place where people can bring their unwanted electronics for responsible recycling and where viable equipment can be refurbished. The refurbished materials will be either donated to local non-profits or sold at below-market prices to local residents. Funding from City Council Members will help support this program in its first year of implementation and will allow the Ecology Center to bring a resource that has been in demand by NYC residents to south Brooklyn. The Ecology Center has been offering e-waste recycling events since 2003 and the program has grown to collect more than 100 tons of materials annually. At each event and in the time between events, residents ask if there is a location that they can bring their unwanted electronics on a regular basis. Establishing a drop-off center will help meet the needs of the public and also create a space where materials that are dropped off can be evaluated for reuse. The materials that cannot be reused will be sent to a recycler to be broken down into their components in an environmentally responsible way. Materials that can be reused will be made available for donation or purchase at affordable prices to help bridge the digital divide in NYC. We envision that this program will also have a training component to teach youth to fix computers and other electronics in the second year of operation.

Local		Rodriguez	People's Theatre Project, Inc.	26-4705999	*	$8,000	DCA	Peoples Theatre Project is seeking funding for its three ongoing pay-what-you-can theatre programs which serve the children, youth and adults in the under-served Washington Heights and Inwood neighborhoods. Each of the programs have their own unique structure, however they all share the same goals: to open dialogue on social issues relevant to the community, to share local stories of struggle and triumph, and to empower our neighbors to become artists and activists in their own lives and the life of their community. The three programs for consideration: VIVE TU VIDA/LIVE YOUR LIFE- In Partnership with Columbia-Presbyterian Hospital's CHALK (Choosing Healthy Active Lifestyles for Kids) program, children explore theatre and life skills and create their own theatre piece about living a healthy life, which they will perform for friends and family the last day of the program. This program will be taught by professional actors and teaching artists and will encompass acting, movement, storytelling, writing and improvisation. VOICES/VOCES- In partnership with Seven Stories Institute and the YMYWHA of Washington Heights and Inwood, this theatre/writing program for local teens uses Howard Zinn's book Young People's History of the United States and the participants' own personal history as inspiration for a theatrical collage of music, words and movement and culminates in 3 public performances, a printed anthology, and an audio recording of the participants' work. ACTION THEATRE/TEATRO ACCION- In partnership with Theatre of the Oppressed NYC, this ensemble of English and Spanish speaking community members work together to create original plays based on the performers' true stories. Rehearsals help us observe and understand our current reality and transform it in a safe and playful environment. We then put this reality on stage, with sets, costumes and music and perform it for the community in an interactive forum in Northern Manhattan and beyond.

Local		Vacca	Per Scholas, Inc.	04-3252955		$10,000	DYCD	Per Scholas: Computer Recycling Program With advancement in technology, there has been an increase in adoption and decrease in lifetime of IT products. In a 2006 report, the International Association of Electronics Recyclers projected that with the current growth and obsolescence rates of consumer electronics, an average of approximately 400 million units are discarded a year. It was projected that by 2010, only 18 of all units discarded would be recycled or repurposed. With electronic waste largely consisting of metals, plastics, screens, printed circuit boards and others, IT products have an adverse impact on the environment if not disposed of properly. By refurbishing and expanding the life of computers, Per Scholas works to redirect computer units into households that would otherwise end up in landfills, while working with partners to dispose of the truly end-of-life equipment in an environmentally safe manner.

Local		Levin	Pesach Tikvah/Hope Development Inc.	11-2642641	*	$5,000	DOHMH	Pesach Tikvah(PT) is seeking funding for its Family Service Center, an Article 31 clinic providing outpatient mental health services to the indigent, in order to help cover a projected 300,000 agencywide shortfall caused by statewide clinic restructuring and budget cuts. Each year, at the Pesach Tikvah Family Service Center, hundreds of men, women, and children receive services including individual, marital, and family therapy, pharmacotherapy, and psychological and psychiatric evaluations. The OMH licensed clinic takes pride in providing consumers with a personalized private-practice feeling within Pesach Tikvahs full service clinic setting. In doing so, PT insures countless children, adults, and families a second chance at leading healthier, more productive lives. Over the last few years, PTs Family Service Center's units of service have been increasing dramatically at a rate of 21.25 annually.(Over 7,000 last year). This is a tribute to Pesach Tikvah's unique ability to accommodate the cultural needs of the large Chasidic and Latino populations in its catchment area. To our knowledge, there are no other Article 31 clinics with bilingual Yiddish/English clinicians who can provide mental health services to the large, low-income Chasidic population in the Williamsburg area. There is a large waiting list for services, due to Pesach Tikvahs widespread acceptance in the community, and its reputation for providing quality services. Due to NY State fiscal issues, reimbursement rates to Pesach Tikvah have been slashed, and the agency is projecting a 300,000 loss for FY2012. Every possible cost cutting measure has been used, in order to avert the possibility of closing this vital program. Staff salaries have been cut, lay-offs and furloughs have been implemented. Still, unless Pesach Tikvah can raise an additional 150,000, this crucial community program is at risk of closing. City Council support is vital to the continuation of the program.

The boys track team runs all three seasons, cross country, indoor and outdoor track seasons. We have not have had the opportunity to supply the needed equipment to be on par with other tams throughout the city, such as hu7rdles, indoor and outdoor shot puts, discus, javelin and poles for pole vaulters. Many of the runners are unable to purchase the needed uniforms, which includes sneakers, and running spikes. Transportation is another issue. Many track meets, cross-country, indoor and outdoor track, are held off Staten Island. We as a team must travel taking the bus to the ferry and the traibn from the ferry. eam members must either take the 6:30 boat in the morning or 7 to arrive on time for their event. The Staten Island Charter bus company is the least expensive ! one that we have contacted and the service cost the team 450.00 per track meet. I am proud to say that we are in our 7th printing as of this year thanks to the Councilmans office. The Lantern provided an audience for the written, scholastic and artistic achievements of our students. It provides motivation for published writers who are featured and inspiration and motivation for our new writers who hope to be featured in a future Lantern. The Lantern also features the awards that the children win and just seeing their name in a positive light and published makes the Awards pages the most popular pages of all. The Lantern is also used as a teaching tool and it enhances our curriculum materials in a very personal way. The Lantern is accompanied by teaching points. The best part is that the work that is reflective of our student population and it brings a level of personal interest as the writers are our students and as such they are accessible to the burgeoning writers at our school. We provide author visits from Lantern authors and we ask for children to write fan mail to authors telling them just what they liked about their writing which was featured in The Lantern. Former students have volunteered to type for the publication and we have partnered with Beach Channel High School in Queens and they have helped us over the years with typing. Current students as well are typing for the publication. This year students had to submit submission forms to have their work reviewed for publication. I will attach this form. Many pieces were exemplary pieces which were chosen by myself for quality. The purposes for writing are clearly articulated at our school as we write to:persuade, entertain, inform and express our feelings. The Lantern is a publication which has at its core the idea to prepare our children for college and career.

We are entering year 2 (2011-2012) of the 3-year, rigorous, project-based curricular program, where the built environment is used to improve students knowledge of math, science, art, language, social studies and technology. Teachers participate in weekly professional development and curricular plannings with the Salvadori educator (architect/engineer) throughout the school year. Students experience their local built environment through in-class projects sharpening their knowledge of math concepts (measurement, area, scale), science (environment, force), engineering (support and built structure) and technology (research on the local neighborhoods and New York City). Weekly field trips connect learned knowledge with experiential reality. Culminating! projects are shared with the school and parent community through a June exhibition. A student team is also selected in May-June to participate in the annual Charette built design competition between the GLOBE schools under the guidance of NYC architects and engineers. PS/MS 278 is a Title 1 school. Our students are 84 Hispanic/Latino, 10 Caucasian, 4 African American, and 2 Asian and other. Fully 81 of our student live in poverty, and approximately 20 receive ESL/ELL services. The GLOBE program elevates the likelihood that our student population will reach higher achievement levels through not only the programs alignment with the core curriculum, but also through their direct experience and interaction with their topic of study, and professionals active in their fields.

Local		Crowley	Queens College Foundation Inc for - Queens College Arts Center	11-6080521	*	$3,500	DCA	Since opening in 1987, the Queens College Arts Center, located on the sixth floor of the Rosenthal Library, has presented more than 200 exhibitions. Funding is requested in the amount of 3,500 to partially support artistic costs associated with the fall 2011-spring 2012 exhibitions. Exhibitions under consideration include: . 9/11 Remembered. (September - October 2011). Ephemeral posters that filled New York City following the tragedy. From the 9/11 Aftermath archives of Michael Ragsdale will be presented in conversation with work in which artists reflect on the event in the years since. . Turkish-American Artists in NYC (November - December 2011). A selection of artwork by contemporary Turkish and Turkish American artists that reflect on issues of current relevance to both societies. Presented in conjunction with the Colleges Year of Turkey. . Project of Artist Residencies Exhibitions (February - June 2012). Curated by the Arts Centers assistant curator, Tara Mathison. Artists from diverse disciplines, divided into three groups, will share gallery space for one month at a time. The public will have the opportunity to view the works-in-progress and talk with all the participants during an Open Studio one night each month and at varied times during their residency. A free culminating exhibition (May-June) will showcase pieces created during their time in Queens and feature artists talks with the curator. This will reprise, with a different focus, the current art exhibition Express Local NYC Aesthetics. Exhibitions are free.
Local		Halloran	Queens College Foundation, Inc.	11-6080521	*	$3,500	DCA	THE JAZZ PROJECT is an eight (8)-week school residency for instrumental jazz band and choruses in public middle schools and high schools (grades 6-12). The program's primary objective is to strengthen each child's performance skills--a goal that meets national and state learning standards and the DOE's "Blueprint for Teaching and Learning in the Arts." Ensembles of three Teaching Artists conduct eight 1-hour clinics in each school, covering topics from the history of blues and Latin Jazz to improvisation, dynamics, and phrasing. Reproducible charts and an original CD that provides a wide sampling of jazz styles, is included with the Curriculum Book. A culminating concert in the spring ("Spring into Jazz") brings all the participants to Colden Auditorium where each band performs and is critiqued by Queens College jazz faculty, followed by a performance by the faculty and guest artists and then a jam session with students. Free school concerts are arranged to expand access and outreach to the general student body, and to attract new schools with a brief overview of the program, reaching an additional 1,500 to 2,000 students annually. The fee per school is 1,500 for clinics and curriculum materials; outreach concerts are free. The loss of funding to support arts programming in the public schools has severely affected this program. Three years ago, we had eight to ten participants, and now only three can afford the fee. Forest Hills H.S. (District 29), Bayside H.S. and I.S. 25 (District 19) could not afford to participate this year, although we invited Forest Hills, as one of our oldest participating schools, to play at the culminating event. Funding from Council members Koslowitz and Halloran will enable these schools to participate fully next season and give their students a unique opportunity to study with jazz professionals.

Local		Weprin	Queens Council on the Arts, Inc.	11-2219193	*	$5,000	DCA	QCA respectfully request New York City Council discretionary funds to support Queens Arts Express 2012 (QAX) which develops ongoing activities designed to foster interactive community connections among 350 artists, community representatives, local businesses, and political representatives. Participation in QAX events culminates in the QAX 2012 four-day multidisciplinary, multi-platform festival celebrating the rich and distinctive intersection of arts, culture, entertainment, and marketplace offerings that exists in neighborhoods along the No. 7 and by extension, the N, and R train lines (Long Island City to Flushing and including points in between like Astoria, Sunnyside, Woodside, Jackson Heights and more), connecting to the E and F train lines extending the QAX community to the neighborhoods of Forest Hills to Jamaica. As merchants and artists build relationships at our QAX Boot Camps and Mixers throughout the year, they learn how to work together to increase their visibility via established and emerging marketing tactics, from painting on building walls to using social bookmarking sites. Boot Camps are designed to provide hands-on training and will take place October -May. The program's ongoing community development initiatives will culminate in the Queens Art Express Festival, a borough-wide multi-media art exhibition drawing more than 20,000 consumers and cultural visitors to Queens over four days in mid-June 2012. These initiatives are designed to build dynamic and innovative collaborative relationships between cultural organizations, merchant groups, artists and individual businesses. To date, our 2011 partners include the MTA New York City Transit, Queens Borough Hall, Queens Economic Development Council, the Queens Tourism Council, Rockefeller Foundation's Cultural Innovation Fund, and a dozen local Business Improvement Districts, Chambers of Commerce and merchant associations. We expect similar partners in 2012.

We will bring a combination of our presentations to schools into your district. We have presented nearly 275 times in schools reaching about 25,000 students throughout the city. We currently have six specific presentations: HIV and Pride, Addiction and Pride, Sex and Pride (Teen pregnancy), Acceptance and Pride (homophobia and racial discrimination), Bullying and Pride and HIV101 and Pride. Each are about 90 minutes and in three parts and include in part one either a talk or performance piece on the topic, in part two a play with a professional cast showing the effects of the topic with a relatable plot and the third part is a workshop with chance for feedback and questions. Our seventh program Journey to Pride uses any of the above mentioned presentations with the students as the actors. Ten rehearsals simultaneously workshop the topic and train them to perform for three assemblies. We are DOE Sole vendor who has received 1250 per regular presentation and 5000.00 for Journey to Pride when schools had better budgets. Presentations will be easily done in your district for any funding given.

QPAC has become a top regional center for culture through its rich menu of arts programming and educational services. More than 90,000 people are served by the Center each year through professional performances, student learning activities and community programs. As part of its efforts to provide cultural and artistic opportunities to public school students for which a lack of arts programming is evident, the Queensborough Performing Arts Center (QPAC) has created a series of interactive After-School Broadway Workshops in which students learn acting, dance and musical theater techniques from degreed professionals and Broadway performers. QPAC is committed to arts education helping young people experience theatre in creative and meaningful ways. Our workshops are designed to serve the unique needs of both the education and theatre industry by connecting professional artists with young audiences throughout the year in the hopes of developing a life-long appreciation of the arts. Our workshops are shaped to the interests and level of each group. Our dance workshops participants are introduced to several practical dance techniques. The workshop culminates in the learning of choreography from a Broadway show. Our voice workshop pairs a Broadway performer with a professional accompanist and, together, they teach the group the mechanics, harmonies and interpretation of a song. The acting workshop introduces students to the tools used by working Broadway actors and students receive individual coaching and feedback from the instructor. Teaching artists hired reflect New York City's multi-ethnic communities, and QPAC's outreach to local Queens schools will make the arts accessible to one of its most diverse groups of residents.

The students involved in this process begin an exploration of the survivor's involvement in the Holocaust and emerge with a strong understanding of the need for social justice.
Local		Dromm	Queensborough Community College Auxiliary Enterprise Association, Inc.	11-2037770	*	$5,000	CUNY	Sponsorship of QPAC's Saturday Night Singalong Film series is critical in order to help everyone access the arts, and in response to a distinct lack of affordable entertainment options for the thousands of individuals and families across New York City. The series consists of four (4) screenings of hard to find, highly respected, movie musicals that feature multi-ethnic themes and characters. Launched in the fall of 2009, the series is unique because it gives the audience another way to enjoy their favorite movies. Singing and dancing is encouraged and since the films are captioned, children and adults who are deaf or hard of hearing can also participate. Additionally, these screenings help sustain interest in these great movie musicals, many from the Golden Era of Hollywood, for future generations. QPAC is dedicated to the preservation of these "works of art." Only at QPAC can people watch a movie and break out into! song in a setting other than a concert venue! The marvel of this series is that it brings these classic movies to an integrated audience – seniors, working families with young children and the hearing impaired. QPAC has presented over 1,100 performances and served over 1 million individuals. While QPAC has successfully brought a higher level of affordable entertainment to Queens, we are committed to expanding public access to the arts for everyone. As an organization whose proximal audience is individuals from all walks of life, struggling in this economic recession, QPAC's goal is to find new ways for Queens' residents to enjoy the arts.

READ trains tutors to apply a structured research-based one-to-one tutoring program over the course of 50 sessions. To ensure success, students are individually assessed for appropriate placement within the curriculum and progress at their own pace. Tutors must attend and actively participate in a 2.5 hour long training prior to beginning instruction. READ's staff trains tutors on the principles and guidelines of the curriculum, our data collection system and strategies for working with young students. Our program combines 45 minutes of one-to-one tutoring with 45 minutes of homework help for a total of 1.5 hours each day for 50 days. Summer programs run for 3.5 hours each day and consist of two 45 minute tutoring sessions and two sessions of literacy enrichment. Two teachers facilitate the program at each school. They receive training in curriculum, methodology and analysis of student progress data. READ site coordinators make regular visits to ensure consistency.

The Center, an outgrowth of over twenty years of hosting literary programs such as the National Black Writers Conference, has provided the educational and broader community with an extraordinary number of literary and cultural programs that impact on the reading and writing habits of a cross-generation of readers and writers in our city, state and country. The Center for Black Literature has as its mission to expand, broaden, and enrich the public's knowledge and aesthetic appreciation of the value of black literature and the literature of all people of color. Its purpose is to provide the public with a deeper understanding and awareness of the literature produced by black writers and to provide venues where students, emerging and established writers can work on their craft in supporting and nurturing environments. Through a series of programs that build ! an audience for expanding the literary canon and for the reading, writing, discussion, and critical analysis of literature produced by black writers and people of color, the Center convenes and supports various literary programs and events such as conferences, symposia, writing workshops, and educational workshops for the general public, students, teachers, writers and artists. The Center is requesting support for three major programs: Re-Envisioning Our Lives through Literature; Writers Workshops and its Literary and Readings Series. Program Descriptions Re-Envisioning Our Lives through Literature The premise of the Re-Envisioning Our Lives through Literature Program is that literature should be integrated into the English Language Arts curriculum in creative ways which include drama, poetry, the spoken word, and storytelling. The emphasis in this program is to incorporate literature from various parts of the African Diaspora

Local		Ulrich	Rockaway Music and Arts Council, Inc.	23-7082566	*	$10,000	DCA	Rockaway Music and Arts Council (RMAC) was founded by humorist Sam Levenson and local residents in 1955 making it the oldest, continuous cultural organization in the Rockaways. RMAC is dedicated to promoting and supporting community appreciation of the performing, visual and literary arts. We sponsor school programs in music, opera and dance developed by the Riverside Symphony Music Memory, NYC Opera and the City Center Dance Programs. Children get the opportunity to visit opera rehearsals and dance programs. The Music Memory Program holds an annual competition where children get the chance to show what they have learned and become fired up to win first prize. RMAC will make every effort to continue to sponsor such programs in view of the fact that the NYC DOE has eliminated or downgraded music and art curricula in the school system. RMAC organized and hosted our Annual Arts Crafts Fall Festival for 25 years and our Summer Picnic Concert Series over ten years. We have planned and hosted fine art and photography exhibitions, a Literary Arts Festival, and day/overnight bus trips to cultural centers.

Local		Weprin	Ronald McDonald House of Long Island, Inc.	11-2764747	*	$15,000	DYCD	The Ronald McDonald House of Long Island is a home-away-from home, a temporary lodging facility for seriously ill children and their families who must travel to are hospitals for urgently needed medical care. These families stay at the House while their child is under a physicians care, whether the child is hospitalized of being treated on an out-patient basis. Residents enjoy a home-like setting, the privacy of their own room and, most importantly, the understanding of others who share the same burden of having a seriously ill child. We operate a 44,000 square foot facility included 42 bedrooms, each with a private bath, children play areas, both inside and outdoors, a library, eight kitchen stations, two kosher kitchens, a fully stocked food pantry, five laundry rooms and a Great Room where the families can socialize or watch television. For more privacy, there is a small TV room on the 2nd floor and an additional Main Floor lounge that is perfect for quiet activities. The number of families staying at the House each year varies depending upon length of stay and type of treatment. In 2009, the House served 950 families (with an average of 3 individuals per family, for a total of approximately 2,850 individuals). 685 families (approximately 2,055 individuals) were from the local area. Maintaining our facility is the main component of our programming. The costs associated with our building present the majority of the financial burden we face in continuing to provide our services to families in need. Funds will be used to pay utility bills, specifically electric to heat our facility in the winter and cool it in the summer.

Rooftop will work with NYC Council Members to host public film screenings outdoors in their districts.--Rooftop Films 2012 Summer Series will include more than 50 events and attract an estimated 35,000 people. Held in over 15 different outdoor venues throughout NYC, the series features films that could not otherwise be seen in the city. Our 16th annual series will include over 25 feature-length and 150 short films relevant to the local communities where our shows are held.--For example, in 2010, we presented New York Filmmaker Todd Chambers' feature film FLOOD TIDE with a live score. The show was held at Socrates Sculpture Park in Queens, one of the settings for the film, an example of Rooftop bringing local art back to communities.--Part of Rooftop Film's ongoing mission is to screen films not in theaters, but in communities. As an example, two of our short film programs, "New York Nonfiction" and "Brooklyn Transformations," consist of local filmmakers grappling with community issues such as immigration and gentrification. But where many such films take a decidedly pessimistic view of the future, these delve deep into the changing urban landscape and dig up hope and happiness.--Rooftop Films supports the next generation of filmmakers, working closely with three New York public schools, Automotive High School, Brooklyn Tech, and New Design High School. We screen short films by students and conducted in-school screenings and workshops.--Screenings will take place at the following locations and others to be determined: Brooklyn: The Old American Can Factory, Fort Greene Park, Automotive High School, Brooklyn Tech High School; Manhattan: New Design High School, Solar One, El Museo Del Barrio, ! The Drop-In Center is open to all youth ages 13 – 24 from Jamaica and the surrounding areas (primarily City Council Districts 27 and 24). This community is in dire need of safe and productive activities for youth. There are over 8,000 high school-aged youth in the area with no place to go after school, leading many young people to easily fall into the street culture, gangs, and violence that permeates the neighborhood. With the closing of Jamaica High School, this problem will only be exacerbated. Safe Space has been a leader on youth issues and has recently been asked to serve on the Youth Committee of the Greater Jamaica Development Corporation. Our Drop-In Center provides a safe alternative to street culture and aims to provide our youth with the knowledge, skills, experience, and support they need to become productive and self-sufficient adults. We provide educational activities, job readiness training, college discovery, arts activities, and opportunities for socializing and recreation. Our staff is available for counseling, guidance, and support. More intensive case management is available for youth in crisis, particularly homeless and runaway youth. Over the last fiscal year, 750 youth accessed these services. In the coming months, we will launch the most exciting addition to our Jamaica youth programs: a new Media Center at the Drop-In. With a capital allocation from the Queens Borough President, we are outfitting the Media Center with professional equipment to offer classes in video editing, filmmaking, graphic design, and music production. Offering this broader range of programs will help to cultivate creativity, develop self-expression, and raise self-esteem in a safe, productive, structured environment. This will also provide our youth with technical skills to make them more marketable in the workforce.

As our Seniors continue to age in place, our agency provides critical services which allow them to live within their own community for longer periods of time with dignity, support and a sense of security and well being which are so critical to their overall physical and mental health. The many programs and services that are provided on-site include, case management, home-based assessment and mental health counseling, nursing, care management and supportive health education and health screening programs, transportation to doctors appointments and shopping, care giver support groups, bereavement support services, nutritional and entitlement counseling as well as a wide variety of recreational and educational programs focused! on maintaining a well rounded and positive lifestyle for every individual. All of our Seniors are over the age of 60 with many over 80 and 90 years of age and could not access these critical programs and services in any other manner. Each year this program is recognized throughout the community as one which is the key to providing our many Seniors in Clearview Gardens with the safety net and support services they need to be able to live independently in their community with an inherent sense of self-esteem and self respect.

Local		Weprin	Samuel Field YM & YWHA, Inc.	11-3071518	*	$12,000	DFTA	The Deepdale Cares Program is a Naturally Occurring Retirement Community Supportive Services Program (NORC-SSP) that provides programs and services to over 700 Senior Adults (over the age of sixty) each year within their own housing development and community. Core services include, case management, counseling, entitlement advocacy, health screenings, health education, home assessments and visits by professional licensed social workers, in-home health screenings and monitoring provided by licensed and certified on-staff nurses, care giver and bereavement support groups, transportation to shopping areas, physicians and community centers, mediation, activity-centered clubs and classes, inter-generational activities and health care coordination. This critical program enables Seniors to live in their community more vitally and for longer periods of time with independence and dignity, by providing a supportive community-based safety net that reduces isolation, loneliness and despair for the many Seniors who are living alone, caring for spouses who are ill and living long distances from other family members and/or their adult children.
Local		Weprin	Samuel Field YM & YWHA, Inc.	11-3071518	*	$12,500	DFTA	CAPE is the only regionalized fully licensed and third party reimbursable Geriatric Mental Health Clinic in Queens. Last year, CAPE provided home-based and clinic based mental health services to 530 clients over the age of fifty residing throughout Queens, who were experiencing the challenges and difficulties of living with a mental disorder. Approximately 70 of the clients served geographically clustered in the communities of Eastern Queens. In addition, the CAPE program provides a myriad of unique and related services which are critical to its extremely vulnerable population. These services include, home-based mental health assessment and treatment, medication scripting and monitoring done on a clinic-based and home-based basis by CAPEs two board certified Geriatric Psychiatrists, entitlement coordination, elder abuse intervention and treatment, peer advocacy, transportation from clients homes to the CAPE Clinic facility on Little Neck Parkway and support groups for those clients, experiencing bereavement, separation and loss and the emotional stress of caregiving. Many of our clients are Holocaust survivors who manifest complex behavioral issues. The CAPE staff is exceptionally competent with these individuals and has been recognized for providing this population with a comprehensive and integrated mental health treatment strategy so that they can remain living safely in their communities.
Local		Weprin	Samuel Field YM & YWHA, Inc.	11-3071518	*	$22,000	DFTA	Each week the Samuel Field Y provides a comprehensive array of programs and services to over 700 Senior Adults over the age of sixty within a stimulating and supportive environment that enhances independence, self sufficiency, dignity and self worth. Each participant receives a myriad of opportunities and choices including, social, recreational cultural, educational and health related program components that include stay well exercise, nutrition and medication screening, current events, support groups for bereavement, loss of spouse and caregiving responsibilities, theme related classes and clubs, trips, concerts and live performances, entitlement counseling, transportation to shopping, doctors appointments and other community resources, intergenerational activities and volunteer opportunities throughout the agency. This program is critically important to the emotional and physical well being of our most valued Senior population who are aging in place within our community and depend on these resources to sustain and enhance their quality of life and to remain living independently in the community they love. By involving our Seniors in a variety of stimulating, interesting, age appropriate activities within their own community, we continually provide a safety net so that these individuals are far less likely to develop depression, become more isolated and become physically more frail at an earlier time in their lives.

Boro		Foster	Sauti Yetu Center for African Women	20-1209795		$5,000	DYCD	Sauti Yetu is requesting 5000 to augment our existing services for African immigrant parents and families. Sauti Yetu is a community-based nonprofit organization dedicated to mobilizing African immigrant women to improve the quality of their lives, strengthen their families, and develop their communities. Our Family Violence Prevention and Education Program provides crisis intervention, home visits, parenting classes and other direct social services in several African languages to hundreds of African immigrant women and children surviving domestic and family violence. This July, we will begin providing services to an additional 60 families in the South Bronx, where a third of the Citys African immigrants live, under a general preventive services contract through ACS. Our work with African immigrant parents has filled a critical gap in New York City services and becomes all the more important as head start programs lose their funding. Many of the parents in our community immigrated to the U.S. seeking a better future for their children, including a meaningful education that will help them to have greater economic opportunities and lead successful lives. In our focus groups with parents, we found that many are challenged with actively engaging in their child's education: they work 2 jobs, speak little or no English, do not understand their child's homework or how the school system works. They find that schools send notes home in a language they cant read, do not provide translation, and do not allow them to bring small children, for whom they cant find childcare, to meetings with teachers. Sauti Yetu has been working with parents individually to help them navigate and become involved in the school system, and to engage more proactively in their child's education and would like to hold workshops. We have collaborated with head start programs at WHEDCO and La Peninsula and reached parents through Bronx International High School and New Settlement Housing.

Local		Vallone	Selfhelp Community Services, Inc.	13-1624178		$3,500	DFTA	The Selfhelp Queensview/ North Queensview Naturally Occuring Retirement Community serves seniors residing in the Queensview/North Queensview apts. This funding would benefit these residents of the 22nd Council District in the following way: Personal Emergency Response System- 5,000 The moments immediately following a fall or medical emergency are crucial, and if the victim is unable to get to a telephone, the consequences can be serious. For frail seniors who live alone, the ability to call for help in an emergency is essential to their safety. A Personal Emergency Response System (PERS) is an electronic device designed to allow elderly and disabled people to more easily summon help in an emergency. The tenants receiving these services live alone and would not be able to afford advanced safety net technology like PERS on their own. In addition to installation costs, these systems require monthly monitoring fees that are not supported by Medicare or by most insurance providers. Your continued support will allow our tenants, as well as their family members and caregivers, to continue enjoying the additional safety and peace of mind that this service provides. Car Service- 6,000 Transportation is in great demand among our frail seniors at Selfhelp Queensview/North Queensview NORC, as it enables them to go about their daily lives with greater freedom and independence. Selfhelp contracts with a taxi company to provide car service that enables seniors to attend their doctor appointments, visit family and friends, make shopping trips, and attend memorial services. Many of our frail seniors have age-related physical limitations, such as poor vision and hearing, respiratory conditions, and/or cognitive impairments, which make it very difficult to utilize public transportation. The cab company provides rides to seniors at half-fare, and charges the remainder to the program.
Local		Van Bramer	Selfhelp Community Services, Inc.	13-1624178		$10,000	DFTA	The Selfhelp Big Six Towers Naturally Occuring Retirement Community (NORC) offers first rate on-site services to the residents of the Big Six Towers. Funding from the City Council for this program will be for the following: 1. Transportation Services (7,000) Transportation is a major service need in the Big Six NORC. Many District seniors have difficulty accessing public transportation. Some do not live in close proximity to subways, and many who do are too frail to utilize them regularly. In addition, many lack the financial resources to afford the expensive fees of taxis and car services. As NORC residents age, we are receiving more requests for assistance. We request 7,000 to continue providing subsidized transportation for District seniors. The funding will provide approximately 700 trips to seniors who would otherwise lack access to transportation, using subsidized car services to essential medical and social service appointments. 2. Personal Emergency Response System (PERS) devices (5,500) The moments immediately following a fall or medical emergency are crucial, and if the victim is unable to get to a telephone, the consequences can be serious. A PERS is an electronic device designed to allow elderly and disabled people to more easily summon help in an emergency. The tenants receiving this service live alone, and would be unable to afford advanced safety net technology like PERS on their own. In addition to installation costs, these systems require monthly monitoring fees that are not supported by Medicare, or by most insurance providers. Your past support has provided 8 residents of the Big Six Towers NORC with PERS services. Funding of 5,500 will allow over 40 seniors and multiple family members and caregivers to continue enjoying the additional safety and peace of mind that this service provides. We combine this funding with grants from other sources, which enable us to extend this service to more elders.

Local		Weprin	Selfhelp Community Services, Inc.	13-1624178		$25,000	DFTA	Demands for the Program services among the Fresh Meadows NORC's vulnerable senior community have steadily increased during its 10 years of existence, and Selfhelp has depended on the funding granted through the City Council to help meet these demands. As you know the program was opened in January of 2000 as a one-day-a-week program funded entirely by the Queens Fresh Meadows, LLC. This partnership began when Queens Fresh Meadows management approached Selfhelp for assistance with two specific cases of seniors in danger of eviction. The management company soon determined that they were generally unequipped to meet the changing needs of their aging tenants, and asked that Selfhelp provide a social worker on-site one day per week. By January of 2004, Queens Fresh Meadows more than doubled its annual contribution, allowing the program to operate two days per week. In the fall of that same year, funding from the City Council allowed the program to expand its operations to three days per week, offering a variety of educational, recreational, and health promotion programs, as well as comprehensive social services. We hope you will renew this funding, and ensure the provision of this third day of service throughout Fiscal Year 2011-12. Our LMSW program coordinator provides case management, case assistance, information/referral, referrals to nursing services and educational/recreational services to over 100 clients. She also consults with clients families to coordinate services as well as coordinates with other social service agencies for additional services all intended to decrease social isolation and enhance quality of life for the senior residents.

Almost 10 years after 9/11 around 500 people have died from what their doctors described as illnesses caused by exposure to the toxic dust and air present at Ground Zero. Tens of thousands of people are still sick and over 400,000 live and work in the affected areas. Many public health officials in NYC are predicting a public health disaster in the years to come. STWS 2 main programs are: Ayurvedic herbal formulas that gently detoxify the body and build up the immune system. These herbal formulas were developed for STWS and the 9/11 community by world-renowned Ayurvedic physician Dr. Pankaj Naram. Dr. Naram has worked with Mother Theresa and the Dalai Lama and has helped heal hundreds of thousands of people all over the world in the past 25 years. 70-75 of the people affected by 9/11 toxins who have taken the formulas for the recommended 6 month protocol have seen improvement, often dramatic, to heal the main symptoms of 9/11 illnesses including all respiratory issues, GERD issues and the symptoms of metal toxicity including lack of energy, sleeplessness, memory loss, lack of focus, anxiety and even depression. STWS other main program are Breathwork and Meditation workshops taught by our COB, distinguished Integrative Psychiatrist Dr. Richard Brown. Dr. Brown teaches this course all over the world to health professionals and people affected by trauma including victims of natural and man-made disasters, war psychological and sexual abuse and through STWS to the 9/11 community. Evidence-based research published in peer-reviewed journals shows that this Breathwork and Meditation has tremendous results for helping people affected by trauma. Over 2600 9/11 people have gone through our programs including over 1100 NYC firefighters.

By supporting our Capital Campaign we would be able to complete the project which includes a brand new: Theatre for family audiences, a Puppet Museum, Art Workshop Area for Educational Programming and an Art Academy. PROJECT 2: There are two ways for audiences to see our shows either at our home base theater, TEATRO SEA, or through our touring/outreach program, which brings the magic of our theater to YOU, to public spaces in your district. Your support will also help us expand our ongoing tour of children's theater in Spanish in NYC Season 2011-2012 to reach even more of your constituents in your district. PROJECT 3: SEA's Puerto Rico Fest celebrates Puerto Rican art and artists from the New York Diaspora. Your support will allow SEA to expand and enhance the City's first and only citywide! Puerto Rican Arts Cultural festival, as well as institutionalize SEA's Puerto Rico Fest as the quintessential celebration of Puerto Rican arts culture in New York City. PROJECT 4: Funding SEA's Dropout Prevention Program develop a comprehensive program which presents performances that are accompanied by in-school or community arts workshops that inform, educate, and motivate young people to figure out solutions to the problems they face. Your support would ensure performances and workshops for schools in your district that would benefit from this program.
Local		Van Bramer	Socrates Sculpture Park, Inc.	11-3066597		$5,000	DPH	Socrates Sculpture Park respectfully requests support for the Park's 13th annual free Outdoor Cinema series, a popular international festival of film, music, dance and food. Screenings are held on Wednesday nights in July and August and each evening focuses on a different country or culture. Visitors are invited to sample regional cuisine from neighborhood restaurants, picnic on the grass and enjoy the cool waterfront breeze as the sun sets over the Manhattan skyline, listen to performances by local musicians and, as the sky darkens, watch exceptional international films on an outdoor screen. The mission of the program is to celebrate the multi-national character of Queens, by highlighting local populations and incorporating vendors, musicians and performers from the borough. This year, films will be curated in partnership with the Museum of the Moving Image and Rooftop Films. This year, Backyard Band/with will collaborate with Socrates on August 24 to present a Socrates-tailored themed evening of classic and contemporary silent films set to original, live scores by local musicians. By inviting neighborhood performing arts groups to showcase the talents of their members, and partnering with area restaurants to present regional foods, Outdoor Cinema brings together many of the expressions that define cultural heritage. The series creates an environment for dialogue, discovery and appreciation that instills pride in our local Queens residents, while introducing citywide audiences to the multiplicity of customs and talents that are unique to the borough. The program is also effective for exposing new visitors to the exhibitions, green space and free public programming that the Park provides on an ongoing basis.

Local		Weprin	South Asian Council for Social Services	11-3632920	*	$4,000	DFTA	SACSS seeks funding to continue to offer vital services in healthcare, mental health and language assistance to South Asian Senior Citizens in New York City. Firstly, SACSS attends to the healthcare needs of South Asians in NYC, with seniors needing assistance in Medicaid and Medicare being a significant proportion of our clients. We also help clients in fair hearings, billing problems and identifying doctors that can provide care in a South Asian language. Most recently, as part of Community Health Advocates, we have helped 62 clients with varied needs in the past three months alone. Seniors also form the largest group of students in our English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) classes that have been offered for the past 8 years. Finally, the mental health concerns of South Asian Senior Citizens became apparent as we helped them through our healthcare and language assistance initiatives. In the last year, SACSS undertook two educational campaigns to address some of the most pressing needs. According to the Center for Disease Control, Asian and Pacific Islander (API) males 85 and older had the highest rate of suicide compared to the Caucasians and African Americans. Consequently, SACSS took up an 8-month Suicide Prevention Education Campaign (SPEC). Through SPEC, SACSS conducted workshops for over 25 caregivers and 325 seniors in cultural centers and senior centers with training materials developed in English, Hindi, Gujarati, Bengali and Punjabi. The second program was a campaign called "Keeping your Mind Sharp" (KYMS), a Department of Aging Project to educate South Asian seniors about Alzheimer's. KYMS reached over 265 direct participants. In both programs seniors expressed their deep appreciation for a safe environment to learn, as well as voice their experience and concerns on the issues that were raised. Today, we continue to be the only organization providing such a comprehensive service package to seniors in a culturally and linguistically relevant way.

Brown Pipeline Initiatives are designed to expose first generation college students from economically challenged backgrounds that are underrepresented in the legal profession to legal education, the court system and other legal employment. The Ronald H. Brown Law School Prep Program ("Prep Program") is an award winning program that identifies and increases the pool of qualified people of color attending law schools from underrepresented backgrounds who are economically challenged or the first member of their family to go to college. It is a two-year residential program, which provides college students with exposure to law school, internships with state court judges, internships with other legal employers, and a holistic and intensive LSAT review program. The students who participate in the Prep Program start with a median LSAT score of 138 but ultimately increase their LSAT scores by almost ten points, bringing them within range of the national median. For the past two years, 100 of Prep Program participants who apply to law school are accepted. Nationally, 60 of African American, 52 of Puerto Rican, and 42 of Mexican American applicants are rejected from every law school to which they apply. The Prep Program started as a four-day program for college sophomores in 2005 and has now blossomed into a two-year residential program for college sophomores and juniors. By 2011, we will celebrate six law school graduations of three Prep Program alumni and our sixty students in law schools across the country. We recently received national recognition from the American Bar Association's Council on Racial and Ethnic Diversity in the Educational Pipeline, which named the Ronald H. Brown Prep Program for College Students the recipient of its 2011 Alexander Award for Excellence in Pipeline Diversity.

The goal of the program is to help highly at-risk 9th and 10th grade students overcome social, academic, family, and other barriers to attending school and to provide them with the supports to enable them to earn credits and graduate high school. The program consists of individualized case management, family advocacy, partnership with guidance counselors and school staff, and peer groups. We focus on chronic absenteeism as it is an overwhelming predictor of dropping out; a sixth grader who misses more than 20 percent of the school year has a 75 percent chance of quitting school..." [Center for New York City Affairs, Strengthening Schools by Strengthening Families, New School, October 2008] Our program has received high ratings, including ! a positive independent evaluation by Metis Associates in spring 2010. In part because of our work, in the last five years, the overall school attendance rate at EBT has approached 85, the highest of the three high schools at The Grand Street Campus. We are currently serving 54 students; however, we identified close to 100 students at EBT who are in need of the program. The program perennially has more demand than we are able to serve through current funding. United Way AIDP funds were reduced to 45,000 this fiscal year. We secured state funding for 2010-11, but that contract (under PPIP) just received a 66 cut down to 42,000. Our minimal program cost is 125,000 which includes salary and fringe for two full-time staff, supervision, and OTPS. Without additional support, we will have to reduce the number of students served to 30 students with services provided by one full-time staff.

Local		Levin	St. Vincent's Services	11-1631823	*	$3,500	DYCD	SVS addresses the psychosocial and educational challenges facing foster youth through its unique AMERICAN DREAM PROGRAM (ADP). It has one preeminent goal: To ensure that our youth gain the marketable skills necessary to sustain themselves for the rest of their lives. The ADP ensures that youth accepted into an institution of higher education will be able to attend until they graduate, even after they turn 21 and traditional support has ceased. The ADP covers all costs related to higher education for each young collegian, including tuition, room and board, books, and other necessities. We arrange for a place to live year-round while they are obtaining their post-secondary education. They have access to tutoring, financial aid and educational counseling, as well as case management. The ADP seeks to maintain the network of care youth established with foster families or group home staff. To achieve this, ADP social workers and staff develop strong relationships with our youth. Our goal is to ensure that our youth succeed academically in a therapeutic, family-like environment. A significant number of our ADP youth receive these services and go to schools in District 33. SVS is based in District 33 and has a long tradition of providing optimal care for our youth, with a strong basis in Brooklyn and District 33. The AMERICAN DREAM College Complex is located in the district. It is a college dormitory-style home for youth who have aged out of care. These youth would face enormous challenges living independently, particularly without support from traditional family networks. We believe higher education is the best road to self-sufficiency and a joyful life. Providing housing year-round for our youth, including in the Complex, enables them to live in a family-like environment and attend their higher education institution full time. Self-sufficiency is the goal for our youth and a higher education degree, enabled by the ADP, is the best means to attain that.

The programs offered by Historic Richmond Town are designed to permit up to 2,500 school children of various age groups to participate in educational programs, at no charge, throughout the year. Historic Richmond Town's historical interpreters teach the American experience from the 17th century until today through hands-on learning; through interactive exhibits in the Historical Museum; through farming, planting, and harvesting activities at Decker Farm; and through tours of the historic structures that make Historic Richmond Town New York City's only living history village. Historic Richmond Town's educational and experiential learning programs leave a lasting impression that strengthens students' understanding of the history of our city and our nation. All programs are designed to support New York State curriculum standards and reinforce grade-appropriate academic skills through workshops, special programs, and curriculum tours. Support for Historic Richmond Town helps to subsidize mission-based historical education programs that the museum offers to students and to families after school and on weekends. As part of its school programs, Historic Richmond Town encourages students to visit the historic site with their families outside of normal school hours.

Planned locations for FY12 follow: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Adler Youth Group is a two-year after-school program offered in Manhattan. Fifty-four students will receive a total of 108 classroom hours per year, meeting twice a week, three hours per week. Students create and perform a movement project; study one playwright intensively then perform their scenes and, for second-year students, rehearse and perform a Shakespeare play. 2. Summer Shakespeare is an intensive program offered in Manhattan. Twenty-two students will receive a total of 50 classroom hours, meeting five days a week (two hours per session) in July and August. A public performance of an abridged version of a Shakespeare play concludes the program. 3. High School programs are designed in collaboration with each school and take place in all five boroughs. Length, duration and curriculum vary according to the needs of the school. Over 300 students will receive one-day workshops. Over 100 students will participate in semester-long programs. The NYC Council Committee on Education reported that despite efforts, a quality arts education had remained elusive for many NYC school children. And according to the NYC Department of Education, less than one in five NYC public high schools have a theater teacher today. Of those teachers, most are not trained artists, but academics, who themselves did not receive a comprehensive arts education. Outreach gives the poorest students intensive training from trained theater

Local		Van Bramer	Theater Et Al, Inc. d/b/a The Chocolate Factory Theater	13-4038993		$10,000	DCA	We are seeking funds to help us provide access to professional performing arts programming in Queens. Our audience numbers continue to rise, especially among residents of Queens and Brooklyn, for whom these activities are not as available as in Manhattan. In addition, our audience surveys (collected from approximately 30) indicate the majority of our responding audience work in fields whose incomes are in the 20,000-30,000, making similar programming financially out of their reach. We need to keep our programming accessible to our community and keep our 3 full-time, 6 regular part time and over 2-dozen project based employees working. With funding levels dropping in the public and private sector this is getting harder and harder. We provide approximately 75 performances to over 4000 visitors. Ticket prices are as low as free and only go as high as 20 to any show. We also provide over 100 artists with the resources to create and! present their work to the public in Queens.

(1) Free community performance. For the fifth consecutive year, UP will present its mainstage show (in this case Don Pasquale), fully staged with piano accompaniment, free of charge to the community. UP is committed to bringing the same high-quality opera that has earned praise in the NY Times to its home community. (2) Open rehearsals. This coming season for the first time UP will open rehearsals to the public. UP will invite a group of children ages 8-10 on one occasion, and a group of seniors on another, to observe the process whereby singers shape their performances. There will be time set aside for interactive questions and answer sessions. (3) Sing along with UP. UP provides services to seniors with 8 participatory workshops and 2 performances at the WaHI Y senior center and Isabella Geriatric Center.(4) Sing along with UP (childrens edition). For the third consecutive year, UP will provide Arts Exposure and Arts Skills via an interactive workshop for children of all ages in conjunction with a free family performance Isham Park. (5) Teen workshop. UP continues for the third consecutive year its work with underserved teens of Washington Heights/Inwood, combining performance with discussion of themes relevant to their lives.

Local		Comrie	United Hindu Cultural Council of USA, North America, Inc.	11-3451990	*	$5,000	DCA	Youth Programming has been a major part of the UHCC since its formal inception in 1998. The youths enjoy a series of cultural and educational programs. Amongst the many programs is the gardening project in which they learn about nutrition, eating right, and health. This program has a very practical part where they learn about "going green," composting, making soap and planting. We have partnered with the local civic association and the youths along with seniors plant together and maintain beds of flowers, vegetables and fruits. This hand on experience with the seniors has proven to be invaluable in the summer-time. It keeps the children off the streets and it also provides them with an educational experience. They learn the basic of gardening, soil pH levels, nutrients and minerals and how it all affects the environment. At the end of each day the youths were required to log their experiences in a personal diary. The youth ! program also includes dancing and singing with the seniors. They adopt a grandparent for the day in the summer-time and volunteer periodically throughout the year. Youths are given administrative tasks, taught how to complete it and then monitored along the way in a step by step approach. Summer youths are provided with Sanskrit classes, music classes, singing classes and dance classes. It is a once in a life time opportunity for many of our community youths to learn for free. Parents have noted that they find the family life between the youths and grandparents have improved after their children started participating in the UHCC youth programming and intergenerational programming. With this funding the UHCC will be able to purchase lunches for the youths, provide transportation, vehicles, travel expenses, and cover costs of communication expenses, consultants, printing and supplies and rent for the youth programming. Al of our services are provided for free.

Currently, vendors are subject to strict sanctions for rule violations, including fines as high as 1,000 for violations as minor as vending more than 18 inches from the curb. However, research shows that many vending violations are due to a lack of knowledge, by both vendor and police officers, of the complex vending rules. The Department of Consumer Affairs conducts no training programs for vendors and provides no pamphlets to guide vendors other than a verbatim copy, in English, of the relevant portions of the NYC Administrative Code. SVP will conduct a series neighborhood workshops (open to the public but tailored to vendors in that area) on how to comply with the city's vending regulations. We will focus on providing useful information via presentations in English, Spanish, Chinese, Arabic, Bengali and Urdu, as needed. We will distribute pamphlets and other materials with graphics that are easy for vendors to understand. We will spend time on know-your-rights topics to teach vendors how to properly record and complain about harassment from police officers and health inspectors. Finally, we will provide referrals to other services available at the Street Vendor Project (ie, our microloan program) and service providers for housing, representing, advising and health care.

Local		Ferreras	Violence Intervention Program	13-3540337	*	$5,400	CJC	Funding is needed for general operating costs that help the agency to provide critical services to the community, in particular community education and outreach. Funding to educate the community about the risks of domestic violence and the kind of life-saving services that are available at VIP is vital to improving the health of our East Harlem community. If community members do not know that services for domestic violence survivors are available, they are more likely to stay in unhealthy and unsafe relationships. An integral piece of providing this service is the "Promotoras" project. In addition to funding the outreach activities such as tablings, presentations and workshops, this award will fund a series of capacity building trainings for Latina survivors of domestic violence. The purpose of this training is to enable them to educate others in their communities about relationship abuse and disseminate information about available resources and services. These survivors will be known as "Promotoras," a Spanish word meaning, promoters. The training series will provide the leadership skills and knowledge necessary for them to work together with VIP staff to do outreach deep in the Latino communities where VIP is located.

Local		Rivera	Voices Unbroken	75-3077676		$10,000	DYCD	Voices UnBroken is respectfully seeking funding from City Council member Joen Rivera to administer creative writing workshops to hard-to-reach youth in The Bronx, including those who are incarcerated/detained, aging out of foster care and in a range of other challenging situations. The vast majority of these young people have never had access to arts programming and genuinely deserve to be offered the tools and opportunity to express themselves creatively and constructively. Voices UnBroken uses writing as a tool for engaging young people through our workshops. In an effort to maximize limited resources, we partner with local organizations, agencies and institutions to offer creative writing workshops to their constituents. Voices UnBroken participants, site staff, and facilitators tell us that through the workshops, young people make previously unseen improvements in their motivation, behavior, and life skills. Voices UnBroken workshops are facilitated by experienced teaching artists and meet for 1 1/2 - 2 hours twice a week for an average of ten weeks and culminate in a reading or publication of participant writing. Also, since 2007, Voices UnBroken has held a monthly Teen Poetry Open Mic at Starbucks in Parkchester. These Open Mics offer an opportunity for participants in Voices UnBroken workshops and local youth a safe and supportive space to perform their poetry and have their voices heard, often for the first time.

Local		Jackson	Washington Heights-Inwood Coalition	13-2989768		$30,000	DYCD	The Coalition strives to achieve optimal, affordable living conditions for tenants. When a tenant first visits our agency, a member of our housing staff analyzes her/his housing situation to identify any problems and formulate appropriate responses. We complete and file applications for apartments in public and private housing developments and for housing entitlements like Senior Citizens Rent Increase Exemptions, Disabled Rent Increase Exemptions and Section 8. We advocate on tenants behalf with public and private organizations. When tenants bring us issues with landlords concerning rent levels or needed repairs, the Coalition first contacts the owners in an attempt to negotiate solutions. If this fails, we file and follow up on complaints with appropriate City and State agencies. The Coalitions mediation program plays a vital role in our efforts to improve life for tenants. Mediation is a nonadversarial process in which S1 state-trained staff or volunteers help disputants to reach an agreement about how to resolve their conflict. We assist tenants to settle issues with landlords and supers, and we negotiate agreements between neighbors to reduce noise in complainants apartments. Our mediators resolve a wide range of other disputes. All successful mediation sessions improve living conditions for tenants and teach them constructive conflict management skills.

Initial programs of WSP have focused on the Bronx Bangladeshi community. They include English language classes at three levels, a community health promoter program, a Mothers' Club, a diabetes prevention program and an afterschool homework assistance program. If awarded funds from the City Council Discretionary Funds, WSP would use these funds to support our English language classes, Community Health Promoter program and DASH – our Drop-in After School Homework help program. Lack of English language proficiency contributes to social isolation, lack of competitiveness in the job market, and decreases access to available health and social services. WSP offers free ESOL classes to all community members. Funding from City Council would be used to support ESOL teacher salaries and enable us to expand the number of classes we offer. WSP Community Health Promoters organize health fairs, direct community residents to affordable health insurance, and offer health education on a variety of health topics. City Council funds would provide salary support of our community health promoters. DASH (Drop-in After School Homework help) is designed to bring mothers children together around the shared activity of homework. Many of the families we serve are very new immigrants and the children have limited English and study skill deficits. Their mothers also have limited English skills have difficulty helping their children with homework. We create jobs for structurally unemployed New Yorkers to take care of foreclosed properties while at the same time cleaning, beautifying and maintaining the surrounding neighborhoods. Workers come from public assistance rolls, shelters, and court involved populations, and they earn a training wage doing 21 hours of work a week while receiving vocational training, National Work Readiness Certification and career services. Their work in Queens includes cleaning and maintaining streets, collecting trash and litter, removing graffiti, "greening" public areas and trimming and mowing. A major component of their work includes servicing blighted foreclosed homes. To date, NIP crews have cleaned over 750 miles of streets, collected over 270,000 gallons of garbage, distributed 3,000 consumer education flyers and serviced 27 distressed homes in Queens. Accordingly to realtytrac.com, over 791 pre-foreclosure, auction block, or bank owned properties lie within a one mile radius of our current homebase of South Jamaica alone. We propose to expand NIP in Queens by adding a mobile team to work on foreclosed homes outside of our regular zone. An NIP project manager will work with your district office and other area stakeholders to identify particularly distressed homes are located. The project manager will dispatch the mobile team consisting of a supervisor and a team to clear debris, remove graffiti, mow overgrown areas, and trim shrubbery. We will also begin a special weekend service program focused on commercial corridors. The requested monies would cover the cost of a truck with the capacity to transport the team and necessary equipment and supplies.

Local		Reyna	Williamsburg Charter High School	42-1624009	*	$10,000	DOE	Williamsburg Charter High School requests 15,000 in discretionary funding from Councilmember Diana Reyna to support its in-school physical education program and its after school sports teams (Boys and Girls Basketball, Boys Baseball, Girls Softball). WCHS moved into its new, state-of-the-art facility in September 2010. The facility offers students a multi-purpose physical education room, a climbing wall and a cardiovascular and strength training room. However, until this point, WCHS's resources have been earmarked for instructional use in core classes (English, Math Science, Social Studies), leaving the schools physical education programs without the necessary funding to acquire adequate supplies, equipment or uniforms. In order to address this critical need of providing students with outlets for physical activity, WCHS needs additional funding to purchase physical education supplies, equipment and uniforms. An adequate supply of physical education supplies, equipment and uniforms will ensure that Williamsburg Charter High School has the resources to promote exercise and instill a passion for physical well-being in its students. Proposed discretionary funding will be used to purchase a variety of supplies and equipment, such as basketballs, volleyballs, baseballs, softballs, bats, gloves, jump ropes, a scale, yoga mats, etc. Proposed discretionary funding will also be used to support the purchase of uniforms for after school sports teams. WCHS does not have the resources to provide uniforms and a majority of families cannot afford them.

The shows will feature a variety of performances of dance, theatre, popular movies and music. They will be reflective of the cultural influences of the neighborhood, and can include performances of Indian, Irish, Mexican, Filipino, Chinese, Korean, Latin, and traditional American groups. They will also include various musical genres that appeal to the different tastes and age groups in the community, including, jazz, big band, classical, rock, country, swing, and blues. 8-12 will be concert/movies are planned ! depending on funding. Two Street Festivals will take place that will highlight local music and dance performance groups. These festivals are held in the heart of Woodside, from 63rd Street and Woodside Avenue, to 59th Street. Additionally, there are spots for more traditional rock, jazz, and popular music groups, as well as Irish step dance and bagpipe performances. 5 to 6 performances are provided at each festival. The Holiday Tree Lighting Concert is a traditional neighborhood celebration of the winter season involving school children in choral and dance performances. Neighborhood school children make decorations for the tree and local businesses donate hot chocolate, cakes, and prizes for the children. The objectives of the proposed projects are directly in line with those of our organization: to develop and increase community involvement and awareness in order to promote neighborhood stability and quality of life improvement, while providing exposure to and develop! ing an appreciation for, the arts in a variety of forms.
Local		Van Bramer	Woodside on the Move, Inc.	11-2435565	*	$15,000	DYCD	Woodside on the Move, Inc.'s proposes to offer Adult Basic Literacy program services. Participants will be provided with a mix of academic reading and math and testing services to aide them with improving their basic reading, writing, math and comprehension skills. Those that are eligible will be recommended for the GED exam. We believe we will be able to address the very critical need of Adult and Young adult literacy in this community. We have day to day access with parents, and care givers of the more than 600 students we serve in our afterschool and summer employment programs. Our Housing Services Department, serves over 1500 clients and 80 of those clients are English language learners. We know firsthand the needs of this community. Many of the parents of the students attending our afterschool programs are English Language Learners, who lack basic adult literacy in the academic areas of English and Math. Over the past 5 years we have observed that our parents lack the ability to successfully assist their children in their academic progress due to their limited English language acquisition and abilities. We believe this service is critically needed in this community. Due to the services that we currently provided to these families, we believe that we will be very successful in recruiting and enrolling adults and young adults into our program, directly drawing from the pool of families already enrolled in our programs. In the past five years, WOTM has run a basic skills and job readiness training program for young adults and has in the past operated an Adult job training and basic skills program.

Launched in 2003, the goals of the program are to a) increase the number of high school students who are certified financially literate, b) influence student financial behavior through instruction and c) measure the level of student knowledge of personal finance through assessment. Through the program, participating schools receive the tools they need to teach a course on personal finance and administer our Financial Literacy Certification Test. Teachers receive orientations, training, a curriculum outline, educational support materials, online practice tests and a paper-based or online Certification Test to assess student knowledge. The Certification Test is available in English or Spanish. Students who pass the Test become Certified Financially Literate, earning a CFL; those who earn a score of 95 or higher are honored at our Scholarsâ€™ Reception in June. Teachers and schools are recognized for the performance of their students on the test. Teachers in whose class 90 of their students become Gold Star teachers and schools in which 75 or more of their students pass the test become Blue Star schools. A 5,000 grant from Council Member Ignizio will help wlse to expand the Financial Literacy Certification Program in New York City in 2011-2012 and offer it in Tottenville High School, reaching it 700 senior students.

Local		Vallone	World Cares Center, Inc.	41-2024802	*	$3,500	DFTA	World Cares Center (WCC) respectfully requests 5,000 to deliver its Grassroots Readiness and Response: Senior Training series to senior citizens in your district. This workshop empowers its senior participants to emerge as hazard preventers and prepared volunteers, rather than as victims, following a disaster. According to the Pew Research Center, one child in ten lives with a grandparent in the United States. Not only is it important to educate seniors about disaster preparedness, response, and recovery, but to also encourage them to learn household hazard mitigation techniques and to use their position as community leaders to pass on life saving information. Due to recent city budget cuts and subsequent closings of several senior centers, it is important that seniors throughout the city continue to receive support and be involved in their community. The outline of the series breaks down as such: •Basic Grassroots Readiness and Response I: Comprehensive Preparedness (2 hours) This foundational workshop guides senior citizens through all the steps of preparedness—for the individual, family, workplace, and community—creating a comprehensive and meaningful plan that meets the needs of each participant involved. •Intermediate Grassroots Readiness and Response II: Bridging the Divide (2 hours) Bridging the Divide educates seniors about disaster response agencies within their own community, state and nation that are there to help in time of disaster. In this workshop participants create community assessment resource guides. •Advanced Grassroots Readiness and Response III: Powerful Volunteering and Community Leadership (2 hours) This advanced community-based workshop enables seniors to take a closer look at the skills they possess and how they can become powerful volunteers. Participants also examine what disaster volunteering opportunities are available and how they can become more involved in their community.
Local		Levin	Woven Spaces Inc	11-3348710	*	$3,500	DYCD	The Greenpoint Film Festival will put Greenpoint on the map as a cultural/research/educational center for high quality international and local film, art, and much more. We estimate a minimum of 5000 people over the course of three days (Fri,Sat,Sun) in early October 2011, will come into the area to enjoy high quality cutting edge programming that includes: independent and/or outstanding filmmakers like David Lynch, shorts, as well as documentary films. One component of the festival will be dedicated to ENVIRONMENTAL with a section of commissioned shorts. We have been offered space by Broadway Stages as well as two other sources and are planning partnering options with other institutions like Film Anthology Archives for wider outreach and marketing resources. We are also planning some partnership initiatives with restaurants, pubs, and local establishments to keep film festival visitors local and promote the art and business community. This is the first of an on-going yearly festival.
Local		Fidler	Wyckoff House Association, Inc.	11-2615053		$10,250	DCA	The oldest building in New York City, the Pieter Claesen Wyckoff House, acquired by the family in1652, is one of the few structures still standing from the period of Dutch rule in the American colonies. The Wyckoff House, a national historic landmark, is New York City's first designated landmark. Today, now a museum, the House serves as a primary source for students to learn about Brooklyn's colonial history, which supplements their classroom curriculum. Our on-site school visit program complies with New York City and New York State Learning Standards on the Elementary, Intermediate and Commencement Levels for English Language Arts, Literacy, Social Studies, and Science. Schools come to the museum primarily from Brooklyn (every district), Queens and Manhattan. Our educators bring history alive and engage students in creative hands-on activities. For example, in a typical lesson, students touch artifacts, hear a historical narrative, have a group discussion, learn how to play colonial games, and create a craft individually by hand. By using such diverse learning methods, students rarely have time to get bored, and every student has a chance to do a type of activity that they enjoy while, often inadvertently, learning the rich history of Brooklyn and New Amsterdam. Our programs include Urban Ecology, Colonial Life, Immigration Colonization, Colonial Learning Leisure and African-American Lives. New for 2011-12 will be a series of one-day workshops for elementary, middle and high school teachers featuring leading scholars on such topics as Slavery in New York: Past Present, Immigration: Past Present and Farming in New York, Past Present as means of enriching their course offerings and demonstrating the relevance of history to contemporary life and issues.

Local	Greenfield	CC	Yeled VValda Early Childhood Center Inc	11-3050340		$10,000	DYCD	The requested funding will be used for YVYs Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) Program for children who have been diagnosed with autism/pervasive developmental disorder (PDD). Specific intervention approaches to service these children are based on an applied behavior analysis model (ABA) in conjunction with sensory integration, and oral motor/speech therapy. Each child within the program has an individualized prescriptive program designed to address appropriate areas of education, communication, social interactions, and activities of daily living. Each child receives one to one services from a team composed of specially trained ABA therapists with specialization in special education, speech pathology, and occupational and physical therapy. Team members meet daily to plan the instructional activities to achieve the desired outcomes and objectives. Team members participate in continuing professional development designed to further the autistic child. The program also provides family training and support in dealing with the autistic child. The program makes available parent counseling and training services which include assisting parents to understand the needs of the development of the autistic child, coordination between school and home, and support the family in the behavior management of the autistic child. The requested funding for the ABA program will be utilized to achieve the following: • To enhance the quality of the program and staff through the support of a professional development program for the ABA therapists. • To enhance the span of supervision of the program and of the ABA therapists. • To provide the requisite support to parents of autistic children through the establishment of a Community Parent Center. • To provide the program with the necessary supplies,toys and equipment to effectively service the autistic child. • To provide the proper physical environment where the autistic child will be able to develop at his/her ownpace.
Local		Rivera	Yes the Bronx, Inc.	56-2655936	*	$20,000	DYCD	To increase public awareness of the growing obesity epidemic, and encourage Bronxites to modify daily behavior, embracing healthy foods and exercise (any activity, from walking to soccer), Yes the Bronx started its Project Obesity initiative, currently consisting of two programs: (1) RUN FOR YOUR LIFE, consisting of eight 5K Bronx race/walks. Bronx County has the highest obesity rate in NYS and ranks among the top five counties nationally. NYC's health department statistics paint a grim picture: In the Bronx, 24.5 of 18-24 year olds are already obese, along with 30.3 of persons age 25-44, 31.8 of persons age 45-64, and 26.4 of persons age 65 and older. NYS Department of Health lists Bronx County last among 62 counties in the ranking of health factors and health outcomes. Here is the opportunity: The Bronx is 27 parkland, more than in NYC's other four boroughs. The goal of our eight race/walks across the Bronx is getting people back in the parks, exercising. Getting fit, staying healthy, and eating smart are the three keys to reducing obesity. USA Track and Field sanctioned our past two races and is expanding this series with Yes The Bronx. NY Presbyterian has already agreed to partially sponsor one of our 2011 races, with employees present to address health concerns of participants. Our tentative 2011 schedule (pending permit approvals and funding) for eight Run for Your Life race/walks includes the following parks: Crotona, Hunts Point Riverside, Pelham Bay, Soundview, St. James, Van Cortlandt, along with the NY Botanical Garden and the Bronx Zoo. (2) ENERGIZE THE BRONX, another component of our obesity awareness initiative, introduced at the 2007 NYC Marathon, is the designated cheering section Yes The Bronx created to greet runners as they enter the Bronx off the Willis Avenue Bridge at 135th Street; we cheer the marathoners and encourage Bronxites to get involved in our Run for Your Life

Youth		Jackson	Advocates for Children of New York, Inc.	11-2247307		$4,000	DYCD	The onlywide jii chance education helpline assists parents in an five boroughs who are trying to help their children succeed in school. Helpline staff guide callers in making important educational decisions by disseminating information and advice to parents, family members, and service providers about how to navigate the New York City public school system. The Helpline is the only independent, comprehensive source of instant, free consultation on almost any public school-related issue, including, for example, accommodations for a student who uses an asthma inhaler; what to do if your school is closing or moving; safety transfers to another school; special education; promotional standards; or options available in bilingual education/ESL. Our Education Helpline is staffed by both English-language and Spanish-language speakers, with additional capacity to serve callers of other languages as needed due to Advocates for Children's contract with a telephonic interpretation and translation service. With support from the City Council over the past five years, we have been able to hire dedicated Helpline staff and make the Helpline available four days a week from 10:00 am to 4:00 pm, greatly increasing the number of families we can serve. In calendar year 2010, the Helpline assisted 4,036 callers. All staff who work on Helpline undergo an intensive training program on the educational system and are provided with a manual on educational advocacy and services prepared by AFC's Deputy Director, Director of Legal Services, and the Helpline Supervisors. The Director of Legal Services regularly reviews calls with Helpline staff to ensure that the information provided is legally appropriate and that callers in need of an attorney may have their cases reviewed. AFC seeks City Council funding this year so we may continue to provide service to the thousands of people who reach out to us for help and all too often have nowhere else to go.

Youth	Lander	Arab-American Family Support Center, Inc., The	11-3167245	*	$3,500	DYCD	American youths throughout Brooklyn, Our program provides homework help, art crafts activities, Arabic language classes, one-on-one tutoring, free SAT college classes and weekend field trips. Additional support will allow us to offer more projects for the kids we serve. One thing they are constantly asking for is more information related to college. For the majority of our kids, they will be the first to ever attend college (or at least the first to attend in the U.S.), and neither they nor their parents are familiar with the process. This project will include a series of workshops on matters related to college, including: selecting a major; finding the right school; career opportunities; and financial aid. Additionally, we would love to include field trips to local colleges (both in the City and further away) so that the students could see the experience of being on a college campus. This would be a tremendous experience for our kids and would help them see the world beyond their own small community. The whole concept of a college awareness program came directly from the youths we serve. They expressed an interest in learning more about college and how the process works. The fundamental goal of our youth program is to help young people pursue all of the academic opportunities available to them.

Youth	Weprin	Asian American Coalition for Children and Families, Inc.	13-3682471		$3,500	DYCD	The Youth Leadership Program consists of 40 NYC Asian Pacific American (APA) public high school students from all five boroughs. The program will launch with a retreat of 8 full-day sessions focused on exploring identity, team-building, and learning about college readiness. The youth leaders will meet weekly after school for 30 weeks in the 2011-12 school year. They will collectively work on an action research project focused on improving college readiness in schools. They will learn to analyze a problem and identify recommendations to solve it. The Program Coordinator will facilitate these conversations and provide an analytical framework for the youth leaders. They will develop the following skills: critical thinking, public speaking, writing, responsibility, civic engagement, and team work. They will then be split up into groups of 5 students and will be responsible for conducting at least one workshop each for 20-30 student! s on college readiness, reaching at least 400 of their peers. CACF will implement our Parent Leadership Program by empowering 20 immigrant APA parents to promote equity and access for New York City's APA families. They will meet 1-2 times per month during 2011-12. The parent leaders will be educated on the rights of parents and children in the child welfare, education, and health systems, resources to support their families, and opportunities to become more civically engaged. They will receive training on how to facilitate workshops, outreach to community members, and build coalitions. Parents will then be split up into groups of 5 responsible for organizing at least one workshop each for 10-15 parents focused on the rights of parents and children, reaching at least 50 of their peers. Through these workshops, the parent leaders and their peers will learn about their rights and their children's rights, determine changes that need to take place in schools and neighborhoods to support their child's well-being, and take action to make changes.

Youth		Dickens	Ballet Theatre Foundation, Inc.	13-1882106	*	$4,000	DYCD	For more than 10 years, ABT has partnered with public schools and social service organizations in New York City to provide the highest-level arts education instruction, at little or no cost to its partners. Our goal is to introduce ballet to young people who otherwise might not be exposed to classical dance, foster an appreciation for the performing arts, and develop and educate future audiences. As a leading arts educator, ABT looks particularly to serve the most underserved public schools in New York City, where slashed budgets have left students with no arts programming. ABT at School, previously funded at P.S. 208 with an allocation from Councilmember Dickens, is designed to offer arts education initiatives in public school grades 2 to 5. Students in participating schools receive two visits from an ABT Teaching Artist, who leads them through warm-up exercises, movement studies to build coordination skills, balance- and strength-building exercises, across-the-floor sequences, allegro jumps, and partnering. Teaching Artists incorporate many of the Department of Educations Blueprint for Teaching and Learning in the Arts guidelines that empower and enable the students to practice creativity, responsibility, and independence through hands-on activities. To enhance their understanding of dance, students also receive complimentary tickets to an ABT program at Lincoln Center, where they have the opportunity to see a live ballet performance, often for the very first time. ABT prepares students for what they will see by providing historical background on the ballets being performed and on the Company as a whole, as well as instructing them in related movement structures and discussing the worksâ€™ plots and themes. Additionally, ABT distributes study guides so that teachers can continue incorporating the arts into their classrooms. A legislative grant of 5,000 will enable ABT to offer ABT at School at ! two schools of the Councilmembers choice in District 9.
Youth		Lander	Bangladesh Institute of Performing Arts, Inc.	11-3249055	*	$5,000	DYCD	Bangladesh Institute of Performing Arts (BIPA) requests funds to sustain operations and support arts classes and public performances serving Kensington//borough Park/Coney Island and other residence of Dist 39 with a focus on the Bangladeshi community. BIPA offers affordable classes in traditional Bangladeshi dance,music,instrumental,visual Art form,foreign language(Bangla) and stages students/teachers/emerging artists performance. Building on a successful 18 year history in Queens, BIPA began to offer classes for children(5-15)in Kensington in 2010, and is now looking to expand its services in Brooklyn in response to high demand. BIPA served 100 students in 2010 and plans to serve more students with an expanded roster of classes in 2011. Depending on enrollment BIPA classes meet weekly for 44 weeks in a year. BIPA also plans a 2 month intensive course during summer vacation. BIPA students are from age 5 to over 18. BIPA is the only cultural organization working to serve and preserve the cultural heritage of Bangladeshi community in Brooklyn. Parents are happy to have an affordable way for their children to learn their history and build arts skills. Bangladeshi housewives bringing their children to class in Kensington have expressed an interest in also receiving music training; BIPA plans to offer classes to interested parents of students for the first time in coming year, and hopes this will serve as an inter-generational activity as mothers help their children practice music at home. All BIPA classes culminate performances of students performing alongside emerging artists. These concerts, usually held in school auditoriums, are free and open to the public and serve as a bridge to forge relationships between different communities, and reach a large number of low-income audience members.

Youth		Dickens	Big Apple Circus, Ltd.	13-2906037	*	$5,000	DYCD	Clown Care, the Big Apple Circus signature community outreach program, is in residence at 16 pediatric hospitals nationwide, including six in New York. Michael Christensen created the program in 1986, based on his desire to provide a needed service to a chronically underserved population. In partnership with a participating hospital's chief medical and administrative staff, members of the Clown Care team conduct their own version of medical rounds, spreading humors healing power everywhere they go. Currently, 80 committed and talented professional artists go on clown rounds in teams of two, one to five days a week, year-round, making nearly 225,000 visits annually to young patients. There are 25 doctors working in New York, with responsibility for approximately 63,000 of these interactions. All clown doctors are trained in specific hygienic practices and protocols related to interacting with hospitalized children in inpatient wards, intensive care units, emergency rooms, and in physical therapy, bone marrow transplant, pediatric AIDS, outpatient and acute care clinics. Pediatric care facilities are constantly challenged to find innovative and effective ways to care for their young patients emotional wellbeing and provide a support system for families and staff. Most of the Circus hospital partners have Child Life programs that seek to bridge the gap between the familiar environment of home and the sometimes-intimidating environment of the hospital. Clown Care augments and complements these activities with humor and parody in order to reduce the anxiety, sadness, and isolation that a child can experience during a hospital stay. The clown doctors presence and antics also directly benefit parents, siblings and other caregivers. While the Clown Care teams are focused on providing relief to patients, they also strive to be fully integrated with the clinical and psycho-social team at all partner facilities, helping staff do their respective jobs.

Youth		Jackson	Boys and Girls Club of Harlem	13-3012951	*	$5,000	DYCD	In Working for Children: Safe and Smart After-School Programs (2000), experts reported, "children who are left alone when school ends have more difficulties with their class work than those who participate in after-school programs. Not only is the latter group of students more likely to succeed academically, they are also much more self-confident." Other studies have linked after-school programs to improved behavior at school and an overall increased interest in learning. This proposal respectfully requests a grant of 45,000 from Council Member Robert Jackson to support after school programming at three of the Boys Girls Club of Harlem's four locations serving children 6 to 18. The Club's after school programs supports the goals of the Council agenda by promoting literacy, providing quality after school programs to assist working parents, and career planning and job training.

Youth		Rodriguez	Broadway League, Inc., The	13-0951470		$5,000	DYCD	The Broadway League is respectfully requesting 5,000 for its "Family First Nights" program. This past year over 200 families were served working with different community organizations in all five boroughs, including the Bronx YMCA at ELLIS Preparatory Academy in your district. The Broadway League created Family First Nights as a way to introduce families from underserved communities to live theatre and encourage children to develop a life-long appreciation for the art form, an opportunity many participants may not otherwise have. Working with Council Member Rodriguez, the Broadway League will partner with a local social service agency to identify families and coordinate program logistics. Families in the program commit to attend the theatre together three times over the course of a year and coordinate with the local social service agency to arrange transportation. Families will take part in post-performance discussions with the cast and production staff of the shows, and are given packets with information on the theatre and the specific show. Sponsors of the program are invited to join the families at their designated location before departing for photos and an opportunity to meet the participants. Families have recently attended performances of MEMPHIS, IN THE HEIGHTS, THE COLOR PURPLE, BILLY ELLIOT, THE ADDAMS FAMILY, SHREK, THE PHANTOM OF THE OPERA, HAIRSPRAY and many other Broadway productions. By engaging families in repeated experiences through multiple productions, Family First Nights offers the opportunity to make live theatre part of their cultural heritage, as well as educate children on the many non-performing job opportunities available in our industry. The Broadway League is the national trade association for the Broadway industry. The League's 700-plus members including theatre owners and operators, producers, presenters, and general managers help bring Broadway to more than 30 million people in New York each year.

Youth	Lander	Brooklyn Historical Society, The	11-1630813	*	$3,500	DYCD	BHS will reproduce and distribute poster-sized copies of The Plan of the City of New York in North America, a map created by Bernard Ratzer in the late 1760s, to classrooms throughout Brooklyn. The reproductions of the map will be accompanied by historical context, lesson plans and classroom activities that will enable students and teachers throughout Brooklyn to deepen their understanding of and engagement with Brooklyn history. According to map historian Paul E. Cohen, the Ratzer map "is perhaps the finest map of an American city and its environs produced in the 18th century." Lieutenant Bernard Ratzer was a British engineer and surveyor who was commissioned by the British Army to make military maps; his work mostly involved surveying terrain and creating maps to be used by the British military during the French and Indian War and the Revolutionary War. In late 1767 Ratzer conducted extensive surveying of Manhattan and Kings County. Ratzer's map was the first to provide a detailed view of the predevelopment topography of Manhattan as well as a detailed rendering of the then agrarian landscape of Brooklyn and Queens and a small portion of New Jersey. In addition to its topographical detail, the map also shows major roads and country lanes, as well as names of property owners. The map has many recognizable names: the Road to Flatbush, Red Hook, Bedfore and in Manhattan, Turtle Bay. Other areas on the map have entirely different names than their current nomenclature, and in some cases, there are two names, indicating clearly that New York was in a lively period of transition. With a legislative grant of 10,000, BHS will be able to reproduce and distribute copies of The Plan of the City of New York in North America to classrooms throughout Brooklyn. The posters and accompanying material will enable students and teachers throughout Brooklyn to interpret the richly textural history of Brooklyn and connect contemporary Brooklyn with its agrarian roots.
Youth	Lander	Brooklyn Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, Inc.	11-1773636		$3,500	DYCD	Brooklyn Philharmonic, under the leadership of new Artistic Director Alan Pierson, aims to continue its Education and Community programming in Brooklyn's 39th district in FY12. Brooklyn Phil's programs develop musical thinkers through active participation and fulfill NY State Standards in Music and the five strands of the NYC Music Blueprint. These programs offered in the 39th district include SCORE at Brooklyn School for Collaborative Studies; a Senior Center concert at Cobble Hill Senior Center; and School Time Concerts, attended last season by PS 130, PS 230, PS 179, and the Hannah Senesh School. SCORE, previously called the School Residency Initiative, is a twelve week music composition residency bringing professional teaching artists and musicians directly into the classroom. Through the lens of their academic subjects, students compose their own music and are empowered by hearing their work performed by Brooklyn Phil musicians. School Time Concerts (STC), our full orchestra performances, are programmed to include elements that students can innately relate to, regardless of their previous musical experiences. This season's program features the music of Brooklyn and New York composers George Gershwin, Duke Ellington, and Leonard Bernstein. In advance of the concerts, teachers receive a study guide and are invited to participate in a free workshop to assist them in preparing their students for experience. Senior Center Tours by Brooklyn Phil soloists and duets feature music ranging from Bach to Cole Porter. Percussionist William Trigg and vocalist Mary Trigg gave 11 senior center concerts throughout Brooklyn in November 2010, including Cobble Hill Senior Center. Thanks in part to support from Councilman Lander, SCORE school fees and STC's ticket prices are low and Senior Center Tours are free. Larger support could allow us to increase our offerings in District 39.

Youth	Levin	Brooklyn Youth Chorus Academy	11-3129249	*	$8,500	DYCD	The GRAMMY Award-winning Brooklyn Youth Chorus Academy was founded in 1992 with a mission of helping young people of all backgrounds realize their potential as musicians and individuals. BYCA now stands as one of the country's leading youth choruses, providing a comprehensive music education program of unparalleled quality to students of all cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds. BYCA is exceptional for its experiential approach to music education; for its inclusive approach to helping children succeed musically; for its commitment to diversity, both musical and cultural; and for the extraordinarily high quality of its concert performances. BYCA has performed with a wide-range of world-class performers such as the New York Philharmonic, London Symphony Orchestra, Elton John, Alicia Keys and Lou Reed. Few music organizations combine a commitment to broad service and inclusiveness with such high artistic goals. BYCA is both an educational institution and a group of progressively advanced performing ensembles. We serve over 325 students each year who study and perform as part of a choral ensemble grouped by age, skill and experience. BYCA respectfully requests the funding from the New York City Council to support and expand its Financial Aid Program. BYCA keeps tuition low, from 650-875 per year, and ensures that no student is turned away due to an inability to pay. BYCA continues to raise its commitment to offering financial aid in the face of rising need, currently offering over 85,000 in financial aid to roughly 100 students and nearly a third of our chorister population. An all-time record for BYCA. We seek to strengthen and further expand our financial aid program in FY 12 by offering support to additional 25 disadvantaged youngsters who would otherwise not be able to attend our program. The impact of this increased financial aid support will be as follows: •Provide 175 young people from low-income families access to high-quality music education

(BIS). As provided for in the Certificate of Incorporation and the by-laws of the Bushwick Improvement Society, Inc., our mission is to provide Child Care and educational services to low-income working and non-working families of the Bushwick and Williamsburg communities of Brooklyn, New York. The BIS at Stagg Street Center for Children is located in community school district 14 of the Department of Education and Horace Greene CCC in district 32. Both programs offer pre-school and school-age services for children ranging in age from two years old to twelve years old. Funding for this program is primarily from the Agency for Child Development, but both programs also provide Universal Pre-Kindergarten classes and both have a contract with the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) which is under USDA to provide food services to all children. We are requesting funding in three specific areas of extreme need in our programs. First, we need funding for our literacy and cultural volunteers to have a background fingerprint clearance(10 X 115.00=1150.00)in order to work with our children and families. Second we desperately need to bring in a health professional to provide supervision for Medicals and MAT certified staff members.(2000.00 for 12 Months) And finally our schoolage afterschool programs are in need of games and equipment for their activities and programs.

Big Green Theater's co-project managers and teaching artists teach playwriting and environmental education to local students in an after school setting, and help them construct and write plays about relevant, community-based environmental issues. These students will then have the opportunity to work with skilled artists at The Bushwick Starr as we professionally produce their plays. It is our goal to encourage the kids to think creatively about re-directing any kind of activity or production in an environmentally friendly way. The Bushwick Starr works with an ensemble of trained actors, directors, and designers to stage the students' plays. We ask these professionals to challenge themselves to work within the Green Theater movement. For example: use only recycled materials for sets, costumes, props, etc.; design sets with disassembly in mind; avoid foams or plastics; and utilizing online ticketing and programming (no more paper programs!). Through the process of creating Big Green Theater, we educate our artists on environmental issues in the theater to show that one can continue to make creative work while thinking "green."

CASYM started with a soccer program. Since then, CASYM launched arts, cultural, and educational programs to meet the needs of the young people primarily in the Crown Heights and Flatbush communities as well as surrounding communities. The programs were first offered in three schools. In the last four years CASYM has expanded to now provide its program to schools in various community districts. CASYM is seeking funding for general operational support to aid the mission and programs of CASYM. Your financial contribution will enable CASYM to fulfill its mission to enrich lives of young people through the arts, continue and strengthen its current programs, and explore the potential of expanding existing programs. Today CASYM serves thousands of young people in the various community districts. Providing its program to schools in various community districts and more recently working with various nursing and rehabilitation centers such as Dr. Susan Smith McKinney, providing steelpan as a therapy for the residents. CASYM is a community-based youth development and arts organization dedicated to supporting the creative, educational, and vocational development of at-risk youth of the African Diaspora. CASYM was founded by parents of Caribbean backgrounds to serve young people in the Crown Heights community. Since it was founded, CASYM has continually sought to enhance the lives of the young people it serves. They are typically from low-income households. CASYM offers programs in dance, drama, and music. The programs are structured to teach responsibility, provide positive role models and mentors, and encourage professionalism and good citizenship. The organization received a citation from former Brooklyn Borough President Howard Golden. CASYM works with and has collaborated with the seven public and parochial schools in the Crown Heights community.

Youth	Dickens	Child Abuse Prevention Program, Inc.	11-2864750	$4,000	DYCD	CAPP's Child Safety Workshop is a primary prevention and crisis intervention program that provides children with abuse prevention education and offers an opportunity for children who have experienced abuse to get help and begin the intervention process immediately. Last year, 24,800 children throughout the five boroughs of New York City attended the Child Safety Workshop, 407 families were referred for intervention, including 147 abuse reports to Child Protective Services. A grant of 9,000 will educate an additional 600 children about physical and sexual abuse in the neighborhoods within your City Council District. Statistical data over the last few years indicates that prevention programs like CAPP's Child Safety Workshop are having an important impact on our community. Because of programs like ours, we are beginning to see evidence of a decline in the number of reported child sexual abuse cases in the United States. We are making incredible progress and all of us have a role to play in the efforts to end child abuse.

Youth	Rodriguez	Children's Aid Society, The	13-5562191	*	$8,000	DYCD	The Children's Aid Society respectfully requests 15,000 to support our after-school and youth development programs at PS 152, PS 5, and Salome Urena de Henriquez Campus. The program at PS 152 provides 260 youth with invaluable after-school opportunities, such as arts, sports, technology, and science. Sixty-nine children are currently on the waitlist. Our after-school program at PS 5 serves 240 youth and has a waitlist of 103 students. SUMA serves 200 youth after-school. Each of these schools is also a Children's Aid Society community school. Our community schools offer comprehensive health, dental, mental health and social services to students, in addition to extensive after-school, enrichment, evening, weekend, holiday and summer programming, and classes for adults. This model has a proven track record of positive outcomes, including improved student achievement, improved mental and physical health, higher teacher and student attendance, and increased parental involvement. Your support will give families valuable child care that can ease the challenges of this tough economic time. More than that, our after-school program covers a wide variety of disciplines and interests, such as character education, career development, arts, sports and life skills, so that every child finds a program that builds on his/her strengths and fills any learning gaps. With your support of these programs, more than 700 youth in your district will be safe, engaged, learning and on the path to a healthy adolescence and successful education.

Youth	Levin	Citizen Schools Inc	04-3259160	*	$3,500	DYCD	Citizen Schools works to change life trajectories for low-income students. We do this by partnering with public middle schools in low income, high-need communities and extend their learning day by 3 hours each day (a 35 increase over the regular school day). In that time, we work on academic support; 21st Century skills like teamwork, leadership, public speaking; and, most importantly, we help learning come to life for students through our apprenticeship model. Apprenticeships are taught by professionals in the private and public sector over a 10-week period on subjects that they are passionate about. For instance this past semester we had law students teach public speaking through a mock trial apprenticeship and a few teams of Google engineers teach math through video game design. At the end of the apprenticeship, the students present what they learned in a final product called a WOW! in front of an audience. Each WOW! incorpo! rates the content of the apprenticeship and ensure students are developing and using those 21st century skills. Part of what makes us unique and successful is that we have full-time staff in the school during the school day. They prepare for the 3-6pm program time by integrating into the school during the day. They observe teachers as they demonstrate both pedagogical and content knowledge, so that they can teach more effectively during the academic blocks of the Citizen Schools program. That way, when a teacher teaches fractions in a certain way, our staff knows that method as well and can streamline communication with the school staff and students. Additionally, our staff knows when tests are, both school and standardized, and can help students prepare in whichever way makes the most sense. This presence in the school also strengthens our school and community relationships. Our ultimate goal is to transform public education, so that all children are graduating from high school ready for college, work and civic life in the 21st Century.

Youth	Mealy	City Parks Foundation	13-3561657	*	$3,500	DYCD	City Parks Foundation will offer 3 free concerts, free tennis and track and field instruction, and education programs. CityParks Tennis provides free equipment and instruction to youth ages 5-16, twice a week, for six weeks every summer. This free program lets young people learn the sport and progress through three levels of instruction, with additional opportunities to build their knowledge and skills through tournaments, clinics, and an advanced training academy. Hundreds of graduates have won college scholarships, achieved regional and national rankings, and a talented handful has even played at the US Open. CityParks Track Field offers a variety of track and field events, including short distance running with hurdles, javelin, shot put, and long jump, to youth ages 5 to 16, twice a week, for six weeks. The program culminates with a citywide track meet held at Icahn Stadium on Randall's Island, where our young athletes! compete individually and in teams representing their home park in six track and field events. Learning Gardens rehabilitates abandoned lots and turns them into vibrant community gardens, where we offer structured educational lessons to school children and community groups. CPF educators provide structured lessons during the academic year, a six-week summer program, a growing number of high-school internships, and workshops, festivals and family days that are open to all community members. For elementary and middle school classes, the program offers a continuous series of interdisciplinary lessons in the classroom, in the winter, and in the garden in the warmer months. In addition, Learning Gardens also provides the teachers of participating classes with high-quality professional development workshops and sustained technical support, enabling them to effectively integrate garden lessons into their everyday teaching practice, thereby impacting students and classes for years to come.

Youth	Jackson	City-ARTS, Inc.	13-2766701	*	$3,500	DYCD	CITYarts and LitWorld unite to provide a very much needed, long-term art project for the youth in Polo Grounds, Harlem that will uplift the spirits of the under-served youth, foster children, and girls clubs that use the community center. Through this project, the participants will learn artistic skills that will enable and empower them to transform their own community and instill in them a sense of pride and ownership of a space where they spend much of their time. The collaboration will kick-off with a series of art workshops that will engage and excite youth to design and paint a large mural at the Polo Grounds Community Center, one of the Children's Village sites. The mural and art workshops will work to transform the lives of the youth and their families by strengthening relationships, building teamwork skills, and introducing them to the joy and pride of the creative process and its results. We ultimately intend to create a 33 foot exterior mural on the entrance of the Polo Grounds Community Center on the theme of "community identity." The mural will be designed by the Girls Club at the center and painted by youth and their families in Polo Grounds as well as volunteer groups citywide. The collaboration with LitWorld will challenge the girls to incorporate their personal stories into the design, connecting the creative right side of the brain with the logical left. The mural will serve as a reminder of everything the youth accomplished through the process. It is our hope that youth build leadership skills through the mural process and help to encourage a sense of community pride in the individuals living in Harlem.

Youth	Vann	College Community Services, Inc.	11-6025023	*	$5,000	DYCD	We are requesting support for the 2011-12 season to present over 40 world class cultural and arts education programs to more than 60,000 Brooklyn adults, children, and multi-generational families at highly affordable prices ranging from 7 to 45 and five public performances free of charge. BCBC serves numerous multi-ethnic and traditional populations of Brooklyn, embracing the cultural, economic, and demographic diversity of the borough through its programming, pricing, and marketing. Our target audiences include: A) first, second and third-generation African-American and Caribbean-American, Russian, Jewish, and Latino patrons; B) seniors; C) students ranging from Pre-K level to advanced degrees; D) Brooklynites from all economic levels, from Cobble Hill Brownstoners to single parent households from East New York. We offer live music, dance, and theater performances, providing Brooklynites the opportunity to experience arts from around the world directly in their neighborhood. FY12 season highlights include the National Dance Theatre Company of Jamaica, The Moscow Festival Ballet, Mufaro's Beautiful Daughters, Improvised Shakespeare, and others. SchoolTime, BCBC's series of weekday matinees, is one of the largest arts-education programs in Brooklyn. Its objective is to expose children pre-K through 12th grade to culturally relevant and educationally enriching programming at affordable 7 tickets (free tickets for chaperons). Most of the performances are literacy-based and/or curriculum-based (history, social sciences, and science). BCBC assists teachers with integrating live performing arts into school curricula by publishing study guides on our website. SchoolTime will include 30 performances, projected to serve 40,000 schoolchildren from over 250 schools. Over 80 of the students served are minorities, 77 come from New York City public schools. 33 of the public schools are Title I schools. A large number of schoolchildren served are your constituents.

Youth		Sanders	Community Youth Care	77-0695007	*	$3,500	DYCD	CYCSI manages an Afterschool Program at PS 176Q that provides a strong academic component Monday to Thursdays and social activities which includes music, drama, art, sports and dance on Fridays. This funding request is to support the Homework Assistance and Music segments of the program with three instructors. We are continuing to enhance these segments due to parents increasing concern about the quality of their childrens education in light of reduced DOE funding, over crowded classrooms and reduction in enrichment programs. We would like three licensed teachers for the testing grades (3-5) to provide instruction during homework assistance and more importantly to provide classroom (smaller class size,1:7) tutoring during March and April to prepare students for the NYC ELA and Math tests. We would also like to add a credentialed musician to support the music segment of the program on Fridays and Spring Break. Funding Request: - 2 licensed teachers, 5 hours per week for 40 weeks during 2011.12 School Year plus 6 hours per day, for six days during spring break 2012. - Music instructor, 3 hours per week, 40 weeks during 2011.12 plus 4 hours per day, six days during spring break 2012.

Youth		Reyna	Conselyea Street Block Association, Inc.	11-2347180	*	$15,000	DYCD	Small Worlds After-School Program picks up children from several local schools. Upon arrival to our Center, the children are provided with a well balanced, nutritious meal while school is in session. After their meal, the children engage in a variety of educational, creative and physical activities that encourage and nurture school age children to gain confidence and independence. This program is designed to supplement the child's learning in school through a creative array of educational and recreational activities. Each child is given the opportunity to make decisions, gain self-awareness from relationships with peers, and develop their potential. When school is not in session, and during the summer, we offer a full day program that provides opportunities for exploration in a variety of areas, such as movement, art, dance, and various sports. Weekly outings take the children to the city, movies, plays, bowling, state parks, amusement parks, restaurants and museums. Funding received will be used to pay for salaries in order to operate the above mentioned program.

Youth		Mealy	Constitutional Education Foundation, Inc.	13-3513266	*	$5,000	DYCD	The Constitution Works (TCW) teaches today's young people (in grades 5-12) how to become tomorrow's informed and active citizens through its classroom program that develops habits of research and civic discourse and assist students in every educational, career, and civic endeavor they undertake. TCW's teacher workshops and staff development familiarize educators with our purpose and activities while engaging them in innovative instructional and learning strategies. Our curriculum materials introduce the branches of government through the study of contemporary issues. Each unit provides the facts of a given case, applicable Constitutional provisions, and information about relevant Supreme Court precedent. Finally, in dramatic role-plays, students address the constitutional questions they have probed in class, taking on the roles of Supreme Court justices, attorneys, senators or presidential advisors in presenting their arguments at the United States Bankruptcy Court. As part of their participation students spend 15-50 classroom hours (depending on grade/reading level) preparing for their culminating experience while simultaneously enhancing critical thinking and many basic academic skills as follows: • Reading the Constitution and actual Supreme Court precedent and applying synthesized information to the issue at hand. • Writing and editing their arguments in preparation of delivering their oral arguments at a historic site. • Developing cooperative learning skills such as compromise, group work, active listening and team planning. • Engaging in activities that address New York State standards in Social Studies, English Language Arts and Career Development. Now more than ever we realize the importance of meaningfully engaging young people in activities that increase their understanding of our democratic structure and its relevance in their every day lives. City Council support is vital towards assisting TCW's citywide efforts to enhance existing programs, c

Youth	Levin	Dancewave, Inc.	11-2726558	*	$5,000	DYCD	We are applying for $9,500 to establish a dance residency at PS 321 or MS 447 in District 33. Funding will provide a dance program serving approximately 200 public school students from low and middle class income brackets, culminating in final school performances reaching 500-800 students, school administrators, teachers and parents. Recent studies show that dance experiences of this nature are extremely effective in providing not only a physical outlet for teens, but improving academic performance, building confidence, reducing obesity, and improving SAT scores. Dancewave has witnessed these benefits first-hand: our company members have a 100% college acceptance rate and many receive scholarships to top-tier universities. Unfortunately, an increasing number of NYC public schools lack arts programming, physical education classes, or gymnasium space, and only 8% of NYC elementary schools provide the level of arts education mandated by the state. With budget cuts forcing a massive 20% layoff of public school arts teachers next year, Council support is vital to filling this gap. Dancewave is a licensed DOE vendor with a strong, 10-year track record of bringing professional dance teaching artists to teach dance in the public schools (Sunset Park Headstart, P.S. 172, IS 125, MS 390, PS 106, MS 447, PS 315, PS 321,

Funding will help cover general supplies for the participants, printing and copying of course materials, consultant fees for the creative arts instructor and rental space for the final production. Critical thinking encompasses most of our daily lives and at times suppresses our creative abilities. Generating new ideas and bringing them to the table is essential in today's ever changing environment. With this in mind, D2D aims to help youth age 11-18 develop their artistic talents and life skills through creative expression. Our after school sessions will provide students with a safe, positive learning environment where they are free to express their feelings and interact with other students who have like interests. Over a period of 36 weeks, students will engage in three tracks of artistic development. During the first twelve weeks, students will learn the basics of creative writing. The second track will be full of drama! What better way to gain public speaking skills than through improvisation, monologues and scene study. The last 12 weeks will focus on putting it all together. The final production will include casting, set design, technical rehearsal and of course the final show. The self sufficiency series will shed light on the concepts of goal setting and budgeting. Many adults, let alone youth truly understand the value of money and what the difference is between needs and wants. They are unaware that financial mistakes can haunt you for years. This series will cover budgeting, savings, credit scores, self development, career development and the importance of networking.

Youth		Jackson	Fort Washington Collegiate Church	13-5564117	*	$7,500	DYCD	Fort Washington Collegiate Church has successfully melding its scouting programs to offer a viable and robust scouting program to both boys and girls from ages 9 to 21. BSA Troop 729 Venture Crew is a 501(c)(3) organization, composed entirely of volunteers, that renders direct services to needy boys and girls in Washington Heights. The objective of the Venture Crew is to maintain a core of older scouts, fourteen to eighteen, at an age when they typically disengage from adults and younger siblings. We provide opportunities throughout the year that encourage them to continue through the higher ranks of scouting, trained to be responsible leaders in our community and role models for younger scouts. The year culminates around an annual two-week summer trek of strenuous backpacking, hiking or canoeing in someplace far removed from Washington Heights. In past summers our scouts have been to high adventure bases in Maine, northwestern Ontario, British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba, Utah, Wyoming, Catalina and the Dakotas. Our year round fundraising insures that every scout, regardless of financial circumstances, will be able to attend these activities. Venture Prep Venture Prep is a program for younger girls (5th - 8th grade) that encourages leadership, community involvement, and environmental awareness. Adult volunteer leadership helps our girls learn to work as a team so they can tackle anything from a 10-mile hike to a community service project. The Hendrick Hudson Troops Association of Washington Heights/Inwood provides funding and equipment for the other sponsored scout units serving youth in northern Manhattan.

Youth	Rodriguez	Fraternidad de Los Angeles, Inc.	58-2672102	*	$5,000	DYCD	Our program name is: Self-Awareness Program for Young People. This is an existing after-school program in operation in partnership with Public School PS 189M, which was created four years ago as a response to violence in the public schools of our area. The main purpose of this after-school program is to build up Self-esteem and to keep students out of the streets and out of trouble. The Self-Awareness Program for Young People uses The Arts and recreational activities as an alternative outlet for the youth in our community to deal with violence, anger and frustration.
Youth	Jackson	Fresh Youth Initiatives, Inc.	13-3723207		$9,000	DYCD	Fresh Youth Initiatives is requesting support for Community Youth in Action, a comprehensive youth development program that provides youth with a range of services, supports and opportunities settings to help them develop life skills and leadership skills. Our goal for the upcoming year are to recruit and enroll 250 youth in the various components of CYA who will provide 10,000 hours of service to the community. Our service activities, which include beautification projects (graffiti removal, mural painting, park cleanups, community gardens) and distribution projects (food, clothing and sleeping bags for the homeless and the Helping Hands Food Pantry, which is NYC&C's only youth-led food pantry) directly benefit 2,500 community members each year and improve the quality of life for countless others. Not only does CYA address pressing community needs such as poverty, hunger and blight, the program also helps program participants along the path to self-sufficiency by helping them to develop the skills and values to grow into successful adults. Our program is preventive in nature because it provides healthy alternatives to risky behavior such as truancy, delinquency, gang activity, sexual activity, and experimentation with drugs and alcohol; however, at its core, our program is designed to help young people thrive. By providing them with service learning and providing educational support and a range of enrichment activities, we help young people develop the values, skills and resiliency that they will need to overcome barriers to success, enabling them to break the negative cycle of poverty, unemployment and low educational attainment that plagues the community. A discretionary award from the New York City Council will be used to cover program expenses, including salary support for program staff, food for the Helping Hands Food Pantry, paint and gardening supplies, transportation, stipends, incentives and educational materials for participants
Youth	Rodriguez	Fresh Youth Initiatives, Inc.	13-3723207		$13,000	DYCD	Fresh Youth Initiatives is requesting support for Community Youth in Action, a comprehensive youth development program that provides youth with a range of services, supports and opportunities settings to help them develop life skills and leadership skills. Our goal for the upcoming year are to recruit and enroll 250 youth in the various components of CYA who will provide 10,000 hours of service to the community. Our service activities, which include beautification projects (graffiti removal, mural painting, park cleanups, community gardens) and distribution projects (food, clothing and sleeping bags for the homeless and the Helping Hands Food Pantry, which is NYC&C's only youth-led food pantry) directly benefit 2,500 community members each year and improve the quality of life for countless others. Not only does CYA address pressing community needs such as poverty, hunger and blight, the program also helps program participants along the path to self-sufficiency by helping them to develop the skills and values to grow into successful adults. Our program is preventive in nature because it provides healthy alternatives to risky behavior such as truancy, delinquency, gang activity, sexual activity, and experimentation with drugs and alcohol; however, at its core, our program is designed to help young people thrive. By providing them with service learning and providing educational support and a range of enrichment activities, we help young people develop the values, skills and resiliency that they will need to overcome barriers to success, enabling them to break the negative cycle of poverty, unemployment and low educational attainment that plagues the community. A discretionary award from the New York City Council will be used to cover program expenses, including salary support for program staff, food for the Helping Hands Food Pantry, paint and gardening supplies, transportation, stipends, incentives and educational materials for participants

Youth	Levin	Friends of the New York Transit Museum	11-3299408		$7,000	DYCD	Funds to the NY Transit Museum will support two types of education programs serving NYC youth: guided school programs for students and free weekend workshops for visiting families. Both programs are free with Museum admission (4/child). Needy groups that cannot afford even this price are encouraged to apply to the Transit Museums fee waiver program, One for All, in which corporate supporters underwrite a group visit. Museum admission covers only a small portion of the costs associated with these guided education programs, all of which have an interactive or hands-on component. The costs include salary and training for 11 part-time Museum educators (including 2 special needs educators), art supplies and materials for hands-on workshops and take-home projects, fees for visiting artists and guest performers, costumes and props for performers. During the school year a growing and loyal base of teachers from across NYC repeatedly bring their classes for guided programs that tie into curricular units for different grades. Each summer the Museum develops a fun tour and activity for NYCs camps, with group bookings regularly at capacity. On weekends these educational programs are adapted and augmented to serve families who regularly return. Thanks in part to FY11 NYCC discretionary funds, the Transit Museum launched a new youth education program of costumed story-telling in vintage cars, where actors dressed in garb of the decade bring to life the history of NYC mass transit. This new program serves 2nd grade school groups, summer camp groups and weekend family visitors. New characters are being developed for FY 12. In addition, the Museum will open a science exhibit in Fall 2011 about how electricity powers NY&C's subways. New school programs that teach this science to 4th and 8th graders, for whom it is part of NYS standards, will also be supported by discretionary funds.
Youth	Rose	Friends of Westerleigh Park	13-4176426		$2,500	DYCD	Because of the destructive behavior of the teens in our Park 10 years ago, we developed a Youth Group to redirect thier actions. The teens work in the Park doing such chores as sweeping, raking, weeding, planting and raking leaves in the fall. They are paid a stipend for the hours worked. They also help when we hold musicals for set up and at our festivals. The program has been successful in that destructive behavior is down to a minimum

Youth	Gonzalez	Fund for the City of New York, Inc.	13-2612524	*	$5,000	DYCD	Launched in 1998, the Red Hook Youth Court trains local teenagers to serve as jurors, judges and attorneys, handling real-life cases involving their peers. The goal of the Court is to use positive peer pressure to ensure that young people who have committed minor offenses pay back the community and receive the help they need to avoid further involvement in the justice system. Part of the Red Hook Community Justice Center, the Youth Court handles cases involving young people, ages 10 to 18, who have been cited for low-level offenses, such as vandalism, fare evasion, assault and truancy.
Youth	Gonzalez	Fund for the City of New York, Inc.	13-2612524	*	$5,000	DYCD	The Red Hook Youth Baseball League is a unique effort to provide kids in the low-income neighborhood of Red Hook with positive programs to fill their free time and an opportunity to become more active in their community. The program is run by the Red Hook Community Justice Center with the goals of promoting sportsmanship, discipline, and leadership among local youth, improving the quality-of-life in Red Hook by engaging young people in community service projects, and encouraging voluntary participation by parents and community members. City Council funding will support baseball equipment and supplies for community service projects in the neighborhood.
Youth	Lander	Fund for the City of New York, Inc.	132612524	*	$3,500	DYCD	This proposal seeks a renewal in funding for LAMP Camp, a summer program in media literacy developed and operated by The LAMP which would be hosted by the Prospect Park Y at the Park Slope Armory. Designed for at-risk students between 12 and 17 years old, the program is a response to increasing evidence that American youth are spending more time with media than ever before, but are not learning the critical thinking skills which should accompany such a sizable spike in media use. For example, a recent study by the Kaiser Family Foundation found that young people consume a total of 10 hours and 45 minutes of media content per day&C" an increase from 8 hours and 33 minutes in 2004. Furthermore, the racial disparity of media use among teens continues to grow, with black and Hispanic teens using over 13 hours of media content per day. Coupled with additional research showing that heavy media users receive lower grades in school and are more likely to get in trouble, it is clear that teens in general need to learn healthy media habits in order to be more responsible citizens of their digital and physical communities.

Sanctions include community service, letters of apology, or skill building workshops on topics like conflict resolution and goal setting. Youth can also be linked to job training and after school programs so they can avoid further disciplinary action in their schools and communities. To date, over 480 young people have served as members of Red Hook&C" Youth Court. In 2010, the Court heard 152 cases and maintained a compliance rate of 90. City Council funding would support on-going operations of the project, specifically member stipends and metrocards for program participants.

Youth		Levin	Fund for the City of New York, Inc.	13-2612524	*	$4,000	DYCD	The Greenpoint Youth Court is a unique youth leadership program which trains local teenagers to serve as jurors, judges and attorneys, handling real-life cases involving their peers. The goal of the Court is to use positive peer pressure to ensure that young people who have committed minor offenses pay back the community and receive the help they need to avoid further involvement in the justice system. The project handles cases involving young people, ages 10 to 18, who have been cited for low-level offenses, such as vandalism, fare evasion, assault and truancy. The Youth Court receives referrals from local schools, the New York City Department of Probation, and the New York City Police Department. The project helps young people avoid criminal records while simultaneously holding them accountable for their actions by requiring them to pay back the community for their offenses. Respondents admit responsibility for their actions, and a jury of their peers imposes sanctions that emphasize accountability, repairing harm done to the community, and providing respondents with meaningful activities. Sanctions include community service, letters of apology, essays or skill building workshops on various topics such as conflict resolution and goal setting. In 2010, the Greenpoint Youth Court heard 142 cases and maintained a compliance rate of 91. Youth		Mendez	Fund for the City of New York, Inc.	13-2612524	*	$3,500	DYCD	Day One is requesting 5,000 to support our preventive education and direct services programs. This allocation will support the salaries of a bilingual community educator, social worker and attorney in your district.
Youth		Reyna	Fund for the City of New York, Inc.	13-2612524	*	$7,500	DYCD	Bushwick IMPACT is a neighborhood-based early childhood family resource center directly serving 600 parents and children every year. We serve an additional 300 families through information and awareness campaigns. Since our opening in 2005 we have helped 2000 families give their children the strong start they deserve. IMPACT seeks funding for our Read Aloud program, a comprehensive, full service approach to increasing early education readiness and parental involvement in children's learning and development. The twice-weekly on-site Read Aloud is a two-hour program for parents and children between the ages of 18 months and three years. It consists of 30 minutes of social time, in which nutritious snacks are served, children engage in supervised free play, and parents meet with IMPACT's trained Parent Advocates about information, referrals and system navigation assistance to resources and services that support family stability. The group activity consists of 45 minutes of singing, music-making, movement and book reading. The final 45 minutes consist of: a learning circle (interactive facilitated dialogue around child development and early learning); an information session (resource sharing about community-based opportunities, such as early intervention and child care/head start enrollment); or book lending (IMPACT registers families for library cards, loans books, and provides weekly book-borrowing from the Brooklyn Public Library's Bibliobus). The community-wide Read Alouds are held in summer months in parks. The reading, music and movement time provides a free learning opportunity for large numbers of unaffiliated parents and children in everyday contexts. Community-wide programs also include book distributions and information and referrals to community resources, including IMPACT. Families increase understanding about child development, learning special needs, interact positively with their children, read to their children access essential resources.
Youth		Williams	Fund for the City of New York, Inc.	13-2612524	*	$5,000	DYCD	Day One is requesting 5,000 to support our preventive education and direct services programs. This allocation will support the salaries of a bilingual community educator, social worker and attorney in your district. With your support, Day One will conduct co-educational workshops for 500 young people and professionals who work with youth, and will respond to calls from your constituents for legal assistance and counseling. Day One is a highly cost effective organization, and our unique services will help New York City's young people build safe and healthy relationships throughout their lives. The Community Education Program brings Day One's interactive workshops to 5,000 youth and 500 adults each year in New York City schools and social service agencies. We highlight the warning signs of abuse, and ways to seek assistance or to help a friend. Day One staff also trains caregivers, teachers and social service providers to offer supportive guidance to youth who might disclose an abusive relationship. Adult trainings also discuss mandated reporting, identify local resources, and incorporate skill-building related to communicating successfully with young victims. Day One's preventive programs link directly to our Direct Services program, which provides bilingual crisis counseling, case management, information and legal representation in Family Courts. Individual and group counseling for young survivors help build the strength and stability for young people seeking legal protection in the justice system. Day One accompanies clients to file police reports and advocates with police and district attorneys on behalf of victims seeking protective orders. Day One's advocacy in the criminal system ensures prosecutors are aware of a victim's needs, prioritize young victims as they would adults, and have the information they need to prosecute each case.

Youth		Lander	Gowanus Canal Conservancy, Inc.	26-0681729	*	$3,500	DYCD	This program will enlarge and enhance the federal and city-funded project of the Gowanus Canal Conservancy to build the "6th Street Green Corridor" of engineered rain gardens designed to help curb the problems of excess storm water runoff into the Gowanus Canal. That project site is located a few minutes walk from Intermediate School 51, the largest middle/junior-high school in northwest Brooklyn. The school and its students will benefit from our proposed education program by learning from and supporting the Green Corridor. During the three years after construction is complete, the COnservancy will monitor the performance of the project. These NYC students will be involved in the monitoring of this demonstration project, doing real science and engineering by measuring and reporting on the functionality of the system. We propose to design and present an instructional and training program for students at IS 51 which will add ! new components to their science and technology curricula, and provide them with field experiences and real-world experiments. Students will gain by meeting and learning from genuine science and engineering professionals, acquiring new real-world hands-on skills and academic skills. The students in this program will learn about new vocations as they interact with superb role models, and improve their motivation and personal goals and sense of voluntarism. Some will be motivated to apply for admission to elite high schools such as Brooklyn Tech, and set their eyes on college science and engineering. The school will gain by developing a new program that can serve as an additional magnet to attract students and families that are looking for something beyond the ordinary. The funds requested here from the Council Expense Budget will make a profound impact on the student participants, and provide important monitoring support to an innovative new project close to home.

Youth		Jackson	Graham-Windham Beacon Center	13-2926426	*	$8,000	DYCD	The goal is to continue supporting the community based Graham-Windham Beacon Center technology center and to create a safe haven for the children, youth and families during the after-school hours and on weekends. In addition, by providing the computer literacy classes to help low-income communities—specifically in the Harlem neighborhood, the program will bridge the digital divide to so many youth that do not have access to computer technology.The program will connect the entire school community—administrators, teachers, parents and students—to bring technology and the tools to use it to students' homes and to the after school classroom learning experiences. Through this holistic approach, students are empowered to not only stay in school but also to thrive in their future careers. This on-going commitment continues to ensure an enduring spirit of hope and positive change for the entire Beacon and after-school community with free computer literacy training The computer center goes beyond the traditional school curriculum and offers each child the opportunity to prepare for their future life now. Our childrens classes are both fun and educational. We strive to engage the childs interest in computers and to advance their computer knowledge. Classes are designed to touch on all areas of education through computer technology. Students participate in fun group projects with focus on Microsoft Office software such as Word, Excel and PowerPoint; engage with multimedia; learn to create photo galleries; paint the screen with their fingers!; travel and safely explore the World through the Internet, and even record music!

Youth	Williams	Guyana Cultural Association of New York, Inc.	11-3624294		$5,000	DYCD	We are seeking funding for the development of a Childrens Tent /Day Camp for the 2011 Guyana Folk Festival. Guyana Cultural Association of New York, Inc. in its commitment to its mission to preserve, propagate and promote the cultural expression of the Cooperative Republic of Guyana, South America has reached out to the Diaspora. This extension of boundaries has caused intersections not only with second and earlier generations of Guyanese living in the USA but also with those of the total Caribbean Basin resident here. As GCA has explored the commonalities among these groups it has found that the children and youth define themselves as one. Thus they practice and enjoy many similar games, stories, myths, legends and histories. This common experience was seen clearly in 2010 when, under the Children's Tent, more than 200 children and youth gathered to create art both verbal and tactile. In a relaxed and parent approved atmosphere, they painted, they drew, they molded, they played games, they sang and they listened to folksongs and stories reflective of their heritage. In 2011, GCA will be expanding on the venture of 2010. In addition to the aforementioned exercises, GCA plans to include the following: Techniques associated with social and ethnic dancing Techniques used in the tradition of kite-making Techniques used in the construction of traditional toys An introduction to the historiography of the peoples of the Caribbean: a pictorial overview A greater variety of the folk games, including the traditional ring games, of the Caribbean A greater variety of the oral traditions of the region

This support for Hetrick-Martin will allow us to continue critical on-site supportive services during school time and during the after-school hours, from 9am-8pm for low-income at-risk LGBTQ youth from ages 12-24 years of age. These youth are high-risk and vulnerable because of traumatic experiences of discrimination and abuse and/or rejection by their families due to their sexual orientation or gender identity. Hetrick-Martin's Supportive Services Department is overseen by mental health practitioners with experience in education/instruction, harm reduction, and working with LGBTQ youth and their families. Hetrick-Martin provides the following services: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Comprehensive intake: mental, physical and emotional health client assessment; •Case management •Referrals to other agencies when needed; •Mental health support and individual counseling; •Family counseling; •Peer group support sessions; •Intake assessments and pre/post testing for HIV Prevention Services and onsite HIV/STI/Pregnancy testing services; •Wrap-around pantry support providing needy and impoverished youth with warm showers, laundry services, food bags, and a fully-stocked wardrobe; and •A daily hot meal. Thanks in part to generous past support from the New York City Council, last year, Hetrick-Martin served over 1,500 youth from nearly 300 zip codes across New York City. Our Supportive Services Department provided over 1,000 youth with mental health services, such as emergency shelter, legal advocacy, healthcare referrals, and substance abuse treatment. Our hot meal program served an all-time high of 8,554 hot meals. HMI witnessed an over 30 increase in services provided to youth, providing nearly 45,000 discrete services to young people in need.

Ten young women and LGBTQ individuals will be selected for this citywide training program. The program is designed to provide training, support and assistance to these youth members in order to maximize their success. Street harassment affects women and LGBTQ (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer) folks of all ages, but through our work, we have learned that this issue is particularly significant for young people, who often shoulder the shame and embarrassment well into their adulthood. In a recent survey of the site's subscribers, we found that 85 of Hollaback's 50,000 unique monthly users are under the age of 30. Ten youth leaders will receive a year-long comprehensive training that includes research, community organizing, advocacy, media, social media, and leadership development. They will work together to develop and execute a project that will help to educate people on how to deal with street harassment, and will build awareness as to why it matters. Our goal is to engage and train youth to be the future leaders of the movement to end street harassment – and eventually – the world.

Youth	Dromm	Humane Education Advocates Reaching Teachers (HEART), Inc.	41-2055310	*	$3,500	DYCD	HEART requests support to continue, and further expand, its Humane Living Program (HLP) to students in District 25. The HLP is HEART's primary direct service initiative that addresses animal welfare, environmental protection and social justice issues. It is a unique in-classroom program that integrates humane and character education as a way to teach students respect, responsibility and empathy toward all living beings and the environment. The curriculum is divided into four age-appropriate versions: K-3rd grade, 4th - 6th grade, 7th-8th grade, and high school. Through creative, interactive lessons, students learn to develop critical thinking and decision-making skills based on compassion, tolerance, and integrity. The HLP was introduced in NYC schools in January of 2006 in an 18-month assessment phase to document the effectiveness of this new program. Since then, the program's reputation has grown, and it is increasingly welcome in educational venues throughout NYC. We have served over 10,000 students since the HLP's inception. The HLP informs students about critical issues and motivates students to take personal action to help make the world a better place. For example, the HLP for grades 4-6 examines issues such as sweatshops, migrant farming, pet overpopulation, dog fighting, factory farming, pollution, global warming, endangered species and habitat protection. The program teaches students how animal welfare, social justice and environmental ethics are all inter-connected, which is a powerful construct in fostering compassion and respect. Experiential learning and civic action projects are incorporated into our programs. Students engage in activities such as writing letters to legislators and owners of sweatshops, volunteering at soup kitchens and animal shelters, organizing neighborhood litter cleanups, and starting school recycling clubs.

Youth	Dickens	In the Spirit of the Children, Inc.	13-4000928	*	$4,000	DYCD	ITSOCs Youth Transition Empowerment program works to reduce the re-entry of children and youth into the foster care system and facilitates exit from the foster care by (1) offering a continuum of services to youth exiting care in order to prevent homelessness and promote successful independent adulthood, and (2) working with families to prevent the re-entry of their children into foster care. During 2010 January through December, ITSOC received 14 new unduplicated referrals. We serviced 34 youth in total. Of the 34 youth served, 31 were active participants. In the past eight years, we have assisted a total of 177 young people of which 60 are males, 117 are females and 91 children ages 0-10. The recent integration of the New York City's Department of Juvenile Justice with the Administration for Children Services (ACS) created a new need for service provisions for the Juvenile Justice youth population. This organization was approached in the spring of 2010 to assist in the service delivery of juvenile justice youth, specifically to provide prevention/intervention aftercare services to youth who are first time offenders and their families. ITSOC has become a critical community resource for a number of youth and their families that seek to take control of their futures and become participating members of our society. We see both a need and an opportunity to make a bigger impact by providing services to more youth, over the course of the next year. Additional funding will further our goal to provide a growing number of youth transitioning from foster care as well as youth exiting the juvenile justice system with supportive services. Accomplishments: In May 2010, we are pleased to announce that another of our program participants graduated from college. This is the third young person in the past year; she graduated from Norwalk Community College with an associate degree in legal administration.

IndyKids newspaper and website is requesting funds in order to produce, print and deliver 250 copies of this current-events resource five times per year to 12 public elementary and middle schools in each of 5 city council districts, and to maintain a news website for ongoing discussion of current-events. IndyKids is not yet widely distributed to the schools in these districts. For teachers who want to introduce a variety of perspectives in their classroom, IndyKids is an invaluable resource. There are few current-events news sources that cover social and political issues for kids at the elementary grades. There are even fewer media sources that highlight issues of economic and social justice, and the perspectives of people of color. IndyKids is a free, ad-free newspaper, website and teaching tool that produces content monthly with 5 print and 4 online editions. IndyKids highlights the work of community organizers and activists and tackles economic, political and social issues in language that is accessible to kids. It provides a valuable, multi-curriculum teaching tool, with a teacher's guide, that can be integrated into a variety of classroom settings. IndyKids covers topics such as the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, immigrant workers, kids with disabilities, LGBTQ rights and global economic inequality. IndyKids features kids from around the world and includes New York City children's voices – through letters to the editor, interviews and articles – on many of these issues. "IndyKids has really made teaching current events a lot easier. The kids are finally motivated to read, and more importantly, to discuss and get active. -John Yanno, 6th grade teacher, Brooklyn www.indykids.org

We believe that every child can reach their greatest potential if given the opportunity to learn and grow in a supportive environment. Riis Settlement's Youth Services utilizes the following strategies to ensure program success: High aspirations: We set ambitious expectations in order to meet the high aspirations of the youth we serve. Riis Academy youth have a variety of goals: to become leaders in their community, go on to college or get a good job. Whether they are on the path to becoming a teacher or are working on an apprenticeship in a local carpentry shop, we support their goals every step of the way. Community-based: Our educational team represents the diversity of the community we serve. Some have come through our programs themselves or live in the very neighborhood we are serving. All staff sees themselves as a catalyst for community change. Kid friendly and supportive: Riis Academy is a welcoming and safe place where youth share in a well balanced meal and fun activities under the supervision of caring adults who let "kids be kids". Parents as partners: Parents are our partners. Hard working and caring, they share our commitment to building bridges to success for youth. Youth	Ignizio	Jewish Community Center of Staten Island, Inc.	13-5562256	*	$10,000	DYCD	The JCC is requesting financial support to assist us in our plan to improve Staten Island students interest and education in Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM). The United States lags significantly behind other advanced nations in educational performance in science and math. Part of the President's Speech last month addressed this concern, with the President stating that the first step in winning the future is encouraging American innovation, and we need to teach our kids that it's not just the winner of the Super Bowl who deserves to be celebrated, but the winner of the science fair. Through the JCC STEM Program, students will engage in innovative and hands-on techniques to introduce these more complex areas of study and to learn how to think scientifically. We believe that providing a strong foundation in these academic areas will give students the opportunity to pursue secondary education, post-secondary education, and careers that support the expanding need for scientists, engineers, mathematicians, and experts in technology. Planned activities of the JCC STEM Program include: Mad Science Workshops, Technology Classes, Engineering Workshops and Music as well as the Music and Math Tutoring Program.

Youth		Dromm	Latin American Cultural Center of Queens, Inc.	11-2997255	*	$8,000	DYCD	The LACCC is requesting funds for a recreational program for individuals and families of scarce financial resources residing in Queens. This program, Domingo del Recuerdo or Sunday to Remember was created in 1996 after several members of the community expressed to our Directors their frustration for the lack of free cultural activities available on Sundays. These individuals indicated that their families dressed up to go to church and then they have no place to go because they lacked the financial resources to pay for movies, concerts or other cultural events. The LACCC agreed to have the program once a month and to make it easier to remember we decided to have the program always on the last Sunday of the month. This program supports the mission of the Center by providing the participants the opportunity to experience art in its different expressions, thru music, dance, etc. This program allows families and individuals the opportunity to celebrate their native cultures and traditions, as well as to discover other cultural traditions in this multicultural borough, the majority of the participants in this program are first generation, residing in the US and lack the benefit of an extended family. This program provides them the opportunity to network, make new friends and establish a support group for hard times and good times. Thru this program the Center also provides work to talented artist and the artists have the opportunity to meet new, enthusiastic audiences that appreciate their talent. We have also discovered a few retired artists that enjoy attending the program and showcasing some of their talents. Each month a different format is presented depending on the interests of the participants, it may be a concert, a dance, a fashion show, poetry reading, sing-a longs or a visit to a cultural institution in Queens. Some of the venues we use are free and some are paid In March 27, 2011 the member! s will attend the Center's celebration

We combine modern day scenarios with historical events that have occurred throughout the African American History and put a twist on it so the youth of today have a platform to express themselves as well as learn history like its never been taught. In presenting these original works we come full circle to address the issues, peer pressure, profane language and behavior that is prevalent amongst our youth in our schools and communities. Educate, Articulate and Stop the Hate...in is our slogan to promote the series of productions we have waiting to be released. Our goal is to reach today's generation by building self-esteem and encouraging respect of self and others. Every Child's life is a message and we want them to be aware of the message they are leaving and the changes they can make one day at a time. Change is not an event it's a process and the platform these productions will exemplify offer that and so much more. The impact each child can have in their homes and communities will be a positive one after participating or viewing one of these signature works.

Youth	Lander	Mekimi		55-0870419	*	$15,000	DYCD	Mekimi was founded 7 years ago to fill the entertainment needs of bedridden children. In just a few years, it has expanded its services and has grown into a flourishing network of 12 chapters, serving more than 2,500 children and young adults. Next year we plan on servicing over 3,000 children and young adults. Our goal is to strengthen patientsâ€™ resolve to live and fight disease, mitigate the anxiety and boredom experienced during a hospital stay, and enrich the lives of children and young adults suffering the debilitating effects of serious and long term medical conditions and to be a supportive force for patients on the long journey to recovery. The purpose of these funds will be used to provide a medically supervised weekend retreat for sick children and their families. The weekend will take place in a resort setting and provide emotional healing to patients and families. In addition, the funds will be used to provide educational services for patients such as professional tutors to go to the home or hospital providing tutorial sessions for patients who are missing school because of their illness. We will also offer mentorship services, thereby fostering a healthy self image. Mekimi also provides educational DVDs on a variety of topics, thus make learning exciting and intriguing. Both DVDs and DVD players are loaned to patients. In addition, we will use the funds to provide volunteer training classes and seminars which consists of teaching the volunteer, how to be sensitive to the sick child, deal with HEPA regulations, how to feed and give out medications to the sick child, and etc.. This coming year, we plan to further enhance and expand our program to meet the needs of additional patients and their families. It plans to establish larger office accommodations, and to meet the human service needs of the patients and families it serves.

Youth	Weprin	Misunderstood Youth Development Center Corp., The	25-1916166	*	$5,000	DYCD	The Fresh Start Program was designed in partnership with Community Partnership Referrals Resources. Fresh Start is an alternative to incarceration program for at risk, misunderstood youth. We provide prevention and intervention techniques through four core components: Individual Counseling, Social Development, Life Skills, and Community Service. The Queens District Attorney's Office has partnered with The Fresh Start Program to begin the QDA Youth Diversion Program. The Queens DA's office hand selects participants they feel are in need of a fresh start. Fresh Start then completes a psychosocial evaluation to ensure there are no circumstances that would prevent the participant from completing the program successfully. Fresh Start, the QDA's office, and the defendant's attorney then determine if the program is a good match for all parties. Once the defendant has been accepted, he or she signs a contract pleading guilty to all charges in the case and agree to participate in the QDA Youth Diversion Program. Participants are held accountable for what they do in school, at home, in the program and within the community. Community service is required at minimum of twice a month. Each participant receives at least one individual counseling session per week and is involved in 2-3 group sessions during the week. Failure to participate, arrive on time, or be respectful during school, program or community service is considered an infraction of the program. Each participant engages in a series of (3) phases: Anti-Crime, life skills and leadership. Participants will have increased awareness and critical thinking skills in the areas of personal and social development. Youth	Wills	New Haven Ministries	11-3453034	*	$8,000	DYCD	New Haven Ministries (NHM) is positioned to become a vital change agent in the community of South Richmond Hill. Research shows that there are missed opportunities in positive school engagement when educational institutes fail to consider what "sparks" students' interest and passion in the deliverance of curricular; whereby, hindering the achievement of "holistic" outcomes education is purposed. "Sparks" being a metaphor to describe the internal animating force that propels development forward. (Finding the Student Spark, Search Institute Insights Evidence, November 2010, Vol. 5, No.1) Interestingly enough, "Creative Arts" are the number one most common "Spark" amongst American teenagers (ibid). Nonetheless, not a common denominator found in urban Public Schools. Thus, capitalizing on aforementioned research NHM has designed a 2012 Community and Youth Development Initiative: "URBAN YOUTH PRODUCERS" Mentor, Media, and Communication Fellowship ! (UYP MMCF) that provides area residents Arts-In-Education, Access-In-Service Learning, and Positive Role Model Relationships. UYP MMCF niche is the ability to challenge young people to use the very gifts, talents, and abilities that "spark" the fire within, to achieve success in academia: literacy (reading, writing, and verbal communication skills) and higher learning- critical thinking skills. Simultaneously, promoting discipline and accountability through self- actualization and self-determination. Moreover, bolstering young people's chance of becoming viable members of South Richmond Hill by eliminating risk factors via the integration of "40-Developmental asset builders." Search Institute identifies said developmental assets as being the building blocks of healthy development: External Assets (Support, Empowerment, Boundaries Expectations, and Constructive Use of time) and Internal Assets (Commitment to Learning, Positive Values, Social Competencies, and P! ositive Identity). This is the only enrichment program in New York City which offers workshops in 26 academic subjects.
Youth		Williams	New York City ACT-SO, Inc.	20-2538102	*	$5,000	DYCD	ACT-SO is an after-school enrichment program designed to engage underserved minority African American and Latino high school students in the rewards of academic pursuits in the Arts, Humanities and Sciences. Through a variety of activities, incentives and rewards, students are supported by coaches and mentors in the development of projects for competition in any of 26 categories. In 1977, award winning journalist, historian and civil rights activist Vernon Jarrett (1918-2004), conceptualized an "Olympics of the Mind" competition with much of the same fanfare as an athletic or beauty contest. The program of workshops, coaching and competition was adopted by the NAACP as a national program. Today, there are approximately 350 local programs across the country with 1,200 students competing each year. The New York City ACT-SO began in 1987. The Mission of New York City ACT-SO is to end the vicious cycle of low expectations and low scholastic achievement that plagues minority communities throughout the city. Our goal is to encourage earnest effort so students gain the confidence and skills they will need to thrive as adults. The New York City ACT-SO is the most ambitious program in the country. It offers a year long, after school program that includes weekly coaching workshops. Every coach is accomplished in her/his field and works to nurture and support students to enhance their knowledge and skills in the selected category. The year culminates in a local competition - "Olympics of the Mind" and an awards ceremony. In addition to the weekly coaching workshops, students are invited to go on bus trips to sites of interest outside of New York City and within the City to museums, stage performances and specialized libraries. We have also invited professionals to conduct workshops in job preparation and opportunities for scholarship for travel overseas and college. This is the only enrichment program in New York City which offers workshops in 26 academic subjects.

Youth	Rose	New York Urban League, Inc.	13-1671035	*	$5,500	DYCD	Absolute Success-Project Ready Program engages students in a comprehensive college readiness curriculum that emphasizes rigorous academic reinforcement through in-classroom and after-school tutoring, understanding how to prepare and apply for college, and taking action through participation in college tours and fairs. We incorporate Individual College Development Plans to develop goals for achieving post secondary success, to evaluate student's progress in the program and to provide evaluative data on the achievements and/or adjustments that need to be made to the program. The youth development component features three distinct components: topical classroom presentations, module-based leadership workshops, and student-designed presentations, workshops and conferences. The classroom presentations are designed to increase attendance, improve academic performance, decrease behavioral issues, reduce dropout rates, and decrease suspensions while keeping students engaged in the after school component. During enrollment, students meet with principal and guidance counselors to conduct pre-college assessment that includes evaluation of the student's class load, introduction of the data collection methods and discuss expectations and objectives of the program. Throughout the program, students work with peers, attend several joint workshop sessions with parents and participate in a two-hour afterschool tutorial. Students receive approximately one hour in youth development, one hour college readiness and two hours afterschool tutoring per week.

Youth	Wills	Nicole Paultre Bell When It's Real, It's Forever Fund, Inc., The	20-8945512	*	$10,000	DYCD	The purpose of the funds will be used to provide and promote education and good mental health in 27,28,31 Council District, Community Board 12 14 through training in sports activities and the Performing Arts to at risk and low income families ages 5-21 years old. The goal of our program is to provide youth and adults in our community with specified training in the areas of Little League Baseball, Musical training in drums, piano, guitar, voice and dance movement. Through these disciplines and teaching methods, the participating students benefit on many levels. The academic and social skills honed in the academy produces a technically rounded and cultured individual. The workshops will be designed to ensure that each child is given the opportunity to reach their full potential, fostering self-esteem and self-awareness. Each child is instructed in a co-operative and safe environment, which hones communication and group dynamics skill that are essential professional qualities, which will be needed for the global job market. And for the adult citizens of our community the reflex exercise associated with the performance techniques will increase blood circulation and heart strength, their dexterity and mental focus benefits as well. The programs are designed to introduce the arts and sports to every child with special emphasis on disadvantage at risk youth. The target market is youth and adults in the surrounding community center area. Once the program is approved flyers will be drafted and disseminated throughout the community, information will be passed on through the community Board, local billboards, stores, as well as word of mouth. The concept of the music school has been forged through years of discipline in teaching music and performance across the world. With this method youth and adults can learn basic music theory in a few months. All instructors involved with the workshops are dedicated professional performers, and recording artist. The Missi

Youth	Rivera	Northwest Bronx Community and Clergy Coalition for Sistas and Brothas United	13-2806160		$10,000	DYCD	The funds will support our youth leadership program called Sistas Brothas United (SBU) Youth Program of the Northwest Bronx Community Clergy Coalition. SBU is an 11 year old, youth-led organization of low-income middle and high school students in the Northwest Bronx. SBU develops the leadership ability of young people through intensive leadership development training program that trains young people in civic engagement and community education. Key problems that this program will address are: •Recruitment of area teenagers by local gangs/groups and lack of decision-making power and ownership teenagers have of their lives as a result of the shortage of positive alternatives for teenage civic leadership and •Overcrowded, under-resourced and low-performing schools in our area that do not prepare our high school students for college or the workplace. NWBCCC/SBU proposes to work with at least 300 junior high and senior high school students, primarily with teenagers and young adults ranging in age from 12 to 20. The majority of teenagers will fall between the ages of 14 and 17. Additional youth will be brought into contact with our programs, either through direct outreach to their high schools or through community involvement in our youth activities. Program participants come from families whose income would be ranked "low" or "very low" according to federal guidelines. All teenagers will be invited to enroll in the SBU academic support and college access program. Students will take part in workshops/trainings focusing on leadership and organizing, political education and college preparation. They will also be invited to participate in other activities such as mentoring, conflict mediation, college visits and retreats. SBU will recruit teenagers who live in the Northwest Bronx. Workshops/activities will also take place at various middle and high schools in coordination with school counselors, teachers and school administrators. All participants are supported.

Youth		Lander	OHEL Children's Home and Family Services, Inc.	11-6078704	*	$8,000	DYCD	OHEL currently operates a foster care program which contracts with and is funded by New York City's Administration for Children's Services (ACS) and the NYS Office of Children and Family Services (OCFS) for children who have been abused and/or neglected. Youth in foster care are among our nation's most vulnerable, typically entering foster care as a result of extreme physical abuse and neglect coupled with the trauma caused by the disruption to their family and home environment. These children face a wide range of social and psychological problems that can make it difficult for them to develop into viable, productive young adults. Many of these children have serious emotional, psychological, and developmental problems which can lead to conflict with their families and/or cannot be adequately addressed in regular foster homes. OHEL is committed to providing specialized services including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •intensive crisis intervention services, •integrative treatment approach, •recreation and camp opportunities allowing foster children these opportunities like all children, •transportation services to facilitate birth parent and child visits in order to expedite permanency for children •psychiatric and psychological treatment, •reduced child/case manager ratio. Crisis intervention services and psychiatric and psychological treatment for foster children, coupled with preventive activities, results in an increased level of permanency for foster children and a decrease in child abuse or neglect. A number of these specialized services to children in foster care are not covered by City and State funding.

Youth		Levin	Old Stone House of Brooklyn	11-3032836	*	$4,000	DYCD	The Old Stone House played a pivotal role in the Battle of Brooklyn in August 1776. The House and the surrounding park have been part of the evolving history of New York City as a farmhouse, ball field, active recreation site and cultural center for more than 300 years. The Old Stone House is an active link connecting Brooklyn's citizens with their past. It is the only Revolutionary-era historic site in New York City that offers a full schedule of educational programming, and is easily accessible to schools throughout Brooklyn and lower Manhattan. Our gardens offer a unique opportunity to link the current pedagogical focus on hands-on environmental education with our historic landscape of useful and native plants. Programs present educators with new tools and a fresh approach to history-based education, including a focus on civics, individual choice, diversity and cross-curricular opportunities. Many Brooklyn public schools cannot afford place-based educational opportunities that require significant travel or admission fees. These schools in particular are targets for the Old Stone House's Revolutionary, Colonial-era, and environmental education programs. Last year, OSH served more than 6,000 students from Brooklyn and Lower Manhattan schools, and provided professional development for more than 100 New York City school teachers. General visitation numbered more than 29,000 for programs including theater, music and film, as well as community events including recycling, gardening, recreation training programs and meeting and rehearsal space for small and medium sized organizations.

Youth		Vallone	Pancyprian Association, Inc.	13-3101081	*	$3,500	DYCD	Eleftheria is the Pancyprian Association's youth soccer division which was founded 30 years ago by a few concerned parents in Astoria who saw the need for an after-school activity for many children who would otherwise be glued to the television set or to video games, or worse, they could be hanging out with the wrong crowds and be led astray. Through soccer the children learn discipline, hard work, teamwork, and sportsmanship on and off the field. Eleftheria is a member of the Cosmopolitan Junior Soccer League and is run by volunteers. The children practice twice a week and play outdoors on weekends from the first week of August to the middle of December and then again from March to the middle of June. From December to the end of March they practice indoors in the gyms of P.S. 122 and play in indoor tournaments. The PANCYPRIAN YOUTH SOCCER TEAMS is a community based club and over the years provided many services to the community and as a result the past few years we have seen the participating numbers to grow significantly. The participating players are coming from different parts of the Queens area and are from various cultures and ethnicities. The funds will be used to purchase uniforms and supplies for over 175 players for 10 youth soccer teams from the ages of 5 to 19 years of age; to provide the coaches with the proper training for licensing and seminars in order to train and prepare the young players for the weekly games; to provide the facilities and supplies for the training sessions as well as for the cultural and community gatherings and events. There is a welcome gathering at the beginning of the season (August or September), a Christmas Party, another event for the Spring season and finally the award festival at the end of the season to congratulate the young athletes for their accomplishments during the year. During these events, we provide the supplies, the food, the trophies and anything else required to be a successful event.

Youth	Vann	Parents as Primary Teachers, Inc.	02-0658108	*	$10,000	DYCD	Shake, Rattle Roll is a parent-child, academic enrichment program that makes quality music education accessible to all families. Parents participate alongside their children and learn literacy development and scientific exploration strategies that they can integrate into their lifestyles. During the program, the children and parents make real musical instruments out of authentic materials - like West African shekere gourds and Native American calf-skin frame drums. They get to keep these instruments to continue practicing the rhythm patterns that they learned as well as a reminder of what they can achieve together. Professional folkloric percussionists teach the children and parents how to play a variety of drum and percussion instruments focusing on the folkloric music of West Africa, Native America, Cuba, Brazil, China, and India. They also look at the world map to locate the region of study and increase their geographic awareness. Professional teachers present folktales - demonstrating literacy development strategies - and facilitate scientific exploration relevant to the music portion of the workshop. On program days, the parents and children may remain at the Brooklyn Childrens Museum for more shared academic enrichment. In addition to helping parents support their children academically, this program improves the quality of life and builds community for both the parents and children. It continues to be a parent-child program that fathers participate in comfortably and willingly.

The camp offers children an opportunity to explore their talents, interests, and the world around them. Each week, the participants go swimming and take a field trip to a variety of arts, cultural, or recreation institutions in and around the city. For the past three years, the camp has also included an intensive literacy curriculum that weaves reading, storytelling, and performance into a variety of activities with the ultimate goal of increasing children's motivation to read. Summer camp is an important resource in our community. Not only does it combat summer learning loss among low income children, but provides a safe and nurturing environment for children while their parents work.

Youth	Vann	PowerPlay NYC, Inc.	13-4045021	*	$7,000	DYCD	The program for which funding is being requested is the STARS Series Program, an after-school program promoting physical activity, healthy living and wellness for elementary and middle school girls. PowerPlay's trained coaches lead the Star Series program onsite at community-based organizations, public schools, public park recreation centers and NYCHA community centers providing girls with (i) opportunities to learn sports skills and be physically active, (ii) encouragement and support, (iii) multiple opportunities to learn teamwork, (iv) health and wellness learning activities, and (v) a safe space for discussion and expression. Girls in NYC participate in sports at half the rate that boys do. PowerPlay's STARS Series program provides a girls' only space in which girls can learn fundamental sport skills so they become comfortable with, and enjoy, being physically active. The girls are taught the fundamentals of a variety of sports. The first 45 minutes is dedicated to sports skills development and a modified (or full) game to practice those skills. The remaining time is used for a facilitated discussion focusing on health and wellness, including topics such as nutrition, getting enough sleep, bullying, self esteem, body image, saying no to smoking, drugs and alcohol, etc. Each girl receives a "GoGirlGo" Guide and Scrapbook as part of the program. Last year, after participating in STARS Series, more than 85 of the girls enrolled reported that they (i) had more confidence, (ii) felt better about themselves, (iii) were more active and (iv) were taking better care of themselves. PowerPlay respectfully requests a 4,500 Member Item allocation from Councilmember Vann to expand programming in Council District 36, where PowerPlay is currently providing programming at St. Johns PS 636. A 4,500 allocation will allow PowerPlay to serve up to 50 girls during the school year at two organizations.

Youth	Lander	PTA of Public School 32K	73-1721398	*	$3,000	DYCD	We wish to support the students of our school by providing high quality professional texts to our teachers to help to better facilitate collaboration in curriculum planning and the use of Web 2.0 tools throughout our school. Our librarian will offer in-service professional development to the staff to facilitate cooperative curriculum development, techniques for collaboration between the teachers and the librarian, and integration of current technology into the curriculum. Numerous state studies have shown that student achievement increases as effective collaboration between the school librarian and the classroom-teachers increases: Fourth Graders tend to score higher on reading tests when their schools have well developed library media center programs, particularly when librarians collaborate with classroom teachers (Iowa 2002), student test scores were higher the more time librarians worked cooperatively with classroom teachers (Pennsylvania 2000), and teachers were three times more likely to rate their literacy teaching as excellent when they collaborated with librarians (Idaho 2009). Another factor contributing to student achievement is parental involvement. Research on family involvement has found that parents of low socioeconomic status and minority urban parents who are involved in schools have been responsive to services that provide them with opportunities to maintain or enhance their parenting capacity (Howland 2006). In order to truly create a library for all, we have been developing a small "Parenting" collection focusing on parenting skills, child development, literacy, and family activities and fun. We wish to build this into a strong parent resource. Parental involvement at our school has recently taken a big upswing centered on family literacy events (Brad Lander attended our Seussprize Party) and workshops sponsored by our library.

Youth	Arroyo	Reading Excellence and Discovery (READ) Foundation, Inc.	13-4091062		$5,000	DYCD	Since 2000, the Reading Excellence and Discovery (READ) Foundation has helped over 8,750 kindergarten and first grade students improve their reading skills by a full year. An independent longitudinal study has found that the majority of READ students continue on grade level through the third grade proving that success starts early. At the same time, READ has provided more than 6,300 teens with meaningful community service and employment opportunities. This year, we will serve over 1,200 students and employ more than 850 teens in partnership with more than 30 schools and community based organizations. Support from the New York City Council will help keep READ affordable, by helping defray the cost of compensation for tutors, teachers and READ staff and program supplies and materials. READ provides a targeted literacy intervention for kindergarten and first grade students, who have been identified by their teachers as struggling with learning to read. READ trains tutors to apply a structured research-based one-to-one tutoring program over the course of 50 sessions. To ensure success, students are individually assessed for appropriate placement within the curriculum and progress at their own pace. Tutors must attend and actively participate in a 2.5 hour long training prior to beginning instruction. READ's staff trains tutors on the principles and guidelines of the curriculum, our data collection system and strategies for working with young students. Our program combines 45 minutes of one-to-one tutoring with 45 minutes of homework help for a total of 1.5 hours each day for 50 days. Summer programs run for 3.5 hours each day and consist of two 45 minute tutoring sessions and two sessions of literacy enrichment. Two teachers facilitate the program at each school. They receive training in curriculum, methodology and analysis of student progress data. READ site coordinators make regular visits to ensure consistency.

Youth	Levin	Ringside, Inc.	13-3268549	*	$7,000	DYCD	STREB requests funding from Council Member Stephen Levin to support the company's ACTION CLUB, a once-monthly interactive evening event for teens held at the company's home space, the STREB LAB FOR ACTION MECHANICS (SLAM) located in Williamsburg, Brooklyn. ACTION CLUB is directly aligned with the concept, spirit and energy of the company and its home space, SLAM. Describing her vision, Streb has said, "SLAM allows us to experiment with action, format, structure, time and community. SLAM occupies a former garage; the modern day incubator for many American inventions and discoveries -- rock roll, hi tech hardware and software; a place where people feel free to experiment, fix that which is broken or even wreck in the service of creation." STREB feels that given the culture it has developed at SLAM, it has something truly unique to offer adolescents and teens. In response, it designed the ACTION CLUB, a skill building and social networking program, offering young adults, in an environment that is both safe but values risk-taking and the pushing of boundaries, an outlet for physical activity and a chance to engage with others from diverse backgrounds. During each ACTION CLUB session, participants learn action moves, have opportunities for guided sessions on trapeze and trampoline, produce music, take photos, create video. Food, beverages and a DJ add to the club atmosphere. STREB's goals for ACTION CLUB are to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •engage a diverse group of 13 to 16 year olds; •have teens participate in live-time action, having positive physical, artistic, and social interactions, thereby addressing a need for physical and art education; •create a "special" for teenagers to gather; •provide a platform for teens to achieve their "personal best," to become innovators and inventors; •introduce and educate teens about action as an art form and a profession.

Youth	Rodriguez	Riverside Symphony, Inc.	13-3168350	*	$3,500	DYCD	Music Memory, Riverside Symphony's widely valued educational program, is a direct outgrowth of the orchestra's mission to bring quality music to the widest possible audience. Designed to combat a deficit of high quality arts-education curricula in New York City public schools, particularly in underserved areas, Music Memory, launched in 1999, has addressed this dearth by serving 6,000 to 10,000 third- through sixth-grade students annually. Its goals aligned with the Blueprint, Music Memory is designed to help children 1. Listen and respond actively to music 2. Acquire knowledge of music terms 3. Learn about composers, their times and the cultural significance of their music 4. Make connections to other disciplines 5. Enjoy a meaningful cultural experience with their classmates The program seeks to impart focused listening skills through exposure to 16 carefully selected and diverse pieces. Guided by their music teachers, students engage in a wide range of artistic activities including creative and structured movement, singing, and performing on rhythm and melody instruments. As the children learn about the structure and instrumentation of each piece, they delight in their newly acquired ability to identify the works and their composers upon hearing only brief excerpts. Schools participating in the program are invited to send five-member teams (along with classmate cheering sections) to participate in the annual Citywide Finals Competition, a name-that-tune-type event in which students identify the works and composers they have studied on the basis of excerpts performed onstage by Riverside Symphony. To view a video that features excerpts from last year's Citywide Finals, please visit http://vimeo.com/13243886. Riverside Symphony also provides free specialized training sessions for all music teachers who participate in the program. These professional development workshops are led by master-teacher Paula Bing, who has worked extensively with the Blueprint.

Youth		Reyna	School Settlement Association, Inc.	11-1646304		$15,000	DYCD	We request 20,000 in total to support two programs: 12,000 for the teen evening program and 8,000 for Healthy Living Program. Teen Evening Program The evening program serves 60 teens in Williamsburg and Greenpoint. Activities include open gym, computer/media lab, socials events and community service. Events include movie nights and service and internship opportunities. By providing access to caring adults and positive activities, we provide a safe haven and nurture personal and social growth of teens. SSA also provides one of the only open spaces available that allows for a variety of physical activity in a neighborhood that sorely lacks green space and where the vast majority of schools lack quality gyms. Healthy Family Living Program The Healthy Living Program for parents and families is a new program launched in fall 2009. The New York City Department of Health Mental Hygiene's Community Health Profile of the Williamsburg/Bushwick area indicates that residents exhibit high rates of obesity (28) and diabetes (14). The program will offer family-based workshops that focus on healthy cooking, eating and fitness education (zumba, yoga, etc.) for 20 to 30 families. Many of our families are strained financially and pressed for time and consequently find it difficult to model healthy living behaviors for their children. The six-week workshops will be offered in three cycles. Partner organizations include the Williamsburg Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) and Innovative Wellness Education.

Youth	Lander	Shema Kolainu - Hear Our Voices	11-3503085		$7,000	DYCD	Art and Music Program: One of the serious problems children with autism face is sensory integration dysfunction (DSI), a barrier to their ability to process information and interpret the external world. DSI may cause a misperception of touch and/or pain (hyper- or hyposensitive) and self-imposed isolation, general irritability, distractibility, frustration and hyperactivity, influencing speech/communication, academic acuity and physical dexterity. Children with DSI respond well to sensory stimulation therapy, such as art and activities that require touch, hearing and aromas. Art and Music is used in many ways to stimulate responses, teach children to interact with each other and their environment, and calm the child who is hyperactive and easily over-stimulated. Art therapy is part of an open-ended, multi-sensory experience for our children that can radically change behaviors and produce amazing outcomes. Children with autism and sensory integration disorder (DSI) are often repelled by textured foods, unable to wear a garment because it causes pain, experience neurological over-stimulation that may prevent sleep and cause unexpected behaviors; DSI affects movement and balance, perception of body positioning, movement of muscles and joints and fine motor control. This grant will help us help these children overcome these problems while developing an appreciation for the arts & music, painting, movement and creative expression, using a variety of sensory therapeutic objects and experiences. Since art therapy is an allied health profession, it is used to encourage development in social/emotional, cognitive/learning, and perceptual-motor areas. The arts provide a wide variety of functional opportunities for the exceptional child, adolescent and adult in medical, institutional and educational settings because they are nonverbal forms of communication. The money would be used to provide our students with tools, equipment and supplies for art and music therapy.

Youth	Levin	Smack Mellon Studios Inc	11-3375393	*	$4,500	DYCD	Our Summer Arts Intensive provides an opportunity for up to fifteen at-risk students aged 12-15 to gain a comprehensive understanding of the many disciplines that make up the visual arts. This four-week art-making program will take place in August 2012. To select the program participants, Smack Mellon will advertise the program to students at local public schools in Brooklyn and Queens, particularly those high schools who are also participating in our Art Ready program. Our Programs Manager visits the schools and gives presentations about the program to actively recruit students and we will work with faculty and school administrators to inform as many students as possible about this opportunity, and together we will actively recruit applicants. Fifteen students from a variety of NYC neighborhoods including Brownsville, Bedford-Stuyvesant, Crown Heights, East New York, Harlem and the Bronx participated this past summer. Participating students will get hands-on experience working in painting, drawing, sculpture, installation, film, video and photography with support from exceptional professional artists, and also have an opportunity to exhibit their work to the public at Smack Mellon. Teaching artists who have participated in the past include: photographer Jessica Ann Peavy, installation artist Sonya Blesofsky, painter David Ellis, and media artist Michael Paul Britto. Artists are paid a stipend of 1200 per week for their work. The strength of this program is its multi-prong approach to teaching kids about making art; each stage of the program builds upon the last and advances learning.

Youth	Eugene	Society for Haitian Research, Inc.	11-3439457	*	$5,000	DYCD	This program is intended to serve the youth between the ages of 13-21 in the following areas: Language Fluency, Technological skills, social skills, respect for self, others, and community. Youth	Vann	Society for the Preservation of Weeksville and Bedford-Stuyvesant History	23-7330454		$10,000	DYCD	Overview: Weeksville Heritage Center is a historic site and community cultural center that preserves the legacy of a free African American community founded in 1838. Historic Weeksville residents built their own schools, businesses, and mutual aid societies to spur economic development among African Americans. Since 1971, our organization has been a stabilizing force in Central Brooklyn; most recently this has manifested in a new 30 million Education and Cultural Arts Building. When the building opens in early 2012, it will provide unprecedented access to high caliber performing and visual arts, and will bring additional jobs and amenities to underserved Central Brooklyn residents. The new building will be a cornerstone of community development for Crown Heights. Use of Funds: Weeksville Heritage Center requests funds to support our core education, arts, and preservation programs, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Historic House Tours: given to public and independent school groups throughout the year. •Artist Residency Programs for High School Students: in Past Forward students learn the architectural history of Bedford-Stuyvesant Weeksville over 10 weeks. The residency culminates in an exhibition of student-created audio walking tour podcasts, architectural drawings, clay models, and still photographs. In Reading Remix students read and analyze a work of literature and learn graphic design skills to create visual representations of their literary interpretations. •Green Weeksville: environmental, gardening and nutrition education for elementary students at PS 243 and high school students at Boys Girls High School. Both programs utilize Weeksville's on-site Kitchen Garden as an outdoor classroom. •The Garden Party: a free summer evening concert series that includes craft food and film screenings, each Saturday in July. •Family Day Harvest Festivals: all-day celebrations with workshops, activities, and local vendors that happen in August and November annually.

Youth	Foster	South Bronx United Soccer Club Inc	26-4064041	*	$3,500	DYCD	The funds will be used to support, develop, and sustain South Bronx Uniteds Education Through Soccer Program. South Bronx Uniteds activities serve at-risk youth by using soccer as a hook to engage youth and turn them towards a focus on their education, their character and leadership skills, and their health and wellness. The Education Through Soccer program directly addresses students' academic needs and personal and leadership development. Youth who participate in the Travel Soccer Program are required to attend an After School Tutoring program, which operates five days a week. Students work with volunteer tutors on homework, study skills, and test preparation. The program also plays an essential role in providing youth with a positive environment to spend afterschool time, an alternative to the streets. In fact, afterschool between 3 and 6 pm is the most common time for youth to commit crimes or become victims of crime and to smoke, drink or use drugs (Fight Crime Invest in Kids, 2007). The After School Tutoring program complements the College Prep Program where the goal is to increase college awareness, improve college preparation, assist with graduation requirements, and assure students' admission into college. Program activities include college nights, campus visits, test preparation, and college application assistance and counseling. South Bronx United also assists with secondary school placement having helped place students in schools depending on their unique needs and situations, including the Manhattan Country School and English Language Learners and International Support (ELLIS) Preparatory Academy. The Character Development Program helps youth develop leadership skills through events, workshops, and forums. These programs are the key to ensuring all youth graduate high school and attend college.

Our mission is to make every effort to ensure that each child with a desire to participate gets the opportunity to play without regard to prior experience, athletic ability, size or economic situation. We believe this commitment to participation separates us from all other leagues in our community. This commitment allows us to instill the values of honesty, loyalty, integrity, teamwork, discipline, sportsmanship, fitness, respect, trust, and self esteem in our young participants. These are the same values that have allowed thousands of our graduates to become some of the most successful and active members of our community and society. Not only have many of our past participants gone on to the highest levels of college and professional sports, but more importantly many have gone on to be successful businessmen, professionals, doctors, educators and political leaders that shape our community today. Undoubtedly, their successes could be traced back to the values learned and fostered while participating in Staten Island Boys Football League.

By working with students to write stories, and then by adapting these young authors' original works into fully-staged theater pieces, Story Pirates' professional actors and teaching artists will help children learn the power of creative expression and will collaborate with NYC public school teachers to extend high-impact arts and theater tactics to future lesson plans.
Youth		Jackson	Summer on the Hill	65-1232087		$3,500	DYCD	Summer on the Hill (SOH), a year-round, after-school program, has a mission to enrich the education of promising, low-income public school students from the Bronx, Washington Heights, and Harlem, prepare them for rigorous schools and colleges, and offer guidance to their parents. Since 1994, SOH has served 875 students and families. SOH works with students from 3rd to 12th grade – for as long as 10 years – in year-round Grade 3-8 and High School Programs. We have inspired students to stay focused on their education, placed 100 students in such top schools as Bronx Science, and placed 97 of our 2004-2010 HS graduates in 90 colleges and universities, including six Ivy League universities. Two-thirds of students are the first in their families to go to college. Grade 3-8 Program: a yearly six-week summer session bridged by a mandatory academic year program on 18 Saturdays. 190 students attend public schools while participating in: •Summer Program: 14 periods/week of language arts and eight periods/week each of math and science. Swimming, tennis, visual and performing arts classes. •Academic year Saturday Program: Accelerated language arts, math, and science classes taught by experienced teachers, who write report cards that are sent to students' homes and schools. •Individual guidance on school choices for all 8th graders and interested younger students. •Admissions: SOH recruits from all Bronx and upper Manhattan schools. Nominated students participate in an extensive admissions process. High School Program for Grade 3-8 alumni: 50 students participate in 18 Saturday SAT classes college tours, individual college counseling/essay critique, and workshops. SOH trains 25 HS students to mentor Grade 3-8 children in the summer program. SOH college graduates are entering the fields of education, finance, medicine, technology. Without the academic preparation and guidance provided by SOH, it is unlikely they would have reached their levels of achievement.

Youth		Foster	Summer Search Foundation	68-0200138	*	$5,000	DYCD	Through the Summer Search intervention, low-income NYC high school students develop specific habits and skills that lead to increased post-secondary educational outcomes in the long term. All students participate in each element of our program model: 1) Two full scholarships to summer experiential programs. The first summer program, following sophomore year of high school, is a wilderness expedition and the second, following junior year, may be an academic program, a community service trip, or a family home-stay in another country. 2) Year-round one-on-one mentoring by trained full-time staff. This allows students to prepare emotionally for these life-changing experiences, integrate what they learn into new communication and social networking skills, receive the support they need to navigate the college counseling process and follow through on the desire to achieve beyond what they see others achieving around them. 3) Individualized college and financial aid counseling that demystifies the college application process through workshops, access to information, and ongoing support. Services include a full-time, on-staff college counselor, fully subsidized SAT tutoring, admissions advising, and financial aid counseling for students and their families. 4) Long-term support network for students following high school and into college as well as their professional careers. Compared to more affluent peers, Summer Search students do not have a social network through which they can explore professional development, networking opportunities and summer internships. Ongoing support from our program and Summer Search volunteers helps students build these skills, and open doors to these opportunities. Summer Search provides the opportunity for world exposure and an increased sense of self-worth, and then helps students translate this into life skills that are critical to future achievement in post-secondary education and beyond.

In the Global Arts program, assemblies, workshops, and semester-long courses are available, tailored to a schools need. Global Arts reaches and engages New York City schoolchildren in spite of obstacles such as the struggling economy and strained arts funding in the schools. Workshops and assemblies provide students with an overview of the culture or art form selected. The workshops take place in a classroom in one 45-60 minute period and feature interactivity between students and the teaching artists. Assemblies are similar in content and duration to the workshops, but are less interactive so as to include several classes in an auditorium or assembly space setting. The semester long program offers instruction over a five-month period and includes: •One half day staff development workshop •Six to eight in-class workshops led by professional artists •An artist-led museum tour •A concert at Symphony Space •Resource materials. Global Arts uses the arts to understand and appreciate cultural differences and how the arts are reflective of a society. Youth	Ulrich	United Hindu Cultural Council of USA, North America, Inc.	11-3451990	*	$5,000	DYCD	Youth Programming has been a major part of the UHCC since its formal inception in 1998. The youths enjoy a series of cultural and educational programs. Amongst the many programs is the gardening project in which they learn about nutrition, eating right, and health. This program has a very practical part where they learn about "going green," composting, making soap and planting. We have partnered with the local civic association and the youths along with seniors plant together and maintain beds of flowers, vegetables and fruits. This hand on experience with the seniors has proven to be invaluable in the summer-time. It keeps the children off the streets and it also provides them with an educational experience. They learn the basic of gardening, soil pH levels, nutrients and minerals and how it all affects the environment. At the end of each day the youths were required to log their experiences in a personal diary. The youth ! program also includes dancing and singing with the seniors. They adopt a grandparent for the day in the summer-time and volunteer periodically throughout the year. Youths are given administrative tasks, taught how to complete it and then monitored along the way in a step by step approach. Summer youths are provided with Sanskrit classes, music classes, singing classes and dance classes. It is a once in a life time opportunity for many of our community youths to learn for free. Parents have noted that they find the family life between the youths and grandparents have improved after their children started participating in the UHCC youth programming and intergenerational programming. With this funding the UHCC will be able to purchase lunches for the youths, provide transportation, vehicles, travel expenses, and cover costs of communication expenses, consultants, printing and supplies and rent for the youth programming. All of our services are provided for free.

(WIN) requests 7,500 from NYC Council Member Darlene Mealy to support WIN's Children's Services, which provide preschoolers, school age children and youth affected by homelessness and substance abuse with educational support and prevention services. The agency's Children's Services are offered to children whose families are living in the agency's transitional or supportive housing for homeless families and/or whose mothers participate in WIN's substance abuse treatment for women. Homelessness and substance abuse can have detrimental effects on families, with children feeling the effects the most acutely. WIN offers an array of services to address the needs of these children. Through its therapeutic child care program, WIN provides preschoolers with on-site child care as well as developmental assessments and referrals to specialized services. WIN offers its school age children ongoing educational support, both after school as well as through a summer education program. The agency also places a special focus on prevention services for youth, offering HIV, domestic violence, substance abuse, and other prevention programs specifically targeted to this highly vulnerable age group. Each year, WIN provides these services to more than 6,000 children through its programs in Central and South Bronx, East Harlem, and Central Brooklyn. In the past, WIN was able to fully fund Coordinators and other staff for these programs through public funding coupled with private support. The current economic environment has made such support much more difficult to obtain, and WIN is requesting NYC Council funding to help bridge the gap so the agency can continue to provide these much needed services.

Youth	Williams	World Cares Center, Inc.	41-2024802	*	$3,500	DYCD	World Cares Center (WCC) respectfully requests $3,500 to deliver its Grassroots Readiness and Response: Youth Train the Trainer (YTT) program to your district's youth. The YTT workshop works with teens throughout the five boroughs to become ready responders and leaders in their communities while learning to apply basic academic skills to real life situations. In this workshop, students learn to prevent household disasters through a curriculum that integrates interactive activities with important emergency preparedness lessons. In 2009, the United States Fire Administration reported over 350,000 residential fires, causing more than 7 billion dollars worth of damage and 2,500 deaths; the leading cause of these home fires was cooking. In families with two working parents, nearly half of them routinely leave their teenage children at home alone. These children are often given the responsibility of cooking and caring for a younger sibling, though many never receive the proper instruction on how to respond safely and effectively in the event of an emergency. In this program students will <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Acquire a knowledge base of the effects of natural and man-made disasters and their emotional, social and economic impacts; •Learn comprehensive household safety measures and procedures; •Build decision-making and problem-solving skills and strategies that help make informed decisions regarding readiness, response and recovery; •Experience hands-on disaster preparedness and emergency response training with periodic reality-driven drills and exercises; •Present their own emergency preparedness training to peers This program consists of 15 sessions with up to 25 participants per program. The program spans 2 – 4 months, depending on how many sessions per week are planned. The program culminates in a student-planned, marketed and facilitated neighborhood event where new graduates share lessons learned with peers and family members.

Specific intervention approaches to service these children are based on an applied behavior analysis model (ABA) in conjunction with sensory integration, and oral motor/speech therapy. Each child within the program has an individualized prescriptive program designed to address appropriate areas of education, communication, social interactions, and activities of daily living. Each child receives one to one services from a team composed of specially trained ABA therapists with specialization in special education, speech pathology, and occupational and physical therapy. Team members meet daily to plan the instructional activities to achieve the desired outcomes and objectives. Team members participate in continuing professional development designed to further the autistic child. The program also provides family training and support in dealing with the autistic child. The program makes available parent counseling and training services which include assisting parents to understand the needs of the development of the autistic child, coordination between school and home, and support the family in the behavior management of the autistic child. The requested funding for the ABA program will be utilized to achieve the following: • To enhance the quality of the program and staff through the support of a professional development program for the ABA therapists. • To enhance the span of supervision of the program and of the ABA therapists. • To provide the requisite support to parents of autistic children through the establishment of a Community Parent Center. • To provide the program with the necessary supplies, toys and equipment to effectively service the autistic child. • To provide the proper physical environment where the autistic child will be able to develop at his/her ownpace

Youth		Rodriguez	Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Association of Washington Heights and Inwood	13-1635308		$5,000	DYCD	We seek funding to support and extend the music appreciation initiative that, thanks to seed funding from NYC Council Member Rodriguez, was introduced in the current academic year to enrich the Nursery School program for two of our four Universal Pre-Kindergarten (UPK) classes of four year olds. This new teaching component has proven to be very popular among the young participants and highly valued by their parents and, with continued and increased funding in FY 2012, we will be able to provide this initiative to all four UPK classes (18 in each class for a total of 72 children served). The music appreciation curriculum is designed to introduce and expose children, many for the first time, to a variety of musical genres (jazz, classical, Latin and folk music) presented in a hands-on method by a teaching musician and her/his colleagues. During the course of the program, students will listen to music, sing, perform, improvise and! compose while growing in their understanding of the elements of music and musical genres. The nursery school will partner with Midori and Friends who will provide and train the teaching musician and will work with our teachers to develop and enhance the curriculum. Introducing young people to music appreciation is an important component of the Y's performing and cultural arts initiative, Reaching New Heights, that debuted during the current academic year.

Youth	Williams	Young People's Chorus of New York City, Inc.	11-3372980	*	$3,500	DYCD	Discretionary Funds will help support YPC's award-winning, performance-based choral music program serving a diverse group totaling 605 inner-city youth. Through our after-school Outreach Program, choristers learn music literacy, collaborate with renowned artists and composers, develop individual and group vocal technique, and gain access to advanced music training. Not only do they excel as individuals, but these young people also become a cohesive, collaborative group and develop a real sense of community.
Youth	Foster	Young Urban Christians Artists Inc	20-1633483	*	$5,500	DYCD	Young Urban Christians Artists, Inc.(YUCA) has trained and mentored youth who have gone on to college or obtained employment in the graphics arts field. Class sizes have grown and computer equipment have deteriorated from age and use, and if YUCA is to remain a positive and motivating force in the community, we must make an investment into new computer equipment. We also believe the key to self-sufficiency is through paid employment in the arts. This request of 25,000.00 to purchase new computer equipment to develop an entrepreneurship program, will enable YUCA to continue to mentor and support youth in a way that fosters their educational, vocational and psychological well being in the face of challenging social and economic conditions.
Youth	Brewer	Young Women's Christian Association of the City of New York	13-1624230		$3,500	DYCD	Funding will go towards after school and summer programs for school age children throughout the city.
