The seal of the City of New York is a circular emblem. It features an eagle with wings spread, perched atop a shield. The shield is supported by two figures, likely representing Liberty and Justice. The shield is inscribed with the date 'JANUARY 1790'. The entire emblem is surrounded by a circular border containing the Latin motto 'EUREKA' at the top and 'LIBERTY AND JUSTICE UNDER LAWS' at the bottom.

From Budget Response to Adoption: New Priorities Reflected in the Fiscal 2015 Budget

A healthy local government's budget is balanced, transparent, responsive, and inclusive. The City of New York's Fiscal 2015 Adopted Budget puts these principles into action.

The Fiscal 2015 Adopted Budget is fiscally sound. It includes conservative estimates of future City revenue—more conservative than those of the Council's Finance Division and groups such as the New York City Comptroller and the Independent Budget Office. Additions to spending made following the Executive Budget's early May release have been modest. The Adopted Budget recognizes the significant upcoming costs of labor settlements and includes plans for settling labor contracts, which eliminates a major uncertainty that had marked previous budgets. There are reasonable reserves for these labor settlements, as well as reserves for other contingencies. The City continues to adhere to tough accounting standards. Reflecting all of this, the three major bond rating agencies recently reaffirmed the AA rating on the City's general obligation debt.<sup>1</sup>

On February 12th, Mayor de Blasio presented his Preliminary Budget, which represented the first chance for the new Administration to reflect its priorities in the budget. In April, after holding dozens of hours of Preliminary Budget hearings and listening to testimony from over 40 agencies and the public, the Council released its Preliminary Budget Response. This document specified changes to the Preliminary Budget that should be included in the Executive Budget.

On May 8th, Mayor Bill de Blasio submitted his Executive Budget proposal. Over subsequent weeks, Council committees reviewed this proposal through a second round of hearings and heard or collected testimony from agency heads, service providers, advocates, and directly from constituents.

Throughout this process—during budget hearings, within the Council's formal Response to the Preliminary Budget, and during subsequent negotiations—Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito and the Council embraced their responsibility to shape the City's direction. The Adopted Budget embodies that effort and reflects a new spirit of cooperation, consideration, and drive.

This year saw a noteworthy change to a budgeting process that under prior administrations had grown riddled with unfortunate predictability: the City's preliminary and executive spending plans would propose big cuts to various services, including youth and senior programs, health services, education, and libraries. Those cuts would then become the primary focus of budget hearings and negotiations only to vanish when subsequent spending plans emerged. This "budget dance" weakened Council oversight and made planning difficult for City agencies and not-for-profit organizations that provide critical services to New Yorkers.

Abandoning the budget dance allowed Council Members the freedom to engage with leaders from City agencies and with the public to analyze and discuss real operational issues. The plan, which baselines many Council initiatives and other services totaling $504 million, is discussed below.

The Council's advocacy for its priorities had already borne fruit by late spring. When the Administration released its Executive Budget in early May, it included several Council-specific priorities that had been absent from February's Preliminary Budget.

The Council's budget negotiating team then took a lead in setting and communicating lawmakers' collective goals in talks with the Administration. Council Members also worked in delegations with colleagues from their respective boroughs to set priorities and to evaluate and make recommendations regarding existing programs. New initiatives were sought from all Members. The result reflects the collaborative effort among all 51 Council members who put in hundreds of hours of hard work at meetings, hearings, and briefings to create a budget that truly benefits all five boroughs.

The results of this collaborative effort are found in this document. They represent the culmination of the hundreds of hours of work to identify the needs and priorities of the City's residents and the resources to effectively and efficiently deliver services. These items include funding that:

Increases Policing on City Streets. The City Council will provide funding to hire 200 Police Administrative Aides to free 200 Police Officers from desk jobs. These officers will immediately be deployed to patrol and enforcement functions, ensuring the NYPD will continue to have the resources it needs to succeed.

Expands the Anti-Gun Initiative. Through a partnership with the City Council and the Administration, the Budget includes funding to expand anti-gun violence initiatives and the City Council Crisis Management System to high need neighborhoods.

Extends Free School Lunch to New York City's Middle School Students. Beginning this Fall, the Department of Education will launch a pilot program in New York City Middle Schools to provide free school lunches to over 170,000 Middle School students across the City.

Keeps NYCHA Community and Senior Centers Open. The Budget Agreement reached by the City Council and the de Blasio Administration provides $17 million to keep NYCHA Community and Senior Centers open.

Secures Funding for Summer Youth Jobs and Out of School Time. The City Council will support 10,700 summer jobs for youth and will invest $17.5 million to fund 22,000 slots for summer out-of-school time programs.

Expands Child Care Vouchers for Low-Income Families. The City Council will invest $10 million to create thousands of additional child care vouchers for low-income families to ensure parents have access to high quality child care.

Creates Merit Based Scholarships for CUNY Students. The City Council will provide $11.1 million for the implementation of the City Council Merit Based Scholarship program, to provide merit based scholarships to New York City High School graduates who maintain at least a B average at CUNY.

Supports Worker Cooperatives. The City Council included funding to support the expansion of worker cooperatives throughout the City to help low-income New Yorkers become business owners.

Invests in New York City's Parks. The budget includes funding to hire 80 Parks Enforcement Patrol officers, and for New York City's parks maintenance and tree stump removal.

Expands Legal Services and English Classes for Immigrants. The City Council will significantly expand services for New York City's immigrant population. The Council will provide funds to support legal services and English classes for immigrants and funding to support the CUNY Citizenship Now! Hotline.

Creates and Supports Job Growth. The City Council will expand Industrial Business Zones to create new manufacturing business opportunities and support job growth across the City.

Supports Educational Programs. The budget agreement maintains strong support for educational programs, including Urban Advantage and Chess-in-School and will increase funding for Teacher's Choice by 35 percent.

Supports Small Schools Athletic Leagues. The City Council will support athletic leagues in small schools. This first of its kind investment will ensure schools that serve a more diverse student population can participate in sports programs.

Supports and Expands Legal Services. The City Council secured funds to support and expand legal services for New Yorkers, including those facing eviction, and additional funds to help low-income people and individuals with HIV/AIDS.

Reduces Senior Case Management. The Budget Agreement will reduce case management loads for Senior Case Managers from 80 to 65 per worker, ensuring New York City's aging population will receive needed support.

Units of Appropriation and Terms and Conditions

Two achievements of the Council in this budget that are not found in Schedule C deserve special mention: changes in units of appropriation and new terms and conditions. Units of appropriation are the basic building blocks of the budget and represent strict spending guidelines for the Administration.<sup>2</sup> Therefore, adding or changing units can serve as a major step toward improving transparency at the City. The Fiscal 2015 Adopted Budget incorporates several new units of appropriation in the Department of Education. In addition, agreement between the Council and the Administration has been reached to create new units of appropriation within the Department of Education in the Fiscal 2016 budget.

The Adopted Budget also includes several new terms and conditions. These measures require agencies to facilitate information sharing and reporting as project-specific spending advances. Some of these terms and conditions include:

Department of Education: Charter School Information. Requires the Department of Education to submit a semi-annual report to the Council on the demographics and funding of charter schools.

Department of Education: Financial Status Reports. Requires the Department of Education to submit to the Council Financial Status Reports on a set schedule.

Department of Education: School lunch data. Requires the Department of Education to provide an annual report detailing the total amount of collected and uncollected lunch fees; and the number of school lunches served daily, disaggregated by free lunch, reduced-priced lunch, and full-priced lunch.

Department of Homeless Services: HOPE Survey. This requires the Department to include a question in the HOPE (Homeless Outreach Population Estimate) survey to determine the age of respondents. This is to better estimate the number of homeless youth.

Department of Correction: Jail Safety Data. Requires the Department of Correction to provide quarterly reports to the City Council on violence in the City's jails.

Capital Budget. Where the Commissioner of the appropriate agency makes a determination to change the location of a capital project funded by Council Member discretionary funding, such Commissioner shall notify the affected Council Member prior to implementing such determination.

Baselined Council Initiatives and Restorations

The Fiscal 2015 Adopted Budget includes approximately $504 million of baselined funding that the Council had included in the Fiscal 2014 Budget for agency operations, such as the FDNY fire houses and libraries, and to support hundreds of programs operated by community-based organizations throughout the City. Prior to Fiscal 2015, the City Council annually advocated and funded these services, which includes initiative that target gaps in services and restorations of budget cuts proposed by the Administration. Most initiatives and restorations were baselined in November 2013 by the Bloomberg Administration, with additional funding added by the current Administration in the Fiscal 2015 Preliminary and Executive Budgets.

Council initiatives are both restorations of budget cuts to City agencies and programs funded by the Council. In prior years, the Bloomberg Administration imposed numerous rounds of budget cuts, also known as Programs to Eliminate the Gap (PEGs), in an effort to balance the City's budget. The Council restored many of these cuts, including some that impacted agency headcount and spending and others that reduced contractual spending to community-based organizations.

<sup>2</sup> The amount of funding in a unit of appropriation cannot be changed unilaterally by the Mayor; a budget modification passed by the Council is required to allow for any increased spending in any particular unit of appropriation.

Having supported these restorations for years, the Council was instrumental in successfully advocating for baselining major agency restoration such as funding to the three library systems ($106 million); restoration to fire companies ($59.2 million); and restoring school lunch fees ($7.5 million). Other baselined dollars fund hundreds of community-based organizations throughout the City.

Of the $504 million in services that were baselined, the majority of which were in social services, a large portion was designated to community-based organizations throughout the City providing services that range from child care and HIV/AIDS services to afterschool programming and immigration services. The City agencies that include baselined funding for Council initiatives and restorations that are contracted out to community-based organizations are the Administration for Children's Services, the Department of Cultural Affairs, the Department for the Aging, the Department of Youth and Community Development, the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, and the Human Resources Administration.

Most organizations/providers were designated by the Council in Fiscal 2014. The Council and the Administration have agreed to work together to ensure that hundreds of community-based organizations will receive one-year contract extensions - Negotiated Acquisition Extensions (NAE) – ensuring the continuity to vital services from Fiscal 2014 to Fiscal 2015 all across the City. A list of all baselined restorations and Council initiatives can be found in Appendix A.

Discretionary Funding

The last notable area is the new process by which discretionary funding is allocated to Council Members. While not a large part of the budget, this funding allows the City to take advantage of Council Members' localized knowledge to better target services to residents. Newly adopted Council rules raise the already high standard of transparency by which this funding operates in requiring that the method used to allocate funding among Members be publicly disclosed.<sup>3</sup>

In this budget, each Member is allocated a base $400,000 in expense funding. Members are further allocated an additional $25,000; $50,000; $75,000; or $100,000 depending upon the level of poverty in the district. Poverty was estimated at the Council District level by using the American Community Survey 2012 five-year survey the for number of individuals below the federal poverty level. Each Member was also able to allocate $5 million in capital funding.

This year's Schedule C reflects, as does the broader budget, the current Council's emphasis on responsiveness, accountability, and transparency. Our spending plan considers the needs of New Yorkers in all communities, is more transparent in its construction than past years' plans, and enables Council Members to better serve their respective constituencies.

Fiscal 2015 Adopted Expense Budget Adjustment Summary/Schedule C
New York City Council Finance Division

Introduction

Schedule C designates funding for community based not-for-profit and other public service organizations. Expenditure of any funds for each organization identified in Schedule C is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of: 1) a detailed initial review process; and 2) all applicable City procurement requirements at the time of contract award. Even then, funding may be used only for appropriately reimbursable expenses, as determined by the administering agency. The New York City Council (Council) and the Mayor's Office of Contract Services (MOCS) have established the following initial review for all organizations listed in Schedule C:

The Council reviews the public purpose for which the funds would be used and for any potential conflicts of interest.

MOCS reviews for demonstrated compliance with New York State charity registration requirements.

For organizations requesting funding in excess of $10,000, MOCS oversees an additional prequalification review process. Through this process, MOCS reviews each organization to determine whether it meets integrity requirements and is in compliance with applicable laws and regulations, including charities registration. MOCS also reviews each such organization to determine whether the organization is qualified to provide the proposed services. Organizations that were approved during prior fiscal years will again be reviewed and their qualifications recertified by MOCS in order to receive any proposed funding. Further, for any organization receiving funding through a fiscal conduit, the fiscal conduit must also be approved by MOCS.

For organizations receiving $10,000 or less, the Council reviews past performance, compliance with tax laws, corporate status, any reported investigations, audits, inquiries and other relevant information.

For those organizations identified in Schedule C without an asterisk, the Council has completed its review process and, where applicable, MOCS has preliminarily reviewed or prequalified the organization and any associated fiscal conduit, and the organization has attended MOCS corporate governance, fiscal management and compliance training, if required to attend.

For those organizations identified in Schedule C with an asterisk either MOCS or the Council's review process has not yet been completed; the New York State Attorney General's Office has not yet provided the Council with final verification of the organization's charitable filing status; or the organization is required to attend MOCS corporate governance, fiscal management and compliance training. All such reviews and requirements must be completed prior to contract award.

Further restrictions to ensure the appropriate use of City funds will be incorporated through the City's procurement process.

All organizations receiving funding pursuant to an initiative will be subject to pre-qualification review and approval by the Mayor's Office of Contract Services.

Agency: Department of Youth and Community Development (260)

U/A: 005 – Other Than Personal Services

First Year Funded: FY 2015

Area Served: Citywide

Target Population: Children ages 0-5

Description/Scope of Service: Funds will support the creation of an Early Childhood Literacy Initiative. This initiative will support a coalition of not-for-profit organizations that will foster literacy development and provide pro-active, preventative, and collaborative wraparound services to tackle the myriad of issues that contribute to the City's widening achievement gap, to help to prevent this gap. The initiative proposes to concentrate on children ages 0-5, a period during which 90% of brain development occurs. Recognizing that the absence of a literacy rich environment at this stage of a child’s development has profound negative consequences, the initiative will fund an array of programs, all of which support the goal of creating proficient readers by third grade. The organizations that will provide these critical services will include Reach Out and Read of Greater New York (ROR GNY), Jumpstart for Children, Literacy Inc. (LINC), Video Interaction Project (VIP), Parent Child Home Program (PCHP), and the three library systems - Brooklyn Public Library (BPL), New York Public Library (NYPL), and the Queens Public Library (QPL).

U/A: 312 – Other Than Personal Services
First Year Funded: FY 2015
Area Served: Citywide
Target Population: Youth

Description/Scope of Service: Youth Build is a NYC program that the City Council helped launch during the 1980s, and which has spread across the country and to 14 other nations. Every year, 10,000 or more American youth enter this comprehensive, transformational program, with waiting lists to get in. This is a moment for the Council to answer the call of the youth in need, and at the same time to re-assert its role in the Youth Build movement. Under this City Council initiative, 360 youth that are out of school and out of work will be served in districts all over the City through comprehensive Youth Build programs. It is designed to partner with and complement the federal funds, so that where the US/DOL-Youth Build funds do become available, the City contributes $140,000 to supplement and extend those programs, and where federal funds are not awarded through the United States/Department of Labor (US/DOL) Youth Build program, the City contributes $669,600 to make those projects whole and retain the services for our City's youth.

Designation Method: The City Council will designate the organizations and the amount each will receive under this initiative post-budget adoption.
