TO: New York City Council

RE: NYC Census 2020 Census Terms and Conditions – July 2020 Quarterly Report

Pursuant to the Terms and Conditions reporting requirements to the New York City Council adopted as part of the New York City Fiscal Year 2020 budget, NYC Census 2020 presents the following update for the period between April 1, 2020 and June 30, 2020.

1. Total budget broken out by funding for the office and census efforts:

The complete funding and to-date spending presented in budget structure with units of appropriation and budget codes is available in the following chart:

		Budget	YTD Spending
002	2806	$ 3,667,124.00	$ 3,215,184.00
100	1043	$ 507,650.00	$ 365,069.87
005	2806	$ 36,205,236.00	$ 30,764,958.00

NYC Census 2020’s $40 million budget includes the following allocations:

- $4 million:
  - Council discretionary funds granted directly to community-based organizations for census-related education and organizing activities, with the Department of Youth & Community Development (DYCD) serving as the contracting agency
- $19 million:
  - New York City Complete Count Fund
- $1.4 million:
  - Funding for joint Library Systems outreach, public awareness, and access
- $4.2 million:
  - Staffing costs
- $9.37 million:

- All communications and production costs, including print, digital, TV, radio, web, outdoor, bus ads, as well as creative services, printing, translations, video production, and focus groups
- $762,000:
  - Technological platforms
- $138,000:
  - Operations/Hardware

Please note that all City Council-appropriated funds are being allocated to community-based organizations only, either through direct discretionary grants or via the Complete Count Fund.

2. City headcount by title:

- Total headcount: 69
- Positions by civil service title:
  - 38 Community Coordinators
  - 26 Administrative Business Promotion Coordinators
  - 5 Deputy Assistant Commissioners
- Note on headcount and PS budget:
  - The initially allocated total PS budget was $4.75 million, which assumed a completely-hired staff of 60 as of July 1, 2019, when the budget was approved.
  - At the time, NYC Census 2020 had approximately only 5 staff, and commenced hiring immediately, which took place over the course of several months.
  - As a result, PS cost savings were accrued over time. In December 2019, when it was evident that additional capacity was needed, OMB approved the creation of nine (9) additional lines, to be funded by existing cost savings, not new allocations.
  - The updated headcount of 69 is reflective of this. The total actual cost for all 69 positions through June 30, 2020 is approximately $3.2 million.

3. Draft advertising budget disaggregated by media form:

All discretionary-funded awardees (the majority of which are referred to as Citywide Partners) scopes have been approved, contract registration in process, 14 of the 18 contracts have been registered as of June 30, 2020. We anticipate that all Citywide Partner contracts will be registered in the next reporting period.

The Complete Count Fund awardees are organizations that together represent and work directly in, and are a part of, the most historically undercounted communities in NYC. These awardees range from very small and hyper local to large, citywide entities, with scopes as focused as a specific ethnic group in one community to those looking to work across an entire borough, or more. The directory below lists these organizations, including their awards and the areas in which they work. Most awardee organizations have shifted their tactics to remote outreach with the outbreak of COVID-19 and the associated guidance provided by NYC Census 2020.

Award letters were sent to 157 Complete Count Fund Awardees between December 2019 and January 2020. 156 of 157 contracts have been signed and counter-signed as of June 30, 2020. The remaining contract will not move forward.

The original planning documents for 156 of the 157 CCF Awardees which describe the work that each is doing are available at this link.

During this reporting period, all CCF awardees were offered the opportunity to request to extend their work through the first quarter of FY21, an update on organizations that were able to extend will be included during the next reporting period.
