Fiscal 2023 Schedule C Introduction

The Fiscal 2023 budget is in many ways an historic budget. This is the first budget adopted by this Council under the leadership of Speaker Adrienne E. Adams. For the first time in its history, the City Council is comprised of a female majority, and even more importantly, a majority of black and brown representation. This budget also marks Mayor Eric Adams first attempt to create a framework for his vision of the direction of the City. In addition to the historical milestones, this budget represents a kind of rebirth for both the City and for the City Council as an institution. After over two years of remote meetings and two years of voting on budgets remotely, the City Council returns to its Chambers to adopt the Fiscal 2023 budget. The Council's return to the Chambers is a metaphor for the City's own emergence from the depths of the COVID-19 pandemic. The Fiscal 2023 budget is the exemplification of the Council's commitment to providing opportunities to all New Yorkers, to assist them in their own time of need as they emerge from the last two years of the pandemic. Many City residents lost their lives or experienced financial turmoil during the pandemic. While federal aid provided during the pandemic was critical in delivering much needed assistance to millions of New Yorkers, the expiration of much of that funding and the expiration of the programs providing assistance have created a great need for the City to fill the gap. This body recognizes that the pandemic's decline does not mean that there is not a continued need for expanded services across the City. Regardless of the circumstances, this Council has maintained its steadfast commitment to equity, to protecting the social safety net, and doing the most good for those who need it the most.

The Path from Preliminary Budget to Adoption

Preliminary Budget

The Adams Administration was not even two months old when it released its first financial plan on February 16, 2022. The Mayor's Preliminary Financial Plan for Fiscal 2023 was his first attempt to lay out his vision of the budget for the City. Even in the initial days of the budget process for both the new Administration and the new City Council, Council budgetary priorities were being negotiated. The Preliminary Budget included a number of Council priorities which were baselined throughout the plan period. These included:

- $75 million for Fair Fares: This program, initiated by the City Council in Fiscal 2019 provides the nearly 800,000 New Yorkers living at or below the federal poverty level with the opportunity to purchase MetroCards for use on the City's public transportation system at half-price, thereby saving them more than $700 per year in transportation costs.
- $79.4 million for Summer Youth Employment Program (SYEP) Slot Expansion: In the Financial Plan for Fiscal 2022-2026, the Adams Administration prioritized Summer Youth Employment (SYEP) by baselining $79.4 million to support 100,000 jobs for youth as part of the Blueprint to End Gun Violence. The Council has been a strong advocate for the expansion of SYEP and the commitment by this Administration to secure funding for the program ends the annual budget dance for this program. The traditional model will expand from 75,000 to 90,000 jobs, an increase of 20 percent, and the remaining 10,000 jobs will come from other city programs. DYCD projects that 90,000 jobs will be distributed in the following options: 56,650, Community-Based, 20,000 Career Ready, 11,950 Special Initiatives, and 1,400 MOU.

- $13.4 million for Fair Futures: Fair Futures has been a Council priority since its inception in Fiscal 2020. The program currently provides life coaches, tutors, and other health, housing, education and employment supports to foster youth aged 11 to 21. The model increases graduation rates, post-secondary enrollment, and youth self-sufficiency. The Preliminary Plan added $13.4 million for Fair Futures, raising its baselined funding level to $25.4 million. The Executive Plan also added funding, bringing the total to $30.7 million. This funding is expected to serve approximately 4,000 youth in Fiscal 2023. For the first time, both foster youth and youth in the juvenile justice continuum up to age 26 will receive services – a substantial expansion of the City’s “upstream” investments in public safety.
- $35.8 million in Fiscal 2023 and $37 million in each of the out-years, for New Family Home Visits Program. This funding supports three major parts: the Citywide Doula Initiative, the Midwifery Initiative and the Maternity Hospital Quality Improvement Network. The City is seeking to train 50 new doulas and certify 70 uncertified doulas, with the goal of reaching 500 families by the end of June. The city is targeting the free doula services to 33 neighborhoods that have been identified as having worse health outcomes during the COVID-19 pandemic.
- $3 million for Maternal Medical Home and Obstetric Simulation Training: This $3 million supports Maternal Medical Home and Obstetric Simulation Trainings at Health and Hospitals (H+H). H+H’s Bellevue hospital launched its Obstetrics Simulation Lab in December 2021 and the funding in the Fiscal 2023 Preliminary Plan will expand this to other hospitals. The goal of the program is to provide care for high-risk patients and reduce maternal morbidity and mortality.

Budget Response

On April 1, 2022, the Council submitted its response to the Fiscal 2023 Preliminary Budget which presented the Council’s vision for increased accountability in the budget process and a budget that provides support for the neediest New Yorkers, affording opportunities for all city residents to continue on their individual paths to stability and success. The proposals set forth in the Budget Response were not created in a vacuum. Rather, they were formulated with the recognition of the realities facing our City, including the uncertain path of the pandemic, the decline of federal COVID-19 relief funds which provided much needed services to New Yorkers, record increases in inflation and the overall cost of living for City residents, and the need to plan for a very uncertain economic future. Therefore, the spending measures we proposed were focused and offset by identified revenue sources.

The Speaker and the Council Members targeted the Budget Response at several large-scale programs areas that they wanted to see included in the budget, in addition to the agency-specific improvements and enhancements that were prioritized. The items in the Response were divided up into nine distinct categories:

- Bolstering agency operations for greater efficiency;
- Creating a path to success for our city's children and youth;
- Improving access to health, mental health, and safety;
- Increasing equitable access to benefit programs for ALL New Yorkers;
- Investing in a cleaner and greener NYC;
- Protecting housing opportunities for New Yorkers and investing in homeless services;
- Supporting fairness and equity in the justice system; and
- Strengthening the city's infrastructure

As always, the Council continued to press the Administration to adopt more accurate and transparent budgeting practices, including:

- Providing additional units of appropriations (U/A's) that more accurately present an agency's spending by programmatic areas; and
- Improving the presentation of the Mayor's Management Report (MMR) and the Preliminary Mayor's Management Report (PMMR) to aid in connecting budget analysis with the impact of core agency programs.

Executive Budget

When the Mayor released the Executive Budget on April 26, 2022, the Council was glad to see that unlike in recent years, some of the proposals set forth in the Budget Response were considered and included as part of the Executive Budget. Of the 88 proposals laid out in the Budget Response, the Fiscal 2023 Executive Budget reflected full or partial support for 27 of these proposals, a number unsurpassed in recent years.

Bolstering Agency Operations for Greater Efficiency: $4.5 million

Including funding for workforce development center ($1.7 million), to enhance Office of Building Energy and Emissions Performance (OBEEP) ($2.4 million), and to restore funding for Landmarks Preservation Commission (LPC) headcount ($380,000).

Creating a Path to Success for Our City's Children and Youth: $316.5 million

Including funding to hire additional DOE Community Coordinators ($1.8 million), expand the Summer Rising program to accommodate for a total of 110,000 slots ($277.1 million of which $101.1 million in DYCD is baselined, $176 million in DOE is in Fiscal 2023 only), to expand career and technical education ($33.4 million), and to provide additional support to English language learners ($4.2 million).

Improving Access to Health, Mental Health, and Safety: $74.6 million

Including funding to expand the Behavioral Health Emergency Assistance Response Division, or B-HEARD ($55.3 million), increase mental health supports and outreach services for unhoused individuals ($19.3 million). B-HEARD is a program launched to handle 911 mental health calls. Under the program teams of EMS workers and social workers are dispatched to non-violent mental health emergencies in high-need communities.

Increasing Equitable Access to Benefit Programs for All New Yorkers: $53.7 million

Including funding for client service staffing for supportive housing assistance ($5.8 million), to increase HRA's Emergency Food Assistance Program in Fiscal 2023 and 2024 ($30 million), expand language access ($8.6 million), seamless meal transition for older adults using GetFood recovery meals ($8.8 million), and source of income staff ($452,000).

Investing in a Cleaner and Greener New York: $57.8 million

Including funding for: the Parks Department maintenance and summer workforce ($41.4 million), to restore and baseline prior year cuts at the Department of Sanitation ($1.9 million), additional funding for organics drop-off sites ($3.5 million), the Zero Waste Schools Educational Program and Stop and Swap Program ($3.0 million), the public waste containerization pilot ($1.3 million), and to enhance the organics collection program at city schools ($6.7 million).

Protecting Housing Opportunities: $356.5 million

Including funding to: fully fund HRA's rental assistance programs and the voucher rate increase passed by the City Council for the City's Family Homelessness and Eviction Prevention Supplement (CityFHEPS) that increased voucher rates to match the Section 8 levels ($118.5 million), expand drop-in centers, safe haven beds, and stabilization beds ($171.3 million), baseline the prevailing wage for shelter security guards ($32.9 million), and fully fund baseline budget for HASA SRO's ($33.8 million).

Supporting Fairness and Equity in the Justice System: $7.0 million

Including funding to: ensure accountability for new policing strategies ($1.2 million), provide adequate resources for the Board of Correction ($474,000), and increase funding for Fair Futures so that it can include young adults up to age 26 and justice-involved youth ($5.3 million)

With these proposals included, armed with the information learned from agency Commissioners during the three weeks of Executive Budget hearings in May, the moving public testimonies offered by our constituents and service providers, and the data and knowledge that there were sufficient resources available to pay for our requests, the Council forged ahead with negotiations as a unified body.

And our persistence paid off for all New Yorkers.

Adopted Budget

The Fiscal 2023 Adopted Budget is full of victories for the people of this City – from our oldest residents to our youngest, from the neediest of us to those working so hard to stay in the middle class, from every borough, and from those of us who were born and raised here to our neighbors who have come from all over the world. The Council secured over $563 million in additional funding providing needed services to all New Yorkers. These funds were spread across a wide range of areas including but not limited to:

Education: The Adopted budget provides an additional $93.1 million for a number of important educational programs including funding for Community Schools, Community Coordinators, and to extend immigrant family engagement among many other items the Council secured funding for.

Higher Education: The Council secured $7.4 million for critical services provided by the City's institutions of higher learning. This includes $4.4 million for the CUNY Reconnect Pilot program.

CUNY Reconnect is a program to re-engage working-age New Yorkers with some college credits but no degree to complete their college degrees, advance their careers and boost their incomes. There are unique challenges that returning adult students face, and this program invest in reforms such as financial aid, scholarships, childcare services, pre-enrollment counseling and flexible scheduling options that make returning to college more convenient.

Housing and Homeless Services: The Adopted Budget includes $426.6 million additional funding for services to keep those who are precariously housed in their homes and to provide appropriate housing for homeless families enabling them to move into permanent housing.

Community Development: The Council secured $11.7 million in the Adopted Budget for projects focused directly in the communities around the city. This includes $5 million to support communities affected by hate crimes as well as $6.7 million to double the baseline funding for Adult Literacy Programs.

Human Services: The Council secured $79 million for various non-profit organizations that provide essential services to New Yorkers including $60 million of baselined funding for cost of living adjustments for human service providers

Health Services: The Adopted Budget includes an additional $6.8 million to improve the provision of critical health care services for New Yorkers, including $2.4 million for the expansion of Trauma Recovery Centers around the City.

Youth and Children's Services: The Council provided an additional $19.2 million in the Adopted Budget for services for children and youth, including an additional $10 million for the Work, Learn, Grow Program. These additional funds will provide for the expansion of the program to 2,200 additional participants, increasing the total added in Fiscal 2023 to 4,400.

Sanitation: The Council secured $40.5 million to improve waste pickup services including $22 million in Fiscal 2023 for enhanced litter basket pickups that will reduce the number and frequency of overflowing waste receptacles on City street corners.

Culturals and Libraries: The Adopted budget will include an additional $105.7 million for the city's cultural organizations and its library systems. These funds include an additional $40 million that will support Cultural Institution Group (CIGs), provide across-the-board grant increases for all Cultural Development Fund recipients and support the City's artists. The City's libraries will receive an additional $50 million to fund their infrastructure needs as well as $15.7 million to provide increased funding for operational costs.

Reserve Funds: The Council was also instrumental in securing an additional $1.25 billion to increase reserves in Fiscal 2023. The Adopted Budget will include an additional $750 million for the City's Rainy Day Fund, bringing the total allocated to the fund to $1.95 billion. The Fiscal 2023 budget will also include an additional $500 million in General Reserves, bringing the total to a record level of $1.6 billion. Additionally, the Council secured commitments from the Administration to increase the General Reserves by $200 million in each of the out-years of the financial plan. Lastly, the Council secured an additional $750 million to be deposited into the Retiree Health Benefit Trust Fund to provide additional solvency to the fund. This infusion will help the City avoid painful spending cuts or tax increases during downturns allowing New York City to instead draw on its fiscal cushion.

Budget Reform and Transparency

From the start of the budget cycle, the Speaker announced that transparency and accountability were to be pillars of the adopted budget. Requiring agencies to provide crucial information to the Council so that it may conduct thorough oversight and reforming the structure of the budget so that the building blocks of agency budgets, known as “units of appropriation,” are more programmatic are crucial to this effort.

Terms and Conditions. The Fiscal 2023 Adopted Budget also includes a record 60 terms and conditions. These measures often require agencies to facilitate information sharing and reporting as program- or project-specific spending advances in order to increase transparency and strengthen the Council’s oversight role. In addition to many terms and conditions that were attached to last year’s budget and are being reattached to this year’s budget, some of the new terms and conditions for Fiscal 2023 include:

- Reporting on utilization of older youth beds;
- Reporting on SYEP participation in public work placements;
- Reporting on street outreach efforts and outcomes;
- Reporting on Animal Care and Control Centers;
- Reporting on litter basket pick-ups.

In addition to these and others, the Council included terms and conditions which should assist the City in its efforts to grapple with two critical issues: NYPD overtime spending and Department of Corrections absenteeism. Those terms and conditions are as follows:

- Reporting by the NYPD on 1) total overall uniformed overtime spending by precinct; and 2) uniformed overtime spending by category by Patrol Borough;
- Requiring data by the Department of Corrections on absences by type of sick leave and numbers of specific actions being taken to curb abuse; and
- Quarterly reports from the Department of Corrections on unstaffed posts.

Units of Appropriations. Units of appropriation are the legal units through which the Council appropriates money to agencies. The City Charter requires them to be programmatic in nature but too often agencies have maintained multiple programs or purposes in large units of appropriation giving commissioners more spending authority than they are entitled to have under the Charter. This undermines transparency in the City budget and the Council’s role as the body that sets budgetary policy through its spending priorities.

In this budget negotiation the Council has achieved historic success in breaking down over-broad units of appropriation into more programmatic components. And this success comes in agencies where budget reform is critically important to this Council. The Council has received commitments to create six new units of appropriation in the New York Police Department (“NYPD”), an almost 50 percent increase from its current 14 units. This effort will break up an existing unit of appropriation containing about 60 percent of the NYPD's funding into multiple smaller units.

Similarly, the Council has received commitments to double the number of Units of Appropriation from the current four, to eight, in the Department of Corrections {"DOC"}, similarly pushing the agency towards a more programmatic and transparent budget. In addition to the ten new units of appropriation in NYPD and DOC the Council has achieved the creation of eight additional new units of appropriation in the Human Resources Administration, the Department of Education, the Department of Buildings, the Department of Youth and Community Development and the Administration for Children's Services. The November Plan will reflect the creation of 18 new units of appropriation, 10 of which are in uniformed agencies – something never before achieved.

Schedule C

Schedule C reinforces the Council's commitment to supporting our communities above and beyond the core services already provided by City government. Our spending plan complements the long-term stability, performance, and transparency measures the Council negotiated for as part of the larger budget.

Discretionary Funding

Each year, Council Members allocate discretionary funds to not-for-profit organizations and designate funding directly to City agencies in order to meet local needs and fill gaps in City services. While not a large part of the budget, this funding allows the City to take advantage of Council Members' localized knowledge to better target services to residents. Council rules adopted in 2014 raised the already high standard of transparency by which this funding operates in requiring that the method used to allocate funding among Members be publicly disclosed.

In this budget, each Member is allocated a base $400,000 in expense funding. Members are further allocated an additional $25,000; $50,000; $75,000; or $100,000 depending upon the level of poverty in the district.

Procedure and Requirements for Designation

Schedule C designates funding for community-based, not-for-profit and other public service organizations and to City agencies. For funds designated to organizations, the expenditure of any funds for each organization identified in Schedule C is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of 1) a detailed initial review process; and 2) all applicable City procurement requirements at the time of contract award. Even then, funding may be used only for appropriately reimbursable expenses, as determined by the administering agency.

For-profit entities may not receive discretionary funds, except when the primary not-for-profit funding recipient subcontracts with a for-profit entity as part of the delivery of services. Such proposed subcontracts, however, must be:

- only an ancillary part of the program to be funded - not the primary basis for the discretionary award; and

- pre-approved by the contracting agency and the City Council.

The New York City Council and the Mayor's Office of Contract Services (MOCS) have established the following review for all organizations listed in Schedule C:

The Council reviews the public purpose, potential conflicts of interest, compliance with the New York State Charities Bureau, past performance, compliance with laws, rules, regulations, and policies, including not-for-profit status, any reported investigations, audits, inquiries, and other relevant information; and MOCS reviews organizations which were allocated more than $10,000 cumulatively in this fiscal year to confirm whether the organization has been prequalified, indicating organizational capability to establish a business relationship with the City of New York and deliver specific services.

While approved subcontractors of organizations that receive discretionary funding are not generally required to submit a prequalification application, they are subject to conflict-of-interest disclosure requirements, as are not-for-profit organizations. Prior to the designation of community-based not-for-profit and other public service organizations, members disclose on the record any potential conflicts of interest with organizations funded by other members.

For organizations requesting funding in excess of $10,000, MOCS conducts an additional review. MOCS reviews each such organization to determine whether the organization has the ability to establish or maintain a business relationship with the City and can demonstrate experience or capability to provide services to New Yorkers. MOCS prequalification is administered through PASSPort and renewed every three years. Each organization's compliance with annual filing requirements is reviewed each year to maintain prequalified status. In addition, the Department of Cultural Affairs (DCLA) administers the Cultural Development Fund to establish prequalification for organizations awarded cultural funds through DCLA.

Further restrictions to ensure the appropriate use of City funds will be incorporated through the City's procurement process.

All organizations receiving funding pursuant to an initiative will be subject to prequalification review and approval by the Mayor's Office of Contract Services.

Anti-Poverty

When allocating funding this year, the Council used a poverty indicator to provide a basis for which to fund programs. Poverty was estimated at the Council District level using 2016 American Community Survey data, specifically the number of individuals below the federal poverty level. Funding to the listed organizations will help to address income disparities throughout the five boroughs.
